

Harbinger

Vol. 26

August 20, 1991

Through

May 7, 1992

THE HARBINGER TIMES

William Rainey Harper College

August 20, 1991

Volume XXVI Number 1

ORIENTATION 1991

INSIDE

Arts & Entertainment

Harper's opening in the "Blues"

Page 4

HARBINGER SPORTS

Creiger named new men's basketball coach

Page 8

FEATURES

Alcohol related deaths are down

The word seems to be getting around that House. Driving under the influence laws are tough, and that convinced offenders to pay severe penalties.

Page 6

National Lampoon

The real world. Like Mortgage, Medical Insurance. All the better news. Ed heard at college about how grim life was after graduation killed my friend. The best years of my life were over, I thought.

I was just about to pay the check out girl at the supermarket when she threw, "What's that missing out of your pocket?" Then she returned.

Page 6

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Letter from the editor	2
Arts & Entertainment	4-5
Harper Happenings	4
Music Reviews	5
Features	6-7
Classifieds	7
Gym Shorts	8
Sports	8

Fall enrollment increasing

Despite the recession, enrollment continues on an upswing

By Mario Galimieri
Harbinger Staff Writer

"Registration is up nearly 12 percent right now," said Steve Catlin, Dean of Admissions and Registrar. Total registration for this fall is expected to be slightly higher than last year despite the effects from the recession.

"It's looking very strong right now. We think we're going to have a substantial increase this year over last," said Catlin.

Over the past five to six years, Harper's enrollment has been growing. This is attributed to its main feeder schools, Districts 201 and 214, Barrington High School and St. Viator High School, as well as the general population growth in the northwest suburbs.

However, even though overall enrollment is going up, the number of students going "full time" is down for the third year in a row. Nearly 90 percent of all students enrolled this semester have jobs, and most of these students work full-time, lowering the full-time status of many students.

Catlin predicts full-time registration will go up in the 1993-94 school year, this is when current Student Michael Kline selects his books for the upcoming semester. Sales at the Harper College Book Store are expected to be higher this semester due to increased student enrollment.

high school sophomores will be matriculating. There is a considerable "high school senior" of students in that age group.

Harper is offering a wide variety of classes this year. There are more than 700 classes being offered this term and there are more than 1200 courses including Continuing Education.

Tuition is expected to stay stable for now. Tuition is getting any higher than tuition may be raised, but nothing is in the plans right now," he said.

Harper expands programs

Fall '91 includes Japanese language program and a London trip

By Michael O'Connell
Harbinger Staff Writer

Harper will offer new programs for the Fall 1991 semester including a Japanese language program and a newly expanded Weekend College. A school-sponsored trip to London will also be added.

Beginning in the fall semester the Foreign Language Department will offer a two-year Japanese language program. This comes as the result of a joint effort by the Foreign Language Department and the Office of Planning and Research.

A survey was sent to over two hundred local companies in the export business. Many companies showed a keen interest in students with instruction in Japanese.

Elementary Japanese will be offered during the fall semester beginning August 26. The class meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:10 to 9:50 pm at the main campus. Japanese II will be added for the spring 1992 semester, and Japanese III and Japanese IV will be added during the '92 to '93 year.

The Weekend College added several new courses this semester: Child Psychology, Logic, Business

Ethics, Anthropology, 20th Century British and American Literature, Spanish I, Spanish II, and Introduction to Theater.

The Weekend College also offers courses in Arts, History, Humanities, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology and International Speech. These courses allow students to accelerate their studies and solve scheduling conflicts.

Finally, Harper is sponsoring a trip to London from December 28 to January 5, 1992. The trip is open to the community and students.

Students may enroll for credit for the trip.

The trip will include a tour of the city as well as museum and walking tours led by experienced faculty leaders.

An optional theater package, additional tours and nights in London are available.

Book fares are available from the Liberal Arts Division in F103. There will be an information meeting on Friday, September 6 at 7:00 pm in the Board Room in Building A.

For more information call 397-3300, extension 2284.

Feeling lost yet?

Don't worry, help is on the way

HELP! That will probably be the most popular word on campus the first few days of class while students get situated in their new environment.

Looking off the new year at a new school can be confusing and stressful. The Harper College Student Ambassadors have experienced the same tension before. That's why they're here to help.

The Ambassadors will staff "Can I Help You?" tables and provide answers and assistance for new students on Monday, August 26, and Tuesday, August 27.

NEXT WEEK

Phase II of Harper's smoke free environment is in effect. What will that mean to you?

Football season preview:

Construction blues

Construction on the parking lots will continue for a few more months. Many lots are being resurfaced due to deteriorating pavement.

THE HARBINGER TIMES

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Galemski
Managing Editor
News Editor
Faculty Adviser	Susanne Haylic
Business Manager
A & E Editor	Michelle Smith
Features Editor
Photo Editor	Phil Mapes
Sports Editor	Kurt Cowley

♦ EDITORIALS ♦

Hostage inquiry too late

More than 11 years have passed since the release of the hostages from Iran. During that 11 years absolutely nothing was done to find out if a conspiracy to delay the release of the hostages was executed in exchange for a promise of arms.

It sure seems extremely coincidental that President Jimmy Carter labored many hours of discussions for the release of the prisoners, but then within minutes of taking the oath of office, President Ronald Reagan knew just what to say to Iranian officials to set them free. Very interesting.

Just like in a murder case, the more time that elapses, the harder it is to collect the evidence. The renewed interest in this topic can be credited to Gary Sick, former Middle East specialist for Cartier, who recently wrote an article for the New York Times in which he alleged Reagan-Bush campaign officials met with Iranians in 1980 to prevent the hostages' release before the November 4 election. For this service or favor Iran was allegedly rewarded with a large amount of arms from Israel.

In the heat of a political campaign, especially the Presidential race, you'd better believe people will do anything: yes anything, to make sure they shine like gold in order to please (fool) the voters.

The sad part about all of this is the man who probably has all the answers, William J. Casey, who ran the Reagan campaign and later became director of the CIA, brought his knowledge to the grave. But, he would refuse to share his knowledge too. We must remember that it's classified information.

Nothing like our government wasting more time and money on another worthless investigation. We all know Reagan's innocent, right. NOT!

Staff

Alisa e Nordlund, Phyllis Herman, Michael Cichy, Jason Park, Andy Pearson, Jim Rickman, Thapane Nwagwu, Albert Vangare, Lawrence Farrell, Penelope Skrynski

Letter From The Editor

Welcome to the wonderful world of Harper College. I would like to say hello to all of you. I hope you enjoyed your

As the new editor in chief of The Harbinger, I am writing this letter to you, the college population, to let you know that this is your paper. With the help of my staff, I hope to inform and entertain the students and the entire Harper community.

All I ask is for you to express your opinions. Drop me a line, or give me a call. But please keep the newspaper staff informed. We hope to inform everyone of what is really going on and to cover every angle of the story. By following this procedure we will assure ourselves of being professional.

but in the process we may very well piss a few people off. But such is the way of life.

I would like to tell you that The Harbinger door is always open. We are presently looking to fill a few positions. We're really interested in talking to you. So please come on in and introduce yourself.

Mario R. Galenski
Editor-in-Chief

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

ACNE

Treated Medically With Proven Results<sup>1</sup>
at Sacell Up
Medical Centers

Procedure and Products Developed by a Dermatologist (Medical Insurance Accepted)

HARBOR TERRACE CHICAGO
17 W. 4184 Kenwood Rd.
(708) 631-2261 770 N La Salle St.
(312) 787-7946

NORTH LAKEWOOD
705 Lake Cook Road
(708) 843-0300

*Acne treated at Harbor Terrace Medical Center or Chicago Acne Clinic.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Advertising
Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

The Affordable Computer for Harper College

1 YEAR ON-SITE WARRANTY

PACKARD BELL

14" VGA COLOR MONITORS

PB monitors are covered by a 1 year on-site warranty when purchased at the same time as a PB Force system (and one monitor per system). Monitors purchased separately have a carry in or mail in 1 year warranty from Packard-Bell.

ALL STORES CLOSED LABOR DAY MONDAY SEPTEMBER 2ND

The ELEK-TEK Credit Card is Here!

<sup>2</sup>After promotion APR is 19.9%

Special Credit Card Promotion
Ends August 31st

Purchases orders accepted from universities, School Systems, Colleges and industry users, without the need for approvals. All products subject to change without the need for the right of mind questions.
 Training Services 100-607-0000 Support 100-677-7177 Monday - Saturday
 Fax Corporate Open Accounts 100-677-7100
 Sales Department 100-677-7100

STORE HOURS

ELEK-TEK, inc.

ALL STORES 708-677-7660

Buy Policy: All sales are F.O.B. destination with freight prepaid and all identification of the line will be made by the consignee on arrival of the car and E.D. will not offer products that are not in the line. E.D. will not be responsible for shipments to wrong places.

Q&A: 650081A85171
Large Quantity Buy and Lowest Pricing Available
The price is very competitive and the quality is very good.

Color Harper's opening in the "Blues"

BY MICHAEL SMITH
Harbinger A & E Editor

Tuesday, August 27th, Harper will feel the heat of some hot music: Chicago's own blues artist's, Katherine Davis and Sidney James Wingfield, will perform a free concert at noon outside the Building A student lounge.

Davis, an accomplished gospel and blues singer, has recently won acclaim for her roles in the Kumbha Theatre production of La Heart of the Blues. Mixing her repertoire with classic and Chicago blues, gospel and some jazz, Davis' keen sense of showmanship promises to entertain Harper audiences as music lovers have been all over the world. Davis will be accompanied by Sidney James Wingfield, a credited keyboard artist and vocalist. Wingfield's resume lists keyboard sessions with musicians as Son Seals, Mick Jagger,

Photo by David Wright

Blues queen Davis promises to electrify Harper.

Big T and the Matthew Tel-

low. His flamboyant and aggressive music style has gained fans,

Photo by David Wright

25 year blues veteran Wingfield will perform at Harper.

cage Blues, Festivals, and the Milwaukee Summerfest.

...what else is happening at Harper

By Michelle Smith
Harbinger A & E Editor

Free! Free! Free! the one word near and dear to every student heart, unless you include money. Videos of recent (or almost recent) movies will be shown free in Building A's third floor TV center three times a week.

Week of 9/3—Goodfellows
Week of 9/7—The Hard Way
Week of 9/16—Bird on a Wire

Free showtimes:
Tuesdays—5pm
Wednesdays—Noon
Thursdays—Noon

Tuesday September 10th at 7:30pm in Building M, the Harper College Program Board together with Chicago Northwest Suburban Chinese School of Palatine will hold a Chinese Youth Folk Sports presentation. The group will perform diablo spinning, shuttlecock kicking (Chinese Hacky Sack), rope skipping and other Chinese children's sports. Price is $2 for kids under 14, $4 for Harper students, faculty, staff and senior citizens, and $5 for the public. Kids under 14, the magic word—Free! For Visa, MasterCard or Discover tickets orders call 397-3000 x2547. All not benefits go to the American Red Cross to aid recent flood victims of Eastern China.

Auditions! Harper College Theatre audition auditions for The Three Penny Opera to be held September 11 to 12 at 7 pm, building A room 139. Prepare a song from Three Penny, (music by Kurt Weill, lyrics by Bertolt Brecht), and English adaptation by Marc Blitzstein) or any other musical. If your audition piece is not from Three Penny bring sheet music, so pianist can accompany you.

Copies of the scripts are reserved in the Harper Library. More information call Mary Jo Willis—Drexler x2281 or x2468.

Jean-Paul Rappeneau's film Cyrano de Bergerac will be shown Thursday, October 3 at 7:30 pm, Building J Theatre. Harper students, staff, faculty and senior citizens $2, Public $3. More information and ticket sales x2547.

"How to get a job like mine," by Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. Vonnegut is an American short story writer, novelist and critic. Author of 15 novels, Vonnegut is a must for most university reading lists. (Pint, English majors—$4.95; LPT) Harper students, faculty, staff and senior citizens $3. Other students $4.50, Public $6. For more information and tickets call x2547.

Mavericks breaking trails

Photo by David Wright

Mavericks was conceived in the summer of '90.

By AMY LAMMAN
Harbinger Staff Writer

Peter Holtsapple and Chris Stamey's release of MAVERICKS successfully expands the realm of modern American folk rock. This album, which improves with each play, presents original musical ideas that stick in your mind.

Holtsapple's and Stamey's simple background of guitar and drums centers held with other added instruments and trends. They create a pleasant blend of sound that doesn't leave the ear wanting more. However, lack of guitar is the only problem the album produces. It does not lack the musical "umph", but it is not loud enough to hold your attention. The listener might find his attention wandering, even if he was interested in the current tune. This shouldn't happen to a rock band—even one that is on the melower side. Though lack of attention may not bother a more patient listener, it could be the kiss of death in the MTV marketing world.

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

Harbinger classified ads get results!

ACNE? Get Treatment with Proven Results!

AT FaceUp
Skin Care
Medical Centers

705 East Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173
708-843-0200

WE RENTALLY SUPERVISED TREATMENT WITH PROVEN TOPICAL MEDICATION

Cooler than the ice cream

By MICHAEL SUMI
Harbinger A & E Editor

Remember Grandma's stories about ice cream socials? Young ladies and gentlemen walked sedately around, eating their ice cream and listening to the quartet on the veranda.

Yo! Well listen up. This is the '80s and Harper's September 11th Ice Cream Social will be rapped with Poetical Alliance. Poetical Alliance's Imm/MC Yoo! Fattori and Tony (I Twice) Thomas believe since no major rap group has emerged from Chicago, the coast is clear for them.

This rap duo has performed at Medusa's, the Phoenix and the Cather Place.

Harper's Ice Cream Social will be outside Building A, at noon. Ice cream sundaes are 50 cents—totally cool. Concert is free—even cooler.

School doesn't interfere with Poetical Alliance

Watch out New Kids...It's Atooz!

Atooz may give 'The Kids' a run for the money

By AMY LAMAS
Harbinger Staff Writer

It seems a new band plans to ride the coattails of the New Kids on the Block. ATOOZ's, Jeffrey Burrell and John Sharpe, style of music would appeal to the kid's pre-sexy hip-hop.

Although the music is not bad, the timing is. ATOOZ might have stood a chance of being interesting and original if they had been released earlier. Their cliché lyrics and rhythmic ideas bring little new to the pop music scene. The repetition of ideas and inspirations is only another band's clutter of the musical landscape with mediocrity.

Is this bad? No. The songs are well constructed and are presented in a well performed and recorded package. Their smooth vocal style and innocuous music revolving around "love" and "proper living" is perfect fodder for mix stations. However, they take the smooth road a little too seriously. Their music is about as dangerous as Greg Brady with a butter knife.

The Harbinger

YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

Northwestern Business College, for a lifetime of success.

Northwestern Business College offers an education that will increase your options and help you succeed in the business world of today and tomorrow.

Northwestern Business College

is a place where each student can make a difference. With a strong curriculum and one-on-one teaching, we encourage students to think, communicate, and grow. Perhaps most important, you will be part of a community that has made a serious commitment to your hopes and your achievements.

If you would like to experience Northwestern Business College for yourself, call for an appointment. Call us at either our city campus at 312-777-4220 or our Suburban Palos Hills campus at 708-430-0990.

NORTHWESTERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

For a lifetime of Success

4829 North Lippis Avenue
Chicago, IL 60630
312-777-4220

38054 Roberts Road
Palos Hills, IL 60465
708-430-0990

Student/Teacher
Amiga Spectacular

Commodore
AMIGA
500DS

The Amiga 500DS package includes:

- The Amiga 500DS computer
- KindWords 2.0 - wordprocessor
- Fusion Paint - 4096 color paint program
- F/A-18 Interceptor - flight simulator
- F40 Pursuit - driving simulator
- Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade - game
- Joystick

Graduate to the premier Video/Graphics computer.

Educational
Price: $414.00

Software Plus

731 W. Dundee, Wheeling IL 60090
(708) 520-1717

FEATURES

Don't do it! Call a cab or a friend, please

By LAWRENCE FARRELY
Harbinger Staff Writer

As recently as ten years ago, most people took a laissez-faire attitude when an intoxicated person climbed behind the wheel to drive. As that attitude changed over the years, the country has witnessed a reduction in auto accident deaths.

According to Secretary of State George Ryan, there were nearly 15 percent fewer deaths from alcohol-related crashes in Illinois last year compared to 1980. He also said drunk driving arrests for drivers under age 20 decreased eight percent from 1989 and 29 percent from five years ago. The word seems to be getting around that Illinois "driving under the influence" (DUI) laws are tough, and that some accident offenders pay a severe penalty.

Susan M. McGuire, supervisor of DUI intensive caseworkers for the Social Service Department of the Circuit Court of Cook County, listed significant penalties the convicted drunk driver incurs. The offender loses driving privileges for at least a year. He also must pay a lot of money for fines, court costs, attorney's fees, higher auto insurance, and court-ordered alcohol treatment program costs.

"The statutory summary suspension and revocation laws that take away driving privileges seem to have the greatest effect on deterring people from drinking and driving," said McGuire. "The loss of driving privileges negatively affects the offender's job and social life and forces that person to be dependent on others for transportation."

Jennifer Powerek of Elk Grove

Village lost her driving privileges for three years due to multiple DUI offenses. She affirms that that was the most severe of her penalties.

Since the enactment of the summary suspension law in 1986, 90 percent of those arrested for DUI have lost their driving privileges, compared to an estimated 20 percent before the law.

When an arrested driver fails a breath test with a blood-alcohol content (BAC) of 10 percent or more, refuses to submit to or fails to complete testing, his driver's license is confiscated by the arresting officer. The driver is issued a receipt for that is valid for 45 days. The officer reports the arrest to the Circuit Court and to the Secretary of State's Office. Driving privileges are automatically suspended on the 46th day for a minimum of three months.

A first offender who blows a 10 BAC or more automatically receives a three-month suspension. Refusing to submit to a blood test is an automatic six-month suspension. A multiple offender receives a 12-month suspension for blowing 10 or more and a 24-month suspension for refusing the test or failing to complete it.

DUI Court uses the offender a lot of money. Michael J. Lundy of Rosemont was ordered by the court to complete an alcohol treatment program. "The program cost me about $2600," he said. "I also lost my license for a year and was fined $600. I can't afford to get another DUI."

In addition to cost, McGuire believes that educational programs about the effects of alcohol on people and on their driving also help deter people from drinking and driving. She said she would like to see more education in our schools about the many ways drugs and alcohol affect people's lives. She would also like to see strong alcohol education introduced into every driver education program. "Tell them what happens to DUI offenders," she said.

This is what can happen if one drinks and drives

McGuire said that Chrysler Corp. has developed a car that simulates the feeling of driving a car under the influence of alcohol and is available by request. "This car should be introduced into driver education classes," she said.

M. Jacqueline Schmitz, a counselor who works with McGuire, primarily sees first-time

DUI offenders. Schmitz also sees a need for more education about drinking and driving. "My clients have no idea that a DUI conviction will cost them thousands of dollars in fines and court costs, attorney's fees, and treatment program costs until they are faced with this reality," she said. "And few of my clients know how much alcohol they can consume in a given amount of time and still be legally safe to drive."

How alcohol affects an individual depends on the amount consumed and the rate at which it is absorbed into the body. Body weight, alcohol tolerance, mood, environment, and how much one has eaten are also contributing factors.

Schmitz said it takes the human body one hour to completely process one ounce of alcohol. So, after one drink, a driver should wait at least an hour before getting behind the wheel.

McGuire said alcohol treatment programs, apart from their expense, seem to be less of a deterrent to becoming a repeat offender. "The deterrent factor is directly related to the quality of the program," she said. "Some programs are excellent and help clients deal successfully with their drinking problems. Other programs are just a business."

PEACE CORPS WORLD WISE PuZZLE

For further information about Peace Corps, visit our Web site: www.peacecorps.gov

INSTRUCTIONS: The Peace Corps has volunteers serving in more than 70 nations around the world. By solving this puzzle, you will learn about one of these countries.

Solve the four numbered puzzle words and then unscramble the letters in the squares to produce the name of the country indicated on the map at the right.

A landlocked nation in Southeast Asia occupying the northeastern portion of the Indochina peninsula.

1. European nation which dominated this country from 1893 until 1950.
2. Government in power in this country today.
3. Dominant religion of this nation.
4. Adjacent nation once known as Siam.

PEACE CORPS WORLD WISE PuZZLE

For further information about Peace Corps, visit our Web site: www.peacecorps.gov

INSTRUCTIONS: The Peace Corps has volunteers serving in more than 70 nations around the world. By solving this puzzle, you will learn about one of these countries.

Solve the four numbered puzzle words and then unscramble the letters in the squares to produce the name of the country indicated on the map at the right.

Landlocked country the site of Arkansas, lying between India and China.

1. Primary religion of this nation.
2. Tallest mountain in the world.
3. Famous range of mountains in this country.
4. Starchy vegetable which is an important agricultural product of this nation.

THE PERSONALS...

Send that special person in your life a Harbinger Personal. It's fun, it's FREE, and it's so someone's just what. So take a few moments and fill out this form. The Personals will be a weekly addition to the Comes page. Personals are not guaranteed to be in the edition of your choice; they are on a space-availability basis only (if we have room, it goes in; if we don't, it doesn't).

To have your Personal guaranteed, please enclose $1.00. The deadline for Personals is Friday. The Harbinger has the right not to publish material that may seem offensive to our readers. All rights reserved.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____

ZIP _____

PHONE _____

EMAIL _____

SEND TO: _____

Please return this form to The Harbinger office, A-367

The Harbinger

Silver Anniversary 1965-1990

HARBINGER SPORTS

8 August 20 1991

SPORTS FINAL

Cregier named new men's basketball coach

Karl Gessus
Staff Writer

On July 25, local coach Ron Cregier was named Harper's new men's basketball coach.

Cregier, a former basketball player who retired during the summer semester after a short but successful stint with Harper. Kistner led the Hawks to a combined 36-1 record over his two seasons, including Harper's first ever trip to the NJCAA Region IV tournament.

Cregier has 15 of coaching experience, primarily in the Mid-Suburban League (MSL). He was the head coach at Schaumburg High School for 12 years prior to accepting the position at Harper.

"Coaching at the college level is something that I always wanted to do," Cregier said. "I'm proud of my future [at Schaumburg], but this was a personal goal of mine."

Among his many accomplishments is his being named Illinois Basketball Coach of the Year in 1988, the year Schaumburg participated in the sectional playoffs of the MSL. This success was provided by Schaumburg's first season when they placed first in conference during the 1987 campaign. Before Schaumburg, Cregier spent three years as a Junior-senior basketball coach.

Of all Cregier's accolades, one of his proudest is starting the Schaumburg High School basketball team, which is a summer league designed to give future high school players added experience. This program has been the blueprint for many other local high schools. Cregier's coaching philosophy is based on his personal four-point strategy. He believes that if you can't physically defend, you can't physically defend. Team-oriented and enthusiastic about the game, success will come. Most specifically, Cregier is willing to let an up-tempo, running offense and a pressure defense.

The Kistner era of coaching brought unparalleled success to the Harper basketball program. Prior to Kistner's arrival in 1986-1989, the team posted a 1-22 record, nearly the worst in school history. Following Kistner would imitate many coaches, but not Cregier. He believes that the work Kistner did while at Harper will make it easier to get accustomed to his new position. Cregier will begin his own recruiting after the 1991-1992 season.

Ron Cregier

Paul Kistner

corner," Cregier said. "This should be the last another building year, we're in this to win."

Mark Gessus

The Hawks are currently holding tryouts for the Harper College football team. With many key players having left Harper, such as all-time rushing leader Lorenz Butler, the Hawks need quality freshmen to step forward and take charge.

The vital positions that freshmen and recruits must fill are at the quarterback, linebacker, running back and offensive line slots.

Even with the influx of inexperienced players, head coach John Elask is sure to coach them to a successful season. At the junior college level, teams are always in a constant state of rebuilding. But even with this to contend with, Elask has always come out on top. Entering his twenty-first season with the Hawks, his career record stands at an impressive 184-48-2.

The Hawks are coming off of one of their finest seasons, winning an NCC conference title with an 8-3 overall record. That title, and subsequent loss to the College of Dupage Chaparrals earned them a trip to the Royal Crown Cola Bowl. Even though Harper lost 18-15 to North Iowa Area Community College in the NCCA bowl, all of the Hawks personnel, including Elask, were still pleased with the season as a whole.

with the season as a whole.

Mark Gessus

Gym Shorts

Choice appointed Dean

Tom Choice, Harper's Athletic Academic Coordinator, was appointed interim Dean of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreation early in the summer semester. Choice replaces John Gelski, who retired late during the 1991 Spring semester.

Choice is entering his seventh year with Harper, during which he has served exclusively in the capacity of academic coordinator. He was appointed academic coordinator in 1985, the year the physical education department changed the position.

Choice will continue to fulfill the responsibilities of academic coordinator along with those of the dean of physical education.

Cheerleading Tryouts

Tryouts and clinics for Cheerleading and Pom Pom squads for the Fall semester will be held on September 3, 4 and 5.

The clinics will be held on the 3 and 4 in Building A. Students interested should meet by the fireplace in appropriate attire (shorts, t-shirt, gym shoes) between 5 pm and 7 pm.

The actual tryouts are scheduled for Thursday,

September 5 at 5 pm. The location for the tryouts has yet to be determined. For additional information contact student activities.

PE Center now public

The Physical Education Center will be made available to the community for use on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and on Saturday afternoons. Cost of admission for use of the facilities will be $1.00 per day, except for the racquetball courts which cost $7.00 per hour.

The Harper facilities that can be used by the public are: the gymnasium, which houses an indoor track, basketball and volleyball courts, the weight room, which has both Olympic weights and Universal machines, the swimming pool and the racquetball courts.

The students and faculty of Harper College will continue to have access to the building "34" Physical Education Center at the times and days previously listed, plus many that are not.

For additional information and facility schedules for both students and non-students call the Physical Education office at 397-1771.

Hawks 1991 Football Schedule

Date	Day	Opponent	Location	Time
Aug. 31	Sat	Idol	Away	7:00pm
Sept. 7	Sat	Illinois Valley	HOME	1:00pm
14	Sat	Grand Rapids	HOME	1:00pm
21	Sat	C.O.D.	HOME	1:00pm
28	Sat	Moraine Valley	Away	1:00pm
Oct. 5	Sat	Rock Valley	Away	1:00pm
12	Sat	Trion	HOME	1:00pm
20	Sun	U of W-LaCrosse	Away	NCCN
28	Mon	Milkin	Away	3:00pm
Nov. 2	Sat	Region IV Playoffs	TBA	TBA
9	Sat	Region IV Championships	TBA	TBA

William Rainey Harper College

August 29, 1991

Volume XXVI, Number 1

INSIDE

Arts & Entertainment

Boyz N the Hood

Page 4

HARRINGER &amp; SYRROS

Football Preview

Tennis Preview

Page 1

FEATURES

Who's who at Harper College:
Student Trustee Lisa
Smith is featured this week.

National Lampoon

Is political correctness much ado about nothing? Here what a National Lampoon writer has to say:

Don't say we didn't warn you, however. It is, after all, the National Lampoon.

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Letter from the editor	3
Arts & Entertainment	4
Led Zeppelin	5
Music Reviews	6
Features	7
Classifieds	8
Football Jamboree	9
Sports	10

Last year, the Harper College Board of Trustees adopted a two fold plan to make Harper College smoke free. First, smoking was limited to specific areas. Then, as of August 1, 1991, phase two took effect.

"People are more aware this is happening all over, in businesses and hospitals," said Rosemary Murray, Supervisor of Health Service & Wellness Program.

Following is the statement of the policy adopted by the Board:

"It is the policy of William Rainey Harper College to maintain a smoke-free environment consistent with its efforts to promote wellness and a campus environment conducive to work, study and activities for students, employees and the public.

The College recognizes the rights of those who choose to use tobacco and does not prohibit the use of tobacco.

Outside is the only place that smokers are permitted to indulge themselves now that Harper has gone products. It does, however, restrict the use of these materials to areas outside College buildings and vehicles. As stated in the rule, "no loose or unshredded tobacco in any form, including cigarette, cigar, or tobacco in any other form, excluding snufftobacco which is any loose, cut, shredded, ground, powdered, compressed or leaf tobacco that is intended to be placed in the mouth without being smoked."

College savings plan unveiled

ISAC Press Release

In its continuing efforts to make college affordable for all Illinois families, the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC) is launching a unique college savings and investment program called the Illinois College Accounts Network (ICAN). Targeted primarily at middle-income families, ICAN has been designed to make saving for college easier, more affordable and more accessible to all Illinois families.

Through I CAN, families will have the opportunity to invest in three different investment programs, each of which has been designed to respond to the different needs and interests of various families. Depending on the option selected, participants will be able to open an account for as little as $25. Systematic, monthly investments will be encouraged, but not required.

The I CAN program is uniquely structured to draw upon the expertise of both the public and private sectors. The three saving options offered through the network represent programs that were developed by private companies specifically for this new State venture. Through this public-private partnership the State will be able to help families accumulate the savings they will need to meet the rising costs of post-secondary education," commented Gov. Jim Edgar.

Indeed, by the year 2000 national projections indicate that tuition and room and board for one year will cost over $10,000 at a public institution and more than $24,000 at a private college or university. Among middle-income families, in particular, many of whom do not qualify for traditional need-based financial aid programs, the need for guidance and help with financing a college education has

In announcing the program, ISAC Executive Director Larry F. Matejka stated, "ICAN will help alleviate the anxiety many parents feel about whether or not they'll be able to afford future college costs. This new program will build upon the enormous success of the State's existing CollegeSavingsBond program and enable us to serve many families who haven't been able to participate in the bond program."

The three saving alternatives offered through the CAN program include:

	Benham	Target
Maturities Trust	— a no-load mutual fund which invests in zero coupon bonds backed by the U.S. Treasury and guarantees specified sum at maturity

Twentieth Century
"College Investment Program"
a no-load common stock growth fund, which automatically reallocates investments depending on the child's age, emphasizing high-yield when the child is young and capital preservation as the child nears college age.

First Chicago's "Straight A Savings" — a high-yield, low-risk savings account which offers interest bonuses to long-term savers.

ICAN is the second part of a two-part approach to assist middle-income parents with college costs. Last summer Illinois Opportunity Fund grants were successfully launched to provide low interest, no-fee based loans to students pursuing higher education.

Harper welcomes performers

Students from Taiwan will perform a benefit event on Tuesday, September 10 at 7:30 pm in Building M. The colorful, action packed performance will include traditional Chinese costumes and music. The program will feature children's sports such as diabolo spinning, shuttlecock kicking, rope-slapping and many others.

NEXT WEEK

Coverage of football opener at Joliet. The Hawks defend their N4C Conference title.

In music, the great Metallica debate.
Featuring Eric Jason vs. Kurt Gessler

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Calmeski
Managing Editor
News Editor	Suzanne Hawke
Faculty Advisor
Business Manager	Michelle Smith
A & E Editor
Features Editor	Phil Majors
Photo Editor	Kurt Gessler
Sports Editor	Michael Cichy
Layout Editor

EDITORIAL

Rescuing civil rights from Operation Rescue

With the events surrounding the Operation Rescue protests in Wichita, Kansas, reaching a climax over the past few weeks, perhaps now is the proper time to review the issues in the abortion conflict.

Abortion is legal in this country. This simple fact is the foundation of both the current round of pro-choice/pro-life battles as well as all the previous conflicts. Protest movements that expand into restricting the rights of others are not legal. This is what the Operation Rescue forces have attempted to accomplish.

The merits of either side are not ours alone to debate. Whether one believes in general legalized abortion, in abortion under certain circumstances (i.e. medical reasons or rape), or in the banning of abortion altogether, is not necessarily important. The maintaining of civil rights is of vital interest for all. Operation Rescue has effectively destroyed these rights in an attempt at total shutdown of the Wichita clinics. As long as the Roe v. Wade decision stands, abortion will remain a valid option for any female. The pro-life forces must recognize this and honor the laws and statutes of this nation. Anything less by them, or by the pro-choice movement, is intolerable.

FAMILY PLANNING

Staff

Alana Chisholm, Phyllis Benson, Alexandra Yonakovich, Benoit Seron, Caroline Lovell, Bryan Hahng, Jerry Eberle, Christopher Gadhery, Jason Puck, Andy Leaman, Debra Nelson, Michael Shira

Relax, Jerry's coupon' out

Everyone can relax now, the crap in Kansas has faded. The communist hardliners are either arrested, dead or both, and Gorbachev continues to lose power. The bad men are gone, so we can all breathe a big sigh of relief... or can we?

In the wake of recent events in Russia, one wonders if our own government here in the United States could topple as easily as their's did. I mean, is it possible that a coup like this could take place here, in the home of the brave and the land of the free?

Imagine if you will, that the guys in Congress suddenly get tired of President Bush getting all the credit. Suppose that they get jealous of him having a beer named after him and always getting the best chair at meetings (the big, comfy leather one). What if one day while Bush is in the bathroom, they decide to lock him in and take over?

Jerry Eberle

President, "O.K. guys, pretty funny... lock the president in the bathroom... ha, ha... real mature guys?

Then, while Bush is stalled in the bathroom, they address the public:

Congressman, "Um, people, we have a slight problem. The President is... um... constipated. Yeah that's it. So, since he's not here right now, we will take over... until he gets back, of course."

Now, I know that some people will say that this scenario I presented is just a picture, and that it could never happen here in the U.S. Well, time will tell. Until then, let's hope that Bush keeps Congress happy and brings the right party mix to all those meetings. Or someday, we too, maybe singing the coup blues.

If what happened on your inside happened on your outside, would you still smoke? NOW IS THE GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT

Letter From The Editor

Congratulations to the new smoking policy and the board for their approval. Although this is the land of opportunity and freedom of choice, it is not my choice and that of many others to inhale the nasty stuff.

Occasionally though, in order to keep a social life, vigorous one must put up with the toxic smoke. But as non-smokers have rights also and it's about time for the smokers to be the ones inconvenienced. After all it is a prolonged term of suicide, and many of us want no part of your residue.

I realize it is a habit, and habits are hard to break, but occasionally I like to take a drink or two and my residue is urine. Many times due to the length of lines at a restroom it would be much more convenient to just leave my residue on your pants or shoes, would any of you smokers like that?

Mario R. Calmeski
Editor in Chief

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy
The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising
Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger. All rights reserved.

From White Nights to White Oaks Crank it up, dude!

By Alex Casmid
Hottinger Staff Writer

People traveled miles to Poplar Creek Music Theatre in Hoffman Estates to catch a glimpse of the B-man, Mikhail Baryshnikov. Some believed the White Oak Dance Project was his show. The August 17 event was much more.

The White Oak Dance Project was created in 1980 by Mark Morris and Baryshnikov. It was, in part, a performance vehicle for Baryshnikov. It was also a showcase for talented dancers who have achieved goals in their own right.

Morris's choreography was the main star in this show. His combination of music and dance was quirky, modern, elegant and at times humorous.

"Deck of Cards" was introduced with a stunning dance solo performed by a remote-controlled toy truck. Next Morris appeared in drag. In a flowing pink dress, he carefully maneuvered across the stage. Then Baryshnikov danced the part of a wounded soldier caught playing cards in church.

During the final sequence, Morris and Baryshnikov embraced as the two took a ride around them. This offbeat number provided the comic relief in the evening.

In the solo, "Ten Suggestions," Baryshnikov tiptoed around the stage in pink pajamas, danced with a Hoosier, playfully skipped with a yellow ribbon and straddled a blue wooden chair. Baryshnikov brought style and grace to Morris's choreography. If two great stars, the dancer and the dance, were one, "Going Away Party" used American barn dances in a series of vignettes set to country-western music to illustrate the ups and downs of relationships.

Morris saved the best dance for the finale, "A Lake" was set to the Hum Concerto No. 2 in D by Franz Joseph Haydn. The company stepped and leaped elegantly in ballet style almost as if they were dancing without benefit of a floor. The White Oak Dance Project gave the Poplar Creek audience a first-rate performance with talented dancers and dynamic choreography. Even audience members who came just to see the B-man were won over by the whole show.

Mikhail pushes dance to the most creative limits of the White Oak Dance Project. Here he is accompanied by Linda Dowdell.

By Michael Coker
Layout Editor

Chapterhouse
WHIRL, R.K.K.,
RCA/Dedicated

Chapterhouse is one of the new "rave" bands to come out of England after the death of the so-called Madchester scene. This new onslaught of bands have sounds which borrow from Manic Street Preachers, but don't try to sound like they belong in the past.

WHIRL (R.K.K.) is the band's first LP, released on an independent label in the U.K. It is distributed by RCA in the U.S. The album has been proving to be a success on the college charts. They have a melodic sound with Charlatanesque dreamy lyrics, however they beat the Charlatanes down. Their sound can be best described as similar to Ride but with less feedback and lyrics that aren't as depressing.

The best songs are the first two on the album, Breaker, the most up-beat song on the album, and their hit song Paul. Listeners of WHIRL should be able to recognize Paul, which has been given a decent amount of air-play on the rock show, a surprise considering the show's usual format. The remaining seven songs are slower and dreamier than the first two. Other noteworthy songs are Falling Down and Gull, which sounds like it was heavily influenced by The Church, especially at the beginning.

RATING: 3 out of Five

Impairt Carpets
THE BEAST INSIDE
Mute/Electra

The Impairt Carpets are one of the big Manchester groups, which include Suede, Charlatanes, U.K., and The Happy Mondays. The Impairs, however, keep trying to distance themselves from the Madchester scene.

Their second album, THE BEAST INSIDE, comes after they well received first album LIFE and singles Wasteful and Commercial (which were included on the U.S. release of LIFE). This attempt falls flat on its face compared to their previous releases.

The only songs on the album worth mentioning are Ceasare, which was released as a single prior to the album's release in the U.K. and Stop Well Tonight, a very good slow song despite being slightly too depressing.

The remaining songs do not grab the listeners' attention. They fail to just even to get there and get nowhere. This album seems to be influenced by the Stone Roses, containing songs that go on for what seems to be an eternity, like Farther Away which drones on for over twenty long minutes. The worst part of the album are the songs that have annoying lyrics like "A man not a man unless he has the beard made." Oh, brother!

RATING: 2 out of Five

GET THE LED OUT

Continued from page 4

bum was a different statement musically. Zeppelin started out more blues based, and with each album applied their heavy blues sound to world music. Kashmir, Foot in the Rain, the Conger, and Going to California are prime examples of songs in different cultural styles. From the early heavy blues period of the first two albums, the critics often staged the band for their lyrics. Well, it's obvious the critics forgot that rock n' roll is a borrowed art form and Zeppelin was guilty as were the Rolling Stones and the Beatles. The third and untitled fourth LP's explored the acoustic and folk sounds. Many times the band borrowed the medieval imagery of the Celtic and Norse cultures for inspiration for their lyrics. By this time Robert Plant was the chief lyric writer for the band, and his interest with the more mystical side of life lead to some of Zeppelin's greatest songs. Songs like Battle of Evermore, Stairway to Heaven, and No Quarter all highlighted his mystical edge and quest for the unknown in Zeppelin's music.

During the middle part of their career from Houses of the Holy to

Presence, their sound became more complex, and incorporated Arabic and Indian styles into their songs. This also was the guitar on hiatus period for Jimmy Page. Page utilized the multiple overdubs of his guitar to write epic songs like Tommy's Gone, The Song Remains the Same, and Achilles Last Stand. These mid-period albums (III, IV, Houses of the Holy, Physical Graffiti, and Presence) to many represent Zeppelin's most inspirational and inventive period.

After a live album (Shore, Remains the Same), the last official Zeppelin album came out in 1979. It was called In Through the Out Door, and was characterized by a very contemporary and dark sound. The ideas for this album came from bassist John Paul Jones for the most part and for this reason this album is very different from others. In In Through the Out Door had many extremes from experiments with Latin music (Southbound, Suave and Foolin' the Rain) to more mystical tracks like In the Evening, China (loved out their recording career in 1987). This album was released after the death of John Bonham and many don't consider it a real Zeppelin album. But classic tunes like We're Gonna Groove, Darlene, and Wearing and Tearing prove it is a Zeppelin album with out question. I don't want to give a distorted view of their recording career because to say they stuck with these styles for the whole album is wrong. Because Zeppelin wrote straight up heavy rock and blues through out their career, on every album they would just try a little something unexpected. During the third and fourth LP's were all acoustic, would be wrong. Because songs like Rock n' Roll, Black Dog, and Immigrant Song were some of their heaviest material. I guess what I'm trying to say is they played a lot of light and shade; they were right but loose band, and were never predictable. So to try to put a definite label on their sound is wrong. So do the albums and make your own determination. I'd say individuality and doing what you want were keys to what they were about.

Lead Zeppelin has just left such a deep impression in the annals of rock. The legend and strong following even today is astounding. A prime reason for their success was the hatred of singles. So in a sense the album is a whole world of mouth and AOR airplay (Starway was the most requested song of all time and was never a single). Their live performances were heavily bootlegged and the market for their illegal recordings and videos is still very high.

The band's alleged hotel trashings and rowdy backstage antics further the legend. But don't believe everything you hear because Zeppelin never did an autobiography so a lot of stories are untrue. Finally this band helps define the music of more than one generation of teenagers. Led Zeppelin's music is cross generational (from big brother to little brother) and it never sold out. You won't hear Zeppelin on any yuppie or trendy stations. They embody the true rebellious spirit of rock n' roll, never soft. Despite reunion tour offers of 100 million dollars and ample opportunity to saturate their songs to radio stations, Zeppelin has remained pure. The Stones and The Who can't make that claim. I hope Zeppelin stays away from becoming the media's pet because to strap Zeppelin into a trendy flashback would be wrong. And now ten years gone after the fall of Zeppelin, all the fans can say is that the music, well, matters.

Wonderstuff... the anti-Elvis

By Michael Coker
Layout Editor

THE Wonderstuff
NEVER LOVED ELVIS

Polystar

The Wonderstuff is probably one of my favorite bands, and NEVER LOVED ELVIS is no way let me down. Their third album comes two years after the release of HUP, which contained the Post Modern MTV favorite Don't Let Me Down. Gently. If any of their new songs have made it to MTV, I wouldn't know, since I don't get cable anymore (too big loss). The Wonderstuff has their own sound, but has been a strong influence on bands like Birdland and Ned's Atomic Dustbin.

On NEVER LOVED ELVIS the Wonderstuff once again manages to make an album that cannot be tied to their previous releases, but still has the bands positive qualities. This time, many of the songs take on a Celtic rock feel, it sounds like they were listening to the Waterboys when they wrote some of these songs. The Celtic rock influence thankfully does not dominate these songs, so they do not sound like one of the multitude of Celtic rock bands.

The first two singles from the album, The Star of a Crime and Caught in My Shadow, were released before the album, and a very good indication of what the album is about.

So what the album sounds like. Other good songs are Welcome to the Cheap Seats and Fortia, which I think should be the next single released from the album. The song, Maybe gets special mention, for not only is it a good song, it mentions Michael Stipe, lead vocalist of R.E.M.

This is definitely one of the best albums of 1991, and is the Wonderstuff's best album yet.

RATING: 4 1/2 out of Five

Sports that make a difference!
The Hottinger

FEATURES

Fashion at Harper is as real as the world

By Lynda Baumer
Harbinger Staff Writer

Did you realize that mingling among us, in the corridors of Harper, may be the Anne Kleins and Bob Mackays of tomorrow? The Donna Karans and Bill Blases of the future?

The Fashion Merchandising and Design departments at Harper College put on a yearly fashion show for students, is the culmination of many painstaking hours of hard work, blood, sweat and tears. The result is evidently so breathtaking that in recent years it has been dubbed a "fashion extravaganza." Sound familiar? If not, read on.

Baumert has it that Harper College has a very strong, top-quality design program. Yes, Harper. However, because of our geographic location (northwest suburbs, for those still trying to figure it out), many people "in the real world," believe it cannot be a viable fashion school. So here's where the big fashion show comes in.

From the onset of it, this show is serious business. Held yearly since 1980, the fashion show is a means of promoting our fashion programs not only to the design community, but to the public as a whole. At the same time, students in these programs gain a glimpse of what the fashion industry is really all about, and if they're not careful, they actually learn something. There are smaller community shows presented throughout the year, but the show held at Harper each May is definitely the "main event."

Students in the design program labors all year to craft garments worthy of submission into the big show. A panel of "real" Chicago designers and manufacturers view each original design, giving each a point score. Garments receiving the highest scores make it into the show.

Competition is pretty stiff. Sandra Clark, coordinator of the Fashion Design and Merchandising programs, explains that over 800 designs are submitted for the show each year and only about 200 make it in. Student designers go as far as to hire professional models to display their clothes for the judging. "It is important to highlight the garment in the best light possible," said Clark.

The business of the fashion industry is to remain a few steps ahead by interpreting future trends. This idea is mirrored in the students' work, which is innovative and often avant-garde. "If they're thinking 'now they're into,' said Clark. Successful designs reflect trends and fashion cycles.

Students in the merchandising program do their fair share of the work as well. It is their job to handle all of the "behind the scenes" tasks for the show. In cooperation with the faculty, professional photographers, stage people and music coordinators are selected to aid with the overall coordination and publicizing of the event.

If, after all of this, you're only half-impressed, and still not very interested, there is an added incentive. You've got it, money. The proceeds from each fashion show are put back into the educational experience. Each year student designers are awarded dozens of scholarships in conjunction with the show. This year 1,000 two student designers received scholarships. Money is given, either in the form of scholarships, or they are used to help build yearly trips to Paris or to New York.

Clark explains that an added perk of the design program is the definite expertise among the participating faculty, all of whom are professional designers who have worked in the fashion industry at one time or another.

Enrollment is always very high in the merchandising and design programs at Harper, and this year extra sections have been added to accommodate additional students.

There are many success stories resulting from these two programs at Harper. Students have gone on to open their own businesses, become top designers, and even become well-known international models. This alone is reason enough to keep abreast of participants in the programs.

Who knows, one day you may be able to say, "Oh, I remember when I saw that designer's first creations in the Harper College fashion show!"

As time seemed like a good idea, dropping by my school to check up on the little brother, especially when I considered that the girls who were freshmen when I was a senior would now be older and have more mature tastes. It was possible that one or four of them might be just classy enough to go for an older guy with a snazzy four-figure salary. I'd heard a few things about the "JC" controversy — who had? — but I figured the whole thing should have died down over the summer, and college students go back to snuffing goldfish into phone booths. I figured they would greet me with open arms.

I arrived on campus early while most students were still asleep. I savored the crisp early afternoon air alone, and reassured myself to the sight and sounds of the old school. After all entire weeks had gone by since I last trod these ivy-covered walls, but no sooner had I stepped through the gates than three huge guys in dresses leaped on me and knocked me down. "Who the hell are you?" I demanded as soon as I got my wind back. "We used to be fullback on the football team," they chanted in unison, "but we now enslave all macho posturing."

I was puzzled. "Why the dresses? And why'd you tackle me?" Their faces were blank except for a light rouge. "We were dresses to get in touch with our feminine, sensitive side and to express our solidarity with women in their fight against oppression. We tackled you because you didn't salute the Berenston billboard when you came in the gate." Sure enough, an enormous hand poster of ethnically diverse children leaped above the gate where the college's motto and symbol had been before. I knotted hurriedly and passed on through the gate.

Something was definitely very wrong here. My blood ran cold just remembering it — a fullback using the word "enclave." There was still a chance that these fiends hadn't got at my helpless sibling yet, so I started off in the direction of his dorm, cutting across the paths to save time. But the second my foot touched grass, another swarm of hairy creatures hurled themselves at me out of a nearby tree, chanting "Save the Earth!" I only got away because of the time it took them to put the wounded blades of grass in tiny spines.

When the little guy's dorm room proved empty, I knew where I would have to go. Into the belly of the beast. In fact, into a dingy pretentious canteen near the campus called The Belly of the Beast.

As I walked in, I saw that the place hadn't changed much. A snooty heavy-set woman saluted up to me as I surveyed the smoke-filled room. She looked like a third-year comparative lit graduate student to me. A dissertation away from that golden doctrate — she could smell it, I guessed. Very dangerous. A walking time bomb, even. I'd have to play this one carefully. "Care to come upstairs and redefine traditional values?" she cheerfully purred, sounding like Darth Vader. "While we all must be sensitive to the needs of women and minorities, at this time I am exploring an equally valid alternative identity," I parried.

walked away. I slipped quietly up the stairs. The walls of all the upstairs rooms had been knocked out, and the whole upstairs was one gigantic hall. It was filled with what looked like most of the College's undergraduate body, sitting cross-legged in folding chairs as grad students in black uniforms patrolled the aisles with truncheons and thick, cruel-looking hardcoats of The Second Sex. On a raised dais, a bearded female figure was lowering by which a trussed, struggling victim into a raging barrier of books. It had to be Mark, he would never have gone along with this kind of thing. He'd probably made some kind of off-color joke or refused to participate in the Daily Cash Weep. Brounding up on the stage, I screamed, "Stop!" The hooded woman stopped turning the wench and quickly translated what I had said to the dead homosexual pampers sitting in the front row.

The uniformed grad students were now converging on the stage. In a few seconds I would be pulp. "Hey!" I shouted to the woman. "I remember you, we went to high school together! You were on the cheerleading squad, right?" Confused by my sudden return of the discourse, the grad students began tearing her and each other limb from limb with a roar of animal rage. I quickly freed the intended sacrifice and removed the bag from his head. "Thanks," said Avi Rose, who was not my brother. They were gonna start me because of my misogynistic and xenophobic lyrics. One you one. "He high five me, guys." "Rock on, Avi," I said weakly.

I turned out my brother was living with his girlfriend off campus and had slept through the whole nightmare thing. I took it well. I told him about how I saved Western Civilization and Avi Rose, but he just looked at me funny and kept chuckling. Star Trek. The Next Generation. Next vacation I'm staying home.

Copyright 1991 National Lampoon, Inc.

Who's Who at Harper College

Student trustee Lisa Smith hopes to improve campus communication.

By DAPHNE SILVERMAN
Harbinger Staff Writer

'Student Trustee Lisa Smith acts as the liaison between Harper's administration and its students. The student trustee is elected by the popular vote of the students to represent student opinion. Although the student trustee has the same rights and responsibilities as the other trustees and is present at Board of Trustees meetings, the student trustee cannot vote.

Smith, student trustee for the 1991-1992 school year, wants to improve communication between the students and the administration. She hopes to achieve this goal by encouraging student participation at Harper. Though Harper is not a four-year school with campus dormitories, Smith feels there are enough campus activities for a student to receive a well-rounded college experience.

Meeting new people is just one of the perks of getting involved. Smith is a member of the Horticulture Club and has learned things about plants she never knew before. The club participates in a show every year where various plants are displayed. She encourages Harper students and members of the community to come help put on the show and see the displays. She can sometimes be found at the greenhouse in Building V.

Smith, who is married, is also involved in athletics; is a devoted pet owner and a volunteer for SAVE A PET. Although she is busy with students, a teacher and home life, she is not overwhelmed. Caring the usual love venter tumored during Harper elections as an example, Smith feels that not enough students have been involved. "Anybody who's involved — if they just made the time."

Though Harper is not a four-year school with campus dormitories, Smith feels there are enough campus activities for a student to receive a well-rounded college experience.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, August 29, 1991 7

Help Wanted

Bookkeeper Jobs
$18,240-$55,230/yr
Now Hiring Call 1-800-962-8000 Ext. R-1053 for current federal list 10/24

Help Wanted

Law Enforcement Jobs
$17,542-$86,682/yr
Police, Sheriff, State
Parole, Correctional, OH
Ticers. Call (1) 805-962-8000, Ext. K1053 11/23

Services

Lost in a Computer?
Franzky?
Call Ken at 885-8248 will teach basic skills, including DOS, specializing in Office and compatible languages. Also Microsoft Windows 8/23

On Campus Jobs

Formulator Inc.
Needs ENTHUSIASTIC STUDENTS WANTING THE BUSINESS EXPERIENCE
AS WELL AS EXTRA
INCOME. For more info
CALL 397-3000, X270 9/20

Services

Trans & Word Processing Services
Resumes, term papers
Laser print quality Call
Tina at 991-3198 8/28

Wanted

Backwards!
Read Books For Pay! Earn
$100 a 100! Free recorded message reveals details 813-852-8707 8/28

Business Classifieds Rates
& Improvements

Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check.
The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone.
Please call if your ad is misprinted.
For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call (708) 397-3000, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210

Harbinger
classified ads get results!

HELP WANTED
SERVICES
FOR SALE
FOR RENT
FOR LEASE
ADVERTISING
SITUATIONS
WANTED

JAMBOREE

Continued from back page

was evident at C.O.D. In two hours of play, the Hawks held the opposition to only 127 yards rushing and 21 total yards.
Strong individual performances were turned in by Tony Seta, who recorded 2 sacks, and linebacker Tom Jackson dropped the QB once. In the secondary, Mike McDowell had 2 interceptions while Damian Dickerson picked off one. Also playing well were Paul M. Andrews, Lawn Young, Doug Winter, and Tom Jackson.
After the events, the coaches unanimously voted The "Midwest Football Jamboree" to a second season.

Gym Shorts

Intramural running and throwing is preparing for their 1991 season. All students interested are requested to meet in the lobby of building A. Their meetings, which will begin September 3, are Monday and Friday at 3, Tuesday and Thursday at 2:30 and Friday at noon. For further information, contact Ray Mochlin at extension 2466.

Intramural basketball will hold their first meeting on August 30 at 3. Anyone interested should meet in room M 244 with a blue ink pen.

WE OFFER MORE...

WHEN YOU BECOME A DAILY
HERALD FIELD SALES REPRESENTATIVE.

*GUARANTEED TRAINING AT $10.00 PER HOUR

- Bonus/Incentive Programs
- Flexible Hours - 9-18 Hours Per Week, You Decide!
- Casual Dress Code
- Transportation Provided From Our Rolling Meadows Or Schaumburg Offices.

If you enjoy making extra money in your spare time, then don't delay, CALL TO-DAY!

Kirk Boie
870-3471
Rolling Meadows
12 - 4 p.m.

Earl West
870-3470
Schaumburg
12 - 4 p.m.

THE HARBINGER TIMES

is looking for a few good men and women

The Harbinger Times is currently accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists and several editors.

Apply in room A-367 and fill out an application.
Or call Mario Galenski at 397-3000 X2461.
The Harbinger Times is an equal opportunity employer.

New kind of classified available now from The Harbinger Graphics bring more attention to your advertisement

The Graphic Classified offers an eye-catching graphic appropriate to your ad, made a box screened to your preference. Prices begin at $5.00 per column inch.
Call now to place your ad!

Your text here in your choice of type style with graphic

Here are just a few of the graphics available:

HAWK SPORTS

■ August 29, 1991

★ SPORTS FINAL ★

1991 Football season begins

Karl Gieser
Hortbridge Sports Editor

"The more things change, the more they stay the same." As cliché as this statement might be, it aptly characterizes the 1991 Harper College football season.

Every year brings a new batch of young talent to the Hawks to hopefully replace the players who have departed. As for "staying the same," even despite the rapid player turnover, head coach John Blask is looking to lead his team to their 18th straight NAC conference title.

"It's going to be exciting trying for another conference title," said Blask. "But the real prize will be the regional title."

It was the regional title that eluded the Hawks last season, losing 17-13 to the College of DuPage (C.O.D.). As for the 1991 NAC campaign, everyone is predicting a Harper versus C.O.D. rematch.

"It looks like everyone in the conference will be chasing Harper and C.O.D. again," said John Hines, College head coach Vince McMahon. "The rest of the team in the conference should be evenly matched."

While coach Blask is confident in his team's abilities, he believes that the rest of the competition is ready to challenge.

"This year the conference is vastly improved," Blask said. "The team who wins the conference will not have more than two losses."

Fortunately for coach Blask, his team is also very improved and is ranked 15th in the nation in the JUCO pro-season poll. Players who were given unproven rookies last season now form the nucleus of perhaps the best defense in the NAC.

The brightest spot on the defense is in the Hawk's defensive backs. Harper has three of their four starting defensive backs returning: all conference selections. Mike Miller, Staver Hawkins and Mike Munner.

Another area the Hawks will be equally strong at is the defensive line. Second-year starters Paul McAndrews, Tom Reuter, Dave Grabczak and Kerry Kirby will factor heavily in the outcome the season.

The only question mark for Harper is in the linebacking corps. Last season the backline led by #1 linebacker John Bernshaw, were the strength of this young team. Now these positions have to be filled by freshmen. According to Blask, the three most promising freshmen are Western transfer Tom Jackson, Mike McDowell and Damani DeLeon.

On the other side of the ball, things are not quite as neat.

Last season, Harper's offense was stricken by a ground-based assault led by all-time Harper rushing leader Leonard Butler. With the departure of Butler, the Hawk must look to a new source of yardage.

In the backfield, freshmen Derrick Harris and Trevor Rogers are favored to start for the Hawk's, while sophomore Rick Hoggarty will most likely be the Hawk's starting tight end.

Another area where freshmen must step forward is at the quarterbacking spot. Last season, Jerry Chaves struggled after an excellent freshman campaign. Vying for the job this year will be freshmen Ken Carrol and Malcolm Moss.

One positive the Hawks do have to look forward to will be the receiving end of the completions. Sophomores Brent Nemmers, Nick Boyd and Jason Calabrese should bring much needed experience to help their young QB's get adjusted to college level play.

Harper holds off squad practice in preparation for Joliet.

Last season, Harper's kicking game was simply average according to coach Blask. This season, with promising freshmen punter Mike Morrison and place kicker Tim Newman, this facet of play should be much improved.

Perhaps the biggest problem is in the offensive line. All-conference sophomore Joe Sartin is the only returning starter, though Brad Courley did see action last season. Coach Blask is relying on the rapid development of freshmen and recruits to fill the remaining spots.

"Defense will be our strength, that and good overall team speed," Blask said. "We're counting on a lot of freshmen on offense, but we're still hoping to let our defense carry us early."

The season will kick off for the Hawks August 31 at Joliet.

C.O.D. Jamboree

Karl Gieser
Hortbridge Sports Editor

The first annual Midwest Football Jamboree was held last Saturday at College of DuPage. The Jamboree consisted of a series of 1 pm between the intensely competitive members of the NAC conference.

The original concept of pre-season scrimmages in the NAC was the concept of a Triton coach, but judging by the positive reaction of the participants, it was perfected by the officials at C.O.D.

"It's a great concept," said Harper Athletic Director John Bernshaw. "All of the teams seemed to really like it."

While it was funded by McKinnon Travel to allow teams to see how far they have progressed from the previous season, it must serve freshmen strong out for the individual squads.

The scrimmages allowed coaches to play inexperienced players in a real game situation. Not only are the freshmen allowed to showcase their abilities, but at the same time, the gain invaluable experience that they can apply during the regular season. For Harper, whose entire offense is dominated by freshmen in most of its season, this event could sell fairly heavily in the season's outcome.

Each team played four 15 minute games against the four teams they play least during the regular season. The reason for this unusual configuration was to keep teams from learning too much about their early opponents. But that did not stop scouting.

"All of the teams in our conference have really improved," said assistant coach Ron Latham. "We're going to have to get up for every game, we must work hard week in and week out."

Luckily for Harper, there was not anything weak about their performances.

Entering the 1991 football season, Harper is without a clear favorite for the number-one quarterback position. The two leading candidates for quarterback are Malcolm Moss and Ken Carrol, and both had solid outings in the Jamboree. Moss completed 7 of 14 for 155 yards and Carrol was 6 of 12 for 76 yards.

On the ground, Harper's notorious rushing game did as well as could be expected. With several offensive linemen ineligible and anchor line Sartin injured, the Hawks still managed a decent game. Derrick Harris rushed 11 times for 78 yards and Robert Walker was a 10 for 74 yards. Other good performances were turned in by Kenny Taylor, Rick Hoggarty and Jerry Bailey.

But Harper's strength this season will be in its defense and it

See Jamboree page 7

Denise Liffke practices her backhand.

Women's tennis ready to go

Pat Marx
Hortbridge Sports Editor

Experience is the best teacher, or coach, in this case. Marsha Bell is entering her twenty-third season coaching women's tennis this fall. And after a short retirement in which she coached women's softball, she says she is very enthusiastic about this season after being away from tennis.

"This is absolutely a relief," said Bell. "I'm very excited about being back on the courts."

Last year she accompanied number-one doubles team Amanda Paul and Lisa Berg to the national junior college tournament in Tyler, Texas. The duo reached the quarterfinals before being eliminated. Although Berg and Paul have moved on, heretics Denise Liffke and Fengtine Signheart have returned from last year. Harper graduate, Beth Kirby, vying for a roster spot.

As for goals, Bell only wants her players to "play well and have fun." She thinks it is important for the players to get a chance to know her and for her to get to know the players as well.

"I think if everybody can get out on court, practice hard and play hard during competition, individual as well as team goals will be met," Bell said.

Eleven women are trying out for the team, five of which are freshmen. The team will eventually be made up of the eight best players.

"Not only are the freshmen working hard to make the lineup, but the sophomores are working hard to stay in it," Bell said. "I think I'm going to have some very nice competition."

"I find it difficult to cut. I just have a terrible time cutting players," Bell said. "No, I try to find a little space for everybody. If I have extra players and they're not in the starting lineup, often times another player will have an extra player or two and they get the opportunity to play regularly."

The final cuts will be made by Tuesday. The first match is Thursday the 9th at home against McKinnon. The home game is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

"The initial attitude of everyone is very good," Bell said. "I think they're anxious to get going and I'm very excited about it. It's just going to be back clicking tennis."

THE LANDINGER

William Rainey Harper College

September 5, 1991

Volume XXI, Number III

PARKING HASSLES

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

The Great Metallica debate- Time to take sides

Eric Jason

VS.

Kurt Gessler

Page 4

SPORTS

Coverage of Hawks season opening victory over Joliet.

Golf Preview

Quarterback Steve
Matthews transfers to Harper, with hopes of helping the Hawks fly

Gym Shorts

Page 8

FEATURES

Who's who at Harper College: Jeanne
Panknin is featured this week.

National Lampoon

The real world jobs. Mortgage Medals Insurance. All the horror stories
I heard at college about how grim life was after graduation killed my head.
The best married life I've ever seen.
I thought
I was just about to pay the check, out girl at the supermarket when she froze. "What's that sticking out of your pocket?" Then she screamed.

Page 6

CONTENTS

Editorial.....	2
Photopolis.....	2
Arts & Entertainment.....	4
Bar review.....	4
Music Review.....	4
Features.....	7
Classifieds.....	7
Football.....	8

Student elections upcoming

ANDY LAMON
Harpington Staff Writer

Students who want to run for a Student Senate position in the September 26-27 election must complete a "declaration of candidacy" form before 2 p.m. on September 13.

The Student Senate represents the students to Harper's faculty and administration. They approve the budgeting of student activity fees, and the charters of clubs and organizations. They also have a voice in the school policies that affect students, and recommend students for important student committees, among other responsibilities.

There are six academic divisions in the Student Senate. The candidates may run in their major area of study or should have the majority of their hours in that area.

The areas are Academic Enrichment and Language Studies, Business and Social Sciences, Liberal Arts, Life Sciences and Human Services, Physical Education, Athletics and Recreation, and Technology, Mathematics and Physical Sciences.

There are also general student representatives in the Student Senate. These are from Clubs and Organizations, and one each from Disabled Student Services, Student Trustees and P.A.L.S.

"Improving student life is not the only benefit of being on the Student Senate," said Jeanne Panknin, director of student activities. "The students on the senate receive a unique learning experience. Student Senators learn managerial skills, while building their resumes," said Panknin.

Tuition rebates and travel in related meetings are also available for Student Senators who make significant contributions.

Meetings of the Student Senate begin on Friday, September 27, at 1:30 p.m. Subsequent 90-minute meetings will be held every other Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Students who have questions or who would like more information should contact the Student Activities Office in A338.

Parking is definitely no picnic Tips to alleviate the stress, anguish

Student enrollment is up for the last semester and parking spaces on campus are in short supply during peak enrollment hours (9:30 a.m. - 12 noon, 6:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.). The Public Safety Department offers the following advice on campus parking.

1. Whenever possible, carpool with friends. This will reduce the number of cars coming on campus.
2. Allow yourself enough travel time to look for a parking space and walk to your class. You should allow at least ten minutes to look for a parking space during peak enrollment hours.
3. Do not move your car to a different lot between classes. It is much faster to walk the distance between the buildings than to try to find another parking space.
4. Do not park in medical/handicap lots, unless you have a valid handicap card from the State of Illinois. These lots are strictly enforced and the fine is $50, your car can also be towed for this violation.

5. Parking lots are color coded to your parking permit. Students must park in green "C" lots only. The red "D" lots are reserved for faculty and staff members. Public Safety will issue tickets to violators starting the third week of classes. Registered students are not allowed to park in visitor lots.

6. Parking on the grass, sidewalks, and roadways is not permitted. Public Safety has been lenient in the enforcement of these regulations due to the construction and repaving of the parking lots. When the construction of the lots is complete, we will issue tickets for parking on the grass.

7. If most lots are filled to capacity, parking can always be found in Lot #1 on the northwest corner of campus. Parking is also always available in Lot #4 on the northwest corner of campus. Although Lot #4 is currently being repaved, we anticipate it will reopen shortly.

Five Simple Steps to Campus Ridesharing

Commuter student, faculty and staff can do something to save the planet every day—share a ride. Wasteful consumption of gasoline is expensive. It also destroys sensitive ecological systems, increases our dependence on foreign supplies, and leads to dangerous urban smog, global warming, and acid rain. We can reduce the number of cars on the road. Here are five simple steps to develop an effective campus ridesharing program.

1. Identify interest. Find out where students, faculty and staff live and how they commute. You can use zip codes from personal and student records, match people with the aid of a map and/or a computer database program. A survey of the campus community will tell you how people commute, their schedules, and interest in the program.

2. Match Commuters. From your matching information and your survey results, put together "match lists" for all students, faculty and staff. Give these lists to people who have expressed interest in the program and set up a way for them to contact each other.

3. Provide Incentives. Work with your administration to develop an incentive program. Preferential parking or reduced parking fees are usually the best way. Also publicize the benefits of reduced stress, reduced wear-and-tear on cars, improved environmental conditions and new friendships.

4. Coordinate with Community. Contact existing rideshare programs and nearby businesses that might want to participate in your program. Your program will benefit by more participants and shared ideas.

5. Special Programs. Develop programs to meet the occasional special needs of all participants: picking up kids, running errands, working late. For example:

a. If carpools are giving up their regular parking privileges, make sure they are able to park on the occasional days they need their own cars.

b. Research "guaranteed ride home" options, through which carpools can get home if they have to miss their regular ride. Taxi companies may be willing to contract this service at a reduced rate.

c. Lobby the administration for a campus courier service to run errands that would otherwise require a special auto trip by staff.

Learning Assistance Center is here to help

It's only a week into the semester and many students are on the verge of pulling their hair out. Relax, take a deep breath and call the Learning Assistance Center, because they're here to help, and most importantly, it's free.

According to Terry Donohue, all that is required is to register in advance for the seminar that meets your needs.

There are four different seminars being offered this semester at various times and dates. One of the programs is titled CURBING TEST ANXIETY, and this provides the students with different methods for reducing any and all anxiety one feels prior to taking a test.

Another seminar is TIPS TO TEST TAKING and this provides effective test preparation and test taking techniques so items are not misread and misinterpreted. "CAN'T REMEMBER FIND OUT WHY applies the technique of memory to textbook and lecture questions. And ASSESSING YOUR CHANCES FOR SUCCESS is the last in the line of seminars. If you need help contact the LAC.

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Maria R. Golemski
Managing Editor
News Editor	Susanne Haxle
Faculty Advisor	Gary A. Tackie
Business Manager	Michelle Smith
A & E Editor
Features Editor	Phil Mayes
Photo Editor	Kurt Gessler
Sports Editor	Michael Cichy
Layout Editor

EDITORIAL

Parking problems give headaches to us all

The beginning of the 1991 school year has already brought headaches to many Harper students. Those arriving on campus discover they have no place to park, or must spend their time finding an open parking space.

A key factor is the resurfacing of parts of parking lots 2 and 3, and all of lot 4. According to Donald DeBlase, Director of Physical Plant, this project can only be done during the summer months. The project started after the spring semester and continued through the summer. Lots five, six, and seven were resurfaced.

Lot four, however, has been torn up for several weeks. There has been no further work done on the lot. In fact, most students see unattended construction equipment. The holes and machinery exist, but where are the construction workers?

Also, it is standard practice for an institution to post apologies for any inconvenience caused by their renovations. Why hasn't Harper extended this courtesy to its students?

Another cause is the arrival of new students. Their unfamiliarity with parking at Harper causes a yearly parking crunch. This problem usually clears up in a few weeks once students are more familiar with the location of their classes. This, according to DeBlase, is the main cause of this year's parking problem.

But there are problems with that claim. If the problem was caused by new students not knowing where to park, we would expect to see Lots 2, 5, 6 and 10 full and find plenty of parking in the remaining lots. That, however, is not what is happening. A student arriving for a 10 a.m. class is finding the problem exists in all lots. Many lots are now over parked, with students creating extra spaces and parking on the grass. The only lot that has any noticeable space left is lot three.

Students can help correct this problem, since many students are taking two parking spaces when they park. When twenty people take two spaces, an additional twenty spaces are lost. Others park in faculty parking spaces, which only forces faculty to park in student spaces as the faculty lots are filled. These are restricted lots. One would expect people at the college level to have the maturity to respect simple rules like these.

The current situation is causing serious problems and concerns for some students. Many Harper students are part-time students working at full-time jobs. These students do not have the time to spend searching all the lots at Harper for a parking space. In the past, these students could find space in the back of a parking lot and walk to class. Now these students are finding the back of the lots just as full as the front.

The parking situation is a problem which can only be solved by efforts from both students and the college. Harper should inform students of possible parking alternatives, posting them on signs at the entrance to the lots with the heaviest problems. Students can try to carpool or other methods of transportation. While this might be difficult for many students, it might be worth the consideration given the current situation. Finally, students should be considerate of others when they park. Take one parking space and be careful when opening or closing. Damaged doors can be avoided with simple care and courtesy.

Staff

Alisa Olandstad, Phyllis Bennett, Alexandra Yankovich, Renee Serino, Caroline Lovell, Ernie Halpern, Tom Eadie, Christopher Calhoun, Jason Peck, Andy Leggett, Stephen Seisewitz, Michael Skura

General Office HELP WANTED
College Students Wanted
*WIRE PROFESSIONISTS
Word Perfect
Macintosh
ALL SYSTEMS
Other areas training for all qualified applicants
ALSO NEEDED:
*DATA ENTRY
*SYSTEMS *MICRO JOURNAL
*FILE CLERK
*SWITCHBOARD OPERATIONS
*LIGHTING TECHNICIAN
No phone but will call you to home the days of work you want
Call
214-355-5655
214-355-5655
Over 20 years of service

IMPROVE THE HEALTH OF YOUR FINANCES.

ARMY RESERVE

You could earn an extra income, part-time, as a member of the Army Reserve. Service is required in Spanish, only one weekend a month plus two weeks' Annual Training. In return, you'll enjoy excellent pay, educational and job training and the respect that comes with being an officer in the Army Reserve. It pays in more ways than one to be a smart, contributing member of the Army Reserve. Health Care Team with the same mobility and respect you deserve. Think about it. Then think about us. Then call (312) 775-1019

BE ALL YOU CAN BE. ARMY RESERVE

PhotoPinion

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What do you think about the current parking situation?

"Right now I feel pretty content with the parking situation at the school and I haven't really had any trouble with it yet."

Doug Margo, 18

"People are parking on the lawns later in the day and that's not any good. They should finish up the construction or open up another lot that the teachers don't need."

Kaylee Thore, 18

"Sometimes it's a long walk. The first couple of days it was really crowded, but it seems O.K. now."

Debra Wolfman, 17

"I feel that the parking situation is aggravating for everyone who has to go here, but I don't know about any other schools because I have nothing to compare it to."

Vickie Kinder

"I have a problem with the parking lot. Sometimes it's too crowded and some people park on the grass. We need more organization."

Martin Roman, 28

"I participate in the child bearing center and have a small child on campus. I just feel that the parking lot right outside of building 1 should be designated primarily for students with small children so they're not walking blocks and blocks to drop their child off."

Susan Marker

"I believe we're better off having a chance to get in touch with our minds and bodies and therefore put us at ease before a big exam. Just leave five minutes earlier in the morning and you'll be all right."

Chris Stephenson

By Renee Serino

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger. All rights reserved.

Animal shelters help provide care

Dennis Stevens
Harbinger Guest Writer

Since the dawn of the '80s, people have become more caring about the world in which we live. They are more aware of environmental issues and will not stand for animal testing for cosmetics.

But there are other creatures being imposed on animals. They are abused, neglected, and abandoned. Animal shelters manage to get some of them and put them up for adoption. But a shy, scared animal, a mother cat, or a diabetic cat would have a hard time getting adopted.

Strays Halfway House works with stray and abandoned animals throughout the year. This licensed organization was founded in 1981. The halfway house is different from a shelter because the animals are kept in private homes.

The animals come from the Hoffmann Estates or Schaumburg police departments, which serve as temporary city pounds. Many dogs are claimed by their owners but not the cats. They are all strays or abandoned. Before Strays takes the animals, they are taken to a local animal hospital and held there for seven days.

There are 40 foster homes in the organization right now. President Carol Stone had a dog for about three weeks when she decided to adopt her. As president, she conducts monthly meetings on the fourth Tuesday of every month, visits animal hospitals two to three times a week, and spends time with the animals. Next she evaluates the animals. She can take every single animal in because that could supplant the other animals in the foster home. "I have to pick and choose but sometimes it comes down to that," Stone said.

Strays advertises in newspapers and publicity ads. Volunteers of the organization take care of phone work, publicity, and fundraising. Many volunteers adopted animals. Most calls come from people who know what they want. They make requests such as, "I would like a dog that gets along with my children."

Before a visit to a foster home, adopters are screened over the phone. They are questioned about their lifestyles so they can be provided with the proper animal.

Adopting an animal is a long term commitment. Stone asks potential adopters to think about the life of an animal before making a decision. "Don't be impulsive when you get an animal. Take some time and think about it," she said.

If you're a pet owner going away to college in a couple of years, think about whether your parents want to care for the pet. Dogs live approximately 10 to 15 years. Cats can live for more than 15 years. "You should think about it if you'll want it when it's an adult. It's a life," Stone said. "Too many people think animals are disposable."

For more information on how you can help, write:

Strays Halfway House
P.O. Box 6811
Schaumburg, IL 60166-0811

FREE Guitar Concert

Guitar virtuoso, Christopher Laughlin, will perform on Thursday, September 19, at 12:15 p.m. in Building P, Room 205.

Laughlin is quickly earning a reputation as one of America's finest young classical guitarists. He has toured extensively with the United States Information Service "Arts America" program. A worldwide performer and Chicago native, he has performed at the Arthur Rubloff Auditorium, soloed with the Chicago Chamber Orchestra and the Symphony String Quartet.

Christopher Laughlin

Laughlin's recitals typically combine well-loved classics by Bach, Sor, Albein, and Villa-Lobos with engaging works by such contemporary composers as Leo Brouwer, Egberto Gismonti, and Benjamin Britten.

The Harper College Theatre announces AUDITIONS for "The Threepenny Opera"

A musical by Kurt Weill and Bertolt Brecht on Wednesday and Thursday, September 11-12, at 7 p.m. in Building A, Room 139.

Callback is on Sunday, September 15, at 1 p.m.

Copies of the script are on reserve at the library. Those auditioning should be prepared to sing a song of their choice and do a reading from the script.

The play opens November 15. For additional information contact Mary Jo Willis at extension 2285.

Announcements CLUB NOTES & OFFERINGS

BACCHUS CLUB MEETING TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10 at 1:45 in BUILDING A ROOM 336.

Board announces new admission requirements

As of Fall 1993, there will be minimum course requirements for graduating high school students entering the Associate in Arts Degree or the Associate in Science Degree Baccalaureate Transfer Program. This is in compliance with Illinois Community College Board Policy. The policy states that students with a broad variety of curricular areas in high school generally have a better chance of succeeding at the college level. The outcome of the policy change will lead to a more accurate assessment, placement and tracking of students enrolled in Harper courses.

The minimum high school requirements, two to three social studies and mathematics units, two to three science units, including at least one lab, and one to two units in foreign language, art and/or music.

The prospective student must also have up to four units in the previously mentioned subjects or vocational education to bring the total to fifteen units.

Applicants who have not completed these requirements will be admitted to the College as "Baccalaureate Transfer Students." There are some exceptions to the policy and some specific rules for GED recipients and international

Harper welcomes vocal ensemble Chanticleer

America's leading vocal ensemble, Chanticleer, will perform in the theater in Building J on Friday, September 27, at 8 p.m.

The twelve men are celebrated for a seamless sound ranging from baritone to four exquisitely pure countertenor voices. Their repertoire spans Renaissance interpretations to inspired renditions of contemporary and commissioned works, gospel, spirituals and vocal jazz.

For more information contact the Harper Box Office at extension 2547.

ERIC JACOB Kurt's views are the two ballads. The Unforgotten and Nothing Else are enough proving the obvious. The only real difference in themes between old and new

ed

Gessler do a point-cou
allica

...ter point over the new

The overall judgement on the album caused the most heated debate between Kurt and I. I am assuming Kurt was suffering from temporary insanity when he wrote his review for the album.

Another disturbing trait developed on Metallica was singer James Hetfield's vocals. The Unforgiven specifically, Het-

Another delusion Mr Jason has is that bassist Jason Newstead is every bit the player that Chris Burton was. While Newstead is adequate, Metallica seems to be away from giving him anything too complex. When you listen to Four Horsemen or Phantom Lord, you hear classic Burton. The Burton bass line on Horsemen is more than Newstead can ever accomplish. Mr. Jason mentioned to me

This album did not appeal to me, nor any other true metalbasher I know. But humbly Mr. Jason who believes this album has the same energy and life as Em All did. After all my opinion thinks that White Trash is better metal and that Aerosmith is fun.

My rating on this album is 2 stars out of 5, and Metallica thank Enter Sandman for 1 of the stars.

one end of this "relief station" is a bath board for those who do their

"When I heard Wayne Toupe was playing at Shades, I had to come," said one fan of "Wayne Toupe and Zyde Cajun." She remarked that she had seen him perform in a Zydeco/Cajun music fest in California and "would miss Wayne for the world."

Shades, across from the "p castle" on the corner of Aptak
Rd. and Milwaukee Ave., phone
634-BLUE (2583)

Sports that ma

ne Harbinger!

GORDY & YEITZEN

AND we Thank you for your support

SKURK

HARBINGER staff meeting
MONDAY Sept. 9, 6 p.m. A367
everyone's welcome

NO COMMENT DOUBLE YOUR TROUBLE COMQUES:
HAPPINESS IS.....

TESTING NEGATIVE

SEASON 1 1991

A SCREAMING PIG PRODUCTION -- 1991

PIELA DELBENT
TPEE WEE HEHMAN/Comic Wagman
CPS

MACLELLAN

Subwich

Welcomes Back All Students to Another Great School Year.
GOOD LUCK!!!

Student I. D. Special
Buy any Subwich or salad and receive a 12-oz. extra-large drink

FREE

offer expires 10/19/91

Subwich located in the Regency Plaza at the corner of Euclid & Quentin Rds.

Phone ahead for fast pick up.
991-1188

...so long ago, I was just like you. A college student I won't tell you what school I went to, but I'll tell you this: it was Harvard. And I had a typically wild college roommate. Sometimes, my roommate and I would say up drinking beer until one or even two in the morning. And then, like a mad, someone would come up with a totally crazy idea, like ordering some pizza. It was out of control. Unfortunately, all good things must come to an end. As St. John the Divine once said, and I was forced to graduate.

The real world. Ibbi, Mortgage, Medical Insurance. All the horrible-sounding I heard at college about how grim life was, after graduation filled my head with long-term recessions, overqualification, unemployment, and worst of all, temp agencies. The best years of my life were over, I thought. Whatever company I ended up working for would undoubtedly have a No Smoking policy, and on top of that I'd be forced to learn Japanese. I might as well flush my treasure. V Men and Cherry Pipart comes down the index. All of it reading from now on would be those weird columns of numbers in the Wall Street Journal. My mind rebelled against this nightmare, and, thinking quickly, I formulated a plan. "Oh, that!"

I hoped about the house the whole summer after I graduated, doing nothing but watching TV and eating peanut butter out of the jar. My parents worried over me, but I ground them. Finally I woke up one morning to find a press sitting on my bed. He smiled, and said, "My son, your parents think you may be depressed about something. They tell me you've been acting strange lately." He indicated the pyramid of fifty arrest forms bed. "Lighted."

"Well, father, ever since I left college, I've felt..." His ass dropped like a lead balloon on Jupiter, where gravity many times more powerful than on earth, and he stared at me with wide eyes. When he spoke, he was a myrtle, and I could see he was blushing under his white chemical collar. "You went to college?" he whispered. Awkwardly he rose and extended his hand. Barley audibly heaved, "Would you shake hands with me?" I shook his hand. He kept quickly, muttering a sorry, but looked back at me. I saw that his eyes were full of tears.

Clearly, at least for one high-strung clergyman, a college diploma was not the worthless piece of paper I always thought it was. I decided to test them. So to the delight of my parents, I volunteered to make the next peanut butter run myself. I was just about to pay the check-out girl at the supermarket when the front manager butler met myself. With a huge disbelieving grin she purred, "What's that sticking out of your pocket?" "None of your business," I answered. "Oh, that! That's nothing. That's just my COLLEGE ID CARD." She let out a short scream of joy and grabbed for the storewide P.A. system microphone. "Jerry," she urgently broadcast, "Come to register five right now! We've got a situation here!" Replacing the milk, she snarled adoringly at me as Jerry, the overweight store manager, pulled up his back, back-on-center. "Jerry," he said, "not taking her over yet!" "This guy went to college," Jerry hissed, sharply. He spun around to face me, "Is this true?" he demanded. I nodded my head yes. "God bless you, sir!" he exclaimed. I made as if to pay, but he laughed and pushed my money away. "Your money's too good here, sir," he told me, shaking his head admiringly. Turning, he announced to the crowd of customers and employees that had gathered around the register. "Give this guy all the peanut butter he wants, anytime he wants! THIS HERE'S A COLLEGE BOY!" The crowd cheered and applauded.

It began to rain, so I decided not to walk back home. Zipping up my jacket and jamming an old baseball cap on my head, I hailed a cab and drove in "52" King Street, please. "I told the Middle Eastern guy driving the cab. He looked at my head vigorously, he exhaled while revealing old dental work. When he gave me a crude salute in the rearview mirror, I realized the baseball cap I found in my pocket was actually my old mortarboard from graduation. He wouldn't take my money either. When I asked if there was any other form of payment he would accept, he eagerly produced a worn autograph book and a pencil. I scribbled "Daniel O'Keefe, Class of 1987" across the front page and headed away, honking the horn and shouting happily, waving the little book at passers-by.

I sailed away on a shekel and a smile for the next few weeks, just taking it easy. Late in all the big restaurants, was moved for nothing, and was found wherever I went. Still I was eager to do some really hard living. So, I called up Jack Nicholson. "I said, 'I told the Middle Eastern guy driving the cab. He looked at my head vigorously, he exhaled while revealing old dental work. When he gave me a crude salute in the rearview mirror, I realized the baseball cap I found in my pocket was actually my old mortarboard from graduation. He wouldn't take my money either. When I asked if there was any other form of payment he would accept, he eagerly produced a worn autograph book and a pencil. I scribbled 'Daniel O'Keefe, Class of 1987' across the front page and headed away, honking the horn and shouting happily, waving the little book at passers-by.'"

Five minutes later, a vintage 1932 Buick Roadster Silver Cloud screeched to a stop in front of my house, and Nicholson got out. "O'Keefe!" he shouted. "Get your ass in gear, we're going to be late!" He handed me a big fifty-cent coin. He lit it, and opened the front passenger door for me with a deep bow. Just then the truck shot down, and out leapt Warren Beatty, clad only in underwear and followed by three lovely nude ballerinas. "Slaughterhouse!" he bellowed, hopping for the front seat as he frantically pulled up his pants, but he had crawled down with a marini shaker. "No dice, Warren," he said. "You may be the most eligible bachelor in Hollywood but you're no Bachelor of Arts." Warren hung his head and got in the back with his little friends who made kiss faces at me when he wasn't looking.

And what a time we had. After shing at Aspen we hit the Call social circuit with a vengeance, going from champagne brunches to cocktights in a perpetual state of bliss, leaving a trail of empty whip cream puddles and controversial along the San Andreas Fault. When we tired of all that we all piled into the Rolls and headed for the tables at Tahoe. And let me tell you, Jack Nicholson is the worst violent player in the whole Western world in under three days, he dropped $800,000, including a $450,000 casino lost him because he was with me. Jack wrote a bad check to cover so we had eight parking tickets to $115 to beat the law to the airport. I let the pair of them in the airport bar, babbling over Cuba Libre about how they were going to buy AK-47's and go hunt end-dangered cougars in Ecuador. Boarding the plane, I showed my expired college ID card and was immediately upgraded to the first-class section of a flight to Monaco.

I had originally intended to remain anonymous in the little kingdom. But when I met the tragically widowed Princess Caroline grieving to the sea, I decided it was only charitable to use my position to help console the beautiful princess. "Your majesty," I tentatively asked as she stood sobbing in her red-trimmed setting sun, waves lapping at her delicate feet. "I was so sorry to hear about Prince Stefano." She heaved a sigh. "Thank you," she said. "But I think I can help. I went on 'You see, I've been to college.' She raised her tear-stained face, and smiled. "I knew you would come," she said.

I consumed her for about a week and a half in the most expensive hotels on the French Riviera. After that one spent five weeks doing all the Paris and Madrid nightclubs, shuttling back to New York for the larger, sherry halls. But, one night in Port Banno after a particularly great dinner at a "million-star-sunlit" nightclub, I realized something was missing. I was sitting in one of the most glamorous, decadent playgrounds in all Europe, with a beautiful woman of royal blood who was rubbing her foot in my crutch under the table, and yet I was bored. Vintage yearnings filled my brain. What was I doing here? Was I wasting my best years? Was I letting my life slip away like dust through an hourglass in the wind, damn it? The answer dawned on me. I craved responsibility. I was tired of the high life. I needed a job.

I left a snail's antline at the Barajas airport and flew to New York, where I went to see the owner of a famous humor magazine. You see, living the high life in all well and good but there comes a time when a man must buckle down and put on the pants. Casey Stengel once said that, and he holds true for more than baseball, even today. And you know, it turns out that you shouldn't believe all the media hype about the so-called recession and how difficult it is to get a job. I barged into the magazine's offices and without an appointment, breezed past the secretary and walked right up to the top man's desk. "Hey," I told the owner, pointing to my college sweatshirt, "give me a job!" He nodded his head. "Okay," he said. "See how easy it is?"

Still the economy really is a bit shaky, so the best Mr. Babcock could do was to give me a vice-presidency in the Humor Affairs Division. This means I have to sit around all day thinking up funny things and then tell them to a beautiful secretary who sometimes down and gives me a backrub. The position carries with it a $200,000 annual salary and a corner office with a gorgeous view of Manhattan. The salary is hardly competitive given my qualifications, and the office's antiques are not the finest, there's even a flaw in the crystal of the chandelier's fourth tier. Yet it's a dirty job, but somebody's got to get his or her teeth, in my case of course his, and do it. And no one ever said surviving in the Real World was going to be easy, after all.

© 1991 National Lampoon, Inc.

Who's Who at Harper College

Jeanne Pankanin

Jeanne Pankanin, director of student activities, has been at Harper for 16 years and is responsible for overseeing all of the events produced on campus. These events include lectures, concerts, theatre, films and videos. Pankanin also supervises all student organizations, including WHCM and student senate.

Last year, student activities made "major renovations" to the recreation center on the third floor of Building A. Six to seven pool tables were taken out, then a widescreen television and furniture were added. "It was kind of a risk, but the students seem to enjoy it," she said.

Pankanin said that she hopes to increase the emphasis on community service this year at Harper. "We would like to see if somehow we can get students and staff more interested in having a community service mindset." Although the outline of these goals are still in progress, Pankanin said she and the staff would like to model the ideas after last year's T.E.A.M. project, which won the Illinois Bright Idea award. Another hopeful is the third annual Intercollegiate week, held this October. "Everybody knows in general that our country is becoming more diverse, but how does that affect you or me? The only way we can really learn about that is if we try to learn about other cultures."

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, September 5, 1991 7

Help Wanted

Help Wanted

O'Hare area company has opening in shipping/receiving. Full and part time evenings with one weekend day required. Flexible hours/days. Call Todd after 3 pm 593-2139.

Services

Professional

Scapigliato Nails
Special Prices for Harbor Students
Full Sets $25.00
Fills $14.00
Manicures $10.00
Call Stacy
at (708) 985-9248

Services

Learn to Use a Computer

Francy 7
Catherine at 875-8746 will teach basic skills including DOS, specializing in DBase and compatible languages. Also Microsoft Windows.

Need Money for College

Free information. Send name and address to The SCHOLARSHIP RESOURCE, c/o Division of B.P.C., P.O. Box 451, Brookfield, IL 60513. Or call (708) 685-5622.

Trans & More

Processes Service
Resumes, term papers
Laser print quality. Call Tina at 901-3198.

Services

CHILD CARE

Flexible hours for working students. Days/part-time. Call Finders Keepers 205-5545.

TYPING-WP SERVICE

RESUMES, TERM PAPERS, LASER PRINT QUALITY. TINA (708) 991-3198.

SAY THE WORD

Word Processing and editorial services. "I really words, I think about what I am reading".

Reasonable rates

WPS 1. Laser print quality. Call Anne Marie at (708) 634-8238.

For Sale

1978 Trans Am

Fully loaded low mileage garage kept excellent condition. $7895 or best offer. (708) 537-3407.

For sale

84 Mustang LX AC FM Auto hatchback 97500m, 14000 miles. Linda 304-5278.

1980 Pontiac Grand Prix

89000 miles, $895 or best offer. 355-2949.

Standard Classified Rates & Information

Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check.

The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted.

For more information, contact The Harbinger in A-367. Call (708) 397-3000 ext. 2480 or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210.

BEFORE BLOOD PRESSURE MEDICATION CAN WORK, IT HAS TO GET PAST A MAJOR OBSTACLE.

Next time you forget to take your blood pressure pills, remember this: heart attack and stroke are much harder pills to swallow. To learn more, contact your nearest American Heart Association.

You can help prevent heart disease. We can tell you how.

American Heart Association

WE OFFER MORE...

WHEN YOU BECOME A DAILY HERALD FIELD SALES REPRESENTATIVE.

*GUARANTEED TRAINING AT $10.00 PER HOUR

- Bonus/Incentive Programs
- Flexible Hours - 9-18 Hours Per Week, You Decide!
- Casual Dress Code
- Transportation Provided From Our Rolling Meadows Or Schaumburg Offices.

If you enjoy making extra money in your spare time, then don't delay, CALL TODAY!

Kirk Bole
870-3471
Rolling Meadows
12 - 4 p.m.

Earl West
870-3470
Schaumburg
12 - 4 p.m.

THE HARBINGER

is looking for a few good men and women

The Harbinger is currently accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists and several editors.

Apply in room A-367 and fill out an application. Or call Mario Galinski at 397-3000 X2461. The Harbinger is an equal opportunity employer.

New kind of classified

available now from The Harbinger

Graphics bring more attention to your advertisement

The Graphic Classified offers an eye catching graphic appropriate to your ad, inside a box screened to your preference. Prices begin at $5.50 per column inch. Call now to place your ad!

Your text here in your choice of type style with graphics

Here are just a few of the graphics available:

Hawks maul Joliet in 1991 season opener

By Kurt Grause
Hawkeye Sports Editor

The Harper Hawks wished the Joliet Wolves warm greetings last Saturday evening. Keeping with the festive tone of the evening, the Hawks demolished the Wolves 30-6 in their first game of the 1991 campaign.

The Hawk victory at Joliet did not surprise many, primarily since the Wolves are a young team having only six returning players. Another reason Harper was favored was that the Wolves have not defeated the Hawks since 1982.

"A win on the road is always positive," said head coach John Elansk. "But this was one of the weaker teams in the league."

Even though they are one of the weaker teams, that did not stop Joliet from flexing their muscle late in the game, after the game was all but over, decided that if they could not win, they would try to inflict some pain.

"Joliet took some cheap shots," said linemen Kerry Kirby. "Their defense definitely tried to hurt us." In the end, Joliet only hurt themselves, but not as much as the Harper 'D' did.

While the Hawks' offense was dominating the Joliet defense, Harper's 'D' was simply neutralizing the Wolves' attack. The Hawks held Joliet to 209 yards of total offense and forced seven fumbles, three of which Harper recovered. (Damian Dickerson, Dave Grabczak and Joel Reichel). The Hawks also dropped Joliet quarterback Dale Samerillo four times, with the sacks credited to Kerry Kirby, Tom Reuter, Doug Winter and Demetrius Hardick. Other defensive standouts were Paul McAndrews, Mike Miller, Mike McDowell, Rich Hurley, Mike Martinez and Lawan Young.

The Hawks' offensive line, though young, still outplayed their counterparts. The line play for the Hawks' not only led to 149 yards rushing, but players like Kurt Gebriek, Lenny Paszczewicz and Brad Gaudy kept the pressure off of starting quarterback Kenny Carroll.

"The line is doing a lot better, they looked good [against Joliet]," said injured offensive lineman Joe Sarin. "They really have learned a lot in very little time."

But one thing none of the Hawks had to learn is how to lose.

Harper's first score came as a Joliet gift. With 6:33 remaining in the first, running back Jamie Horton, who also ran for 67 yards on 7 carries, muffed a punt and Dickerson recovered for the Hawks on Joliet's 35 yard line. Four plays later, Tim Newman hit a 49-yard field goal to give Harper the lead 3-0.

Harper's next two scores were courtesy of running back Derrick Harris. Harper kept the ball in Harris' hands, who proved it was the right thing to do by rushing for Defensive back Anthony Villacel on the ground for the Wolves but arrived too late.

Page 10/11

141 yards on 16 carries. On consecutive possessions Harris ran for one TD (101 yards) and on the next broke away for a 52-yard TD run. The first Harris touchdown was set up by a 39-yard dump pass from starting quarterback Kenny Carroll to tight end Rick Hengarty. On the day Carroll would complete 3-5 passes for 54 yards. With both extra points made by Newman, the Hawks led 17-0 at the half, more than ample cushion for the Hawks' defense.

Even though the Hawks had a cushion, they did not want to rest after three strong runs by Harris, netting 20 yards. Carroll decided to throw to him. Harris caught the ball on Joliet's 18-yard line and scored with 11:18 left in the third quarter. With the extra point by Newman good, Harper took a commanding lead 24-0.

Joliet would cut the lead to 24-6 when Horton found a hole in the line and ran 42 yards into the end zone. But this game was already more than out of reach. Back up QB Malcolm Moss would recover those six lost points at the end of the third quarter on a 6-yard rush, with a low snap causing Newman to miss the extra point. Even with the miss,

Harper still led Joliet 30-6, which is where the game would end.

Thus begins the Hawks' defense of the MAC title.

"We passed effectively when it was needed," Elansk said. "The fact is we were able to run the ball so we didn't need to pass. When we need to pass, we will."

In other related games, College of DuPage shut out Moraine Valley 17-0, Illinois Valley pounded Triton 32-14 and Rock Valley upset Northern Iowa 34-32.

The Hawks next contest is Saturday at noon against Illinois Valley.

Golf season ready to tee-off

By P. P. P.
Hawkeye Sports Editor

Trivia Time: The song was "Radar Love." Name the group?

Answer: The one-hit wonders, Golden Earring.

The subject comes up when discussing the 1991 Harper golf team. "I'm thinking of calling them the Golden Earrings," said Harper golf coach Jim Karas. "I think all golf coaches but one have an earring on."

Prominent among the earring wearers is sophomore Tony Suwanski. Safety back from his stint in "Operation Desert Storm," Suwanski is expected to make a serious run at nationals this year.

"He's very capable of going to nationals," Karas said. "He can sell it on the course. He was very upset that he didn't make it last year. He's very, very competitive. He won't let him play poorly."

Jeff Zapp (Palatine H.S.) has impressed Karas. "He's a very good player," he said. "He can play the short game really well. He just has to get used to playing at this level."

Marcus Ithabashi (Hoffman Estates) has the long game down. "He hits it real long. He has a very good swing. He can hit a mile. He just can't get on the green yet."

John Chung (the earnings) is "a very disciplined player with a good short game."

Kerth Karimich (Hoffman Estates) joins Chad Turner (Crystal Lake), Bob Karpant (Cary-Grove) and Steve Bils (Shambergton) on the Hawks' golf team.

"Swing-wise, we have some good players," Karas said. "I don't have a clue of what they can do on the course. They are all thinking low 80's. Their swings look better than that."

And those earnings look marvelous.

GYM SHORTS

An organizational meeting for men's basketball will be held on September 11, 1991 at 3:15 p.m. in M244. Membership on this team is open to male students taking twelve or more hours this semester. Men wishing to try out should attend this meeting. For more information, call extension 2444.

The first annual Harper College "Tip Off" basketball clinic is scheduled for Saturday, September 21. It runs from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Captain and assistant Duane prominent head coaches for this event. Participants include Steve Anturin (University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee), Mike Tharp (Purdue H.S.) and dean of Mid-Suburban League coaches and Kent Payne (St. Edward-Elgin).

The program will be held in Building M. The cost is $5 per person. Contact Duane at 608-244-1200.

The 1990 football season saw the high flying Harper Hawks unable to leave the ground.

Last year starting quarterback Jerry Chesney was mired in a season-long slump. But now in 1991 things may have changed with the transfer of University of Tennessee quarterback Steve Matthews.

"There were very little of him," said head coach John Elansk. "But he seems to have all of the necessary tools. If he has the poise and ability we think he has, he could have a big impact for us."

The 6-4 215-pound Matthews transferred to Harper when he dropped to number fifteen on UofT's depth chart. In his four games with Tennessee after red-shirting his freshman year in 1989, he threw only one pass, not surprisingly an interception.

Coming out of Tullahoma High School, Matthews was very highly touted among the scouts. He was ranked as highly as the 15th best quarterback entering the collegiate ranks.

Coach Elansk's hopes to start Matthews ahead of the two freshmen quarterbacks, Kenny Carroll and Malcolm Moss in hopes that Carroll and Moss can learn from Matthews experience.

This will be Matthews' final year of eligibility, while Moss and Carroll still have one more year of eligibility after the 1991 season.

Matthews has been with the Hawks for two weeks but did not see any action in Harper's road to Joliet. According to Elansk, Matthews is sure to take a few

THE HARBINGER

William Rainey Harper College

September 12, 1991

Volume XXVI, Number IV

PEOPLE ARE STRANGE

INSIDE

Arts & Entertainment

Barton Fink Review

Page 4

SPORTS

Football

Golf - The Blackhawk Invite

Page 8

FEATURES

Elena Pokot, who emigrated from Russia speaks about the coup

Health commentary and suggestions

Page 6

CONTENTS

Editorials.....	2
Letter to the Editor.....	2
Arts & Entertainment.....	485
Movie review.....	4
Zanies Review.....	5
Features.....	6
Classified.....	7
Football.....	8
Sports.....	8

Board approves scholarship

5 scholarships to Hispanic, African-American students

Joseph Palms
Harbinger Staff Writer

On September 10, the Harper College Foundation Board of Directors unanimously approved a proposal to grant five $1000 scholarships to Hispanic and African-American students.

This grant will be directed toward the under-represented Hispanic and African-American communities in the district.

The vote was to approve a measure that would annualize the original $5000 approved by the foundation in March and would increase this to a minimum of $10,000 for the second and subsequent years. This measure will allow students currently receiving this grant to renew their grant and would allow for the recruitment of five new students each year.

Members of the Board discuss the new book store.

Frank Solano, Director of Financial Aid/Veterans' Affairs presented the board with a laid-out detailed plan of all the necessary funds and requirements he needed to institute his program.

Compliments about the proposal were coming in from all areas.

Other business the board covered were the areas dealing with renovation of Buildings E and A and the addition of a new bookstore and conference rooms where the current bookstore is located.

The new bookstore will be located within the center of the campus and will be linked up with Building E. This will provide for better student flow and better access to various parts of the Learning Resource Center and the bookstore. Also included in the remodeling package is renovation to the Liberal Arts Building and the addition of a Print Shop. All of this work will cost approximately $14 million by the time construction begins in 1993.

All this doesn't rest on the shoulders of taxpayers. Money for these projects comes from various funds and other special activities. The board also paid tribute to Ray Devoey, the former head of Harper's Foundation Organization. Devoey went on to become the head of the United Methodist Foundation Harper President Dr. Paul Thompson currently serves as the head of Harper's Foundation Organization.

Formulator, student-run corporation teaches, provides a creative challenge

Joseph Palms
Harbinger Staff Writer

A student-run dental manufacturing business called Formulator Inc. began operation in William Rainey Harper College's Business/Secret Service Office in April 1989. Formulator's mission is to challenge yourself and others to create, learn and teach.

Formulator is Harper's first successful student-run manufacturing corporation. The operating members of Formulator are: Dr. William Jedicke, general manager and Professor of Business Management; Christopher Lund, President; Brian Hendrick, Vice President of Purchasing; Pat Carney, Vice President of Marketing; Jason Hurren, Director of Collections; Wail Chinnah, Director of Marketing/Communications; and Michelle Huesover, Consultant.

Formulator Inc. manufactures dental equipment and supplies such as its new product Pic n' Stick. Pic n' Stick is a 2.5 inch long plastic stick with an adhesive tip at one end. It can be used by dentists to pick up small objects and place those objects in small areas of the mouth which would be inaccessible with ordinary gloves. The product acts as a handle to insert crowns, inlays, braces, etc., into the mouth.

Another product, which is been on Formulator's list since day one, is Occlusameth. Occlusameth is a material used by dentists to produce precise teeth and mouth impressions. Formulator also sells latex gloves which many dentists use when working with patients. These dental products are sold to various dental companies and dentists in the area and outside Illinois.

Those students who are part of Formulator can receive up to three independent study credits hours for their involvement. They also receive hands-on experience in running a business and learn how to interact with people.

Members do not receive pay. "We want to stress not in a negative way, that belonging to Formulator is strictly on a volunteer basis. We want people to be aware of the seriousness that this is a real business and not just a game; it is extremely important," Lund said.

In addition to the business experience members receive, they develop camaraderie and entrepreneurial spirit. One member who stresses camaraderie and entrepreneurial spirit is Wail Chinnah. Chinnah is on an internship with Formulator, while attending full-time classes at Columbia College in Chicago. Chinnah drives from Chicago everyday just so he can be a part of Formulator.

"I feel that job experience is a must because even in today's market you need more than a degree; that is why I feel Formulator can provide me with actual hands-on experience in a real company. I left an internship provided by my school because there was no variety and instead, I discovered Formulator at Harper. I am glad I made that choice because now I am working in a variety of fields from purchasing and shipping to marketing and sales," Chinnah said.

Qualifications to be a part of Formulator are: 220 C.P.A., a full time student at Harper, and should be motivated, enthusiastic and have a drive to succeed. When accepted, a student can expect to work 5-15 hours per week in the Production Department, which includes marketing, advertising, sales, or accounting, and in company meetings. And as with many corporations, all work and no fun can lead to burnout, so members get together and have special all paid for outings. The outings give members a chance to have fun and get away from the work some time in a while.

Job assignments can vary. A potential applicant could be assigned to areas of manufacturing, sales, accounting, purchasing, and management. According to Lund, accountants are needed. "Those who have taken Accounting 101 or 102 and are interested in Formulator should apply," Lund said.

Pe Moss

Chinese troupe performs to benefit flood victims

Friends and strangers, Chinese and American, young and old all gathered together Tuesday night to see the performance of the Chinese Youth Folk Sports Troupe from Taiwan. Twelve girls and 10 boys dazzled onlookers with a show full of color and grace.

"We would like to introduce Chinese folk sports to make a better understanding among all people. We hope it is an educational experience for the students," said Tsai Min-Chung, the Troupe's leader. Proceeds from the event go to the American Red Cross to benefit the flood victims of mainland China.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Galemki
Managing Editor
News Editor
Faculty Adviser	Susanne Harvie
Business Manager	Gary A. Ticks
A & E Editor	Michelle Smith
Features Editor
Photo Editor	Phil Mapes
Sports Editor	Kurt Cevler
Layout Editors	Michael Cichy and Joseph Palmer

EDITORIALS

Teaching is about money, or so that's the message

A teacher is one who teaches or more specifically someone whose job is to teach. At least that's the definition according to my dictionary. So, in other words what's happening in Elgin is a people's strike, because quite obviously there aren't any teachers.

More than 28,000 students are now shut out of class because of a quite common evil, that of greed. This is the state's second largest school district and although the kids view this as an extended vacation it is detrimental to their ideas of school and what a teacher is really supposed to be.

These people may be educators, but I'm sure that is arguable. They do know the theories of and methods of a good education, they're just not willing to provide it.

Alright, I can hear the complaints now, that they deserve the right to better pay and benefits. But the bottom line is things could be worked out while kids are in class learning.

Contract negotiations in Elgin fell apart Sunday over salaries, and the two sides are now attempting to use the media as their outlet for sympathy and bickering.

Approximately 1700 teachers turned down an offer of a five percent increase in pay as they continued to toss accusations each others way of misrepresenting the final discussions. The union is seeking an 11 percent increase in pay.

One of the saddest stories involved here is that these children need the education more than the typical students because approximately 66 languages are spoken in students' homes. The largest ethnic groups are Hispanics and Latinos.

I'm so glad that children of this day and age are learning from their parents that money really doesn't mean everything, but then when they get to go to school, their people are educating them by proving only money speaks louder than words.

Woman walks for literacy

Bravo to Julie Kimball of Phoenix, Arizona who crossed the finish line at the Library of Congress after a 3414 mile walk to promote adult literacy. Kimball, 47, a high school graduate who could barely read or write until five years ago proved that the schools need a serious looking into, and also it's never too late to learn.

Staff

Alisa Chisland, Eric Isom, Tim McDonald, Rick Lewis, Maggie Elden, Cina Piccolo, Kim Hansen, Doris Anderson, Alexandra Trushchinsk, Renee Jensen, Candice Lovell, Dyanne Bilsing, Jerry Charle, Christopher Gaffney, Isaac Pick, Andy Louman, Daphne Roberts, Michael Skara

COMMENTARY

Letters to the Editor

Smokers have rights too, lets compromise

Mr. Galemki,
I am a smoker. I read your Letter From The Editor in the August 28, issue of The Harbinger and became upset. Now, I'm not going to tell you that you're wrong. I believe you are too hard on us. True, it's a disgusting habit, true, non-smokers don't want to inhale second hand smoke, and TRUE some smokers want to become ex-smokers. I got really offended when you said, "It's about time for the smokers to be the ones inconvenienced."

We have been for a year now. Smoking was restricted to designated stairwells in each building. If you weren't in the right stairwell you were either told to get it out or go outside by a faculty or staff member. Which is right? I don't want to start trouble. All I want is the stairwells back. Winter will be coming soon and I would like a semi-warm place to have a cigarette. Is that too much to ask for?

If necessary choose a stairwell that is less traveled in each building. Smokers do have rights just as much as non-smokers. Lets get together and compromise.

Sincerely,
Michael FI

WHCM is the sound of Building A, listen

Dear Editor,
I am writing on behalf of the Air Personality of WHCM Radio at Harper College. WHCM broadcasts Monday thru Thursday 7am to 9pm, Friday 7am to 9pm, and on Saturday 8am to 10pm. We are heard over TCI and Continental cable stations, the lounge, and the cafeteria in Building A. The competition to become a part of the Air Personality is very demanding because out of approximately 70 applications only 37 positions are available. These Air personalities have full schedules at school as well as having to put two hours a week on the air and receive no pay for their efforts.

While many people at this school think WHCM is a nuisance and a yoke, the management and staff take it very seriously for most of our staff hope someday to make radio broadcasting a career. By calling the studio and asking the Air Personalities to turn down their show because you want to study without music in the background in Building A is absolutely unreasonable and selfish!

WHCM and the Air Personalities do their best to play you, the listening audience, a good variety of music and they do it as professionally as they can. It takes a lot of determination and courage to speak over the airwaves of Harper. I just hope you as a student or staff member understand that. If you would like a quiet place to study or prefer not to listen to the talented WHCM staff, might I suggest Buildings F or J or maybe at home? Building A is a place to study, talk, eat, or just hang-out and WHCM is here to add some enjoyment to the grading classes we all attend.

Hopefully, within the spring semester WHCM will be broadcasting over the FM dial, so then you will have the opportunity to turn us on or off. Until then, please give WHCM and its Air Personalities a chance to make a difference in someone's life, even if it isn't yours!

I welcome any questions or comments!

Yours Truly,
Rebecca M. Mandel
WHCM Station Manager

A QUESTION FOR... BOZO THE CLOWN

Some people say that the size of a man's nose is relative to the size of his genitals. You have mighty large shoes. Is your penis as equally impressive in size?

The Green Scene

Kermit the Frog once said, "It's not easy being green." Kermit was not completely right. What most people associate Kermit's statements with is his feelings of being in the minority, and of not quite fitting in. People who are concerned about the environment also bear the label of 'green'. And although they often feel they are in the minority as well, more and more people today are becoming conscious of the plight of our planet, and looking for things to do to help protect it from ruin.

The intent of this column is to inform folks in the Harper community about how they become 'green' in their own way. Having concern for the environment does not require that you drastically change your lifestyle. In fact, many of us are already making choices to do the 'green' thing.

BY
Maggie Balazs

Take for example those brown trash cans with holes in their lids that you see all around campus. These are specially provided for aluminum can recycling. Each time you drop an empty soda can into one of these containers, you are helping the environment.

According to the book, "Save Our Planet," by Diane Marschert, each aluminum can that is recycled saves 95 percent of the energy that would be used to produce a new can from scratch. The air pollution that manufacturing a new can would create would also be reduced by 95 percent.

Recycling is one small but great step. In the coming weeks, things that you can do to further get involved in the environmental movement in and around the Harper community will be explored. Also, what is already being done to help preserve the natural beauty of our area will be featured.

Each person can make a difference. Hopefully, you'll see that it is actually fairly easy to be 'green'.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy
The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editors. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

the bigger you are guess?

juniors & infants

big Life.

Marshall Field's

"Barton Fink" portrays Hollywood flix in '40s

CASA LOVELL

Hollywood Star Wars

This movie won an unprecedented three awards at the Cannes Film Festival, for Best Actor, Best Director and Best Film. I agree with the first two awards. But Best Film...

It was thought provoking, entertaining and at times, riveting. The film's attempt to cover too much resulted in a lack of direction and cohesiveness and confused the audience. It was difficult to get past those weak scenes. They have the actors and the beginnings of a solid script, but these locations got lost.

The story line takes place in New York, 1941. Barton Fink (John Turturro) arrives in Hollywood with a realistic play about the triumphs and heartaches of the common man. Critics rave and the public cries for more.

Then, the deal of Fink's lifetime ($1000 a week to write B-grade movies for Columbia Pictures) in Hollywood. Poor Barton, although aware his gift is not in writing anything movies, succumbs to the allure of money and goes west. Barton checks into a seedy hotel in L.A. to keep in touch with the common man.

What about the money? Forget it, Barton chooses the musty, dusty, decadent and gloomy hotels of yesterday. To make things worse, the head of Columbia meets with Barton and paints an extremely vague picture of his expectations of Barton's task.

The writer/director/producer team when beginning this film also had quite a task before them which they did not appear to take very seriously. The Coen Brothers unite their strongest gifts (unique direction, cinematography and strong supporting roles) to create a good plot. The camera almost seems to probe Fink with its imaginative angles. It exposed a multi-faceted, intriguing character whose emotions relay depth and meaning. Turturro did the audience with his role as Fink. As a good character should, he became a real making you run the gamut of emotions. But the character of Fink could be confusing. Too much time is spent watching Barton mangle words fully into pictures during episodes of writer's block. It would have been nice to know what was going through his head.

Left: Charlie Meadows (John Goodman) helps Barton Fink (John Turturro) with a bad case of writer's block. Photo: Bruce Pomeroy

Since audiences today want thoroughness and intimacy, the director's transparent persona/sicet the rights are gone. More insight was needed in character development.

The character actors in this movie gave diversity and show to the world a picture of the real 40's Hollywood. The washed out drunken writer, W.P. Mayhew (John Mahoney) embodies every thought Barton despises. Mayhew sold his soul for money and lost everything. There is no conclusion to Mayhew's story and the character was wasted.

Barton's secretary and lover, Audrey Taylor (Faye Dunaway) makes him to keep drinking and writing by writing his later works for him. For Barton it is lost at first sight. The termination of their relationship is one of the most spine-tling scenes in the movie.

At times the movie was thrilling, but unfortunately that was the only thing that kept it going. Fink didn't satisfy all the questions of the audience. Some parts of the movie were confusing. In the amorous Taylor-Fink love affair, the camera doesn't chronicle this tid bit. Rather we are taken, through the camera's eye, to the bathroom sink and down the drain. This imagery might be thought of in a sexual nature. On the contrary, Fink's career has taken a turn for the worse, "down the drain." True considering this imagery has already been used in Hitchcock's "Psycho."

The one character that wasn't confusing was Charlie Meadows (John Goodman). Barton's relationship with Charlie is a very strong theme, but not well developed. Charlie is the negatively impressionable type who evokes feelings of trust. At the end of the movie these feelings are questioned and re-evaluated. Are these the traits of the common man? It is interesting how Goodman deserved more recognition for the times. Turturro was weak. He gave life, comedy and genuine realism to the story.

To say I enjoyed this film would be a stretch, but it was an excellent character study. The movie had its merits such as Charlie, Barton/Audrey relationship and Barton's downfall. It is not the type of movie for a night when you want to watch a movie and walk away. They had actors and solid scenes in the palm of their hands, but the producers just gave up.

Movie Review

Barton Fink

Rating: ***

Poetry contest for the creatively inclined

Attention Poets!!

$12,000 in prizes will be awarded this year to over 250 poets in the North American Open Poetry Contest sponsored by the National Library of Poetry.

The deadline for the contest is September 30, 1991. The contest is open to everyone and is FREE! Any poet, whether previously published or not, can be a winner. Every poem entered also has a chance to be published in a deluxe hardbound anthology.

To enter, send ONE original poem, any subject and any style, to the National Library of Poetry, S.E. Gwynne Mill Ct., P.O. Box 704/IC, Owingsville, MD 21117. The poem should be no more than 30 lines and the poet's name and address should appear on the top of the page. Entries must be post marked by September 30, 1991. A new contest opens October 1, 1991.

Clubs at Harper: a growing experience

McMurtrei Sam

Art Editor

First of post going to class and getting no more out of the Harper experience than some sleep from taking from a North 40 parking space? Harper is home to 30 clubs and organizations that add to the college experience.

Students interested in joining one of these fun filled and interesting groups may contact an advisor through the Student Activities office. A 30 or call 967-0000 x2282.

Though there is a wide variety of clubs and organizations at Harper, students are free to start their own. They must 1) obtain a petition form and a sample constitution from the Student Activities office, 2) have a minimum of 10 students and a faculty advisor to oversee the activities, 3) draw up a constitution using the sample form.

All of these above items must be submitted to the book for independent activities. If the Director approves the constitution, the proposed organization will then be considered by the Student Senate for formal recognition.

On Friday, September 13, 1991, 20 Student Leadership Organization for 2 year schools will have a student leadership workshop. Registration will start at 8 am by the fireplace in Building A. The workshop will have four topics which students can choose from for the two sessions. Each session is about an hour long. The workshop is scheduled to end about 11:30 am.

To pick up a brochure on the workshop and to learn what clubs and organizations Harper has to offer, stop by or call the Student Activities office.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

American Heart Association

CultureQuest

ARE YOU A CARING PERSON WHO ENJOYS HELPING OTHERS?

HOME HEALTH AIDES, & LIVE-INS NEEDED NOW!

TO PROVIDE HOME CARE FOR ELDERLY CLIENTS IN NORTHWEST CHICAGO AND NORTHWEST SUBURBS

Assist with personal care, meal preparation, life housekeeping and companionship. Work during the school year and/or school breaks.

Min. $5.25/hr plus travel or $60.00/day Live-In plus Room and Board

Flexible PART-TIME/FULL-TIME
Weekdays, evenings, & Weekends

CALL:
Abiding CARE Inc.
(708) 670-2294

Quality health care in the home.

MICHELLE SMITH
AAE Editor

The performance room is the old main dining room of that infamous seafood eatery. Huge modern paintings of famous comics hang around the room, and large

The MC, Chicagoan Rhonda Cohn, has appeared on the Oprah Winfrey Show. She describes herself as a wife and a mother, in that order. "These days that is a very unique occurrence," Cohn said.

Perry does have a striking resemblance to not only the deposed Panamanian president, but also the guy in the A1&I commercial who

Concerning the construction on the Kennedy Expressway he

You must be 21-years-old to enter Zanies, and there is a two-drink minimum. There is a fish bowl by the entrance of the main performing area where you may drop your business card to win free tickets to Zanies performances. For reservations call 228-6166.

MATERIAL ISSUE

The trio was born, raised and started their careers in Chicago. In the local music scene, a band not only needs talent, but also great attitude and Maternal Issue has both. This pop oriented punk band is just what the Chicago area needs.

Some bands may sing about nuclear problems or how politics don't work, but Material Issue is strictly a fun loving rock n roll band.

day they started. This is fresh rock n roll and International Pop Overthrow is an album that will make you want to move!

M. C. Dr.

© 2006 The Authors
Journal compilation © 2006 Blackwell Publishing Ltd

Listening to classical music may depend on age. For some it may have been the style with which they grew up with.

Then there are those, who aren't on social security yet, who enjoy classical music. Depending on the mood, these people find it

Though acid is a good metaphorical description of this "music," rattling might be more appropriate. Jarring, racking, and brain-melting also might describe what this ing about rap is that you can listen to that "new" sound everyone raves about, and still enjoy your favorite oldies.

One good thing about disco was organized dance steps. Just watch Channel 9 on Sunday afternoon and you can phone your order in for a copy of a dance instruction video from Kenngo for just $9.95 tax and shipping not included.

Last, but by no means least, is the music of the 60's. Music to get high by Opps! There's that censored word that got The Doors in trouble on the Ed Sullivan Show. High. You don't necessarily need to be partaking in a certain controlled substance to get high on his genre of music. Just listen to the Beatles Sgt. Pepper album or any Jimi Hendrix song.

Students must show I.D.

Schwitz® Located in the Regency Plaza at the corners of Euclid & Quentin Rds.
Hours: Daily 10 a.m. - 10 pm, Sunday 10am - 6pm
Call ahead for fast pick up
901.1188 FAX 901.1277

Subwich®
Money Saving Coupon
50¢ off
Any 6" Subwich
one coupon per customer
per visit
offer expires 10-26-91

where OUR bread really does make the difference

Make the Switch to Salt®

FEATURES

Pokot helps explain Russian coup

Director of Programming Services emigrated from Russia in 1980

Andy LAMAR
Horbinger Staff Writer

Elena Pokot, who emigrated from Russia in 1980, said of the recent coup in her homeland, "I want to read their history books two years from now to see what they say." This to her will be the true test of the reforms now taking place.

In the past, under the communist system, when a new leader came to power the old one was written out of the history books. The history text were changed every few years to keep in step with the communist party's latest propaganda. "Russia is the only country where the national anthem lyrics were banned," Pokot said. They were outlawed to remove references to Stalin who had died a few years earlier.

Pokot, who is Director of Programming Services, maintains the various records of the school kept on the computers in building A. She is responsible for keeping the computer records, and those who use it, running in proper order.

She became interested in computers while in college in Russia. She attended Vilnius State University as a mathematics major.

Chief of the classes, all of which were mandatory with no electives, she was exposed to computer systems. The thrill of having a machine that you can work like a puzzle using logic and skill to put various parts together to get the results you want intrigued her. Thinking to her self, "Hmm, I could get into that," she decided computers were the future for her.

The prospects of landing a job in computers is very slim in Russia; not to mention the severe limits on freedom imposed by the government. For those reasons, she and her family decided to come to the U.S.

She rapidly found out that wanting to get out and actually leaving are two different things. She and her family made up a story about her mother's brother, who was found in a concentration camp after being declared an MIA. The government allowed the family to leave the U.S.S.R. to see the alleged family member. Needless to say, they then why and saying it they never returned.

Other than some distant cousins, the only remaining relatives were the Soviet Union for what over three calling it this week is her grandmother. She decided to stay behind. With the trauma and uncertainty of leaving a home she had known for so long. Her grandmother decided that Russia would be the best place for her.

Elena Pokot, Director of Programming Services, takes time out to discuss the failed coup.

When she first heard of the coup, the first thought to enter her mind was "Oh no, not again." She had seen "before with Khrushchev

This coup came and went too quickly, and with the communist party's record she wonders if it was real.

"What's going on here great don't get me wrong," Pokot said. The changes there are great that "the whole philosophical approach to communism has been defeated."

It was a good ideal, according to Pokot, but they didn't understand human nature. Human beings will not allow themselves to be lead around blindly, being told what to do, think, see, and believe. "A scary experiment to mankind that failed," Pokot said, "it was finally admitted that communism doesn't work."

New school year alters life, time to care more for health

Elvira BAUMER
Horbinger Staff Writer

With the start of a new school year, each of our lives becomes somewhat "altered." As we slip back into our roles as students, or teachers, it's natural that each of us begins to feel our pressures build. While the demands on each of us differ, there is an increased tendency for all of us to feel a bit more tired, a bit more tense, and a bit more stressed.

Now you're saying, "So tell me something I don't know!" We all know that school is an added pressure. We live through it day in and day out. But what you may not realize is that you could be adding to your stress without even realizing it.

Many of us are unaware of what our bodies require to function at peak performance. I mean we know about the basic food groups, and that almost anything we do "in excess" isn't very good for us. But I bet a lot of people aren't aware of common practices that could be making things worse, or some easy remedies that could make things a lot better.

Before I go any further, keep in mind that all material is presented as suggestion, not prescription. Also realize that what might be great advice for one person, might be lousy advice for someone else. Being attuned to your own body is the best thing you can get. Make it a point to be attentive to the way your habits and diet are affecting your moods and your well-being.

Probably one of the biggest "health no-no's" that each of us commits every day is downing one cup after cup of either coffee or soda. Whether it's trying to make it to 8 a.m. classes, or studying for final exams, caffeine is something that is an intrinsic part of a student's life. But it may very well be a detrimental part of our lives. Caffeine, found in coffee and sodas, is a diuretic. It robs our bodies of liquids and nutrients by dehydrating us. At first it suppresses our appetites; by speeding up the central nervous system, but by the end of the day when our systems are back to normal, we want to eat everything in sight.

Each of our bodies needs eight to 10 minor glasses of water a day. Water stabilizes our body temperature and carries nutrients to and from our cells so that they can function properly. Sixty-four ounces of water a day may sound like a lot, but once we start drinking it, you'll wonder how you ever got along without it. If you don't drink you can stand all of that pain, boring water, try drinking diluted fruit juices. Mixing juice with mineral water or soda water will cut the calories and the sugar often found in these drinks.

Another necessity that college students usually seem to be short of is sleep. This too is a clock against our well-being, because as we all know, "Nothing renews the body and mind like a good night's sleep." However when the pressure is on, and things need to get done, sleep is usually the first thing to go.

If you have to survive on limited amounts of sleep for a short period of time, try these suggestions. Work in a nap if possible. A little 15-20 minutes could do the trick.

If you don't have the time to nap, try to stay active, or get in some kind of exercise. The better you are, the easier it will be to make it through the day.

Try to get up as close to your normal waking time as possible

This one probably makes the least sense, especially if you've been out partying all night. The argument behind this is you want to disrupt your sleeping patterns as little as possible. You've already shot the pattern all to hell by staying out late, but getting up at your "normal" time will help from disturbing it any further (eventually, I'd teach this one too!).

The last piece of advice I have concerns the eating habits that many of us have "acquired" over the years. One of the most important aspects in avoiding and dealing with stress is maintaining a balanced diet.

High on the list of popular foods among students are fast foods. Convenience foods cover hunger but do so without providing the essential nutrients our bodies need. Candy is also popular when a quick pick-me-up is needed. All that sugar will raise energy levels for a short time, but it's over all effort is to lower energy drastically.

Along with watching what we eat, vitamin supplements are extremely important in sustaining our bodies' maximum performance levels. During periods, as well as smokers, especially need more vitamins. Also, studies have shown that women taking the birth control pill need added doses of specific vitamins in order to feel it top-top shape.

Approximately 40% of women on the pill experience depression or anxiety because of an interference with natural metabolism. In many cases this depression can be alleviated by supplementary vitamins.

Heeding these suggestions won't result in a miraculous end to all your stress and tension. But it is a start. If you are aware of the messages your body is sending you, and listen to its warnings, half of the battle is won.

Rita Rizzo, a parent volunteer, helps three year old Jenna draw pictures on a computer at Harper's child care center.

Warner Bros. Studio Stores PART-TIME RETAIL CAREERS SALES ASSOCIATES

Are you seeking something NEW and EXCITING in retail with opportunity for advancement, backed by a strong, solid company? Would you like to get in on the ground level and grow as we grow? Warner Bros. Studio Stores, featuring cartoons and movies, is seeking a nationwide chain of retail stores and NEW! EXHIBITS, FILM SHOP, REAL CHOCOLATE, the source for our Schenckling, Wilson (two-episode) Matt London.

Here's your chance to use your talent and imagination in creating a fun and memorable retail environment. We are seeking outstanding FULL and PART TIME SALES ASSOCIATES who believe in superior customer service and possess a special retail experience. If you are enthusiastic and committed to excellence, we want to hear from you.

We offer excellent compensation and benefits, plus the opportunity for professional growth. Please send your resume in letter with work history to: Warner Bros. Studio Stores Division, c/o N. M. Hughes, Warner Bros. Studio Stores, 1600 Broadway, New York, NY 10019.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger September 12, 1991 7

Help Wanted

FULL / PART-TIME
10-25 to start
Must be good with people
Internship/Scholarship
Available
Call 918-2338

Assistant D. J.
Acceptable Beach Bar
Evenings & Weekends
Call 956-1170
Ask for Mike Tarsen

Part Time
Surveyors Assistant
Flexible Hours. Individual required to perform outside work
LAKE COOK LAND
SURVEY
708-392-9572

O'Hare/Express company has openings in shipping/receiving. Full and Part
Time evenings with one weekend day required
Flexible hours/days Call
Todd after 3pm
583-2139

ADRESSES
WANTED
IMMEDIATELY!
No experience necessary Process FHA
mortgage referrals
Work at home Call
1-405-321-3084

Help Wanted

Consumer
Information Agency
looking for people to answer phones and do
phone work for us.
Opp. for Full or PT
Manager. Also needed
College Students
Walcum!
High pay, very flex hrs
For interview
call 541-1120
8 to 9 M thru F

**** TUTOR ****
* All Math/Sci/ CIS *
* C Pascal, FORN,
DOS, 123 *
* DB3, ACed, PgMs *
* Bern 832-1244 *

**** TUTOR ****
* All Math/Sci/ CIS *
* Alg, Trig, Calc, 1101, Acc *
* Phys, Chem *
* Bern 832-1244 *

NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE?
Free information. Send name and address to
The SCHOLARSHIP
RESOURCE, A Division
of B. P. C. P. O. Box
451, Brookfield, IL
60153. Or call (708)
485-1922

Services

7 Lessons in a Computer
Franny?
Call Ken at 885-8248
Will teach basic skills including DOS, specializing in DBase and compatible languages. Also Microsoft Windows

Typing/Word Service
Resumes, Term Papers
Laser Print Quality
Tina (708) 881-3198

SAY THE WORD
Word Processing and editorial services
I eat only type words.
I think about what I am
reading.
Reasonable rates.
WPS 1, Laser print
quality.
Call Arlene Massie at (708) 634-8238

Professionals
Script/Prod/Revis
Special Prices for
Harper Students
Full Rate $25.00
Fills $14.00
Monitors $10.00
Call Stacy at (708) 865-8248

Personals

CONGRATULATIONS to the newly elected Executive Committee of the Student Ambassadors: Christine, Julie,
Edlye, and Michelle!

For Sale

84 Mustang LX
A/C, FM, auto, hardback, 8 cyl.
97500 mi., Runs well.
$1400 Linda 304-5278

1989 TRANS AM
Fully Loaded/Low
Mileage. Excellence
Condition/Garage Kept
$7780 o.b.o. Call Paul
at (708) 527-3407

For Rent

Room For Rent
Palatine/Rail Road/Bus
Room in Private Home
Full House Privileges
Furn./Non-smoker priol
$409 per month
397-1817

Standard Classified Rates & Information

Commercial classifieds are $4.50
for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check.

The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted.

For more information, contact The
Harbinger in A367. Call (708) 397-
3000, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210.

The Harbinger

is looking for a few good men and women

The Harbinger Times is currently accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists and several editors.

Apply in room A-367 and fill out an application.
Or call Mario Galenski at 397-3000 X2461.

The Harbinger Times is an equal opportunity employer.

Desperately seeking Susan WRITERS!

Need a place to go this weekend? Check out Arts & Entertainment.

"LAST YEAR I EARNED A 3.5 AND $10,000."

"My GPA went up last year, but I guess that figures.
A major university study showed that students who work 15 to 20 hours a week do better academically.
It's true for me. And I've got UTS to thank for it."

"I know students who work for UTS do better financially. I'm working part-time and making about $10,000 a year. The hours are good too. I only work about four hours per day, so I still have time for classes and study. Chances are you'll be offered a position in Operations. But you could wind up working in Accounting, Industrial Engineering, IS or Customer Service."

"Think of it—great pay, flexible hours and maybe even better grades. There isn't another outfit anywhere with a better deal than that. That's a lot better than average."

Openings exist at UTS Palatine, 2100 Hicks Road (corner of Rand and Hicks). Interviews conducted Monday's 3pm to 5pm and Wednesday's 9am to 11am.
We are an equal opportunity employer.

Call 705-6025 for more information.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US.
UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

HARTINGER SPORTS

■ 8 September 12, 1991

★ SPORTS FINAL ★

Harper Golf team off to a very slow start

By Ken Gesius
Hartinger Sports Editor

Last Wednesday was a picture perfect day for golf, unfortunately the Harper golf team was left looking at the negatives.

The Hawks participated in the Blackhawk Invitational at Highland Springs Golf Course in Moline, competing against the very improved members in the NAC conference.

"This is the best competition I have ever seen," said Head Coach Jim Karna. "I am not dissatisfied with our score, the opposition is just that incredible."

Harper's combined team score was an average 29.0 on a 35.00 scale. As a team, Harper finished last, but certain individuals still had solid performances.

Marc Ishihashi shot a 12-39 in 18 holes, good enough for 15th place out of 55. Other Hawks who shot well were Jeff Zep, who shot a 41-

38, and Chad Turner, 42-44.

"The team is working hard, they're very serious about improving," Karna said. "They all have good swings, they just have to learn to score higher."

In their previous tournament, the Highland '90 at Park Hills Golf Course in Freeport, several Hawks had outstanding performances.

Ishihashi, shot a 74-73, to take 6th, and Zep finished at 157 (79-78).

This team will get better as times pass on," Karna said. "They all have talent, and that will eventually show."

The Hawks' next match is Tuesday, participating in the NAC Rock Valley Tournament at the Elliot Golf Course.

Hawks scalp Apaches to stay undefeated

By Ken Gesius
Hartinger Sports Editor

The Harper Hawks were that extra mile against the Illinois Valley Community College (IVCC) Apaches last Saturday. In fact, padding by their total yardage, they were two or three.

With the 35-27 win over IVCC, the Hawks improve their season record to 2-0, 1-0 in the NAC conference.

"We almost gave this one away," said Head Coach John Elansk. "We could have very easily by 13 yards. Harris also tied James Hayward's points record by scoring four touchdowns as well.

"I had a real good game, for a freshman," Harris said. "The offensive line really helped me. They had a much better game than last week."

Harris, though, is not interested in personal accolades. He would just like one thing by the end of the season: a ring.

Lost in the record-breaking day was the first appearance of transfer quarterback, Steve Matthews. However, third day was one he would rather forget. In his first two pass attempts, Matthews was sacked by an effective Apache pass rush.

Matthews finished the afternoon completing 1 of 13 passes for 15 yards and was picked off once by IVCC corner Dammion Scott.

"I felt relieved to get in the game," said Matthews. "But I had a few bad weeks that have to be shaken out."

Starting QB Kenny Carroll was also tormented by the Apache blitz going 2 for 4, netting 33 yards in very limited action.

"The line will have a long way to go, but overall I don't think they did too badly," Elansk said. "But we haven't had good pass-blocking yet."

As good as Harper's defense was against Joliet, it was that bad versus a greatly improved IVCC. The Hawks allowed the Apaches 308 total yards, over 35 minutes of the clock and were held without a sack. Even in the line, players like Steve Gpikas, Paul McAndrew, Dave Graberak, Mike McDowell and special teams for Pepinski had solid performances.

Defensive back Steve Matthews takes flight in pursuit of the Apache running back Mike Munro.

In the first quarter, Harris started quickly on his way to the record books. With 45 left, he took the snap from Matthews, escaped three tacklers, and scampered 42 yards downfield for a touchdown.

Tim Newman continued his excellent kicking by making his first of five extra points to put Harper up 7-0.

On the Apaches' first play after the Hawks score, Torrey Smith's pass was batted in the air by McAndrew and hauled in by defensive back Brett Cooper who ran 20 yards for another Hawk TD.

The Apaches narrowed the gap to seven points when Smith hit Don Dammion with a 17-yard touchdown pass across the middle. Going into the half, the Hawks still led 14-7.

Eight minutes into the third, a 4-yard touchdown run by Harris almost put the Apaches on top, but these Apaches did not stand idly by while their lead was invaded. A 14-yard Kip Collins rush and a fumble recovery in Harper's end zone by IVCC tied the game with 3:12 left in the third.

The Hawks came back on the very next play. Harris set the rushing record and put the Hawks on top to stay with his 7-yard run. Harris also had a 7-yard TD rush with 56 seconds to play to tie Hayward's point record. The Apaches did score once more on a Smith to Sam Clay 67-yard TD reception, but with 7 seconds left, play that was merely academic.

But even in the win, there was a loss. Starting defensive lineman Kerry Kirby joins tight end Dave Dorn in the injured reserve.

Harper's next opponent is perennial powerhouse Grand Rapids, who opened their season to 2-0 on Saturday by punting Joliet 73-6.

Single game rushing leader Derrick Harris walled off this field saying we could have won but last.

Throughout the mess of penalties and mental mistakes, one poster did shine through: fire your ball-back Derrick Harris.

Harris rushed for an unbelievable 281 yards on 32 carries, smashing Lorenzo Butler's all-time rushing record set in 1989.

Cubs fans must wait while White Sox celebrate

In The Bleachers

By Dan McDonald

As the 1991 baseball season is coming to a close, many Chicago baseball fans are asking what happened?

The Cubs, believe it or not, were picked by many sports writers to finish high above the rest in the N.L. East. They had acquired perennial powerhouse George Bell to finish what was supposed to be the most explosive offensive team in the majors, which included Andre Dawson and Eric Sanguetta (10 HR in 80).

Danny Jackson was signed for a mere two million plus a year to do nothing more than spend the entire season on the D.L. In reality, the Cubs spent a lot of money to do nothing but hover around the 500 mark all season long, not to mention the firing of Don Zimmer. Speaking of Zimmer, at one point I thought he was a decent manager but, after watching the 1989 Cubs fall apart on the playoffs, I realized all his success was due to luck. He had a good mind for baseball, yet never reached a winner. The Cubs made the move early in the season and then called up AAA Manager Jim Essian to take over and do nothing more than be a boring Don Zimmer.

The pitching staff for the Cubs has been nothing but inconsistent. Not one single pitcher emerged as the leader during the whole season. Mike Harkey went down early, along with Danny Jackson. With all these injuries, Greg Maddux was the only solidified starter, having nothing more than an average year with all the accomplishments that the Cubs have achieved this year!

I believe it is time to take our hats off to Jim Frey for his brilliant off-season moves.

On the other hand, the Chicago White Sox have shown everyone that the 1990 season was not a fluke. The emergence of Frank Thomas and Robin Ventura, along with the consistent play of Tim Lincecum, John Johnson and Chris Gaillet, the Sox have turned doubters into believers.

However, second place does not and will not justify a team as a winner. The Sox's pitching staff needs to get rid of Charlie Hough and make use of some of their very talented young pitchers. The Sox are down yet not out. They have many games left to play including four more against the Division leading Twins.

Oh, what about Bo Jackson?

Bo Jackson, was one of the greatest athletes the Sox could have taken. Yet still unproven, Jackson will ultimately add enthusiasm to the team along with the ability to one day be a major part of the world champion Chicago White Sox. Yes, the world champion Sox. I see the Sox winning the World Series.

Well, as another baseball campaign concludes, Cub fans including myself will "Wait 'til next year." I mean the Cub fans have waited over 8 years to win a world championship what will be one more year of saying to themselves "WAIT 'TIL NEXT YEAR." As for the White Sox, with their championship, it looks as though this season will end like all others. Yes, there will be flags flying over new Comiskey in the next couple years.

THE LARPER

Willam Rainey Harper College

September 19, 1991

Volume XXVI, Number V

STUDY ABROAD?

INSIDE

Arts & Entertainment

BUGS BUNNY

Bugs Bunny Exhibit

Page 4

Sports

Football

Hawks lose to Grand Rapids score 17-9

Page 5

Sports Column Tortured Weenie

Page 7

Volleyball

Lady Hawks place second in tournament

Page 8

Next Week

Commitments Review

Contents

Editorials	2
Letter to the Editor	2
Classifieds	3
Comics	4
Sugar Shack	4
Arts & Entertainment	5
Tul Page Ad	6
Sports	7
Football	8

Student support makes blood drive a success

By Mario R. Gaudes
Editor-in-Chief

Figures indicated higher involvement in the first blood drive of the school year, which was held on Wednesday and Thursday September 11-12, as compared to last fall. Faculty, staff and students combined to donate 129 pints of blood.

"It's always a success when you get lots of donors," said College Nurse Becky Santeler. "We had over 100 actual donors which is a good turn out."

The blood drive was sponsored by Health Services, the Circle K Club and the Student Ambassadors. This was the first attempt at a two day blood drive and was deemed a success by Santeler.

"We are trying to get a broader audience or group to participate."

said Santeler. "People schedule their classes differently and work at different times so we were trying to capitalize on catching the people who might otherwise have been missed if it was only offered on one day."

Donating blood is relatively easy and painless, Santeler said. There is a screening process that includes blood pressure, temperature and iron level. Blood donation takes only ten minutes and the donors are then asked to stay an additional ten minutes to let the blood supply replenish. Donors are given refreshments and snacks and instructed to eat regularly the rest of the day.

Promotional types of activities, Santeler said are going to help promote blood drives this year. Heron the Hippo was present at the first drive and attempted to get more donors, and coupons from Love's, Yogurt in Palestine were given to donors Thursday.

"Students are actually the biggest person of our donors," said Santeler. "But in the past even President Thompson (college president Paul Thompson) has come and donated."

We appreciate all new donors and actually hope more people will participate in the future.

The next blood drive is scheduled for November 19-20.

Health Services promote healthy eating festival

Health Services and Harper College are preparing to celebrate the 7th annual American Heart Association Food Festival, September 21-22. The Food Festival is a two-day celebration of healthy eating.

The Festival is a way of informing students and giving them enough information to make healthy choices when selecting something to eat in the cafeteria, said Kenneth Murray, Supervisor of Health Service & the Wellness Program.

Research shows, according to Murray, that diets rich in complex carbohydrates and low in cholesterol and saturated fats may reduce the risk of heart disease and many types of cancer. The food in the four basic food groups must be eaten, but the preferred choices within the food groups are changing.

Healthy, like meals will be

Tony T-twine, Thomas, Erin M.C., Rott, and Kelly "Yo-Play" Griffin entertained Harper last Wednesday with their "Poetic Justice". All from Northwestern University, the group uses their rap music to promote education throu Chicago suburb schools.

Candidates vie for Student Senate

Name: Eduardo Gonzalez

I would like to represent my division, Academic, Enrichment and Language Studies (AELS) by becoming a member of the Student Senate. I am an English as a Second Language student and I feel that I could represent the interest of the entire division, while specifically addressing the international/foreign student issues.

Name: Jonash Nowak

I would like to represent the Technology, Mathematics, and Physical Sciences division because I am considering teaching mathematics and I think my course work will help me represent this division. Also I am a student aide in the Math Lab so I know a lot of the math teachers and will be in touch with their advisors.

Name: Tamara Powers

There are things that need to be changed in the Liberal Arts department and I would like to help do them. A lot of students are interested in the arts and there should be more available to them. I would like to see an expansion of Harper's Humanities and Literature building. I recently transferred from Wilbur Wright Junior College and think that the Student Senate would be a great opportunity to meet people and to benefit my new school.

Name: Joseph Brondier

I am going to run for Student Senate because I know that the job of a senator is not to be equipped to handle, though I admit I have little experience in politics. My enthusiasm combined with a sincere desire to make Harper a better learning environment should make me an excellent senator. I am willing to devote all possible resources and my disposal to support the senate in all of its activities. I also hope to bring communication between the students and their representatives and with the Student Senate. I will always be accessible to those whom I represent.

Name: A. J. Collier II

I have been a student here at Harper since Fall of 1986. My initial major was Physical Education, but has since been changed to Athletic Training. I have worked as a student trainer under the supervision of Doug Spivak and now currently working as a student aide in the equipment room. I feel that I have a fairly well rounded view of what the Physical Education and Recreation division is all about and I feel that my experience in dealing with the division would be a benefit for the Student Senate. I have no previous experience in student politics and feel that I am exploring uncharted waters. But if I am elected, I will do the best and most thorough job possible. Harper has done a lot for me, now it's my turn to do something for Harper.

Name: Amy Longmore

I would like to represent PEAR division because I'm actively involved with the division. I'm on the volleyball team and will be on the basketball team again this year. I've been enrolled in a number of PEAR's courses and feel I could represent them well. I enjoy working with people my age and the older adults that attend Harper.

Elections September 23 and 24 held in Buildings A and J. Read the ballot.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
News Editor
Faculty Advisor
Business Manager
A & E Editor
Features Editor
Photo Editor
Sports Editor
Layout Editor

Mario R. Calabiki
Eric Jason
Suzanne Havlic
Cary A. Tinkle
Michelle Smith
Phil Mapes
Kurt Goslar
Michael Coby and Joseph Palmer

Real Diversity

by David Bernstein

Editor's note: This is a Collegiate Times column which represents a call for true diversity in the world of higher education, and indeed the world in general.

"Diversity" in the new lexicon of the self-appointed campus race monitors they demand "diversity" of almost every land, race, gender, sexual orientation, even physical ability. What these folks won't countenance, however, is diverse opinions.

As a black college student at the university of Maryland I learned that truth the hard way. As a black conservative, I was ostracized by the very people who claimed to value difference. They didn't mind that I was black, of course, but College Park's politically correct student leadership seemed to prefer ideological lockstep within their "diverse" student body.

Fortunately, I was never subjected to the kind of overt intolerance that many black conservative students had, but there was always a palpable disdain for me and my views among other minority students. One black sophomore, for example, explained to me that "white people are putting their ideas in your head." Another of my peers wrote in the student newspaper that black conservatives must be "racist/alienated" behavior that meant. Still another person once complained, "you just don't understand." It came as no surprise then when the president of Maryland's Black Student Union refused to work with me and the other Black College Republican when we wanted to bring conservative black speakers to campus.

Like many black college students, I found the student leadership's attempts to insulate me from diverse opinions condescending and antithetical to the idea of a university education. Black colleges should learn to appreciate the rich heritage of intellectual debate and dissent that has defined the black American experience. Men like W.E.B. Du Bois, Frederick Douglass, Booker T. Washington, Malcolm X, and Martin Luther King, Jr. did not share a single set of ideas. Each came to his own conclusions through study and honest reflection. If any of us hope to understand the "black thing" referred to by those popular T-shirts, we must try to understand the thought and reflection of our own.

In 1991, W.E.B. Du Bois needed a young black girl when he explained that "there are, in the U.S. today, tens of thousands of colored boys who would be happy beyond measure to have the chance of educating themselves that you are."

enlightening. "It further warned her that, 'ignorance is a curse for her people, and she must make an opportunity, it makes it more difficult for others to get such an opportunity. Do you want to cut off the chances of boys and girls of tomorrow?'"

The campus diversity mongers should ponder Du Bois' words. Each time we refuse to consider diverse opinions, we are "neglecting an opportunity" to learn. Each time a minority student leader demands "solidarity" his peers, he makes it more difficult for others of the race to get such an opportunity. And spreading or exchanging "western culture" in the curriculum is truly a cure for nothing.

Perhaps more important, this desire for intellectual uniformity and separation threatens to undermine more than twenty-five years of civil rights gains. Black Americans are done that over to being treated by white society as simply as individuals, but now many minorities themselves assert that race is the defining characteristic of every person. How quickly we forget that this was the very attitude that made slavery possible; that the kept gathered alive in South Africa, and that delivered Jews into the Holocaust. Let me, would rather the average American did not believe that all blacks are a particular way because they are black.

Occasionally, I would rather not see any of the great works of science, philosophy, and literature just because their authors were white. Black colleges can understand and appreciate James Madison, John Milton, and Charles Darwin, just to mention a few examples, as well as any white person. To suggest otherwise is racism in its crudest form.

My college experience has not been one as disgraced as it might have become I believe there has been a quiet reawakening of independence among most young minorities. During the past year I have met several other young college graduates who agree that we need more genuine diversity in our thought. Together we have begun a magazine, appropriately entitled Diversity, which will explore issues of race and culture free from prejudice and conformity to the new self-imposed stereotype. I hope the student effort will speak other young minorities to break free from the orthodoxy as well.

Staff

David Anselmi, Maggie Balazs, Elvira Balagati, Alana Chonold, Jerry Dierker, Anastasia Eppler, Jason Fausst, Christopher Galtney, Kim Havers, Andy Leamer, Candice Lovell, Tim McDonald, Jason Park, Ciana Piccoli, Renee Sereno, Michael Shura, Kad Szymanski, Alexandra Youshambach

COMMENTARY

Letters to the Editor

Teachers strike for principle, power not greed

Dear Mr. Calabiki:

In your editorial last week, you characterized the striking eight teachers as being on strike because of "greed" and as "not willing" to provide an education. My experience as a teacher is that contract negotiations are often about principle and power, and that while salary is a very important item of negotiation, it is only one of the important topics under negotiation.

According to the Illinois State University Retirement System, the cost of living last year rose 1.7 percent. Others, it makes for time in service, insurance, and other items are included in the percent increase offered in a contract. Are teachers not willing to settle for a five percent increase in pay really greedy?

You seem to blame the teachers for the lack of a settlement before the start of school. Perhaps at least some of the blame can be put on a school administration not willing to bargain in good faith. During my first five years of teaching, the buying power of my paycheck decreased each year, and every year I finally came to the conclusion that if teachers are not going to say "I'm mad as hell and I'm not going to take it anymore," no one else is going to say it for them.

Harpur came close to having a strike last year. I don't know of a single teacher who wanted a strike to occur, but I know many who were ready to vote to strike. It appeared to many Harpur instructors that our negotiations were delayed again by the school administration and the board. The faculty voting poor judgment in my opinion) chose to start the semester without a contract. In effect, the students were used as pawns in a struggle between the teachers and the board. Would you prefer that? When a student comes to me and tells me they want to be a teacher, I am happy and perhaps a little flattered. Yet, an inner voice says to me "I hope they don't have any kids, so they can afford this occupation." It is no accident that many Harpur teachers live out of district. Many of us can't afford to live around here! Look at the cars in the faculty parking lot. Do they look like the vehicles that affluent people drive?

I can think of a lot of words to describe teachers, but the word "greed" is not one of them.

Sincerely,

William B. Andresen
Professor of Biology

Bozo joke found offensive to some

Dear Harbinger Editor,

I am sorry that I am not here in person to deliver this message however this letter shall suffice. I am writing concerning the comment on page two in this week's edition. I was always under the impression that I represented a professional college publication, yet now I am beginning to see that this is not the case.

Comments such as the one on page two, only lower the newspaper's morale and I would not be proud to show this week's edition to any four year institution.

I can respect good humor and I am an advocate of free speech. But I believe that the Harbinger has to maintain its professionalism and consider where to draw the line.

Sincerely,
Alexandra Youshambach
Student

Papers downplay Tyson rape charge

I was sitting in my living room reading the daily news, trying earnestly to find something interesting and intriguing to write about, and this was no simple task. As of late, there has been an array of fascinating events, so choosing one topic was a tough decision indeed.

You have everything from the Senate Confirmation Hearings on Supreme Court hopeful, Clarence Thomas, to Boris the Clown's 50th birthday special. It was hard to believe that Boris wasn't on C-Span or hadn't preempted the confirmation hearings. I apologize for making fun of Boris to the many Chicagoans who regard him as a cultural icon in television modern history.

I had planned to write about Judge Thomas and his possible and probable confirmation. But I came across an interesting and at the same time ridiculous stupid

MEDIA WATCHDOG

BY Jason
Feinstein

news item. Yes, it's the alleged allegation that Mike Tyson, former world heavyweight boxing champion-turned-champion wannabe, raped an 18-year-old contestant in Indiana's Miss Black America Pageant. Ok folks, hold the outrage for a round. I do not mean that an alleged rape is insignificant or unimportant, quite the contrary. It is a very serious crime. If Tyson is guilty, and proven so in a court of law, he should be punished without regard to his celebrity status. The fact that amazes me, is that this appeared in the Sports section of the paper. This piece of news was surrounded by news of the Cubs and a feature story on the trials and tribulations of White Sox golden boy, Bo Jackson. These stories fit since they are sports news, but the Tyson article should be in the national news section.

The thing I don't understand is how come Paul Roberson's a.k.a. Pee Wee Herman's indiscretion in Florida was not in the Arts and Entertainment section of the paper, but in the main section. Pee Wee was plastered on the front page. It does seem somewhat of a double standard. Personally, I believe if anything, the story on Tyson's alleged rape of a young girl is more newsworthy than Herman's indiscreet exposure. Is from Mike getting preferential treatment with the media? I make such an off the wall suggestion.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the largest College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger. All rights reserved.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, September 10, 1991 3

Help Wanted

Part Time
Surveyors Assistant
Flexible Hours, individual required to perform outside work
LAKE COOK LAND
SURVEY
708-382-9572

O'Hare area company has openings in shipping/receiving. Full and Part Time openings with one weekend day required.
Flexible hours/days. Call
Tedd after 3pm.
593-2139

ADDRESSES

WANTED!
IMMEDIATELY!
No experience necessary. Places FHA
mortgage refuels.
Work at home. Call
1-485-321-3084

Consumer
Information Agency
looking for people to answer phones and do
phone work for us.
Opp. for Full or PT
Manager Also needed
College Students
Welcome!

High pay, very flex hrs.
For interview call 541-1129
9 to 9, M-thru F

Retail Sales Clerk
Flexible Hours to fit your schedule. Clerk and other duties. Call Cecile at 438-9200

Help Wanted

Babysitter Needed
$5.00 per hour. 7:00-15
am and 3:30 to 7:30 pm
Barrington off of Dundee
Student access to home
Female Non-smoker preferred. If interested call Carol at (708) 382-6918

**** TUTOR ****
* All Math/Sci/CSIS *
* C. Pascal, PTN,
DOS 123 *
* DB3 Acad, PgM+ *
* Bart 832-1244 *

**** TUTOR ****
* All Math/Sci/CSIS *
* "Alg. Trig Calc 181 Acc"
* "Phys. Chem."
* Bart 832-1244 *

NEED MONEY FOR

COLLEGE?
Free information. Send name and address to
The SCHOLARSHIP
RESOURCE, A Division
of B. P. C. P.O. Box
451, Brookfield, IL
60153. Or call (708)
485-5822

FULL / PART-TIME
to 24 hrs to start
Must be good with people
Internship/Scholarship
Available
Call 818-3336

Wanted

*****
Wanted: Students
Who Care About
Their Grades
*****

Tired of having your grades lowered due to poor typing and/or spelling? I can help. I can also reformat charts, or graphs if needed. Only $2.00 per page for members. Additional charges for charts and graphs.
CALL TODAY. Call Randy
at 708-593-4883

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing
Services. Term papers,
resumes, cover letters,
etc. Low Rates! Laser
Print. Call Lori
@ 708-705-1873

SAY THE WORD
Word Processing and
editorial services.
"I not only type words,
I think about what I am
reading."
Reasonable rates
WPS I. Laser print
quality.
Call Arlene Moss at (708) 634-8238

READ KURT GESSLER
IN SPORTS

Services

Typing/WP Services
Resumes, Term Papers
Laser Print Quality
Time (708) 591-3198

Professional
Sculptured Nails
Special Prices for
Harper Students
Full Sets $25.00
Fills $14.00
Manicures $10.00
Call Gracey at (708) 885-8248

For Sale

1980 Pontiac
Grand Prix
85,000 miles $ 895
or best offer
Call 359-2949

1988 TRANS AM
Fully Loaded/Low
Mileage. Excellence
Condition/Garage Kept $7795 or a Call Paul
at (708) 537-3407

For Rent

Room For Rent
Pulaski Hill Meadows
Room in Private Home
Full house Privileges
Fem/Non-smoker pref
$400 per month
397-1817

STANDARD CLASSIFIED RATES & INFORMATION

Commercial classifieds are $4.50
for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check.

The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads
taken by phone. Please call if your ad
is misprinted.

For more information, contact The
Harbinger in A367. Call (708) 397-
3000, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210.

The Harbinger

is looking for a few good men and women

The Harbinger is currently accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists and several editors.

Apply in room A-367 and fill out an application.
Or call Mario Galenski at 397-3000 x2461.

The Harbinger is an equal opportunity employer.

Check out Arts & Entertainment.

OUTSTANDING...ONE OF THE YEAR'S BEST FILMS.

—JERRY LINS, NEWARK PHILADELPHIA

★★★★★
AN ASTONISHING
COMEDY.
A BOLD, UNIQUE AND EXHILARATING CINEMATIC TRIP
—RUSSELL W. CHAMBERS, PHILADELPHIA

"ELECTRICALLY
CHARGED COMEDY...
THE RARE-RICE UNCA MEMORABLE PERFORMANCES
FROM LEFT BRIDGES AND ROBIN WILLIAMS
—Daphne Goss, ANDREX, NEW YORK

"BRILLIANT AND
INSPIRED.
THIS IS TERRY GILLIAM'S MOST SATISFYING FILM
—David Kopp, NEW YORK

"ROBIN WILLIAMS
DESERVES ANOTHER
OSCAR NOMINATION.
THE FUNNIER KING WILL TOUCH YOUR HEART
A CAPTIVATING FILM
—Jeff Kopp, NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA

ROBIN WILLIAMS

THE FISHER
KING

JEFF BRIDGES

Rating PG-13: PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED. Some Material May Be Inappropriate for Children Under 13. THE FISHER KING is a film by Terry Gilliam. It stars Robin Williams, Jeff Bridges, and other actors. The film is a comedy-drama about a homeless man who becomes a king.

OPENS FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 27 AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU

FROM THE CLUBS

It's ACOA's BACK-TO-SCHOOL DANCE. Saturday, September 21, 1991 William Rainey Harper College Student Center, 2nd Floor Building A. Open Speaker Meeting At 7:00 pm. Dance With DJ from 8:00 pm - 12 Midnight. WE NEED VOLUNTEERS! Call
Peggy at (312) 236-2549 or Mac at (312) 604-5207. Please a dessert or a toy game to share.
Let's bring out the little kid in everybody! Co-sponsored by ACOA Intergroup and William Rainey
Harper College. $5.00 Suggested Donation. 2nd Floor Bldg. A

Honor Society Meeting September 23, Monday at 5:15 pm in room F 351. Topic: East Europe
Welcome All Harper Students

International Students Club Camping Trip to Chen-O-Lakes State Park September 27, 28, 29. Meet at Harper, parking lot in front of Building M. We will be leaving at 6:30 pm. Reservations have been made for 13 campsites for 2 nights (cost: $9.00 per person). Check out time will be 3:00 pm Sunday (29). Check the bulletin board outside F 127 (ESL Office) for detailed information and sign-up sheet.

Literature Club Now Forming
Do you write fiction, poetry or essays? Do you enjoy reading literature? If so, you should join Harper's Literature Club. We write and discuss our own material as well as examine great works of literature. For more information call:
Professor Rex Burwell at 397-3000 ext. 2450 or Diana Fornea at 632-0799

COME SEE The Rhythm & Moves Dance Co. will be performing at Harper College on Friday September 26th in Building A at 11:15 am & 12:15 pm.

Bugs, friends more than entertainment

Bugs Bunny and many other Warner Bros. cartoons were not just for entertainment. Cartoons, such as this one of Bugs Bunny, were also propaganda. Bugs Bunny, ca. 1944.

ANDY LIZMAN

Harbinger Staff Writer

In the '30s to '60s, Warner Bros. animation studio created some of the best known and most loved cartoons. Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck may not have been fully appreciated then, but they are now. Fifty years have past since the first cartoon came out of the Warner Bros. studios. In that time animation has been raised from something about in the theaters before the real entertainment came on to a popular cultural art form.

The Milwaukee Public Museum is currently hosting the "That's all Folks!" exhibition that shows how the Warner Bros. cartoons from the 1930s to the 1960s were made. The exhibit presents production art work, ranging from the sketches that form the basic ideas of the cartoon to the final cels that make up the finished product. They start with the character sheets that show the animators how to draw the characters. One of them shows the early Bugs Bunny, in the short "Hare-um Scare-um", 1939, before he had the name Bugs. The producer, Ben "Bugs"

Hardaway. The artist who drew the sheet wrote on the bottom "Bugs Bunny" and the name stuck.

The content of the show runs chronologically to a clip from the "Bugs Bunny Show", 1962. It shows Bugs and Daffy working in a cartoon producer's room. They show what a clean-up artist does in their own corner way.

Throughout... "billionball" are video monitors showing other cartoons and special clips that you're not likely to see on Nickelodeon.

One that was particularly interesting was the showing of "A Hare Grows in Manhattan" followed by an all too brief pencil test of a scene from the short. A pencil test is an animation made of the sketches that, if the test is successful, will become the basis from which the final cels are drawn.

Although the exhibition held many visitor's interest and satisfaction, it was lacking in depth. It makes a good introduction for people who have an interest in animation, particularly that of the Warner Bros. Studios. But for the people who dig deeper in to the medium than just laughs, may find the show lacking.

The exhibit shows some World War II era frames and drawings, but do not even attempt to talk about the sociological impact. One frame from the short "Bugs Bunny Nips the Nip" shows Bugs dressed as a ghetto girl. There were many shorts and still that came out of Warner Bros. studios to boost the moral of the soldiers and the civilian at home. Warner Bros. also served as propaganda. This is the case... as mentioned.

It is still of Bugs of a ghetto girl was produced today it would be racist and derogatory to Asians.

The lack of depictions in the show. Viewers frequently find themselves staring in awe at the various display pieces.

With the recent event at the Louvre, you could help but make a comparison of the awe left for and all that standing in front of the sheet that gave Bugs Bunny his name and the display that showed the character "Egghead" evolving into Elmer Fudd.

This show is highly recommended to anyone interested in the work of Warner Bros. animation department or animation and cartoons in general, even considering the lack of depth, real or imaginary.

The exhibition ends on October 27. The Milwaukee Public Museum is located in downtown Milwaukee at 800 W. Wells. They can be reached at 414-279-2702.

Advancing literacy and fine literature

MECHUA SUM

ABE Editor

The 1991 Chicago Tribune Literary Awards was September 11. Comprised of the Nelson Algren Awards and the Heartland Prize, this gala event represented the pinnacle of Midwestern literary talent. In attendance were a menagerie of prominent writers, publishers, booksellers and editors.

Ten years ago, art patrons Lee and Brenda Freeman started the Nelson Algren Awards for Midwest short story authors. For the past six years the Chicago Tribune has been a co-sponsor for this memorial award.

"Nelson Algren was a notable author who didn't get the full recognition he deserved," Lee Freeman said. "I wanted to preserve his memory in these awards."

In his opening speech, Chicago Tribune's Editor in Chief Jack Fuller commented that fine literature is never popular with everyone. "There is a necessity for literacy these days," Fuller said. "When people don't read what we have written that is a very profound criticism."

After the receipt of 2000 to 3000 manuscripts, the first place award of $500 went to Thomas Barfkopf for his story "Howling at the Moon." Runners-up were: Patricia Stevens, "Leaving Fort Ord"; Geoffrey Johnson, "Two's Cadence"; and Ken Chowder (pen name) "Spent Lane."

The Heartland Prize was won by Yale history professor William Cronon. His work, Nature's Metropolis, is described by the Chicago Tribune as "a ground breaking history of Chicago reflecting his belief in the city's fundamental and unique role in the development of the west."

The Heartland Prize novel award was given to native North Carolinian Kay Gibbons for her novel on three generations of Southern Women, A Cure for Dreams.

In an age where newspapers are aimed at sixth-grade reading level and a majority of information is spoon fed to the public through radio and TV, there may be little incentive for writers to produce fine literature.

Receiving awards like the Nelson Algren Award and the Heartland Prize can be very rewarding to a writer.

Sugar Shack, shaking it up in the suburbs

KAR HANSON

Harbinger Staff Writer

Where can you go to see glamorous men strip down to their G-strings? The Sugar Shack in Stone Park.

Located just past Offshore off Mannheim Rd., the Sugar Shack is a place to experience male sex appeal at its strongest.

The evening began by having the car pulled by two extremely good looking men. That was definitely a good sign.

Walking up to the entrance, the smell coming from inside reeked a combination of alcohol and sweat. The foyer ceiling is very low and carpeted in red shag rug, popular about 12 years ago.

The bouncer checks IDs, age requirement is 18, and hands grey ticket stubs to those under 21 so patrons know not to serve them alcohol.

After paying the $15 cover charge, we went in alone by a slowly locking older man in a telly tuxedo. The show begins at 9:30.

There are about seven or eight waiters inside, one of whom is a cool older father-figure type, probably in his mid to late 30s.

The atmosphere is like a bar. It is dark and very smoky. Virgin strawberry daiquiris are $7, in complimentary Sugar Shack glasses.

At 9:55, the cherry gane show like curtain opens, revealing a large video screen. Then the owner of the Sugar Shack, Dana Montana, comes out and talks about how popular strip bars are becoming and then shows seven clips of appearances she has made on the Donahue and Geraldine shows.

It is smoothing the audience's wide age range. Although most women appear to be in their 20s and 30s, there are some over 50. Montana asks why everyone comes. The answers vary from celebrating anniversaries, birthdays and divorces to the event popular bachelorette party.

The first performer did a very convincing portrayal of an Indian. His routine runs about 12 minutes and is followed by The Centurian, the ever popular Cowboy and last Mr. DJ Adonis, the Rock Warrior whose theme song is "Heppeswallow's Born to Be Wild."

They are all extremely handsome, but the Indian is, by far, the coolest.

Music blares and waiters carry women down to the platform, and the stripper accepts gratuity. In exchange, each woman receives a kiss. Kind of gross considering the dancers are really sexy.

The entire show lasts about an hour and a half, which includes a big finale at the end, when all four strippers dance in one routine.

The Sugar Shack includes a gift shop that sells everything from Sugar Shack calendars to edible G-strings. They are very interesting and probably very expensive.

After the show is over, there is dancing until 4 a.m. It is only offered to people over 21. The Sugar Shack is something that should be experienced at least once in a lifetime.

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

Sports that make a difference!
The Harbinger

PEACE CORPS WORLD WISE PUZZLE
For further information about Peace Corps, write: Box 296, Washington, DC 20536

INSTRUCTIONS: The Peace Corps has volunteers serving in more than 70 nations around the world. By solving this puzzle, you will learn about one of these countries. Solve the four numbered puzzle words, and then unscramble the letters in the squares to produce the name of the country darkened on the map at the right.

The southernmost of the Central American nations, slightly smaller than South Carolina.

1. Spaniard who explored this nation in 1513.

2. Neighboring South American nation known for export of coffee.

3. Title of the head of state of this nation.

4. An artificial waterway for navigation.

Subwich
invites all Harper Students to a
FREE 1/2 Drink
with any Subwich or Salad Purchase.
Students must show I. D.
(offer expires 10-26-91)

Subwich is located in the Regency Plaza at the corners of Euclid & Quentin Rds.
Hours: Daily 10 a.m. - 10 p.m., Sunday 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Call ahead for fast pick up.
991-1188, FAX 991-1277

Subwich Money Saving Coupon 50¢ off Any 6" Subwich one coupon per customer per visit offer expires 10-26-91	Subwich Money Saving Coupon 20¢ off Any Bag of chips or fresh fruit one coupon per customer per visit offer expires 10-26-91
--	---

where OUR bread really does make the difference.
Make the Switch to Subwich

what big who big wear big

big Life.

Marshall Field's

Marithé François Girbaud

Greg Landry...The tortured weenie

The Ugly Truth

By Eric Jacob

Greg Landry, offensive coordinator for the Bears, must have a tough job. With his pass offense ranked 29th in the NFL last year and his authority being constantly diminished by Mike Ditka, you know he has his share of bad days. So I will attempt to reconstruct the nightmare of his average week.

MONDAY 9 AM HALAS HALL. PRESS CONFERENCE

Ditka reaffirms our commitment to improving our passing game. I glow with pride as I hear these words. I finally feel Ditka will let me run the offense.

MONDAY 12 NOON. DITKA'S OFFICE

I presented coach Ditka with some longer passing routes. My world quickly crumbles into dust as I saw anger quickly build on his face. "Landry, is this Bear football? Where's the grind it out football in these plays? I bet you even expect Morris and Dika to burn down the field on these plays!"

I meekly respond, "I thought we were going to pass more!" Ditka acted like a bull who has seen red. "Pass, you know Harbaugh doesn't like to throw. Anyway I don't ask you to think."

I give in and realize I can't afford to have my own ideas. As I leave to get Ditka's coffee I hear, "Good Landry, I see your opening your mind to my...oops, new ideas."

12:30 P.M. RETURN WITH COFFEE IN WALKS. DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR VINCE TORN WITH DEFENSIVE GAME PLAN

Ditka received Tobin's game plan with a smile and turns to file it away. Tobin sticks his tongue out at me while Ditka's back is turned, winning another victory in the butt kissing war. All I got is a lecture on how Ditka wants his coffee. I committed it to memory. "Landry, you make a worse coffee boy than an offensive coordinator."

6:30 P.M. DITKA'S RESTAURANT

The Coach's restaurant was short on help and in exchange for a few pass plays I was more than happy to help. As temporary head waiter, I had a rough night getting the patron orders correct. I thought by helping Mr. Ditka, my deep passes would stay in the ### game plan

But I made a mistake on Ditka's order and my penalty was the loss of my downfield routes. Ditka's voice still poignantly rings in my head, "Landry, where's my pigs knuckles? Look, we're running a restaurant here not a football team." Ditka then joins the entertainment on stage, the Ditka's cheerleaders leading the crowd in a rousing rendition of the Super Bowl Shuffle.

TUESDAY PRACTICE FIELD HALAS HALL 9:30 A.M.

My offense ran the game plan and practice makes perfect. My receivers Wendell Davis and Ron Morris are great players and concerned professionals. Morris spent time on improving his catching by wearing surgical gloves with talcum on them, he believes it will work and I have complete faith in him. Wendell Davis and Anthony Morgan are using platform cleats, as per Ditka's order to give them the height advantage over the bad boys.

A problem developed today as rookie linebacker Brian Thomas is trying to the locker room after one of Tobin's thugs, Steve McMichael, put a "kick me" sign on Thomas' back.

back and referred to Mrs. Thomas as a "lost queen."

Also, Jim Harbaugh is continually misunderstanding me when I say, "Let's run a long pass play." Every time the ball is snapped, Harbaugh passes on passing runs with the ball. It was a tough season but we are ready for Sunday.

GAME DAY 4 THURSDAY, THE SCOTTS BLAIRS IN THE BACKLUSH 2:15 SECOND. LEFT THE BEARS ARE ON THEIR OWN 1 YARD LINE

After my authority was usurped all day, I finally made my stand against Ditka. I sent in my post pattern knowing the long pass will win the game. But before P.T. Willis got the signal to Harbaugh, in steps Ditka, looking like tough, weathered leather.

"Landry, I don't like gimmicks, we'll run, they won't expect it. I whimper a meek "Buck," before he made the ding race final. "I'm the head coach, you little weenie."

Thus I, the tortured weenie, hung my head awaiting the result of the play. Neil Anderson took the handoff and lost 2 yards and the bad guys got 2 more points. Ditka took the loss well. "Landry, what a stupid call, we lost. Never put a run in a passing situation and above all never think for your self." Ditka then proceeded to bludge me over the head with his clipboard.

I tumbled backward onto a puddle of spit Ditka deposited on the sideline. I fell, spraining my back, almost glad of the agony I was feeling.

Fred Cann, Bears' Trainer, said, "Well Greg this sprain is pretty bad, take a couple of weeks off from the job you need it." I wish the stress leave my body as I realized I was getting a reprieve from my weenie-dom for two weeks. All Ditka could say was, "Way to go Landry, now who will call the plays this week."

NECESSARY ROUGHNESS

A gang of loners, loonies and losers are about to become something they've never been before... a team.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS A BARRY SCHWARTZ FILM A ROBERT ROY POOL PRODUCTION A FILM BY JOHN BRADLEY "NECESSARY ROUGHNESS" SCOTT BAILEY ROBERT VICKERMAN JASON GILMAN CAROLAN ROY POOL TONY TOLSON DAVID WOODWARD W. BRUCE JACOBSON DAVID NATHANSON DAVID BRIDGES

PG-13 PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED SOME MATERIAL MAY BE INAPPROPRIATE FOR CHILDREN UNDER 13

COMING TO THEATRES EVERYWHERE SEPTEMBER 27

General Office

HELP WANTED

College Students Welcome!

*WORD PROCESSORS*

*Word Perfect

Macintosh

ALL SKILLS

Free classes training for all qualified applicants

*ALSO NEEDED*

*DATA ENTRY*

*TYPING*

*SECRETARIES*

*FILE CLERKS*

*COMPUTER AIDED OPERATIONS*

*EIGHT (8) WEEKS*

All skills for high school seniors to beginners, three days or weekly, two or one

Call

708-596-1655

EMPLOYMENT

Over 26 years of service

MR. LITTON

Chicago Bears Coach NEEL

- Family Planning Services
- Low-Cost Women's Health Care
- Pregnancy Testing
- Female Providers

Crossroads Health Care Center, Inc.
512 North Plum Grove Rd. • Palatine • 359-7575
Examine, Evening and Saturday Appointments

HARINGER SPORTS

■ 8 September 19, 1991

★ SPORTS FINAL ★

Hawks upended by number four Grand Rapids

By Kurt Geisre
Haringer Sports Editor

The Harper Hawk's effort in the second half of Saturday's game couldn't make a whole. The Hawks lost their first game of the season 19-9 to the Grand Rapids Raiders, dropping their record to 2-1, 2-0 in the North Central Community College Conference.

The Raiders, whose record stands at 2-0, moved up in the DCCO poll to number two in the nation after the victory over the Hawks.

"Our offense isn't clicking," said quarterback Steve Matthews. "The guys are still getting used to me and I'm getting used to the system here."

After the Hawks' outburst of offense against Illinois Valley, Saturday's game was barely equal to a hic.

Harper was held to 173 total yards, with only 47 on the ground. Running back Derrick Harris, who against IV, set the single game rushing record, was held to 10 yards on 20 carries. Harper's rushing leader was Trevor Rodgers who gained 12 yards on 3 carries.

Transfer QB Matthews also struggled for the second consecutive week, though Head Coach John Black will believe he is not entitled to blame due to his lack of experience. Matthews came into the game after starting QB Kenny Carroll was injured after completing 4 passes in 2 attempts. Versus the Raiders, Matthews was 4-of-10 for 25 yards with 1 TD and 2 interceptions.

While the offense sputtered an "F," Harper was still able to turn in its "D." The Hawks yielded 212 yards in the first half, but only 8 in the second, giving the Hawks a chance for a comeback.

Unfortunately, one could not make.

The Raiders were the first to score, when, after a short drive, Steve Hill kicked a 34-yard field goal. Though, it is not what harmed the Hawks.

With 1:35 left in the first quarter, Grand Rapids running back Paul Black kicked a 26-yard field goal. The Hawks would come back on the ensuing kickoff when Matthews intercepted the Raiders' lead to 10-0. Later on, another 7th play by Grand Rapids would push the Raiders lead to 12-0 on a 95-yard Edrin Milton run. The Hawks would come back on the ensuing kickoff when Matthews intercepted with Jason Calabrese for 73 yards and a TD.

With the extra-point blocked, Grand Rapids led 17-0 at the half, but that matter for the rest of the game.

The Hawks' next game is at home versus the new number four on the nation, the College of DuPage.

Running back Derrick Harris suffers of hands of Raiders

Mark Parnell

Quarterback Steve Matthews under pressure

Mark Parnell

Volleyball team places second

By Kurt Geisre
Haringer Sports Editor

The Harper girls' volleyball team is serving notice to their opposition that they are a force to contend with.

In their first two meets, the Hawks have finished first in the Morton College Invite and second in the Harper College Invitational to put their overall record at an impressive 6-2.

"The team has started to grow," said Head Coach Rene

Becomb. "They are improving with every match they play."

The Hawks began the Harper season in pool play and placed first at 9-0 in their pool division. They next played the very tough McHenry Community College in the semi-finals and defeated them 15-4 and 15-7.

In the finals, the lady Hawks played Harper's arch-rival, College of DuPage. The only problem was after 9 hours of match play, these Hawks were a bit winded. C.O.D., who had a far easier route to the championship, eventually outlasted the Hawks in the victory.

The Hawks were led by the play-by-playman Amy Longmore, but all of team contributed.

"Everybody has talent on this team, which is unusual," Becomb said. "You can't just play six, so we are lucky that we are disappointed."

The other lady Hawks, who all factored in heavily, are Brooke McKewack, 1 setter; Nancy Montana Parnell, Erin Hanley, Kar Baartz, Erin Turner, Kerry Lee, Christy Morris, Dana Larsen and Deanne Hannay.

The Hawks' next contest is Saturday in Michigan, participating in the Muskegon Invite.

Gym Shorts

Come join area runners and walkers on Sunday, October 6 at 9:00 a.m. for Harper's second annual 1/2k Run/Walk for Wellness.

The 1AC certified course is entirely contained on the Harper College campus at Algonquin and Roselle Roads in Palatine. There will be awards for the top overall runners and walkers and for the three runners in each of the six age categories. All proceeds from the race go to the Harper Educational Foundation which provides scholarships for Harper Students.

The race also provides an opportunity to visit the physical education building on campus. The pool and gymnasium will be open to participants and their families from 10:00 a.m. to noon on race day. Bring your own towel and lock for the locker room.

Runners and walkers should register in Building M the week before the race. The fee is $15 or $15 for race day registration. Call extension 446 for an application or further information.

Attention golf enthusiasts: Play golf from sunrise to sunset for free at the American Cancer Society (ACS) Longest Day of Golf.

Participants will not only be having fun, but at the same time you will raise funds to support cancer research, education and service programs.

According to Event Chairman Bill Cree, play will begin at the eight participating Northwest Suburban golf courses on Monday, September 2 and run through Wednesday, October.

Green fees and power carts will be available courtesy of the course management. Lunch and golf shirts will also be provided. An awards breakfast is also scheduled to recognize the golfers who raise the most money.

Last year's event raised $30,000 and Cree hopes to surpass that by raising over $40,000 in pledges and projects this year.

The number of participants is limited, so call the ACS at 356-3965 to sign up or make a pledge.

Bear's Playoff chances good

On the goal line

By Tim McDonald

How about them Bears?

Only three weeks into the season and they look as though they are in mid-season form. After watching the Bears barely survive scares from Minnesota and Tampa Bay, Sunday I was impressed with the overall play of the whole team.

Jim Harbaugh, who was supposed to be overthrown by his understudy P. T. Wells in training camp, came through with the big plays when they were needed to pull out a much needed win over the defending champion New York Giants. The Giants proved to be the first big test in this early season. The Bear defense was unbelievably dominating against the pass yet allowed the Giants to run right at them. The secondary needs to get Shawn Givens back into the lineup and help contribute to the success they have had during these first three weeks of the season.

Looking at all the different positions, the only real problems the Bears are having are with the running backs. Neal Anderson, despite his unbelievable run, has been nothing more than just part in the lineup. James Reese, has been nothing spectacular and the reemergence of Brad Muster had real no impact in last Sunday's game.

Mike Ditka, seemingly still upset with the loss in last year's playoffs to the Giants, came out throwing and proved to many that the Bears can do more than just run the ball. The fact is that they will have to do more than just run the ball in their upcoming games, which include the defending AFC champion Buffalo Bills.

The secondary will not get their real test until that point along with the Bears' front men facing the rush of the Buffalo Bills' defense. Being a Bears' fan for quite a while I wish them nothing but success, which I predict will come in the form of a 12-4 record, with maybe one loss within their own division.

The N.F.C. Title is quite a goal, but I think the Lions and the Vikings could surprise many people down the stretch. The Lions came off some harsh losses including the big opening day loss to the Washington Redskins. The Vikings lost their first two games of the season yet came up with the big win against the Joe Montana-led Forty-Niners.

Overall, I think that the Bears will consistently improve throughout the season and make many doubters into believers. THE BEARS ARE FOR REAL.

THE HILBINGER

September 26, 1991

WHERE'S MY SUCK-O-LUX?

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Or-n-More review Page 4

Football

Hawks come-back win over College of Dupage. 19-14

Women's Tennis undefeated in their Conference Page 8

Victor Pacini, student singer

Environmental Column Page 6

CONTENTS

Editorials	2
Letter to the Editor	2
Comics	3
Race Track Tips	4
Arts & Entertainment	4-5
Features	6
Classified	7
Football	8
Sports	8

Life Safety projects to benefit the disabled

Joseph Palms
Layout Editor

William Rainey Harper College is currently undergoing a Life Safety Renovations program. The program is designed to repair and fix such problems as worn-out walkways and to improve accessibility for students with handicaps.

The most important improvements at this time are the repair of walkways and the addition of railings around the concrete stairwell connecting A and C Buildings according to Verne Manke, vice president of administrative services, and Tom Thompson, coordinator for Students with Disabilities.

The next step in the program is renovating the rest rooms. By 1992 all of building D will have refurbished rest rooms. Building F and building A will follow suit in 1993-94.

The rest rooms currently comply with Illinois accessibility codes.

However, the codes are changing and Harper wants to keep up with them, said Manke.

We want to provide more room and space for the handicapped person," said Manke. Some rest rooms are not handicap accessible though.

In the west end of D building, the last set of rest rooms have vanigs which state they are accessible to handicap individuals, but in actuality, they are not. These rest rooms are too small to be used by those in wheel chairs, said Thompson.

D building is a nightmare, Thompson said.

According to Thompson the architecture on D building makes accessibility a problem. Because of the way the building is constructed, students who use wheel chairs must use a special lift to get onto the first floor," said Thompson.

The wheel chair lift has broken down seven times since the beginning of the year. That averages out to about once a week that the lift is out of service," said Thompson.

Another issue getting attention are the automatic doors. Putting in automatic sliding doors will be very expensive, said Manke.

DISABLED ACCESSIBILITY UPGRADE

All existing elevators to be upgraded to conform with the disabled accessibility codes

BUILDING A
Handrails to be added at exterior stairs between Buildings A and C.

Ramp to be provided for wheelchair access to fireplace area

BUILDING B
Concrete walk adjacent to parking area in front of Building B to be removed and replaced

Building D
Concrete block wall enclosure at base of concrete stairs
Visual Alarms in men's and women's restrooms near D118
Visual Alarm to be provided in D119
Drop off/pick up zone for vehicles on near north entry near D118

PHOTOGRAPHS PROVIDED BY THE OFFICE OF THE CHANCE, Physical Plant, Administration OFFICE

"If just sliding doors were to be put into place, every time the door opens, heat or cold air would escape. We need to build an air lock so to speak.

So when one door opens, a person would walk through a vestibule and then pass through another door," he said.

The problem again with the air lock is that most of the buildings on campus do not have enough space for building these air locks. To build these air locks is expensive," said Manke.

There have been six waiting for an automatic door for the west end of D building, which will provide easier access to handicapped students, but, unfortunately, these doors cost a lot of money," said Thompson.

Another addition to the campus will include air conditioning to building V.

Manke and Thompson agree the projects will take time and money.

Students won't wait long for some renovations though. The sidewalk will be completed before winter," said Manke.

Cholesterol testing promotes healthy eating

Eric Jason
News Editor

Rebecca Ransler, Health Services R.N. gives a cholesterol test in cafeteria as part of American Heart Association's Food Festival Tuesday

Blood cholesterol testing was offered by Harper Health Services in conjunction with the ongoing American Heart Association's Food Festival on Tuesday.

The testing offered students, faculty and staff the opportunity to assess their risks to heart disease.

Therewas compared the amount of cholesterol in the blood and measured it in proportion to the healthy norm.

The norm is the number of milligrams of cholesterol per blood sample.

"If you are under age 20 you should be 160 milligrams. If you are over age 20, you should be under 200 milligrams," Rebecca Ransler, R.N., Health Services, explained.

Besides the cholesterol level in the blood, the Health Services sought to educate people about the benefits of a nutritious, low-calorie diet.

Low-calorie foods such as vegetables, pasta, and bread offer the best alternative to high-cholesterol foods.

Food high in fat, such as red meat, are to be avoided at all costs because of the long-term risk of heart disease.

Foods high in saturated fat such as donuts and french fries contribute to high cholesterol levels.

The blood tests were offered to students for a cost of $2 and $5 for staff and community.

The money raised by Health Services will go to their funds for medical supplies.

Therewas that were tested had good results and a genuine concern for their health," said Ransler.

Public Safety warns students to drive safely

Chances accidents on the rise

Supervisor of Public Safety Kevin King reports that there have been seventeen motor vehicle accidents on campus since August 26. One of the accidents involved personal injuries to the drivers. Five of the accidents have been hit-and-run accidents where one of the drivers has failed to leave information or report the accident to Public Safety as required by State law.

According to Mr. King, the primary causes of the accidents have been excessive speed (maximum speed limit on campus is 25 miles per hour; 15 miles per hour in parking lots), failure to yield right of way when leaving parking lot, and failure to use caution while driving in lots.

Being involved in an accident causes insurance premiums to rise and also may inconvenience you through loss of use of your vehicle.

Being involved in an accident causes insurance premiums to rise and also may inconvenience you through the loss of your vehicle.

Driving without insurance is against the law and will result in severe penalties.

Public Safety officers have cameras to issue traffic citations on campus, which can result in a fine or loss of driving privileges.

An unidentified student attempted a left hand turn from Euclid Tuesday when he was stuck from an on-coming east bound car

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Calenda
Managing Editor	Eric Jason
News Editor	Susanne Haylic
Faculty Advisor	Cary A. Tacke
Business Manager	Michelle Smith
A & E Editor	Phil Mages
Features Editor	Kurt Gensler
Photo Editor	Michael Cichy and Joseph Palmer
Sports Editor
Layout Editors

Racism exists at Harper, everywhere

Racism has turned out to be the strongest word in society today, and the ugliest.

Although it's the 1990's and we live just outside the city of Chicago, degrading and insulting statements echoed off the walls of Building D and J last week.

A few years back there was the incident in Bensonhurst, but that was in New York, that could never happen here. Obviously that is untrue because actions and words are becoming more prevalent every day around this area.

About two weeks ago there was a billboard in Justice, IL designed to spotlight racism in America that definitely raised a few eyebrows. The billboard artists, Mark Fleckman and Mark Newman, say the sign is a social commentary on racism.

The sign advertises the Afro Country Club, along with the saying, "where only the ball is white." The idea of a country club was used to illustrate the artists' point because whites-only country clubs have been under fire the past few years.

The message was seen and vandals expressed their displeasure by painting the billboard with racist graffiti. The letters KKK, a swastika and a racial slur across the lower part of the billboard was the message from the ignorant ones.

Unfortunately the racists come in every form and color, and the hate is just as strong. Racism is a taught action because if you have a group of kids of all different nationalities and a ball, they'll all play happily with each other. So quite obviously the hate and prejudice is taught.

The days of peace and love are long gone now. Unless action is taken quick to remedy the ignorant minds, the days of hate and war and race riots are going to be the highlight of the news every night.

IMPORTANT: READ

RACISM IS FORTHE IGNORANT. EVERYONE HAS SOMETHING TO OFFER.

Staff

David Anselmo, Maggie Balazs, Drew Bullgett, Alisa Chabland, Jerry Elmerie, Annette Epner, Jason Emerson, Christopher Galloway, Greg Gillingham, Justin Harmon, Andy Lomax, Caroline Lovell, Tim McDonald, Jason Pick, Gina Piccolo, David Rogers, Renee Soriano, Michael Skuse, Kadi Stampfer, Matt Winkelmann, Alexandra Youkhannov

Letters to the Editor

"Happiness" cartoon sends wrong message

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter in regard to the irresponsible cartoon that was published in the September 15, edition of The Harbinger. "Happiness" is not gained by mixing drugs and alcohol as anyone who has watched a loved one lying in a hospital bed in a coma will tell you. Harper College is attempting to get the message across to students with the drug and alcohol awareness program that these are dangerous substances, alone or mixed together. Please be more responsible in your journalism and your editing. Drugs and alcohol can kill people and that is not very funny.

Sincerely,

Janette Kwitchoff
Student/ Harper employee

AAAAUUUUJJGGHHH!!

Smokers left out in the cold

Hello again, enthusiasts of Harper College. I'm back to denounce the situation I experienced in my quest for an enjoyable existence during my less than fantastic stay here. I guess I'm just a glutton for punishment, because this is my third, yes, that's right third and hopefully final year at this questionable institution of higher learning. But we'll save that for next week, since I've got something else to get off my chest and into the forefront of the Board of Administration.

I'm referring to the "No-Smoking" policy, that regardless of a great deal of arguments by a number of students and faculty alike, they somehow managed to put into effect. Now, this is not a ground breaking topic and for those of you who are perfect and odor free who are tired of hearing about this, I ask you to quit reading my columns, because you're probably too busy with other plans in your important lives to waste it on reading and actually understanding the views and feelings of other human beings. For those of you who feel human interaction is a worthwhile goal I thank you for lending me a piece of your brain to share this with.

My biggest gripe about the

MEN SANA EN CORPSE SANO
BY MATT
WINKELMAN

policy is that we don't pay any less tuition than the non-smoking students, yet due to the habits and addictions of our vice (that means something, you know is bad for you, but you do anyway because you enjoy it, like drinking) we are treated as lower class and discriminated against by being reduced to standing outside in the cold or rain to satisfy an addiction that is not easy to break. Now, you say that was our choice to start. However, what of those who may be trying to quit? Contrary to the opinion of the ignorant (not stupid but uninformed because you don't know what the addiction is like because you don't) under this policy does not make it easier by adding incentive to quit. Instead, it adds another factor to pressure an individual into quitting and if you know anything of addiction you will know that when an addict of any substance is trying to break that addiction the last thing he/she needs is added stress. This is because the substance is usually viewed as a stress reliever by the person. This and many other factors make it, at least in my eyes, morally wrong to segregate and chastise another human being due to the nature of their habit. If the school is going to make policies like this, I would personally like to see all the annoying gum chewers I'm forced to sit next to, stand outside to chew their gum. This does not mean I want gum chewing abolished either. It simply means I think as people we need to show more understanding and the ability to adapt to the actions of other people around us.

After all, we are only human. So if you can still like your best friend even if they have an obsession laugh you should be able to accept another person even if they smoke.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and free time. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editors. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

THE Daily Crossword by Norton Rhoades

ANSWERS

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Or-n-More is less and less

Orin joins Mike More on the rather mediocre

AMT JAMAN
Horbinger Staff Writer

Or-n-More is a prime example of what can go wrong when a small group of people assume creative control of a project.

Mozart's Magic Flute brings culture to suburbs

With the music of Mozart's The Magic Flute the national tour of the Minnesota Opera opens the 1991-1992 Special Events season at the Deloria A. Norris Cultural Arts Center. The Magic Flute, Mozart's final opera will be presented in English on Saturday, October 12, at 8:00 p.m.

The current Special Events season includes jazz concerts by Larry Carlton and the N.I.U. Jazz Ensemble. A gala concert by the Mariavani Orchestra and the Do-It-Yourself Messiah with the Ill-no Chamber Symphony will make this season extra special. The delightful music of the Irish Rovers celebrates St. Patrick's day early, and the rousing musical season finale, I.P. With People, will make these events unforgettable. The Magic Flute has been sponsored by Rhine Bell, an American Company.

Celebrate the Mozart Bicentennial with this popular musical sale for all ages. Written exactly 200 years ago, this opera is sung in English by a cast of sixteen accompanied by a twenty-one-piece orchestra. The universal struggle of Darkness and Light is presented here as a valiant price versus a beautiful princess. The prince and a companion use magical bells and a flute to lead them in their quest.

Along the way they encounter mysterious creatures, a wicked queen, and another force more powerful than either had ever imagined!

Tickets are $25-$60 and may be

Second City improves fun for all

SC's northwest suburb location mimics city twin

MADON BALAS
Horbinger Staff Writer

Things happen at a slower pace out in the country, so perhaps it is no accident that the Second City Northwest's current revue, "Welcome to the Barn Raising," gets off to a slow start.

The first half of the show is a series of disjointed sketches that are at the most, are sort of funny.

The title has little to do with the show itself. Occasionally, sides of the Lincoln Park Zoo's Farm are shown for no apparent reason, on the back wall of the set. The first half concludes with an improvised song about a current events issue.

The audience suggests an issue, and the performers are then supposed to create a song from the suggestions.

Unfortunately, the song seemed planned rather than improvised. For example, after receiving the suggestion of "There's no place like home" and "Get out of Wichita," the cast quickly moved their resulting song to the Clarence Thomas Supreme Court nomination.

The second half of the revue got off to a better start. It actually contained some of the cutting-edge political satire that the Second City is famous for.

Still, except for a few good moments, the overall production was a much-mixed muddy funny piece. Strong performances by a few cast members were the show's savior.

Imagined grace Ian Comitz, Scott Altman and Aliza Shalowitz kept the performance alive with solid characterization and a high energy level. Overall, the revue was not terrible. The best moments came after the show ended during an improvisation that actually seemed improved.

Some inside tips for the track

SCOTT STANFORD
Horbinger Staff Writer

Some inside tips for betting at Arlington Park. Arlington Park International Racecourse offers an alternative entertainment that possibly could win you some money.

Located on Euclid Rd., the racetrack is approximately 10 minutes away from Harper. Spectators can watch some of the finest thoroughbreds in the world race for as little as three dollars and possibly win money. Admission is free after the sixth race.

Before making bets, here are some tips on how to play the ponies.

1. Many people before going to the track will read the racing page in the paper to help make selections. (Never listen to Ray Hallett the handicapper for the Daily Herald.)

2. When a horse owned by Richard L. Duchesneaux, the owner of Arlington, is running in the race, bet the horse.

3. Never bet on a horse that's 40-1 or better. The better might as well flush money down the toilet. Never spit into the wind. The wind will just blow the spit back in your face.

4. Watch the horses in the paddock, especially their ears. Ears cocked at a 45 degree angle are dead-end. Limpers could suggest a fall in the horse's stride. Over active ears could mean potential excitability.

5. If a horse has 1-1 odds, do not bet him to win. The chance of winning is very high, but when cashing in the winning ticket the cashier will just throw a nickel back in your face.

6. A horse passes about

44 lbs. of dung each day. This really isn't a tip, but it is damn interesting.

7. Keep an eye out for an elderly man who's polyester fashion conscious, smokes cigars, smells, and places bets in the "minimum of $100" line. Listen very closely to this man. More than likely he knows what he is doing.

8. Horse racing is the only sport where under 3'0" who can make a major impact. Arlington is blessed to have some of the world's top jockeys. Two jockeys to look for are this year's leading jockey Shane Sellers and Hall of Fame rider Pat Day. Sellers' winning percentage this year is 21 percent. Day's is an outstanding 31 percent. It doesn't take a mathematician to know these numbers mean something.

9. Don't bet on a grey horse. Remember the adage about the old grey mare: "she ain't what she used to be."

10. Be aware that each year, roughly one-third of all the betting favorites win, paying an average of $5.40. This last tip is the most important one.

11. Go to the track on Friday. Every Friday Arlington has something they developed called the "week ender" sponsored by Coors Light and WULF. Not only are their refreshments, there's also a rock band and $1 drinks in the park area. It's a great way to end the week.

This is not a complete list of handicapping secrets, but this list should be decent enough to help in investing money.

Editor's note: Scott Stanford is an employee at the Arlington Park. Though he may have the "inside scoop" about the track we haven't seen him driving a red Porsche at Harper!

obtained through Ticketmaster, the Norris Theatre office, or reserved on credit card by calling (708) 544-7200, Monday through Friday, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The Norris Theatre at the Deloria A. Norris Cultural Arts

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

Comedy
Review

Sunday night + ToTo's = Teens night out

Gina Piccolo
Harbinger Staff Writer

O'Neill, spends and O'Neill for men. Exclamation! New jammies' music and hip-hop dance moves. The hot teen hang out ToTo's, found on the corner of Algonquin and Meacham in Schaumburg, is the Sunday night party for teens.

Party People & Midnight Illusions sponsor the night to give the teens a chance of seeing at home or play miniature golf.

Starting the evening off at 7:30.

visitors wait at the door to be accepted inside. Once security opens the door. They check for the age requirements, only 17 through 21 year-olds are allowed inside. The $10 entertainment fee is paid and tickets are checked in, they are prohibited inside the club. The inside security searches the young men and women the pockets of the ladies. They want to keep the problems outside and provide a safe atmosphere.

On the dance floor, which bears the red tiled logo "ToTo's", the more "rager" dancers have already started dancing. The ceiling is filled with lights dancing about, almost imitating the teens below. "Speakers, located in front by the stage where the evening's DJ is placed, are pounding the sounds of the dance party mixes.

The railing that surrounds the dance floor separates the less ambitious dancers, who look more comfortable watching and mingling behind the rails, a small neon-lit bar supplies the girls with one-dollar drinks.

A few tables are placed about the room where people may rest while waiting for the next good song or a new burst of energy. Highlighting neon pink and green Killer Bee signs scattered around the walls, black lights accompany the other "rager scene" paraphernalia.

At 10:00, after two and a half hours of constant dancing, the hour arrives to psyche the crowd up for the live performer of the evening.

Within the next half hour, the performer of the evening is introduced. The crowd is about two hundred shy of the normal attendance this evening. The club is packed on long weekends, but they have regulars who show up almost every Sunday night.

For the next two hours, the performer and the host keep the kids entertained and upbeat. The dancing could go on all night but the club closes at 12:30. ToTo's is open all weekend for adult entertainment but for the past two years on Sunday night they have provided the teens with another week-end alternative.

See the Hawks on the 'Binger sports page

Coming to Harper... Vonnegut to speak and Cyrano to be shown

Dates & Times

Kurt Vonnegut will give a lecture on "How to Get a Job Like Mine" on Friday, October 18 at 8 p.m. in building M.

Cyrano De Berenc will be shown on Thursday, October 3 in the building J theater.

Call the Harper College box office at 397-3333 extension 2546 for tickets and information.

Subwich
invites all Harper Students to a

FREE Lg Drink

with any Subwich or Salad Purchase.

Students must show I.D.
(offer expires 10-26-91)

Subwich is Located in the Regency Plaza at the corners of Euclid & Quentin Rds.

Hours: Daily 10 a.m. - 10 p.m. Sunday 10am - 6pm

Call ahead for fast pick up

991-1188, FAX 991-1277

Subwich
Money Saving Coupon
50¢ off
Any 6" Subwich
one coupon per customer
per visit
offer expires 10-26-91

Subwich
Money Saving Coupon
20¢ off
Any Bag of chips or fresh fruit
one coupon per customer
per visit
offer expires 10-26-91

where OUR bread really does make the difference

Make the Switch to Subwich

FULL & PART TIME POSITIONS

OUR SPECIALTY STORES NEED A SPECIAL TEAM!

Join us NOW and you'll be ready for our Grand Opening in November

Apply in person

Illness Department of Employment Security
708 W. Algonquin Rd.
(then East & Arlington Hills Rd.)
Arlington Heights

Sat. 9:21 - 9 am Noon
Mon. 9:23 - Fri. 9:27
8 am - 6 pm

NEW STORE OPENING!

in Schaumburg at One Schaumburg Place

We're opening a brand NEW Montgomery Ward store in Schaumburg. We're looking for people who want to be part of our team!

With more than 340 stores throughout the country, Montgomery Ward provides a wide selection of quality brand name merchandise in an easy-to-shop specialty environment. Now it's time to get that contemporary environment a 100% place to work.

You'll enjoy: • Flexible Hours • Full & Part Time Positions • Competitive Pay • Merchandise Discount • Growth Opportunities • Competitive Benefits (for full-time positions)

If you enjoy working with people, believe in our outstanding customer service and take a fast paced selling environment, check out these opportunities!

COMMISSION SALES ASSOCIATES

Earn impressive commissions as you sell items to customers considering a major purchase. We need motivated, experienced sales professionals for the following areas:

• Major Appliances • Electronics • Fine Jewelry • Furniture/Window Coverings • Auto Express

Whether you're a sales person looking for increased earning potential or a licensed individual looking for fresh challenges, there may be a position for YOU!

Montgomery Ward

THE BRAND NAME BOUTIQUE STORE

Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

We promote a drug-free work environment

SALES ASSOCIATES

A friendly, helpful, motivated sales associate will be key to your success. No retail sales team. Retail experience a plus.

• Apparel • Cosmetics • Housewares • Shoes

SALES SUPPORT

Proper experience is not essential; just the willingness to learn and a eager attitude!

• Customer Service • Receiving • Maintenance

• Loss Prevention

AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE

Both Express and non-Express automotive center provide state-of-the-art diagnostic service. We need experienced individuals for the following positions:

• Technicians • Battery/Flu Insulators

So whether you're ready to start your first job or simply ready for a great new opportunity, there may be a position for YOU on the Montgomery Ward team.

Employment paid ad

General Office

HELP WANTED

College Students Welcome!

*WORD PROCESSORS***

Word Perfect

Macintosh

ALL SYSTEMS

Free cross-training for all qualified applicants

ALSO NEEDED:

*DATA ENTRY*

*TYPIST*

*SECRETARIES*

*B.B. CLEARING*

*WITH CHORD OPERATIONS*

*LIGHT INDUSTRIAL*

All skills for temp jobs close to home. No days or weeks to you wait.

Call 708-308-3655

Right

TEMPORARIES

Over 20 years of service

BLACK & WHITE Apple HONEY BEE Auto Express GOLD VINE KIDS STORE

FEATURES

Student singer takes act to Vegas

Victor Pacini is set to compete in Star Mania semi-finals in February

Don Avenoso
Harbinger staff writer

"Star Mania" has touched down in Champaign. Harp student/singer Victor Pacini will be taking off to Las Vegas to compete in Star Mania's National Semi Finals this February.

At the age of eight years old Victor started singing as an Elvis impersonator. He recalls "The day Elvis died was the day my family moved from Chicago to Mount Prospect." He came across some Elvis records and learned the songs well enough to perform them with a 50's/60's type band. In 1981, a young Pacini performed his first show as "Little Elvis."

Pacini started out singing strictly Elvis songs. Now at the age of 19 his taste of music ranges from country to adult contemporary. Ronnie McDowell and Billy Joel are two influential vocalists that he has taken a likeness to.

Practicing anywhere from one to two hours a day prepares Pacini for an upcoming performance. He says, "The reaction I get from the audience is well worth the hours I put into my singing." "Star Mania" gives ordinary people a chance to show their stuff.

People who sing in the shower or in front of the bathroom mirror can take their act to Steve Ross, talent coordinator for Star Mania.

This is how Star Mania works: contestants sing the song of their choice on stage to a background cassette, leaving their fate in the hands of the voting audience. Chasing given night they can be as many as 30 male and female vocalists competing to make it in to the finals. Over a five week period the audience will narrow the competition to 12 acts, eventually picking male and female winners. "Star Mania" winners earn a trip to Las Vegas to compete in the semi-finals for a $50,000 savings bond.

Victor Pacini and a shot at the national finals. The national winner receives a $50,000 bond, a sports car, and other prizes adding up to $10,000.

Having performed to an audience of 500 at the playhouse in Forest Park, Pacini qualified to attend the National semi-finals competition in Las Vegas. The convention will be held February 8-11, 1992. Pacini will compete for the national title at the Aladdin Hotel/Casino. While in Las Vegas he will perform at different clubs in the Las Vegas area. Taking the act on the road is nothing new to Pacini; he has performed in many states, including New York, Michigan, Arkansas, and Missouri, Memphis as Vegas is an ongoing challenge for him. He explains, "Of course I'd like to win in Las Vegas, but the chance to meet new people and maybe get noticed by a representative in the music business inspires me to push me on." Pacini performed Billy Joel's "We Didn't Start the Fire" and also the Stray Cats' "Rock This Town" for the Star Mania competition last August. He was surprised by the response he received for "We Didn't Start the Fire." Says Pacini, "I didn't know what to expect from the audience that night. When I finished my song the positive cheers from the crowd boosted my confidence to compete further."

Singing has also helped Pacini meet famous people. Back in 1982, he was interviewed by Chicago radio personality Jonathan Brandmeier. He said, "Every now and then Brandmeier will play a little promo of my singing. The interview was a neat experience for me." Former Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne is another local celebrity Pacini performed for around that time.

"Star Mania" is something anyone with uncommon vocal talent could do. If singing is what you want to do, "Star Mania" may be for you. For more information contact Steve Ross, talent coordinator for Star Mania. Pacini terms at (708) 686-2996.

Editors Note: This is an environmental column that will run every other week.

The Harbinger

Your source to college news!

Is Your Accent "Holding You Back"?

Learn To Speak English Clearly

A Comprehensive
Accent Reduction Program
Providing:

- Individual Speech Analysis
- Detailed Exercises For Home Practice
- Individual and Small Group Instruction
- Day, Evening and Saturday Classes

FREE Informational Seminar
Wednesday, October 2nd, 7:30pm
Elk Grove Municipal Building

For Reservations Contact:

Susan Calderone, M.A., CCC
Certified Speech-Language Pathologist
(708) 228-9813

Greenpeace promotes campaign

THE GREEN SCENE
BY MAGGIE
BALAZS

Winding down a ten week Great Lakes tour, the environmental group Greenpeace held an open-boat in Chicago September 21 & 22.

The purpose of the 40 stop tour of the Greenpeace Moby Dick is to promote the current "zero discharge" campaign.

Zero discharge means ending the practice of dumping persistent toxic substances into the environment. Specifically, Greenpeace is going after paper producers who use a chlorine bleaching method in paper production. The by-products of this method are chemical substances called dioxins and furans. These chemicals end up in the Great Lakes.

The Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has said that dioxin levels in the Great Lakes are within their acceptable range. But Greenpeace, in conjunction with numerous other environmental groups, has stated that the only truly acceptable level for toxic chemicals in our lakes is zero.

"Just because you can't see pollution doesn't mean it's not there," says Greenpeace Regional Director Sarah Jane Kroy.

The potential ill-effects of dioxins and furans is a hotly debated issue right now. Greenpeace claims that its studies show dioxins appearing in fish, birds and human breast milk. The EPA was unavailable for comment.

Kroy also has characterized the campaign as successful.

For example, a Canadian paper manufacturer has agreed to try a chemical-free paper bleaching method suggested to them by Greenpeace. The method is widely used in other parts of the world, but at this point is virtually unknown in the United States.

Greenpeace is happy with the results of its campaign, but also hopes to heighten public awareness of dioxins through their tour. At this point, the best way average citizens can get involved in the zero discharge movement is by writing letters to their Senators and Congressmen.

Study links date rape, hostages with Stockholm Syndrome

Amy Brumley
CPS

Date rape victims. Battered women. Hostages. Do these groups of people share certain psychological characteristics? According to a study at the University of Cincinnati, they do.

The study is one of the first to look at how The Stockholm Syndrome relates to date rape. The Stockholm Syndrome is a concept that emerged years ago when researchers studied the psychological characteristics of hostages and found that they actually bonded with their captors, in spite of suffering abuse.

Previous studies at the University of Cincinnati have linked the behavior of battered women to The Stockholm Syndrome.

"A lot of women say, 'If I were harmed, I'd just leave,'" says Dr. Graham, a psychologist who conducted the study. "But what most women know is that, what gets you more severely battered or even killed. The battered women in fact agree to the Stockholm Syndrome as a way to survive."

Saying "no was out of the question" for the women in the Stockholm Syndrome. "These are just living situations," she says. "People see their survival at stake. Dealing with the bad guys in the way of what you need to survive. Slowly you start to identify the situation, you start to feel good and slowly begin to bond."

After finding a connection between The Stockholm Syndrome and battered women, Graham says Cincinnati researchers decided to see how syndrome behavior might relate to dating in general.

"What's significant is that we picked people off the street and what we found was that the dynamics of this are abusive and that every relationship is not, or less abusive," said Graham.

There is a lot of examples of the Stockholm Syndrome in the news. Graham says, "A woman who is being imprisoned or kidnapped, but is being kept alive. Her situation is abusive, but she is being kept alive."

"The Stockholm Syndrome is a result of a rape, a single assault, deny the rape, and the victim is in a state of denial."

Graham found that in a study reported 25.35 percent of men who were perceived as violent toward their women. They helped again, but there was a 50 percent chance that they would be killed.

Graham's study involved a random sample of 100 undergraduate women at the University of Cincinnati.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, September 26, 1991 7

Help Wanted

Heal The Earth / Teach Others
Earn $100-2000
per month. For interview appointment call to at 956-0645

FREE TRAVEL, CASH, AND EXCELLENT EXPERIENCE!!
Openings available for individuals or student organizations to promote the country's most successful SPRING BREAK tours. Call InterCamps Programs 1-800-327-6013

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS
to students or student organizations promoting our Spring Break Packages. Good Pay & Fun. Call CMI. 1-800-423-5264

ADDRESSEES WANTED IMMEDIATELY!
No experience necessary. Please fill in marriage (refunds) Work at home. Call 1-405-321-3064

Help Wanted

Cruise Ship Jobs HIRING
Men/Women Summer/Year Round PHOTOGRAPHERS, TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL.
Excellent pay plus FREE travel Caribbean, Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico

CALL NOW!
Call toll-free 1-206-786-7000 Ext. 325C

Advertising Sales
Aggressive call starter for FT/PT temporary employment. Must have own transportation. Unlimited earning potential. Commission only. Sales For appl. call Mike at 372-5552

NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE?
Free information. Send name and address to: The SCHOLARSHIP RESOURCE, A Division of B P C P O Box 451 Brookfield, IL 60053. Or call (708) 485-5622

Services

Typing WP Service
Resumes, Term Papers, Laser Print Quality. Free (708) 991-5195

TUTOR
All Math/Science/CIS/ Pascal/ FOR DOS 123 DB3 Acad Pgms. Bort 532-1244

TUTOR
All Math/Science/CIS/ Alg. Trig. Calc. Trig. Acc/ Phys. Chem/ Bort 532-1244

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services. Term papers, resumes, cover letters, etc. Low Rates! Laser Print. Call Lori @ 705-705-1873

Situations

JOIN NOW
Unless you act reproductive choice will and National Abortion Rights Action League Hate 9-30, 10-1

For Sale

1992 NUDE COED CALENDAR
featuring nude Illinois college women. Mail $9.95 to: COED CALEN, DAR P O BOX 434H, DEKALB, IL 60115

Wanted

Wanted: Students Who Care About Their Grades

Tired of having your grades lowered due to poor typing and/or spelling? I can help! I can also incorporate charts or graphs if needed. Only $2.00 per page for plain text. Additional charges for charts and graphs. CALL TODAY! Call Randy at 708-595-4853

STANDARD CLASSIFIED RATES & INFORMATION
Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted.
For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call (708) 397-8000, ext. 2480, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210.

Ready for a puzzle?

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BACCHUS CLUB
National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week
"TALKING WALLS"
share and see how alcohol abuse has effected Harper college students' lives. Building A- Student Center & Library

"REX IS COMING!"
1:00 pm - Wednesday, October 9, 1991 Building A - 242B
"How do I handle a drinking friend?"

"SUBSTANCE ABUSE SEMINAR"
FREE
1 - 4 pm - Friday, October 11, 1991
at Harper, Building A - 241A
Diane Purcell, presenter from Alexian Brothers Medical Center. To register: call X2626
Sponsored by BACCHUS CLUB
Visit their exhibit all week. Get your free Mocktail Recipes, Bumper Stickers, Balloons. A - Building, Student Center

International Students Club
Camping Trip - Chain-O-Lakes State Park September 27-28, 29. Meet at Harper, parking lot in front of Building M. We will be leaving at 6:30 pm. Reservations have been made for 13 campsites for 2 nights (cost: $9.00 fee per night) - checkout time will be 3:00 pm Sunday (29). Check the bulletin board outside F 127 (ESL Office) for detailed information and sign up sheet.

Literature Club Now Forming
Do you write fiction, poetry or essays? Do you enjoy reading literature? If so, you should join Harper's Literature Club. We write and discuss our own material as well as examine great works of literature. For more information call: Professor Rex Burwell at 397-3000 ext. 2450 or Diana Forsee at 632-0799

COME SEE The Rhythm & Moves Dance Co.
perform on Saturday October 12 at half time of Harper Hawks/Triton Trojans football game.

Improving golfers playing spoilers

Kurt Gessner

Harbinger Sports Editor

After a slow start, the Harper golf team is finally getting into the swing of things. It may have come too late for the Hawks to seriously contend in the National Championships, but it gives them the opportunity to upset some of the more recognized schools.

"They are a very capable team," said Head Coach Jim Karas. "They definitely have the talent to knock off some of the better programs, especially perennial favorites C.D. and Rock Valley."

In the Dupage Invitational, the Hawks found their way around the course, held at the Village Links Golf Course, was a lost ball journey from someone's two players, each who play their own ball, but only the best score of the two stands for the team score.

Tom Suwanski and Jeff Ziegler led the way, with a 76, and Marc Hibbs had a 78, but a spectacular day.

One week earlier in the Harper Scramble, the Hawks placed second in a tie with Rock Valley, in the College of Dupage. The tournament was held at Harper's home turf, the Dupage Creek Golf Course.

Again, the team of Suwanski and Ziegler paid the Hawks with an impressive 68.

They work very hard, but they just haven't put it together yet, Karas said. "But, with the way they both practice and play, it looks like their ability."

Harper's next contest is Friday in the new round at the Rock Valley Invitational at the Huntwood.

New kind of classified available now from The Harbinger
Graphics bring more attention to your advertisement

The Graphic Classifieds offers an eye-catching graphic appropriate to your ad, inside a box screened to your preference. Prices begin at $5.50 per column inch. Call now to place your ad!

Your text here in your choice of type style, with graphics

Here are just a few of the graphics available:

HARBINGER SPORTS

Harper 'D'-molishes C.O.D. 19-14

Karl Gessus
Hartinger Sports Editor

Quarterback Steve Matthews runs in his best day as a Hawk.

They say losing builds character. If that is true, then one loss worth of character-building is just about all the Hawks could handle.

After dropping a close one to the old number four on the JCCO poll, Grand Rapids, the Hawks came back to dominate the new number four the College of DuPage, Chaparral, 19-14.

The win moves the Hawk's record to 3-1, but more importantly to 3-0 in the NAC, continuing their hold on first.

"Our defense played very well," said Head Coach John Elansk. "Another bright spot was our passing game. On the darkside was our special teams, we were really disappointed with their performance."

If the Hawk's special teams was the darkside, then kick returner Aaron Bailey led the Hawk's special teams in the Twilight Zone. Bailey returned a kickoff and a punt for touchdowns, scoring the Chaparral's only points of the game.

"I heard that C.O.D. scored on a lot of big plays," said defensive back Sharver Hawkins. "For a while I was worried, but our defense came through and played a great game."

The Harper 'D' allowed the Chaparral only 83 total yards for only 4 first downs, none in the second half. Among the many contributing players were Hawkins, Dave Grabzsk, Mike Andrews, Steve Gaski, Mike Martinez and Mike McDowell.

While the defense was running rampant, the offense was barely running. The famed Harper running game, usually the mainstay of the offense, was completely obliterated by the Chap. Star running back Derrick Harris was barely able to leave the back field, let alone break any big plays. Harris was held to 23 yards on 25 carries, to lead the anemic ground attack. C.O.D. had a non-offensive defense," Elansk said. "If anyone starts eight men on the line (as C.O.D. does), you have to be careful to make a running game work."

So Saturday against the Chaparral the Hawk's finally took to the air. Quarterback Steve Matthews led the charge, completing 15 of 32 passes for 229 yards and a TD, but Isaac Calabrese and Brett Nemmes also chipped in with 60 yards and 55 yards, respectively.

"Matthews is progressing," Elansk said. "He has not only had to learn system, but he's had to learn what he already knew."

Even though Harper owned the Chaps from the opening kick off, they did not own them during it. C.O.D. ran out to a early lead, literally. Bailey took the opening kick off and tilted his way 93 yards for a touchdown.

The Hawks would quickly tie the score at several when Harris plunged in from the 1 yard line. A 15-yard Matthews TD pass to Harris would be the only other scoring in the first half.

In the third quarter, whenever C.O.D. would try to drive, the Hawk came up with the big plays as needed. Whether it was a Tom Jackson, sack of C.O.D. QB Ben Brandt, who was completed only 8 passes in 26 attempts, or a interception by Martinez or McDowell, the Hawks owned the Chaps in the second half.

C.O.D. did not have a first down and netted a whopping 2 yards of offense. In fact, after for a 88-yard Aaron Bailey TD punt return with 735 left to play, the fans could have been rolling in the aisles instead of on the edge of their seats.

A Tim Newman 32-yard field goal, second of the day, provided a comfort zone and made the score 19-11 in favor of the Hawks.

In other related games, Triton slipped by Moraine Valley 15-3 and Illinois Valley pummeled Joliet 35-0.

Harper's next contest is Saturday away at Moraine Valley.

Hawks remain perfect at 5-0

Karl Gessus
Hartinger Sports Editor

The Harper women's tennis team is playing supremely on the court. So much so, that in their first six matches, they have sentenced their opponents to the loser's backdoor.

In their latest victory, the Hawks narrowly defeated Moraine Valley 5-4 to improve their perfect conference record to 5-0.

"We have an extremely strong line-up," said Head Coach Martha Bell. "This gives us an edge over our competition."

In their previous tournament, the Harper Invite, the Hawks were not very cordial hosts, taking first by a wide margin. Harper finished with 12 points, one for each win, and second place went to the College of DuPage with 7 points.

"All of our wins are total team efforts," Bell said. "It is difficult to turn losses, and individual spots, into a team sport concept. This team manages to do just that."

The top two singles players in the team currently are number two, Sen Shihara, with a 4-1 record in match play, and Beth Kelly, 4-0 in match play.

Number one singles player Tracy Osborne is suffering through a slump due to added pressure, but according to Bell, Osborne is working hard to regain her lost form.

The Number one doubles team is the combination of Beth Kelly and Denise Letzka. Together Kelly and Letzka form an unbeaten duo at 5-0. Even the Hawk's number three doubles team has made valuable contributions.

The team of power serving Cheryl Flay and Cindy Patch have won two matches, to match that of Harper's number two squad.

We're working up to the conference tournament," Bell said. "But that doesn't mean that we are looking too far ahead, we're not."

The Hawk's next match is Thursday at home versus Triton.

Fair weather fans foul

On the goal line

Tom McDowell

Are you a fair weather fan? Do you only follow a team when they are doing well? Were you one of the 18 million people that we all saw wearing Chicago Bulls championship T-shirts in mid-June that never watched a game until they made the N.B.A. Finals? If you answered yes to any of these questions, you are a fair weather fan.

OK, when is it alright to become a fan? A true Chicago fan pays their dues. A true fan watches a team build up to a contender from the cellar. The Chicago tradition is to be a losing team and work their way up to the top.

For example, the Chicago team in 1983 had a record of six wins and ten losses. One year later they played for their first Conference title and were dominated by the San Francisco 49ers. Then in 1985, they won the Super Bowl. A team must lose in order to win. When teams win, fans must also lose in order to win.

To call yourself a fan you must have knowledge of the game. Knowing the game is just as much a part of spectating as cheering. A fair weather fan will never know any stats and always look like a complete fool when he tries to start a conversation that involves stats. Do you find yourself in these predicaments? If so, you are finally realizing that you are a fair weather fan.

Think back to the 1980-1989 sports seasons for all the Chicago teams. Can you answer these questions before looking at the answers?

1. Which Chicago teams won Championships during the 80's?
2. Who was the first starting Q.B. for Mike Ditka?
3. Who preceded Mike Ditka?

Jordan's scoring title streak?

Dominique Wilkins.
4. How many wins did Rick Sutcliffe have in 1984?

He had a 16-1 record in the NL and won the Cy Young Award.

5. Who finished second to Jerome Walton in rookie of the year in 1987?

Dwight Smith.
If you answered four or more of these questions correctly without looking at the answers you are a true Chicago sports fan. If you did not answer all of these questions correctly and still believe you are a true fan I think you need to understand that just following a team does not justify calling yourself a true fan.

Chicago has always been known for having the best fans. These fans not only are loyal but also know what paying the price is all about. Remember, as sports a team must first fail in order to succeed. The fair weather fans do not pay the price of watching teams go through one losing season after another before they climb to the top. What are fair weather fans? Losers.

THE HARBINGER

October 3, 1991

Schlock Exchange

INSIDE

Arts & Entertainment

Commitments Review

page 4

Features

Butler kicks for A.H.A.

page 6

Sports

Hawk's football

page 8

Contents

News	2
Editorials	3
Commitments	4
Arts & Entertainment	5
Features	6
Craig Woods	7
Sports	8

Increased turn out in student elections

Andi Laman
A & E Editor

Even with an increase in voter turn out, the Student Senate election process is not completed. There were 167 ballots cast total. 14 votes were disqualified due to students not paying their activity fee and vote duplication. Last year there were only 78 ballots total with no disqualifications.

The vote on the senate for Life Sciences and Human Services is left unoccupied. This division represents biology, nursing, dental hygiene, criminal justice, park and ground management, and child development.

Jeanne Pankann, Director of Student activities said that any student who is interested in the position should contact her. She is available in A36 or by calling extension 2242.

"We started a little earlier this year," Pankann said of the increase in vote.

"We timed the elections to coincide with the clubs and activities days." The increased traffic by the voting box on the information desk may have inspired, or reminded, people to vote.

Building A the location of the Clubs and Activities days, received the most votes at 121, followed by building Far (9, building J at 16, and building D at 11).

Pankann was encouraged by the response though she doesn't know what more the student activities could do to boost turn out. According to Pankann, the responsibility of getting the word out about the election falls on the candidates.

There are also four student aides who are assigned one of the four buildings with voting boxes. The problem with this system, Pankann said, is that like other unpaid positions they are not required to go beyond the minimum.

This election there was an added bonus on the ballot, non-binding advisory vote. Pankann said that these may have helped the increase in voter turnout.

"Something special — something extra that brings out extra interest in the voting process," Pankann said.

There were some interesting results on the non-binding advisory vote, Pankann said. For the question of whether or not to change the school colors 70 said yes and 69 said no.

Pankann was surprised at the number of yes votes, though it was insignificant due to being almost a perfect split in half.

Another non-binding issue on the ballot was whether Mike Zuker should get the representative position to the Student Senate for the Center for Students with Disabilities.

This was not placed with the other candidates because the position holds no authority over the program finances and is only representative in duty.

"I want to improve recycling on campus and make students more aware of the effects of throwing away recycling material."

Christine Bonner, Student and Social Science Department

"I have been in physics, since 88 and have seen alot of this. I would like to change."

A. J. Collier, Physical Education, Arkansas and Football

"Talking to the dean, I have found that Harper's humanities / liberal arts department are smaller in comparison to other junior colleges."

Tommie Powers, Liberal Arts

"Harper has to know, we are here because my job is to help students from my division."

Eugene Bonner, Academic Enrichment and Language Center

Candidate's forum generates cooperation

Eric Jacob
News Editor

Time heal all wounds.

However, in the case of the Harper Board of Trustees and the Faculty Senate, more communication is necessary for better healing. Last fall's collective bargaining agreement prevented a teacher's strike but left some lingering resentment between both parties. The candidates for the upcoming trustee's election had their best to address staff concerns at the candidates forum held by the Faculty Senate last Thursday.

"It would certainly be a good idea that the board, the faculty and the administration should get together to get the best for the employees at Harper College," said candidate Barbara Hartl.

In attendance were incumbent board members Stephen McCully, Barbara Barton, Larry Moats and candidates Sarah Borri, Barbara Hartl, Elliot Mannit, and William Barnes.

The majority of the meeting dealt with the issue of shared governance, the role faculty takes in board decisions. All members of the candidate forum expressed a strong interest in communication to give faculty a stronger voice.

"When I think about faculty," Moats said, "I think about a group of professional people that should have a lot to say about how they go about implementing education," said Moats.

Faculty were told by candidates that trust and sharing of ideas is the best way to keep a strong relationship between both governing bodies. Moats and Mannit were both in favor of formal, regular meetings between the faculty and the trustees. Borri said informal meetings are the key to open and related communication. Above all, candidates did not want faculty contract negotiations in 1993 to be as stressful as last year's near teacher's strike.

The issue of part-time faculty was also addressed by the candidates. The candidates agreed that more full-time instructors strengthen the school by preventing the layoffs that can occur when you have too many part-time teachers.

Candidates were also free to express other issues brought up in questions from members of the audience, such as student and commerce concerns.

The candidates all welcomed student involvement at the forum and in trustee business. The candidates praised the student trustee position and the student body as excellent sources of information issues and concerns of Harper.

See Forum, page 2

Eric Jacob

Board of trustees candidates answer questions at faculty senate forum.

Better leadership taught at conference

Eric Jason
Harbinger News Editor

Good leadership and better creativity were the major themes of the Illinois Community College Student Activity Association (ICCSAA) conference.

Farland College in Champaign, Illinois played host to the seminars for 300 hundred student leaders from various Illinois community colleges were in attendance.

Harper representatives included members of the Student Senate, Program Board, and members of the Harbinger Editorial Board.

Keynote speaker of the conference, Professor Dennis R. Berkson, opened the conference with his unique blend of theoretical showmanship and interactive dialog.

Berkson emphasized mixing both hemispheres of the brain to attain better creativity as a leader. The right hemisphere of the brain was given special attention in his seminar, because it is often neglected by society as a source of creativity.

Berkson's methods have been used across the country by major corporations, such as Motorola, to improve the quality of their employees.

"Corporations don't want people who strictly follow orders," Berkson said.

Another important part of the conference was the round table seminar, which gave students the opportunity to exchange difficulties they have as leaders.

The round table revealed to us the common problems we all have as community college," Harbinger Sports Editor, Kurt Geseler said.

"By sharing these problems we were able to develop more realistic ways of dealing with them," he said.

Other ICCSAA seminars dealt with leadership styles, relationships between premed and success, and dilemmas in decision making.

Besides the seminar, students were treated to banquet, a video dance party, and a schlock exchange. The schlock exchange allowed students to trade school memorabilia. These activities allowed students to get together and socialize.

"It helped me meet other students with similar interests," Student Senator AJ Collier, said. "As a member of the Harpersponsored Eagle's Club, I was able to interest other students into possibly joining a junior college's club."

Critical literacy takes a new look, promotes clearer thinking

Jon Pauze
Harbinger Copy Editor

The Critical Literacy Project is giving the faculty at Harper College a fresh new look at critical thinking. "We started just last year doing this and there about were only about 15 people involved in it. But the student response has been very favorable and the faculty response has been favorable," Marie Waite, associate professor of Political Science and Telecourse Coordinator, said.

The program has enthused students to excel in the development of their own critical thinking skills. Critical thinking allows a student to break down a situation into a logical, coherent idea. The program also gives faculty a chance to develop new ideas and programs in critical thinking.

"What we are trying to eliminate in the process of people memorizing material to give back on an exam and then forgetting it," Waite said. "We're trying to get them to focus on how does one think about critically evaluating a book or author or how does one think about a political scenario as say for example you read a speech by President Reagan."

The seminars are held twice each week. The topics include how to instill critical thinking and reading and writing into the classroom.

Forum

continued from page 1

"Students nowadays are more vocal and more active politically," said Ellen Mann. "I think who ever is on the board should listen to what they have to say."

The meeting also discussed possible methods to bring more business to Harper. Moyn pointed out the difficulties Harper is having getting local businesses to recognize the advantage of working with our college. All candidates agreed more needed to be done to get business involved with Harper.

Board members all agree the only way business will come to Harper is if local businesses are contacted and a strong network of communication is established.

"The beginnings are there in foundation, in just a way of trying to expand it as more (business) becomes available," said candidate Sarah Bunn.

NEWS

ANNOUNCEMENTS / CLUB NOTES

TOGETHER EACH ACHIEVES MORE (T.E.A.M.)

Project TEAM needs you!

We at Harper College have a unique opportunity to participate in an exciting cooperative program with staff and students at Willow Bend Grade School. Willow Bend School has one of the most diverse student populations in the Harper College District. For a variety of reasons, some students may be "at-risk" children and all of their experiences in school may not be successful.

The Willow Bend staff will select approximately 25 "at-risk" students from the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades to be paired with 25 volunteer students from Harper College. The volunteers will meet every Wednesday afternoon from 3:00-4:00pm in a homework setting at Willow Bend School, 4700 Barker Avenue, Rolling Meadows, located off Algonquin Road across the street from the Atrium and Don Moy Restaurants.

To be a volunteer tutor, you must: (1) make a commitment to meet with your student at Willow Bend from 3:00-4:00pm on every Wednesday from October 2 through December 1, (2) have an interest in providing individual attention and homework assistance for an "at-risk" child, and (3) be ready to have a rewarding experience working with dedicated colleagues and wonderful children.

The Project TEAM year begins with an orientation program and light dinner on September 25 from 3:30-5:00pm. This meeting will be for the tutors only. If you are interested in making a difference in the life of an "at-risk" child, contact Susan McGinty, Student Activities, Building A, Room 336, Extension 2242 for an application.

Thank you for taking the time out to help us.

German / American Day, October 6, 1991

On October 6th German-Americans will once again celebrate their ethnic holiday, GERMAN-AMERICAN DAY.

German-American Day was first celebrated in 1987. Joint congressional resolutions created this popular day. A Presidential proclamation honored it. It is shared nationwide with government officials, legislators, state governors, mayors, and all Americans. Across the sea Germany and Germans remember their emigrants and their progeny. GERMAN-AMERICAN DAY is even more significant in this time of great historical changes in Germany and Europe, which began with the dismantling of the Iron Curtain and the unification of Germany, and is now proceeding to the formal beginning of a truly united Europe. German-Americans constitute the historically staunchest supporters of the democratic values and principles of this country. They were the first to oppose and object to slavery. German-American soldiers fought for and made American independence possible.

The German department of Harper College will show the film "Aufbruch zu neuen Ufern." Setting out toward new horizons which chronicles 300 years of German immigration to North America. Henry Meier, Chair of Department of Foreign Language, will take a group of his German students to a lecture sponsored by the Goethe Institute in Chicago, entitled, The United German: An uncertain future.

It will be given by Arnulf Baring, Free University Berlin, on October 3 at 7:00 p.m. at the Goethe Institute, Chicago.

WCHM - Palatine's Cable Music Station

WCHM is once again broadcasting for the 1991-92 school year. WCHM broadcasts 300 years of German immigration to North America. Henry Meier, Chair of Department of Foreign Language, will take a group of his German students to a lecture sponsored by the Goethe Institute in Chicago, entitled, The United German: An uncertain future. It will be given by Arnulf Baring, Free University Berlin, on October 3 at 7:00 p.m. at the Goethe Institute, Chicago.

BACCHUS

National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week October 7-11 "TALKING WALLS" share and see how alcohol abuse has effected Harper college students' lives. Building A-Student Center & Library

"REX IS COMING" 1:00 pm - Wednesday, October 9, 1991

Building A - 242B "How do I handle a drinking friend?"

"SUBSTANCE ABUSE SEMINAR" FREE 1 - 4 pm - Friday, October 11, 1991 at Harper, Building A - 241A Dana Purcell, presenter from Alexian Brothers Medical Center. To register call X2426

Sponsored by BACCHUS CLUB. Visit their exhibit all week. Get your free Mocktail Recipes, Bumper Stickers, Balloons A - Building, Student Center

Honors Society Club Meeting: Monday October 7, at 5:15 pm in room F351.

Topic: Disabilities. Guest Speaker: Shari Pergucht.

If you are interested in Harper College's Honors Program, call Dr. Elizabeth Anne Hull at (708) 397-3000 extension 2323.

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Volunteer

American Heart Association

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
Managing Editor
News Editor
Faculty Adviser
Business Manager
A & P Editor
Features Editor
Photo Editor
Sports Editor
Laptop Editor

Mario R. Galemski
Eric Jason
Susanne Harvie
Gary A. Tishie
Andy Leaman and Michelle Smith
Phil Mays
Kurt Gessler
Michael Cichy and Joseph Palmer

It shouldn't take an Army of tanks to teach geography

Editors note: Article submitted by Peace Corps Director Paul Coverdell

Does it take an army of tanks to get American students to learn geography? If even of the last three years are any indication, it appears that the answer to that question may be yes.

In June 1991, tanks rolled into Tiananmen Square. Later that summer, American school children were inundated with lessons about the People's Republic of China. In August 1990 Iraq tanks stormed into Kuwait. In September, students across the country—from New York to Los Angeles and from Miami to Seattle—were hard at work studying everything there is to know about the Middle East, particularly about Iraq, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia.

And now, in 1991, the world has gone somewhat another but summer month with more tanks. For three days, it watched an assault on the "young nation and the only people," as President Bush aptly labeled them, war tanks to suppress the aspirations of the Russian people. In September, students throughout America were given every opportunity to learn everything they ever wanted to know about the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, more accurately today described as the Slavic Union of Disfranchised Republics.

My purpose is not to criticize that "opportunistic geography." Rather, it is to praise it, and to offer teachers an additional reason to thrust the study of other lands on their students. Our "vectors" in the establishment of a relationship between the teacher's class and a Peace Corps volunteer working in one of nearly 90 countries throughout the world. This is done through a program we call World Wise Schools.

The basic components of the program are simple. Volunteers are matched to classrooms (grades 5-12) to the Peace Corps Office of World Wise Schools. The request may be general in nature for a volunteer in a particular country or region, or for one who works on a specific project, e.g. the environment, education or agriculture.

Once the match is made, the volunteer and the teacher of the matched class determine the shape and scope of the World Wise relationship. Some volunteers will write one or two letters; others will send four or five.

Some exchange blunders into a relationship that goes beyond basic correspondence. One class in Utah, for example, sent "culture boxes" to its volunteer in Thailand for distribution to her class. The mother of another volunteer in Nepal, upon returning from a visit to her daughter brought items that demonstrated the Nepal culture for the American students. They set in motion a continuing relationship with the volunteer's mother, who, on several occasions volunteered to help the teacher in his classroom.

There have been a number of similar experiences. Another group of World Wise students spent their time change and "bought" a small parcel of land in a South American rain forest preserve then being established. They learned of the effort to save the biodiversity fragile area through letters from their volunteer who was working on an environmental project in the region.

In addition to correspondence between school classes in the United States and volunteers, the Peace Corps sends to participating schools volunteers. These visits focus on countries where Peace Corps volunteers serve, providing students and teachers with an opportunity to learn about still other cultures and people.

Since its beginning in September 1989, World Wise Schools has grown dramatically. To date, more than 1,000 classrooms and 100,000 students from all 50 states and the District of Columbia have participated in the program. Its growth has coincided with the increasing national awareness that many of our rising people are woefully ignorant of geography, a fact noted by the importance given to the study of geography in the education goals set by the National Governors' Association and by President Bush's AMERICA 2000 education initiative.

Admittedly, tanks on the move have a way of stimulating people's interest in geography and international affairs. However, at Peace Corps, we believe that volunteers in the pursuit of peace are not as able to fuel that imagination about other peoples and places. Additionally, we believe that our World Wise Schools program has one big advantage: we don't have to let our tanks, ships and airplanes get our message across.

Does it take an army of tanks to teach American geography? No, the Peace Corps has found another way.

Staff

Daniel Androski, Maggie Balan, Drena Batagelj, Alan Chaudron, Jerry Dwyer, Anastasia Epstein, Jean Forrester, Christopher Gaultier, Greg Gunning, Kim Lamm, Andy Leaman, Collette Long, Tim McDonald, Jason Pick, Gina Perdue, Dave Rogers, Bruce Serrano, Michael Soria, Kad Stampler, Man Winkelman, Alexandra Tushchansk

What the Hell are we going to do with these herbs now.

Hi!

A simple case of deja vu

Well hello, grab a seat and get real comfortable. It looks like we are in store for a little deja vu to me. Yes, you are talking about your friend and mine, Uncle Saddam and good ole "peaceful" Iraq. It looks like they reached into their tired old bag of tricks.

Mr. Hussein seems to be building up his nuclear arsenal again, and defying a whole new generation of United Nations resolutions. But wait, the really amazing fact is that Hussein just got re-elected for another term as the president of Iraq. Wow, after losing the war in the Gulf to the allied coalition, he still got re-elected!

Who knows, this may mean the deserters may still have a shot for the oval office itself. Now back to the supreme leader of

MEDIA WATCHDOG BY JASON FEINSTEIN

Iraq. The last news that I heard was that the Iraq (giggles, giggles) army had surrounded the handful of United Nations delegates, trying to intimidate some sort of documentation about Iraq's nuclear armaments. It was stated that these wacky Iraqis encircled the delegates, like the Indians did to the taboos. Union Army in the Old West. Bad Digress. The point that I am trying to make is... DON'T WE KKK THIS GUY'S ASS some months ago? He is an idiot. This seems doesn't know when to give up. He is a terrorist. We shouldn't deal with his kind. I firmly believe that these terrorists should be neutralized. But that is a future column.

Anyway President Bush has sent some 1,300 troops and some scud-busting, patriot missiles over to Saudi. I had thought that after his original humiliating defeat against the "Great Satan" (that's us kiddies), he would be overthrown or killed, perhaps both. I have heard some people speculate that the CIA should assassinate him. Maybe. We have to show Hussein and Iraq that we mean business. If he doesn't mean we might have to do something mean, ugly and drastic. Let's hope that Senator Helms is free.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication of the Upper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger. All rights reserved.

Commit an evening to The Commitments

Much melodious music makes movie most magnificent (say three times fast)

The Commitments are finding that real life can get in the way of their music

Steve Austin

The Commitments lead singer Devo (left) fits the crowd with his soulful voice

Steve Austin

BENJIE ABRAMS
Harbinger Guest Writer

In making "The Commitments," Alan Parker created what may be the perfect film.

Set in Dublin's Northside, a gritty, burned out area where the sun never seems to shine, "The Commitments" is an original work of cinematic art. It is composed of intimate, tight scenes that make the theatre audience part of the event. This characteristic keeps the viewer's emotions honed sharply to the final frames.

"TC" is based on Roddy Doyle's novel. Doyle weaves the screenplay together with Dick Clement and Ian La Frenais.

This story of a Northside soul band is explosive with raucous humor, without losing sight of itself.

Parker's direction and the superb photography under Gale Tattersall complements the script, daring you to keep up with them.

After the simple and direct story is told, the viewer may find themselves cheered or saddened. As with many modern bands, life keeps getting in the way.

It follows Jimmy Rabbitte (Robert Arkins), a tough Dubliner, creator and manager of The Commitments.

The mood of Jimmy's home is set with dingy gutter snailery. On the wall, a photo of Elvis surmounts that of the Pope.

Starting with a core of musicians, Rabbitte auditions for others. His problems are only starting as the band members emerge.

As the band members develop, so do their distinctive personalities.

Defining these clearly on the screen may be Parker's greatest victory in this film. The cast is made up of overhelmingly of musicians, with only one professional actor.

Actor Johnny Murphy, whose credit's include Dublin's Abbey Theatre, plays the older trumpeter Joey "The Lips" Fagan with sass and class.

The others are no less individuals.

There's Steven Clifford (Michael Abene), the made-albums and piano player who looks like a latter-day Buddy Holly.

There are three back-up singers for the Commitments: Imelda Staunton (Angeline Ball), is hard and boisterous; Natalie Murphy (Maria Doyle) and Bronagh Gallagher as Bernice McLaughlin, also project the tough, cold know-it-all personalities.

Emerging as the most obvious characters in the movie is Devo (Andrew Strong), the lead singer. Devo has the personality of a slug but has an incredibly beautiful tenor voice. His soul style makes the band's sound work.

It is a mark of Alan Parker's talent that all of the performances are perfect.

Gerry Hambling's ability to cut, rearrange and add footage to the film is seamless.

It's not only in the wrecked slum in which these flowers bloom, but also in the optimism hidden under each seed.

All the band members become people to care about, realizing that fame and fortune aren't their sole motives and goals.

The musicians are good, and they know it. Some of the people they play are just as good.

One of the best is Jimmy, who finishes telling the movie standing in front of a mirror in a mock TV interview style.

This film's excellence is woven with a selection of musical numbers. Mustard Sally, originally performed by Wilson Pickett.

Pickett inadvertently plays a key role in the story, to his other songs. In the Midnight Hour and I Can't Stand the Rain.

The movie also includes the theme from "Fame," recalling another Parker film.

"The Commitments" adds to Alan Parker's already remarkable career including "Midnight Express," "Mississippi Burning," and "Angel Heart."

Parker's focus on independence and dedication to originality in the film medium has already established him as one of the most significant film makers of this era. "The Commitments" adds to that list.

Catch it while you can.

Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark is back . . . and better than ever

Christopher Garcia

Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark
SUGAR TAX
Virgin Records

Yes, you read it right, Orchestral Manoeuvres in the Dark has returned from a three and a half year hiatus. Their electronic sound is bigger and better than their previous material. Originally, OMD consisted primarily of Andy McCluskey and Paul Humphreys. Now, however, due to some details that I'm unaware of, Paul Humphreys has left the band. SUGAR TAX does not suffer one bit. Those who may be familiar with their hit singles Dreaming (from 1980), If You Leave (1980), Secret (1983), and Tesla Girls (1988) won't be disappointed with this new album. There are twelve songs covering fifty minutes.

Their current U.S. single, Pandemonium's Best (It's a Long Long Way) hasn't done well on the charts but is quite catchy and great to dance to.

The B-side of the single is the self-titled Sugar Tax, which doesn't appear on the album. My personal favorite songs are Speed of Light and Call My Name, which are both upbeat and perfect dancing songs.

The slow and fast songs are divided in half—six and six, although spread out. There's even one song on the disc that was written by a band that influenced basically every electronic band around Kraftwerk gets the credit there.

Nylon Lights was originally written by the German band back in 1979 when OMD were nowhere to be found. OMD managed to form a faithful version with a revised upbeat rhythm and adding female vocals.

OMD's first concert in over three years was held at the Cabaret Metro on Sunday, September 22, 1991 to a sold-out crowd. Their U.S. tour is relatively small with only sixteen dates and scheduled to end on October 8, in San Francisco. Their last Chicago appearance was at Poplar Creek back in 1988 when they opened for Depeche Mode.

McCluskey had so much energy at the Metro it was incredible. For being sick the night before, they were known how to make their audience party. OMD played both new and old material and opened with the song Apollo XI, which appears on SUGAR TAX, and closed with a song he and Humphreys wrote when they were sixteen years old, Electricity.

If this album was missing anything at all, it would surely be Paul Humphreys. Fortunately, McCluskey pulled it off himself, with the help of two keyboard players and a drummer. As the concert, McCluskey stated that he wouldn't take this long for another album to come out. We'll just have to wait and see, but SUGAR TAX should tide us over until then.

Catch all the sports on the Harbinger sports page

Subwich
invites all Harper Students to a
FREE 1-g Drink

with any Subwich or Salad Purchase.
Students must show I.D.
(offer expires 10-26-91)

Sabwich is located in the Regency Plaza at the corners of Euclid & Quentin Rds.
Hours: Daily 10 a.m. - 10 p.m., Sunday 10am - 6pm
Call ahead for fast pick up.
991-1188, FAX 991-1277

Sabwich ®	Sabwich ®
Money Saving Coupon	Money Saving Coupon
Valid 10/11	Valid 10/11
Any 6" Subwich one coupon per customer per visit	Any 6" Subwich one coupon per customer per visit offer expires 10-26-91	offer expires 10-26-91

where OUR bread really does make the difference.

Make the Switch in Sabwich.

Noise pollution solution

Max Cicry
Horbinger Special Editor

My Life With Thrill Kill Kult
SEXPLEXION
Was Trade

I bought this album because I liked My Life with the Thrill Kill Kult's last album CONFESSIONS OF A KNIFE. So don't think this review comes from someone who doesn't like TKK or industrial music in general.

TKK is a more electronic version of industrial music, kind of like a combination of house music and Free 242.

There's most notable feature, however, is their use of very intense lyrics. However, one word sums up their new release: pathetic (and even that's being very, very generous).

I was barely able to make it through an entire song, let alone the album. The only song I made it completely through was Sex on Wheels, which the only word I can think of to describe it is, well, lame. The only good thing I can say about this album is the my copy of Big Audio Dynamite's MEGACAT PHANEX is no longer the worst album I have ever bought.

RATING: NO STARS. (If a negative rating was possible, this would get it).

Carter the Unstoppable Sex Machine
30 SCMETTING
Rough Trade

Carter the Unstoppable Sex Machine (or Carter U.S.M. for those easily offended) was one of the hottest indie groups in the U.K. until their recent signing by Chrysalis. Chrysalis re-released their 101 Damnation album, which was previously released by One Little Indian.

Their next album, 30 SCMETTING, came out on Rough Trade just before their major label "debut." While this album is harder to find than 101 Damnation, it contains the groups newer, and better, material.

Carter sounds like a cross between the Pet Shop Boys and the Sex Pistols with anything from the Cure to Jesse Jones thrown in. The songs combine a Pet Shop Boysque programmed sound with a heavy guitar sound backing it up. Jim Bob vocals are delivered in a punk-like manner, complete with a more than occasional scoral comment. His East London accent is very distinct to the listener and complete the punkish feel.

The best songs on the album are My Second to Last Will and Testament, Anytime, Anyplace, Anywhere (with a sample from A Clockwork Orange in the beginning), and Rilly's Smart Cravat, which are energetic punk overtones. Other songs of note are A Prince in a Paupers Crown and Solid with a Chicago Kiss.

Unfortunately the final two songs, Falling on a Braver (which is a fairly good song, but does not fit in the context of the entire album) and The Final Comedian bring the album to a very abrupt halt. The tone and pace of the songs do not seem to fit with the rest of the album, turning an energetic album to potential elevator music.

RATING: *** 1/2 out of 5

CultureQuest

Coming soon to the Schaumburg
Plaine Center for the arts

Passport to Poland - October 9
This episode of the Travel Series will show the viewer the how the culture of Poland survived World War II

Chicago Repertory Dance Ensemble - October 12
Contemporary dance at performed by one of Chicago's finest dance companies. The show will be filled with humor, emotion and athletic power.

For ticket information call
708.804.3600

THINKING OF COMPLETING A 4-YEAR DEGREE?

Take a look at

BARAT COLLEGE

in Lake Forest, Illinois

A coeducational liberal arts private college for resident and commuter students.

- 24 majors in 13 departments including: Education/Psychology, Management/Business, Performing Arts, and Studio Arts
- Day and Evening classes
- Child care services
- Part-time or full-time status

Join Barat's many students who have completed Associate degrees at community colleges.

For more information call Admissions Office
(708) 234-3000

Free films ahead!

New Jack City—starring Mario Van Peebles, Judd Nelson, and Ice T. A trio of crime fighters given after a long drug dealer. Rated R. Appearing on November 19 at 4:30 p.m. and on November 20 and 21 at 12 p.m.

Defending Your Life—starring Meryl Streep and Albert Brooks. An offbeat tale of romance and judgment in the hereafter. Rated PG. Appearing on December 3 at 4:30 p.m. and December 4 and 5 at 12 p.m.

Silence of the Lambs—starring Jodie Foster and Anthony Hopkins. One woman's frantic search for a madman is based on a best-selling novel. Rated R. Appearing on December 10 at 4:30 p.m. and December 11 and 12 at 12 p.m.

The videos will be shown in the third floor lounge of Building A on the large screen TV.

Regency for lunch

A cappella group Regency to give free noon concert. The Baltimore-based a cappella group, Regency, will appear in a free noon concert Monday in Building A's student lounge.

This five-man group mixes contemporary sounds with traditional group vocals. The temptations, Chris Redding, The Righteous Brothers, Sam Cooke, Elvis and James Brown.

During the spring and fall

Photo: Michael Morris

Regency includes twins Dwayne and Wayne McNeil, Melvin Ames, Anthony Griffin and Duane Early.

The concert is free and open to the public. For more information call 987-3000 x2547.

The Two Bucks Stop Here

Two bucks. All night long. Every Saturday, at The Acapulco Beach Bar. Every cocktail is only $2, all night. No cover with Student I.D. • $2 cover without I.D. Collegiate football action on the screens, so you won't miss any big game.

* Positive identification required.

1000 Busse Road, Elk Grove, IL 708/956-1170

FEATURES

Versatility is part of menu for foodservice program that educates quickly

ALEXANDRA VOUGHNAER
Harbinger Staff Writer

Move over Kendall and Culinary Institute of America because Harper's foodservice program is catching up fast.

"Our goal is to further improve the education program into this exciting function which provides students with real life opportunities," said foodservice coordinator Patrick J. Beach.

This integration is what Beach refers, as speed and accuracy combined with rigorous learning. Students are now able to complete a Culinary Arts or Bread and Pastry Arts certificate in 30 hours, thus enabling them to jumpstart into the work force educated, professional and trained.

These quick and efficient programs are geared toward the individuals who want to change their skill level without taking the time to earn a degree.

The Culinary Arts Program prepares students to secure positions as cooks, specialty cooks or chef's assistants. Bread and Pastry Arts trains students to enter the baking industry enabling them to be bakers in retail and commercial bakeries. The new programs stress softness.

The Culinary Arts and the Bread and Pastry Arts certificate programs prepare the student to land a job as a cook or chef in eight months," said Beach.

Courses for both programs overlap. A student interested in the Culinary Arts certificate can also work toward a Bread and Pastry Arts certificate.

Whichever program the students choose, they are required to spend two weeks on the other department's competency learn the fundamentals and gain a better understanding of the other program.

As of this fall, Harper is offering the National Restaurant Association's Management Development Diploma Program. This program is designed to increase the level of professionalism of foodservice managers through education. The demand for educated managers has increased, and the industry needs qualified personnel.

"With the addition of the program to our current curriculum, Harper will graduate people qualified to fill these positions," Beach said.

There are even more proposed changes for the future. The program wants to utilize the current bookstore space as a conference center when the new bookstore is built. Beach says he will continue to market the program to generate even more students while developing courses that the community can utilize.

Butler kicks for the heart

Chicago Bear place kicker Kevin Butler is the main man in the EVIN KICKS FOR HEART program. The American Heart Association of Metropolitan Chicago's Heart Fund Prince Ryan French is featured here with Butler and is only one of many intentions to succeed. The program is set up to allow people to pledge any amount they can for each point Butler kicks this season. (Last season he kicked 121 points.) The money raised will benefit AHA MC education, community programs and research. Team up with Butler and help French and others fight and win the battle against the nation's number one killer. For more information call 312-346-4675.

Variety of groups offer support on campus

The following are support groups that meet weekly on the Harper College campus.

Relationships is a group for young adults which meets Thursdays at noon. This group focuses on issues such as getting along with parents, dating issues, feeling lonely, shy and/or depressed, and coping with an alcoholic parent. The topics are selected by group members.

Healthy Eating Program provides a didactic and experiential series of meetings to help participants explore and understand the psychological issues associated with compulsive overeating and other problematic eating patterns. This group meets on Thursdays at 5:45 pm.

Victims of Sexual Abuse group meets Wednesdays at 7:30 pm and is open to any woman who has been sexually abused in any manner. This group is designed to help participants understand their feelings about what happened and examine how these incidents are affecting their current lives.

Career Transitions Support Group is for individuals who are looking for a job and need support and motivation in the process. Participants will have an opportunity to share their experiences in the job market and receive feedback from career professionals and others.

Parenting Skills Group meets Saturday mornings. This group will provide intensive discussion on parenting skills and techniques. It will also provide parents the opportunity to share concerns and experiences with other parents as well as explore the personal difficulties that interfere with good parenting.

Women's Support Group meets on Saturday mornings. This group is geared toward women who want to increase their self-awareness and make changes in their lives. Issues that are typically addressed include self-esteem, single parenthood, identity issues, stress, depression and relationship problems.

Heart Talk is a group that meets on the first Monday of each month at 7:15 pm in Building M room 232. The group is sponsored by the American Heart Association for those concerned with heart disease.

For more information, including location on any of the programs, people should call 367-3000 extension 2207.

Heart Talk is a group that meets on the first Monday of each month at 7:15 pm in Building M room 232. The group is sponsored by the American Heart Association for those concerned with heart disease.

Women's program expands

ALEXANDRA VOUGNAER
Harbinger Staff Writer

Bonding, support and development. This is what Harper College's Women's Program has focused on for nearly 21 years. The program is currently expanding its base in terms of offering new courses and seminars, due to the changing family and demographic structure. The program was initiated to serve the college and community.

The Women's Program has worked to address the changing concerns of more than 40,000 women within the northwest suburban communities. To those who are eligible, state-funded programs aid in job placement, referral and career counseling.

Project Turning Point is a state-funded program comprised of two sub-programs: the displaced homemaker and the single parent.

The displaced homemaker program is for any woman who is forced to become the sole provider for the family as a result of death, divorce, or illness of her spouse. "New program coordinator Darlene Reed said, "Our single parent program, funded by the board of education, provides qualifying women with child-care, books, tools and tuition," Reed said.

Harper's Women's Program offers a variety of courses such as "Women & Self Esteem" and "Introduction to Modern Office." These courses give women career-related skills while enhancing their self-worth.

Assisted by the faculty and an advisory committee, the Women's Program is responsible for "Women's History Week," which takes place in the spring. It is a week that shows women's contributions to history. "History Week," Reed said, "is a celebration of women's accomplishments."

THE RUSTY PELICAN

DON'T MISS

POP / CONTEMPORARY SINGER "TOM CAREY" APPEARING OCTOBER 11, 12, 18 AND 19TH AT ARLINGTON HEIGHTS RUSTY PELICAN, 8PM TILL CLOSE. NO COVER. FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL (708) 228-0040.

10 East Algonquin Road Arlington Heights, Illinois 60005

Z'S MARTIAL ARTS CLUB

Please call for further information or bring this ad in for ONE FREE lesson.

Rob Zhukis - Instructor
Jim Zhukis - Instructor

1776 Hintz Road, Wheeling, IL 60090
(708) 577-8333

General Office

HELP WANTED

College Students Welcome!
*WORD PROCESSORS*
Word Perfect
Macintosh
ALL SYSTEMS
(We cross train for all qualified applicants)
ALSO NEED:
*DATA ENTRY*
*TYPIST*
*SECRETARIES*
*FILE CLERK* *MULTIMEDIA OPERATORS*
*LIGHT INDUSTRIAL*
All skills for up rate close to home, the days or weeks you want.

Call 708-598-3655

RIGHT

TEMPORARIES

Over 26 years of service

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, October 3, 1991 7

Help Wanted

Heal The Earth | Teach Ours
Eave $100-2000 per month. For interview appointment call Jo at 958-0548

FREE TRAVEL, CASH, AND EXCELLENT BUSINESS EXPERIENCE!
Openings available for individuals or student organizations to promote the country's most successful SPRING BREAK tours. Call Int'l Campus Programs 1-800-327-8013

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS
to students or student organizations promoting our Spring Break Packages. Good Pay & Fun. Call CMI 1-800-423-5294

ADDRESSERS WANTED IMMEDIATELY!
No experience necessary. Process FHA mortgage refunds. Work at home. Call 1-405-321-3064

Help Wanted

Cruise Ship Jobs HIRING
Men Woman Sum mer/Year Round
PHOTOGRAPHERS, TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL
Excellent pay plus FREE travel Caribbean, Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico
CALL NOW!
Call/toll-free 1-206-736-7000 Ext. 325

Advertising Sales
Aggressive self starter for F.T.P.T. temporary employment. Must have own transportation. Unlimited earning potential. Commission only Sales. For appl. call Mike at 372-6862

ASSEMBLERS
Excellent income to assemble products from your home
Info: 504-646-1700
Digi P-976

Eric Jason gets all the NEWS

Services

Typing WP Service
Resumes, Term Papers
Laser Print Quality
Time (708) 991-3198

TUTOR
All Math/Science/CIS
C Pascal FTRN
DOS 123
DB3 Acad PgMk
Bart 632-1244

TUTOR
All Math/Science/CIS
Big Trig Calc 181 Acc
Phys Chem
Bart 632-1244

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services. Term papers, resumes, cover letters, etc. Low Rates! Laser Print. Call Lori @ 728-765-1673

For Sale

1992 NUDE COED CALENDAR
featuring nude Illinois college women. Mail $9.99 to COED CALEN, DAR, P.O. BOX 6164, DEKALB IL 60115

Wanted

Wanted: Students Who Care About Their Grades

Tired of having your grades lowered due to poor typing and spelling? I can help. I can also incorporate charts or graphs if needed. Only $2.00 per page for plain text. Additional charges for charts and graphs. CALL TODAY
Call Randy at 708-595-4883

Roommates

Maui Prasad
Female Christian and cat to share 2 bed/2-bath apartment with female $330 plus 1/2 utilities
708-639-7017
312-539-4900

For Rent

Room in Home
Full House Privileges
Female/Non-smoker
Elm Grove Village
Call 808-0292

STANDARD CLASSIFIED RATES & INFORMATION

Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check.

The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted.

For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call: (708) 397-3000, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210.

Ready for a puzzle?

CROSSWORD

SEE THIS WEEK'S...

The Harbinger

Your source to college news!

Is Your Accent "Holding You Back"?

Learn To Speak English Clearly

A Comprehensive Accent Reduction Program Providing:

- Individual Speech Analysis
- Detailed Exercises For Home Practice
- Individual and Small Group Instruction
- Day, Evening and Saturday Classes

FREE Informational Seminar
Wednesday, October 2nd, 7:30pm
Elk Grove Municipal Building

For Reservations Contact:

Susan Calderone, M.A., CCC
Certified Speech-Language Pathologist
(708) 228-9813

Have a problem...

GIVE US A RING

at the Harbinger!

Free Pregnancy Testing
Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris Pregnancy Center
708-805-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

THE Daily Crossword by Doreen E. Ship

- ACROSS
1. Seed, sometimes
  2. ... ..
  3. ... ..
  4. ... ..
  5. ... ..
  6. ... ..
  7. ... ..
  8. ... ..
  9. ... ..
  10. ... ..
  11. ... ..
  12. ... ..
  13. ... ..
  14. ... ..
  15. ... ..
  16. ... ..
  17. ... ..
  18. ... ..
  19. ... ..
  20. ... ..
  21. ... ..
  22. ... ..
  23. ... ..
  24. ... ..
  25. ... ..
  26. ... ..
  27. ... ..
  28. ... ..
  29. ... ..
  30. ... ..
  31. ... ..
  32. ... ..
  33. ... ..
  34. ... ..
  35. ... ..
  36. ... ..
  37. ... ..
  38. ... ..
  39. ... ..
  40. ... ..
  41. ... ..
  42. ... ..
  43. ... ..
  44. ... ..
  45. ... ..
  46. ... ..
  47. ... ..
  48. ... ..
  49. ... ..
  50. ... ..
  51. ... ..
  52. ... ..
  53. ... ..
  54. ... ..
  55. ... ..
  56. ... ..
  57. ... ..
  58. ... ..
  59. ... ..
  60. ... ..
  61. ... ..
  62. ... ..
  63. ... ..
  64. ... ..
  65. ... ..
  66. ... ..
  67. ... ..
  68. ... ..
  69. ... ..
  70. ... ..
  71. ... ..
  72. ... ..
  73. ... ..
  74. ... ..
  75. ... ..
  76. ... ..
  77. ... ..
  78. ... ..
  79. ... ..
  80. ... ..
  81. ... ..
  82. ... ..
  83. ... ..
  84. ... ..
  85. ... ..
  86. ... ..
  87. ... ..
  88. ... ..
  89. ... ..
  90. ... ..
  91. ... ..
  92. ... ..
  93. ... ..
  94. ... ..
  95. ... ..
  96. ... ..
  97. ... ..
  98. ... ..
  99. ... ..
  100. ... ..

- DOWN
1. ... ..
  2. ... ..
  3. ... ..
  4. ... ..
  5. ... ..
  6. ... ..
  7. ... ..
  8. ... ..
  9. ... ..
  10. ... ..
  11. ... ..
  12. ... ..
  13. ... ..
  14. ... ..
  15. ... ..
  16. ... ..
  17. ... ..
  18. ... ..
  19. ... ..
  20. ... ..
  21. ... ..
  22. ... ..
  23. ... ..
  24. ... ..
  25. ... ..
  26. ... ..
  27. ... ..
  28. ... ..
  29. ... ..
  30. ... ..
  31. ... ..
  32. ... ..
  33. ... ..
  34. ... ..
  35. ... ..
  36. ... ..
  37. ... ..
  38. ... ..
  39. ... ..
  40. ... ..
  41. ... ..
  42. ... ..
  43. ... ..
  44. ... ..
  45. ... ..
  46. ... ..
  47. ... ..
  48. ... ..
  49. ... ..
  50. ... ..
  51. ... ..
  52. ... ..
  53. ... ..
  54. ... ..
  55. ... ..
  56. ... ..
  57. ... ..
  58. ... ..
  59. ... ..
  60. ... ..
  61. ... ..
  62. ... ..
  63. ... ..
  64. ... ..
  65. ... ..
  66. ... ..
  67. ... ..
  68. ... ..
  69. ... ..
  70. ... ..
  71. ... ..
  72. ... ..
  73. ... ..
  74. ... ..
  75. ... ..
  76. ... ..
  77. ... ..
  78. ... ..
  79. ... ..
  80. ... ..
  81. ... ..
  82. ... ..
  83. ... ..
  84. ... ..
  85. ... ..
  86. ... ..
  87. ... ..
  88. ... ..
  89. ... ..
  90. ... ..
  91. ... ..
  92. ... ..
  93. ... ..
  94. ... ..
  95. ... ..
  96. ... ..
  97. ... ..
  98. ... ..
  99. ... ..
  100. ... ..

- ANSWERS
1. ... ..
  2. ... ..
  3. ... ..
  4. ... ..
  5. ... ..
  6. ... ..
  7. ... ..
  8. ... ..
  9. ... ..
  10. ... ..
  11. ... ..
  12. ... ..
  13. ... ..
  14. ... ..
  15. ... ..
  16. ... ..
  17. ... ..
  18. ... ..
  19. ... ..
  20. ... ..
  21. ... ..
  22. ... ..
  23. ... ..
  24. ... ..
  25. ... ..
  26. ... ..
  27. ... ..
  28. ... ..
  29. ... ..
  30. ... ..
  31. ... ..
  32. ... ..
  33. ... ..
  34. ... ..
  35. ... ..
  36. ... ..
  37. ... ..
  38. ... ..
  39. ... ..
  40. ... ..
  41. ... ..
  42. ... ..
  43. ... ..
  44. ... ..
  45. ... ..
  46. ... ..
  47. ... ..
  48. ... ..
  49. ... ..
  50. ... ..
  51. ... ..
  52. ... ..
  53. ... ..
  54. ... ..
  55. ... ..
  56. ... ..
  57. ... ..
  58. ... ..
  59. ... ..
  60. ... ..
  61. ... ..
  62. ... ..
  63. ... ..
  64. ... ..
  65. ... ..
  66. ... ..
  67. ... ..
  68. ... ..
  69. ... ..
  70. ... ..
  71. ... ..
  72. ... ..
  73. ... ..
  74. ... ..
  75. ... ..
  76. ... ..
  77. ... ..
  78. ... ..
  79. ... ..
  80. ... ..
  81. ... ..
  82. ... ..
  83. ... ..
  84. ... ..
  85. ... ..
  86. ... ..
  87. ... ..
  88. ... ..
  89. ... ..
  90. ... ..
  91. ... ..
  92. ... ..
  93. ... ..
  94. ... ..
  95. ... ..
  96. ... ..
  97. ... ..
  98. ... ..
  99. ... ..
  100. ... ..

SCHOLARSHIPS, GRANTS...

No matter what your grades are...
No matter what your family income is...
You may qualify for thousands of dollars in financial aid and it won't cost you one cent. We know the ways where - how - you qualify for this money!!
Do you? Complete details $5.00

SCHOLARSHIP LIAISON SERVICES
OF AMERICA, 810 W. Army Trail Road, Suite 122
Carol Stream, IL 60188

HAWKS SPORTS

Hawks pound Moraine Valley 21-0

Win keeps Hawks perfect at 4-0 in the N4C

Karl Greiner
Hortington Sports Editor

The Harper football team took their show on the road. Unfortunately for the Moraine Valley Marauders, the only show playing was a tragedy in which they played the leading role.

After the final act, the Hawks had mutilated the Marauders 21-0 to keep their N4C record perfect at 4-0, 4-1 overall.

Even though the Hawks walked off the field victorious, the game was marred by penalties that cost Harper 60 yards. This sporadic offensive play kept the game closer than it should have been.

"Our team was flat, especially on offense," said Head Coach John Blawie. "Every time we dig inside their 30-yard line, there would be a penalty that stopped the drive."

One positive that Hawks did have was the reemergence of running back Derrick Harris.

Harris, who was held to 23 yards against College of Dupage, rushed for 112 yards on 16 carries. Conrad Holmes also turned in a workman-like day, netting 31 yards on 8 carries.

But the real story of the game was the defense. The Hawk's pass rush had been at best ineffective in their previous contests. Yet, the Marauders, this would change when Harper recorded 12 sacks by 10 different players. Tony Seta (7 sacks) and Tom Jackson (1 and 1/2) may have led the Hawks in sacks, but almost every starting defensive player managed to drop the Marauder's quarterback at least once.

"There are a lot of variables to limit offense," Blawie said. "But our defense has played well all year."

Another concern the coach Blawie had was the Hawk's run defense, which was uncharacteristically yielding rushing yards. On Saturday, Harper went from yield to stop, held Moraine Valley to just 77 yards on the ground.

Luckily for Harper, the Marauders were not quite as skilled in their run-prevent defense. But about the only thing that Moraine Valley's defense did prevent was Harper's defense from leaving the bench.

On the Hawk's opening drive, Harris ran for 83 of his 112 yards, including a 2-yard touchdown run set up by a 17-yard option by Steve Matthews. Coming off his best day as a Hawk, Matthews was modestly complete 7 of 21 passes for 112 yards. The Hawk's offense put the Hawks up 7-0, but he would have far from his best day as a Hawk. Newman, who has been consistent in the Hawk's prior games, would miss all four of his field goal attempts, though he was successful on all three PATs.

The score would remain unchanged until Jerry Bailey took the second-half kick of 83 yards for a touchdown. The Hawk's special teams, voting instead of being scored on was a major factor in the outcome of Saturday's game.

Harper's final points came in the fourth quarter, when, with 11:03 left to play, Shavez Hawkins intercepted Moraine Valley quarterback Maurice Johnson run unaccounted for a touchdown to put the Hawks up 21-0. Other Hawks with interceptions were Mike Manner and Larry Dennis. In other related games, Rock Valley crushed Triton 48-29 and College of Dupage rebounded after losing to the Hawks by annihilating University of Wisconsin at Oshkosh's junior varsity squad 55-8.

Harper's next game is October 5, on the road against Rock Valley.

Shavez Hawkins picks off an error pass and runs 83 yards for a TD.

5 Weeks in...

Team	Conference		Overall
	W	L	W	L
Harper	4	0	4	1
DuPage	3	1	3	1
Illinois Valley	2	1	3	1
Rock Valley	2	1	4	1
Triton	1	3	0	3
Joliet	0	2	0	3
Moraine Valley	0	4	1	4

*Through September 28

This Tyson's not chicken

Ringside

With Mike Tyson being in the news lately due to his alleged rape of the Miss Black America, many people have forgotten that his fight with the Heavyweight Champion Evander Holyfield is only one month away.

It was two February's ago when Mike Tyson lost his title to James "Buster" Douglas in one of the most controversial bouts in the history of professional boxing. On November 11th he will get his first chance to regain his title. Yes, his title.

Tyson has brought his way back into the spotlight and has proven that since his loss to Douglas, he deserves a shot at the title.

Evander Holyfield is the perfect champion. Nobody hears anything negative about him. He trains better, works harder and talks better. Mike Tyson came from poverty. He struggled to get where he was and looks to be anxiously awaiting his fight with Holyfield.

Holyfield doesn't seem mentally prepared for Tyson. He wasn't against George Foreman. Holyfield may have thought Foreman was going to be a cakewalk. It wasn't Foreman came to fight and Holyfield walked away wiping his brow.

Over the past few months, word has been out that boxing may be rigged. I do not believe that is. Fighters put in too much time and energy to throw a fight. Now a days, it really does not matter if a fighter wins or loses, because he will automatically take home a lot of money a lot meaning millions.

Thinking this way makes me feel stronger that Tyson did not throw the fight against Douglas. He simply lost. I could not believe it myself that Tyson lost to Douglas, a relative no-name to that point. But look where Tyson and Douglas are now.

On November 11th, Mike Tyson is going to do nothing less than humiliate Evander. Tyson has been waiting for this moment for a while and he's not going to let it slip away.

I believe that there are not many Tyson fans around because of things he has done out of the ring, but it's not my place to judge him outside of the ring. And in the ring he fights like an animal because he is an animal. To do the things he has done to people, there isn't a way that he can possibly be hurt. This time there is. It's any reason why Tyson should lose, and he will.

Gym Shorts

Taekwondo contest

The 16th National Collegiate Taekwondo Championship will take place on Saturday, October 1, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in Building M at Harper College.

This is the first year that the event is open to all color belt students in addition to black belt participants. Both male and female competitors will compete in eight weight categories for the black belt competition and four weight divisions for the color belt classes.

Medals will be awarded to the first, second and third place winners in each division. Tournament Director Master Duk Gun Kwon, President of the Illinois State Taekwondo Association, will preside over the event.

Admission is $10 for adults, $5 for students with ID's and $5 for children under 10 years old. For entry information, call Master Kwon at 451-1301.

GCSSAA golf tourney

Record-breaking attendance expected at the 43rd International Golf Course Conference and Trade Show, scheduled February 10-17, 1992, in New Orleans, La.

The conference and show, considered to be the main event in golf course industry, is hosted by the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCCSA) and will include more than 60 educational sessions and seminars, a three-day trade show, a banquet featuring Kenny Rogers and 1992 GCCSA Golf Championship. The event opens with the annual GCCSA Golf Championship, scheduled February 10-11 at several courses in Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla. A field of about 350 will compete for individual and chapter team honors in the national tournament.

The GCCSA conference will also present Terry Bradshaw, Hall of Fame Pittsburgh Pirate quarterback. Bradshaw will be the keynote speaker for the Opening session on Thursday, February 13 at the New Orleans Convention Center.

Country music legend Kenny Rogers will provide the entertainment at the formal closing banquet Monday, February 17.

The highlight of the gala evening will be the presentation of the Old Tom Macdonald Award, GCCSA's highest honor. The award is given to the individual who, through a continuing selfless commitment to golf, has helped further the game as did Old Tom Macdonald.

Last year's conference and show, held in Las Vegas, Nevada, drew more than 16,000 people, including 1,400 international visitors and golfers.

For information contact the GCCSA at (913) 841-2240.

THE HARBINGER

William & Mary Harpers College

October 10, 1991

Volume 10 Number 1

INTERCULTURAL WEEK

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Cirque du Soleil
Page 5
PULL OUT

Inter cultural Week

SPORTS

Harper beats Rock Valley 24-6
Page 8

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Letters to the Editor	2
Matt Winkelmanns	3
Arts & Entertainment	485
Music Reviews	5
Comics	6
Baseballs	7
Books	8

Harper ready to achieve world view

ERIC JASON
Harpers News Service

Following more than 18 months of preparation, Harper's Preferred Future is closely approaching active installation.

The Preferred Future is a 12-year renovation project which encompasses various areas for improvement by the turn of the century.

Last spring, President Paul Thompson unveiled the plan to improve Harper's education, job programs, community relations, and technological advancement.

The plan was conceived on by the administration, the board of trustees, faculty, members of the surrounding community and students all of whom worked on a volunteer basis.

These groups interpreted general data to improve the college and put them into 12 goal statements. These goal statements provided directions the college should take by the year 2000.

According to Special Team Chair for the Preferred Future Committee Russ Mills, the program is broken down into three four year parts.

The team will deal with four goals each year.

The first portion of the Preferred

Future is currently underway, with emphasis placed on the internal multicultural goals.

The general goal is to create a more educated view of growing global interaction and respect for individual rights.

The internal multicultural goal has four areas to implement as part of the Preferred Future.

The first is the implementation of the Comprehensive International Education plan, which would include ways to increase participation in exchange programs such as Study Abroad.

The other three deal directly with issues of the Harper staff minority population, promoting cultural diversity and establishing a strong network of communication with minority organizations.

At present, the program is at the affirmative action stage.

With a committee already formed, they are currently working toward their goals.

"I would say that there are some activities that the groups could come up with that could possibly start a year from now," said Jean Chapman, Coordinator of International/Multicultural Preferred Future.

"I definitely do not think this is over," Mills said. "We've started a process and I think it will be ongoing for a long time."

Harper, ECC to share programs

ERIC JASON
Harpers News Service

Harper College and Elgin Community College announced last week the installation of a joint cooperative education plan.

"The whole object of the joint agreement is to share programs of study where ever possible so we are not duplicating areas of study," said Steve Catlin, Dean of Enrollment Services.

Elgin College students will be able to use the facilities of the Harper journalism department and have access to campus, career technology.

In return, Harper students will have the opportunity to enroll in pilot training courses and a truck driving program.

The pilot training course is run in conjunction with the DuPage County Airport.

The truck driving program will allow students to work toward a certificate.

So students involved with the plan will pay regular tuition fees while attending classes out of district.

Harper has been part of the cooperative planning since 1982, and has similar agreements with College of DuPage, Oakton College, College of Lake County and Elgin Community College.

"Right now, we are planning a joint agreement with the City College of Chicago (Richard J. Daley College) for aviation planning," Catlin said.

If approved by the board of trustees, the proposed program with the City College of Chicago will allow Harper students to attend either Rock Valley College or Richard J. Daley College.

ECC Students will use Harper Journalism lab as part of the co-op education plan.

Students interested in the cooperative education plan with Elgin can fill out an application in the Registrar's Office, Building A room 213.

Referee taken down for the count

ERIC JASON
Harpers News Service

The National Collegiate Tae Kwon Do Championship was disrupted last Saturday when a referee was allegedly badly beaten by a coach.

The incident occurred in front of 500 spectators in Building M at 5 p.m., while one of the matches was in progress.

The coach, whose name was not released, allegedly struck referee Martin Karas in the head after objecting to his call.

Public Safety was called to the scene. No charges were filed against the alleged assailant. Police were called in as backup.

"The tournament of officials made a decision that they wanted to sign a complaint against the alleged offender in the case," Kevin King, public safety supervisor, said.

The offender left the scene voluntarily.

Karas was taken to the hospital by a witness.

The extent of Karas's injuries was not disclosed.

On the advice of their attorneys, Tournament Director Master Duk Gun Kwon and Karas were unable to comment.

Bacchus and National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week

As part of the National Collegiate Alcohol awareness week, the BACCHUS club has set up an exhibit in A building to promote responsible drinking.

The exhibit includes information tables designed to educate people about the dangers of alcohol abuse.

A bulletin board called the "talking wall" allows individuals to express their views on how alcohol has affected their lives.

The week of events also includes seminars on how to handle a drinking friend and substance abuse.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Maro R. Galemla
Managing Editor	Eric Jason
Faculty Advisor	Susanne Harvie
Business Manager	Cary A. Tickle
A & E Editor	Andy Leaman
Features Editor	Phil Mapes
Photo Editor	Kurt Gesler
Sports Editor	Michael Cichy and Joseph Palmer
Layout Editors

EDITORIAL

Teacher review a necessity for a 'preferred future'

On paper, Harper College's vision of a "preferred future" shines brightly. But in reality, it may be a lot harder to reach than first thought.

The cost of a good education has soared, but Harper provides one to the community at a very reasonable price. But one must remember the phrase, "You get what you pay for."

Well, if that's the case, should the community expect that much from our learning institution? The one long-range goal we'll look at is the one that reads as follows: INSIST THAT QUALITY TEACHING AND ACTIVE LEARNING BE A HALLMARK OF HARPER COLLEGE.

Teaching and learning doesn't end in the classroom; there is a lot more to accomplish outside the classroom. The students need to study and so do the teachers. When the students run into problems, they need to speak to the instructor. Sometimes the instructors are not in their office because they don't keep regular office hours or many times are unavailable during their posted or scheduled office hours. This inhibits learning and causes the student unnecessary stress.

It seems many teachers just waltz their way through class-time, then pack up and leave. Office hours are a necessity for the college student. If the instructor has other duties a phone number should be made available to the student. An instructor who's unwilling to comply should be dismissed, no questions asked.

Teacher evaluation forms don't seem to be working either because people don't necessarily tell the truth. And if an instructor knows someone is watching them, measures may be taken during that day or week of class to give the impression of actually being competent. As usual it only takes a bad apple to give the whole bunch a bad name.

Some instructors are good lecturers, some are good people and some are good teachers. What Harper needs to do is find a process which will enable them to keep the ones that are all of the above and weed out the rest.

A successful teacher has successful students and vice versa. It's hard to please all of the people all of the time, but the consumer (student) might think they're getting one hell of a bargain if they actually learn something.

Staff

Daniel Anselino, Maggie Balan, Elyssa Rainright, Alisa Chinkund, Jerry Sherie, Anastasia Epstein, James Fournier, Christopher Galtrey, Greg Glasing, Kim Harvie, Candice Lovell, The McDonald, Joan Peck, Cara Florida, Dave Rogers, Ronan Sertan, Michael Sikora, Karl Stauffer, Matt Winkelman, Alexandra Youskman

COMMENTARY

Letters to the Editor

Cartoon found offensive, tasteless

Dear Editor,

The editorial page cartoon in the October 3 issue of The Harbinger goes beyond offensiveness and bad taste. The cartoon depicts an American official contemplating what to do with nuclear weapons now that the Cold War has ended. The implication is that if we have no communist enemy, we will have to invent a new enemy to destroy. The U.S.'s new demon is, of course, none other than everybody's favorite Bad Guy, Saddam Hussein. The next panel shows no Saddam being incarcerated by our bomb but his country, Iraq.

Whether one wishes nuclear destruction on anyone, including Saddam Hussein, is a question the cartoonist seems not to have considered. Perhaps he has never seen films of the suffering caused at Hiroshima by this country's last use of nuclear weapons.

Perhaps it has not occurred to this cartoonist that exploding a nuclear bomb on a country is not the same as killing that country's leader. The Iraqis are human beings, too; their civilization is a very ancient one. The Iraqi people live under tyranny, they are not universally admirers of their leader (witness the willingness of the military draftees to surrender to allied troops). The Iraqis are not people—any more than ourselves—who deserve to be dehumanized and victimized by the horrors of nuclear war.

An editorial cartoon surely has the right to express an opinion. But one hopes the opinion is somewhat more thoughtful and compassionate next time it appears in print.

Martha Simonson

English and Humanities

Columnist too ignorant to understand?

Dear Editor,

I read with interest the recent column by Matt Winkelman regarding the newly implemented non-smoking policy and felt the need to respond to you.

Within your second paragraph you seem to imply, and rather colloquially I might add, that those of us who do not agree with your opinions are virtually incapable of understanding the "views and feelings of other human beings." Before I comment on the topic of your article, I would like to thank you for displaying your extreme sensitivity to those of us who are too ignorant to comprehend the meaning of the word vice.

Believe it or not, Mr. Winkelman, I agree with you that the smoking population at Harper deserves better than to have to smoke in the cold and sometimes rainy outside. And, since you so openly and vehemently oppose the no smoking policy, one can only conclude that you already have a viable compromise to settle this intractable situation for smokers.

Therefore, I am suggesting that you approach administration with intellect, maturity, and decorum, rather than with useless complaints, name calling, and sarcasm, in order to effect your goal. Think of it, someone then just might take you seriously!

Oh yes, one more thing. Please expand upon what you mean by the following, when someone is trying to break any habit, the last thing this person needs is stress because "the substance is usually viewed as a stress reliever by the person. This and many other factors make it, at least in my eyes, morally wrong to segregate and chastise another human being due to the nature of their habit." Do you mean that we, as a society, are to tolerate all addictions? Urges to satisfy their addiction until they are ready to overcome their problem? (By the way, the best of my knowledge gum chewing does not rank among the top 10 addictions that affect people in this country.)

Finally, you openly criticize what you see as Harper's inability to be rated as an "institution of higher learning." With all due respect Mr. Winkelman, reflecting upon the thoughtlessness of your writing style that is saturated with sophomoric wit, it is my belief that you have not risen above what Harper has to offer and most certainly could benefit from the teaching here.

Dorothy Kuehl

Another hit-and-run empties pocketbook

Dear Editor,

In reference to your September 26, 1991 article on campus car accidents, let me correct your count to seven hit-and-run accidents with no noses left on the car. Unfortunately, both accidents happened within a two week period and happened in the same lot. That is lot number seven off the Euclid entrance.

Unfortunately, the damage done the first time was not noticed until we were home from school. We would have called the school to report it, but we weren't sure if it was too late and didn't want it to appear like the accident happened outside of school property and report that it happened on school grounds. I wish we would have called regardless. We didn't notice the damage at school because we entered from the back of the car, the damage was in the front of the car. I would personally like to thank the idiot who is driving a white car that left their paint all over my girlfriend's bumper, including knocking the fender off line, tore the bumper guard off the bumper, and shattered the turn signal light. The cost, $101.80 that came out of my girlfriend's pocket. Why not call the insurance company? She did and they said if the damage was more than the deductible report it. Otherwise the claim would have looked like insurance regardless it wasn't her fault.

So to the idiot who didn't leave a note on Wednesday, September 18 in lot seven, between noon and 2 p.m., thanks for being so polite. Yes, $101 may not seem much to some, but it's not just $101. It's the aggravation of having this happen and the person not leaving a note. You feel you have to do a checklist on the whole car before pulling out.

The car is fixed now, and she is out $100. Then to have somebody ding the door two weeks later in the same lot is ridiculous. The damage isn't terrible, but did do body damage. That person also didn't leave a note. So public safety officers, keep your eyes on lot seven. To the others who have shared this, hopefully the one who hit your car and my girlfriend's car will experience the same thing on their car. And you can bet they will be the first in line to catch an officer and report it.

Aggravated in Lot 7

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Response to a responder

I would like to begin my column this week by clarifying a few things that seem to be causing some confusion and unnecessary relief by various readers of my column. First of all, my column is an opinion column. That means it is merely my opinion and is not, necessarily, based on factual information. If people want factual information, read the news section or watch the news on T.V. Part of my responsibility as an opinion columnist is to comment with a creative style that will keep the interest of my readers.

When Mike Kiyko wrote his article about how the Chicago Hot Dog should be prepared, nobody responded to correct him, by stating that hot dogs don't belong on a hot dog, because there was already the assumption that it was his opinion. Please regard my column in the same manner. I do welcome responses to the topics I choose to discuss, but please do not attempt to correct me. If you feel strongly enough about your opinion, write a column. Now, in response to the equally sarcastic letter I received from Dorothy Kuehl, I would like to commend you on your bravery in responding to me. I'm sure you are not alone in your opinions and it does take courage to put them on up for public scrutiny. However, Ms. Kuehl, if you agree with the main points of my opinion, why then, did you feel it necessary to go to great lengths to attack the "Thoughtlessness of my writing style. To me that is the act of any immature individual.

Matt Winkelmann

Mensana en
Corpie Sono

Also, you suggest that I present a "Viable compromise to settle this incoagulable situation for smokers." Ms. Kuehl, had you taken the time to research the history of the non-smoking policy, rather than concerning on my "sophomoric" wit, you would have known that in my first year here I was a member of a committee formed to fight the policy. The result of which was their communicating that the decision would be strictly up to the board.

Regardless of a random survey of various students and faculty, the results of which showed that approximately 65 percent of all those surveyed, smokers and non-smokers alike, felt that the smokers had a right to some designated area on campus to smoke. So this is why I am hence toward the board and their immaturity to act. Again, Ms. Kuehl, I thank you for your response due to the fact I believe action is better than complacency. However, I feel your efforts were somewhat redundant.

Well, enough of that. I'm sorry folks, I had some other ideas, but I'm out of space for this week. I'll be coming to a Harbinger near you!

EXERCISE

Does Your Heart Good.

American Heart Association

THINKING OF COMPLETING A 4-YEAR DEGREE?

Take a look at

BARAT COLLEGE

in Lake Forest, Illinois

A coeducational liberal arts private college for resident and commuter students.

- 24 majors in 13 departments including: Education/Psychology, Management/Business, Performing Arts, and Studio Arts
- Day and Evening classes
- Child care services
- Part-time or full-time status

Join Barat's many students who have completed Associate degrees at community colleges.

For more information call Admissions Office
(708) 234-3000.

Student/Teacher Amiga Spectacular

Commodore®
AMIGA
500DS

The Amiga 500DS package includes:

- The Amiga 500DS computer
- KindWords 2.0 - wordprocessor
- Fusion Paint - 4096 color paint program
- F/A-18 Interceptor - flight simulator
- F40 Pursuit - driving simulator
- Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade - game
- Joystick

Graduate to the premier
Video/Graphics computer.

Educational
Price: $399.00

Software Plus

731 W. Dundee, Wheeling IL 60090
(708) 520-4717

Cirque du Soleil, a nouvelle experience

Alex Cusano
Harbinger Staff Writer

Picture a circus without animals where performers combine the elements of dance, theater, mime and circus. The image is Cirque du Soleil.

Cirque du Soleil, circus of the sun, was founded by Guy Laliberte in 1984 to celebrate Quebec's 45th birthday.

Its 30-member troupe of tumblers, contortionists, clowns, acrobats, balancers, aerialists, tightrope walkers and musicians are players in "Nouvelle Experience," a fantasy journey shared by a traveller (Britten Geoff Hoyle) and the audience.

Hoyle, clad in an oversized suit and carrying a suitcase, wanders into a strange, magical world.

The smoke-filled environment resembles a dream, free of the troubles of the outside world. Its inhabitants — childlike clowns (flowers), fallen angels and devils — are bewilder by the stranger.

As Hoyle explores his surroundings, he is transformed by the magical sights he encounters. Through the experience, he becomes a child again.

The audience is also transformed by the images of Cirque. The magic of the performers in this strange, new world is so overpowering, Hoyle encounters four young Canadian women, dressed in pink bodysuits — bending, twisting and folding their bodies into unnatural poses. These performers execute their movements with the grace and elegance of gazelles. This opening act, called Contorsion, features Nadine Bironne, Isabelle Chase, Laurence Racine and Jenny Jacome. These limber-bodied ladies are spectacular and make contortion look easy.

Soviet balance artist Vasily Demchenko provides excitement as he ascends a tower of chairs while balancing a cake with burning candles. The tower leans but the candles keep burning.

Comic relief is delivered brilliantly by Canadian David Lebel as he portrays a floater who is persuaded to try the trampoline and keeping falling through the ropes. Lebel is so amusing that he makes you want to run away with the circus.

During one sequence, Hoyle captivates the audience with a wonderful three-legged man in a cane. He uses his five limbs to dance with himself, interchanging legs periodically. He acts so convincing that it is impossible to tell which leg is false or the method of manipulation.

The art of contortion may look simple but these four performers have spent many years perfecting their act.

In one of the most breathtaking numbers, Soviet acrobat Dmitri Anisimov, clad in a colorful belted tunic, gracefully soars above the audience on aerial straps. Anisimov's visual flight of desire leaves women screaming for more.

Each act adds to the majesty of Cirque. The imagery is enhanced by lighting, smoke, dazzling costumes, masks, hats and an enticing rock-jazz musical score.

Cirque du Soleil is a precious gift the entire family can enjoy together.

Performances continue at the Cityfront Center, on the corner of Illinois and McClurg, through October 13. Call (312) 836-9800 for ticket information.

Go see The Super... man

Joe Pesci plays a slum lord ordered to live in one of his decrepit tenements

Phil Mann
Harbinger Photo Editor

What do you do when there's nothing to do? Here's what you do: go see a movie. The problem is choosing a good one late at night. I was stuck with this dilemma late Friday night. After hours of debating and procrastinating, I finally decided on The Super, directed by Rod Daniel. I'll admit, this wasn't my first choice. Freddy was already dying, and the Terminator slipped out of the theaters weeks ago. (I'll be out on video in December. Blackbuster, I'll be back.)

As the film opens, we are introduced to two of the main characters, Big Lou Kriski (Vincent Gardenia) and his only son, Louie (in the mid-50's). Lou, a slumlord, starts chasing down a poor, black tenant who is forced to live in his landlord's dark, desolate, crappy housing project. Good old Dad tackles the guy like he was after his money, and he is. "Why'd ya think, Louie? Should I give him another week?" Lou quickly explains to his son that giving the man another week would directly affect his allowance. "Nah," Louie says. "That smhhs," says Dad. Although Louie Kriski doesn't realize it, he has had his first lesson in money-grubbing grim business.

Flash forward to 1991. It's Louie's birthday, and Dad gives him his very own slum to play with. It's the same deal as in 1950: big, bad Louie (Home Alone's Joe Pesci), who has a plush apartment in Queens, resides over poor, sick minority tenants, who live downtown. That's, uh, my boy. The fun really begins when Louie, after granting repeated housing code violations, is court-ordered to live in his own building for a year.

But that's not all — there's a catch on both sides. Louie can't fix up his own place until he fixes everyone else's, save the judge; and if Louie fixes one, he has a lightbulb he's out of the wall and on his knicker, says Daddy. Upon living with his tenants, Louie slowly realizes the difference between the haves and the have-nots.

He has to face his broken bridge, his leaky ceiling, his squinty bed and a smelly broken heating and big, hairy rat. We can only assume that the rest of the tenants have it just as bad (or worse).

All of these things combined with his nagging neighbors persuade Louie to clean up the broken-down dump by his piece by piece.

Here's also kept in check legally by the prosecuting attorney, Miss Berman (Madolyn S. Dime) and morally on back by Tom, a ten-year-old smart guy who lives with his grandmother. Tom teaches Louie that slum tenants are people too and helps him get on his feet. Louie something to think about.

Soon enough, Dad catches on to Louie's home improvements, and he even goes so far as to threaten to take care of some of Louie's problems. Just before the match is lit, Louie catches him and puts in a snap. "They're people, Pop. Not animals." Ah, Louie has learned a valuable lesson indeed. With Dad off his back, Louie transforms the sleepy slum into the Taj Mahal in six months. Well, not quite; but there are definitely some major improvements by the end of the film.

Rating: *** out of 5 stars

Harper Symphony dedicates performance to directors son

Frank Winkler

The Harper Symphony Orchestra will perform in concert under the direction of Frank Winkler at the Scamberg Prairie Center for the Arts on October 20, at 7 p.m.

The concert will be dedicated to Winkler's son who died at age 27 of cancer.

For ticket information, contact the Harper box office at 987-3000, extension 2547.

THE RUSTY PELICAN

DON'T MISS

POP / CONTEMPORARY SINGER 'TOM CAREY' APPEARING OCTOBER 11, 12, 18 AND 19TH AT ARLINGTON HEIGHTS RUSTY PELICAN, 8PM TILL CLOSE. NO COVER, FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL (708) 228-0040.

10 East Algonquin Road Arlington Heights, Illinois 60005

INTERCULTURAL WEEK

October 14 - 17

at

William Rainey Harper College

Intercultural News

Ghandi to speak at Harper

Mohandas "Mahatma" Gandhi was born April 14, 1869 in Durban, South Africa. Arun Gandhi is the grandson of India's late spiritual leader.

Much of Arun's childhood was spent under a cloud of oppression in apartheid South Africa. In 1946, Arun was fortunate to spend the summer with his late grandfather. The Mahatma's teachings and observations remained with Arun and energized him to forge his own path towards world peace.

After spending the first twenty-three years of his life in South Africa, Arun moved to Bombay, India in 1957. There, he began working as a reporter for the Times of India, a leading national daily. As a reporter, Gandhi travelled extensively, including a brief stint with the Press Association of London.

In 1960, Arun formed India Center for Social Unity. The Center appeared a dual course of action, calling for rural villages to organize cooperative dairy farms and urban residents to form their own textile factories. His objective was to provide self-help models to communities of "untouchables" to help them break the perpetual cycle of poverty in which they exist. The success of this project is measured in its expanding reach which now covers over 300 villages with a total population of more than 500,000.

Arun Gandhi, grandson of India's late spiritual leader, Mohandas Gandhi, will speak on Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m.

Gandhi is a passionate writer whose works include, "A Patch of White" about racism in South Africa, and "Kasturba—The Wife of Mahatma Gandhi." "Morarji Papers" deals with the rise and fall of the Janata Party in India. It is based on top secret and confidential documents provided by the former Prime Minister of India, Morarji Desai. This book raised a furor in the Indian Press and Parliament and became a best-seller. Arun is completing a comparative study on racism in America, set for a spring '92 release. It relates to both apartheid in South Africa and India's caste system.

During the fall of 1991, Arun will be conducting a course on non-violent philosophies in Palm Beach, Florida. He is also meeting with various U.S. universities to establish the world's first Gandhi Center for Non-Violent Study.

Photo: Bruce Pappas

Harper presents Indian flute performance

A special Indian flute performance will be given by Lyon Leifer Wednesday, October 16 from 5:30-6:15 p.m. in J143. The concert is free.

Harper's Global Trade Center assists businesses

Joe Pappas
Harbinger Layout Editor

Promoting a free global economy and providing students with firsthand knowledge about international business are the goals of the new Global Trade Development Center at Harper College.

Under the direction of Don Sedik, management professor, the Global Trade Development Center maintains an on-going survey of the international trade needs of area companies.

Services of the center are available to both product and service companies, large or small, with managerial or extensive experience in global trade. These services include: international marketing plan development; assistance in information broker services; management consulting services; and international trade information and service references.

While catering to the international business needs of area companies, the center is also striving to help students in the business field. The Global Trade Development Center is supplemented by three phases of instruction.

The first phase is the degree or certificate program. Business students study in a certain field of business and get a degree or certificate for that field. The second phase is work in non-credit courses; this is where the Global Trade Development Center comes into focus. Students learn about the inner workings of the Global Trade Development Center. This is an opportunity where area business leaders can also learn about the center. The third phase of the program is called the Business Survey Field. This is where companies or students can request information from the Global Trade Center and apply it within their business projects.

The center is connected to various World Trade Centers around the world. A link up with them is possible at any time.

"The center's goal is to allow students a chance to work one-on-one with area companies as Junior Trade Consultants on various international business questions," Sedik said.

The center is affiliated with the U.S. Commerce Department, World Trade Centers, Inc., Illinois District Export Council, International Trade Club of Chicago, Northwest International Trade Club, Community Colleges for International Development and NASBITE.

Linkup with these organizations is made possible through extensive use of computers and communications skills. The process of getting detailed information about a country is quite easy when one knows what one's looking for. For example, if a student or business leader was looking for how much salt was exported from the United States to France, all he would have to do is contact the Global Trade Center and tell them what he needed. The center would process the request and within a few minutes, that information could be delivered. Then, if that same business leader wanted to go into the business of exporting salt, he could ask the Global Trade Center other specific details about the country he wants to export to. The center could provide a form of consulting to the business leader to assist in the exporting solution.

"Literally we are living in a global economy," Sedik said. "American students do not have the international experience that their European counterparts have."

"Harper is taking a first step, and now we'd like to export this program to other junior colleges."

Exploring injustices, societies unfitting molds

Alex Ciesinski
Harbinger Staff Writer

Prejudice. Harred. Violence. Discrimination. Our society is full of injustices like these but it doesn't have to be.

Steve Lobacz, a United Methodist minister, is a National Council member of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, a faith-based peace group. He advocates non-violence and acceptance and will present These Shoes Don't Fit, an exploration of how some people don't fit the molds society places them in, on Thursday, October 17 at 9 a.m. in A242.

Lobacz said he plans to bring shoes to the lecture and talk about the people who wear them.

"People expect you to wear a certain pair of shoes, live a certain lifestyle or be a certain type of person," Lobacz said. "We are not always what other people expect us to be and that should be OK. You should not be criticized for being the person you are."

All of us need to have our awareness raised about how we live," Lobacz said. "We wear shoes that really don't fit us very well. We could learn something from each other about how to buy or wear shoes that fit better."

Intercultural Entertainment

The Harbinger October 10, 1991 3

Enjoy the passion and power of traditional and contemporary Latin American music by Sotavento on Tuesday, October 16 at 7:30 p.m. in J143. Photo by Lisa Pardo

Latin music ensemble set to excite

Sotavento, a Latin American musical ensemble, will appear on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in J 143. They will present traditional music of the Caribbean, the Andes and the coastal countries of South America, Central and Latino North America. Their repertoire includes original songs and compositions as well as those of other contemporary composers.

Sotavento, which in Spanish means "leeward," was formed in 1981. Through their recordings and frequent tours of North America, they have continued to promote an awareness and understanding of Latin American peoples and culture.

Intercultural Week Films

MONDAY

NOON-1 p.m. The French Connection A241

7 p.m. Gandhi J143

TUESDAY

NOON-1 p.m. Five Pillars of Islam A241

4:30 p.m. Dwa Building A 3rd floor

WEDNESDAY

NOON-1 p.m. Dwa Building A 3rd floor

THURSDAY

NOON-1 p.m. Survival to Adulthood: The Adolescent's Journey of Experience A241

NOON-1 p.m. Dwa Building A 3rd floor

7:30 p.m. In Dwa J143

Festival of Nations Day to provide diverse educational events

Festival of Nations Day will be celebrated October 16 as part of the College's third annual Intercultural Week.

From 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., exhibits of international crafts and cultural themes will be set up in the Building A student center. In addition to booths, participants can watch a variety of demonstrations including martial arts, cooking and floral arranging.

Tex Mex cooking techniques will be presented at 10:45 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Gloria Reyes, an instructor at Harper College, will talk about the history of the cuisine and cover the ingredients and methods used in the cooking process. Ikka Nakashima, also an instructor at Harper College, will demonstrate Japanese flower arranging at 11:15 a.m. Tai Chi and Tae Kwon Do will be demonstrated at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

An international lunch menu will be featured serving ing dishes from around the world.

Evening programs will include booths, Japanese flower arranging and a special Indian flute concert. Lyon Letier, a successful performer and teacher of both Western and Indian flute, will perform from 5:30 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. in J143. The exhibit and flower arranging will take place in the lobby of Building J Theatre from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m. in J143, Arun Gandhi, grandson of the Mahatma Gandhi, will present a special lecture on The Relevance of Non-Violence Today. Gandhi, founder of India's Center for Social Unity, has blended his experiences in South Africa, India and the United States to a new call for non-violent solutions to serious societal problems. His comparative study on discrimination in South Africa, India and the United States is due out in spring, 1992.

Festival of nations day will bring the Harbinger population a bit of the Irish with music from The Drovers, an Irish folk-rock band. Photo by Lisa Pardo

Just a note from the Irish

The Drovers, an Irish folk-rock band, will appear in concert at noon Wednesday, October 16, in the student center. Playing Irish jigs with a contemporary beat, the Drovers mix the music of their Gaelic heritage with their urban American experience. The sextet has played for royalty in Monaco, in clubs throughout the Midwest, at the Grand Ole Opry and in the hit movie Backdraft.

Intercultural Events

Monday
International Business in Eastern Europe
9:00-10:00am Room A242
Learn about business development in Eastern Europe. Led by John Cusack, who recently worked in Hungary and Poland on behalf of Ameritech.

The Global Job Search
10:00-11:00am Room A242
Explore career opportunities abroad and within the United States. Chris Krantz, placement specialist, will lead a panel of people who have participated in international business ventures.

The Global Trade Development Center
11:00am-12:00 noon Rm A242
Don Sedik, professor and coordinator, will present a new service at Harper that assists business and industry to enter and become successful in international trade.

World Religions: Sikhism
11:00am-12:00noon Rm A241
Essential elements of Sikhism will be presented by Jasbir K. Singh from the Sikh Religious Society, Palatine.

Lunchtime Cinema
12:00-1:00p.m. Room A241
Bring your lunch and enjoy French Connections, a 29-minute video. A discussion will be led afterward.

Harper International Students Speak Out
1:30pm-2:00pm Room A241
Two panels of students now studying at Harper will share observations of cultural differences regarding education, family values and social customs.

Film: Chandi
7:00pm J143
Winner of eight Academy Awards

Tuesday

Folk Dancing
10:00-11:30am Room A241
Dance is truly an international language. Join folk dance teacher Samma Langdon in learning and enjoying international dance.

World Religions: Islam
11:00am-12:00 noon Boardroom A315
Essential elements of Islam will be presented by Musa Qutub, Ph.D., from the Islamic Information Center, Prospect Heights.

Lunchtime Cinema
12:00-1:00pm Boardroom A315
Bring your lunch and learn about The Five Pillars of Islam, a 30-minute video. A discussion will be led afterward.

Understanding the Deal Culture
1:00-2:00 pm Boardroom A315
Learn some of the basic aspects of the American Deal Culture including language, values, rules of behavior and traditions. Presented by Sally Kozar and Bob Paul.

Integrating Persons with Disabilities into International Travel and Study Programs
2:00-3:00 pm Boardroom A315
Presents information from Mobility International, U.S.A.

Film: Diva
4:30 pm Building A, 3rd Floor Lounge
A French film of murder, intrigue and passion

Concert: Sotavento J143
7:30 pm
Enjoy the passion and power of traditional and contemporary Latin American music. The six-member ensemble, Sotavento, returns to Harper with their '30 wind, string and percussion instruments. Tickets are $5 for the public, $4 for students and $3 for Harper students, faculty, staff and seniors.

Wednesday

Festival of Nations
10:00am-2:00 pm Building A

Student Center
Celebrate culture and diversity! Bokus, martial arts, demonstrations, Japanese flower arranging, food, demonstrations and film will be featured.

Special concert: The Drivers Free!
12:00 noon Building A

Student Center
Dance and groove to traditional Irish music with a modern flavor. The Drivers mix the music of their Irish heritage with their urban American experience in concerts that have thrilled audiences from Moscow to Chicago. They were also featured in the movie Backdraft.

5:30-7:30 pm Lobby of J143
Festival of Nations continues with foods and a special Indian flute performance by Lyon Leifer.

5:30-6:15 pm in J143
Special Lecture:
The Relevance of Non-violence Today
Presented by Arun Gandhi
7:30 pm J143
Arun Gandhi's principles of non-violence formed through growing up in South Africa, working in India and knowing his grandfather, the Mahatma Gandhi. In 1960, Arun founded India's Center for Social Unity to help "untouchables" break the cycle of poverty. He hopes to establish centers for non-violent reform in the United States and in his native South Africa. His comparative study on discrimination in South Africa, India and the United States is scheduled for publication next spring. Tickets are $5 for the public, $4 for students and $3 for Harper students, faculty, staff and seniors.

Thursday

These Shoes Don't Fit
9:00-10:00 am Room A242
Explores how many of us don't fit the molds society says we should. Presented by Steve Lobacz from the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

International Study and Exchange Programs
10:00-11:00 am Room A241

Marin Ryan, professor of English, will present the opportunities Harper offers for study abroad.

Non-violent Response to the Persian Gulf War
11:00 am-12:00 noon Room A242
Chuck Quilty from the Fellowship of Reconciliation will share slides, film and personal experiences from the aftermath of the Persian Gulf War.

World Religions: Hinduism
11:00-12:00 noon Rm A242
Experience cultural differences firsthand and explore your own cultural attitudes and beliefs. Preregistration required. Call the DAWN Office or Phyllis Zabrocki at extension 2626.

Lunchtime Cinema
12:00-1:00 pm Room A241
Bring your lunch and experience Survival to Adaptation: The Adolescent Refugee Experience, a 22-minute video. A discussion will be led afterward.

Film: Diva
12:00 noon Building A, 3rd Floor Lounge
(See Tuesday, 4:30 pm)

Film: Ju Dou J143
2:30 pm
The controversial Chinese film about love, tradition and tragedy. Nominated for an Academy Award but banned in China.
$3 for the public, $2 for Harper students, faculty, staff and seniors.

Videos
The Learning Resources Center has many videos with multicultural themes. Media Services, J-23, has a list of available videos that you may watch in the preview room.

Tickets
To purchase tickets for Sotavento, Gandhi and Ju Dou, call the Harper College Box Office, 708/997-3000, extension 2547.

Location and Information
Harper College is located at Algonquin and Roselle Roads, Palatine. All events will be held in Building A or in the Building J Theatre, as indicated.

For more information on Intercultural Week events, call 708/997-3000, extension 2547.

Shamen: experimentalists with an edge

Christopher Garcia
The Shamen
PROGENY
One Little Indian (flippers only)

Will Simon and Color Angus, the minds behind the music, along with various guest musicians, consider themselves as alternative acid-house techno-pop experimentalists.

The Shamen seemed to be no more until the More An Mountain Progen '91 single which is a revamped version of Progen available on their 1990 import album EN-TACT. Simon dropped on May 23, 1991 in the Canary Islands, but Angus kept right on working. The release of PROGEN '91 after his death instantly made it to the Top Five in the U.K. It seems odd that PROGEN '91 made it big after a hand member's death.

With this success under his belt, he decided to put together an album of Progen remakes (since it is their biggest hit), entitled PROGENY as a tribute to Simon.

PROGENY is available in two formats, CD and LP. The CD contains fourteen mixes (over seventy minutes) while the LP has nineteen (over one hundred minutes) covering three records. Both also provide various samples of Progen to mix your own versions, including drum beats, key board hits and vocal solos.

The Shamen are releasing MOVE ANY MOUNTAIN PROGEN '91 in two versions: the 1.5:1 any day now as well as an updated version of EN-TACT with different versions than the import. A new single, Love Me Inefficiency is due for release within the next month. There is also buzz about a U.S. tour beginning next year.

It is my hope that once The Shamen are brought to the American listening audience, they will become as blown out as DEPTHE MODE, LAIF and IT'S JONES.

If it were up to me, I wouldn't permit The Shamen to come to the states because it will literally destroy their fans. Since that is their dream, as it is the dream of many European bands, and it is going to happen, there's nothing to do but wait.

PROGENY has enough remakes of Progen to keep anyone satisfied. The best mixes are the Alta Vista Mix, Land of the Mix, Blue House, High Fish, Brainstormers, Dub and the C. Mix. Remakes don't get any better than this. Some of the versions are mixed by such greats as Paul Oakenfold, Frankie Bones, Tommy Moya, Mr. C, Joey Beltram and THE BLATMASTERS.

If after a while the mixes get old, there are plenty of bus and samples to create your own, providing you have the DJ equipment. I've found with them and come up with some interesting effects.

The original Progen was a big underground dance hit in the U.S. earlier this year, but it now seems as though Progen '91 has taken over. With lyrics like "Going to the top, cause the sky is the limit, moving any mountain 'cause we've got faith in it," one tends to wonder whether they're talking about their own pre-determined success.

Pre-determined or not, The Shamen have a hit here. With any luck, commercial pop radio stations will skip over this band and move on to the next. The Shamen are one of the hottest acts hands out there, but if Progen is a hold of 'em, send in the marines!

RATING: ★★★ out of five

Smooth sailing on the Seas of Cheese

ANDY LEMMON
Hammill A&E Edition

Topping their last effort FRIZZLE-FLY, Prunus is finding new popularity with the greater musical accessibility and concept of MILKING THE SEAS OF CHEESE.

Les Claypool, the bassist of Prunus, follows the lead of mixing funk with rock, or more specifically hard rock/heavy metal. Prunus brings a new flavor to the album already populated by the likes of Fishbone and the Red Hot Chili Peppers.

The music is a dark and moody mix. Listening to the disc, it is like exploring an elaborate chamber. It is dark, dark and funky. Claypool's bass predominates the mix and is highlighted in the arrangements. This highlights his unusual playing style.

Using two hands on the fretboard of the guitar is now common thanks in part to the work of Eddie Van Halen and his endless army of clones. Claypool uses the approach for a primarily rhythmic effect. The other major bassist who uses the technique, Stuart Hamm, employs it for melodic lines that are often contrapuntal.

Claypool is joined by guitarist Larry LaLonde and drummer Tim Herb. Alexander LaLonde provides bursts of guitar and steps in with lead and rhythm fills. He beautifully does this when the song requires it and not, like many of his peers, when his ego demands it. Alexander brings the effort to a cohesive whole. His drumming is the glue that holds the sonic chaos of Prunus together.

The disc starts with Seas of Cheese, a musical nod to one of Claypool's poems that sets the tone for the album. It speaks of joining Prunus for a rap on the Seas of Cheese as a buffer against the conformity and unpleasantness of the world.

The lyrics, written by Claypool, are often cynical. America, unlife, for example, with its story of those who come to America looking for the promised land, brings new concerns into the socioeconomic class of the poor and downtrodden which the American ideal claims to vanquish.

This theme carries on with Larry, was a Radio Car Driver. Here Claypool sings about Larry, who on a drinking escapade had a little too much and wrapped his car around a telephone pole. Mandatory retirement of another sort is invoked upon in this song. Captain Pierce, a fireman, who was rescued from his abilities.

All is not gloomy, however. Thirst, Damned Blue Collar, Fireworks are about the underappreciated blue-collar workers and Is It In Fisherman's Home is Chapman 11 gives an insight on the joys of fishing.

Fish On provides a wind down for the disc, before leading into the reprise of Here Come the Bunnies in the song Los Bunnies.

RATING: ★★★★★ out of 5 stars

Cathal Coughlan trying to keep music evil

Michael Cichy

The Fatima Mannequin
Viva Dead People
Raiders of the Music Evil

Fatima Mannequin is the newest invention of Cathal Coughlan, which drags the listener across a spectrum of emotionally charged sound.

The album is best described overall as an experimentation in various sub-genres that, in this case, seems to work. The album cover itself contains a Parental Advisory label and a label which states "Keep Music Evil".

The song, Angel's

Delight starts off sounding like a cross between Cole Porter and Depeche Mode, but after a minute blasts the listener with a high power trade of intense emotion. This burst throughout the song, underlines the point the song tries to make, plus explains the existence of the Parental Advisory label. The odd combination of tempo and intensity works in this song, creating the listener like a hot one gentle river that suddenly comes to a waterfall.

Bluffs for Camerica follows after the brief Concrete Block instrumental, and is one of the most high-powered songs on the album. The song is reminiscent of Killing Joke, a straight forward, hard-edged song. The song was previously released as a single last year, and quickly climbed the indie charts, providing relief to those tired of listening to the Charismatic choices. This song is about the Romanian dictator, obviously, and warns of his possible return (social commentary).

The album gives us Mr. Baby, which sounds more like a Carter the Unstoppable Sex Machine song than anything else, and is yet another social commentary. It is followed by the worst song on the album, and it is a doozy! The Door-to-Door Inspector is four minutes and thirteen of slow, boring depression, which deserves no more mention than that given here.

The next song makes up for it's lame predecessor. To Be A Rose is not the greatest, but is a fair attempt none the less. The song sounds like something like the Smiths, with a more uptight and slightly more energetic sound.

Up next is followed by Broken Radio #1 which sounds like something of D.O.E., with occasional bursts of thrash thrown in. Unfortunately, this song does not work.

The remaining songs do not have any remarkable qualities, with the exception of Cherwell Cook. The other songs are variations on the styles heard earlier on the album with some new experimentation. Chemical Cook sounds like it was heavily influenced by Misliary and Pink Floyd, with Fugate-like tempo. It starts out as a slow electronic intro with an occasional guitar burn, then explodes into a blizzard of refrain. The result is one of the best songs on the album.

This album is not for those with a very limited range of musical tastes. While it would definitely be classified as "alternative" (GASP!) it cannot be placed into any single sub-genre. However, for those who have an open mind, this is a very likable album.

RATING: ★★★★★ out of Five

COMICS

ZOO U. by Mark Weltman

Uh oh. Where's Rob?

HAPPINESS IS....

HERE SON - IT FAILED ME ONLY ONCE. I WANT YOU TO HAVE IT.

SEE THANKS, PAPA IN THIS WHAT THEY CALL BONDING?

AN EQUITABLE 25% INSURANCE POLICY.

10-10-91

Down

- ACROSS
1 Tree Road
2 Ship in Russia
3 Leap through
4 Chasing
5 Fervent
6 Bark cloth
7 Brim watch
8 Spacing
9 Skin of fruit
10 King of Bashan
11 That woman
12 Defiant
13 Dashed capstone
14 Wading bird
15 Reddish mouth
16 Deposit
17 Laid
18 Hole of scale
19 A. A. animal
20 Same
21 Burst
- DOWN
1 Matures
2 Mashed
3 Kind of beer
4 Bugged down
5 Horne of Broadway
6 Tattered skin
7 Three-toed sloth
8 Highway
9 Money hoarder
10 Clamnet to a divine
11 Mr. Garshwin
12 Unit of Russian currency
13 Actor Barry
14 Goddess of healing
15 Distance measure
16 Isotonic writing
17 Occuse
18 Mashed
19 Mashed
20 Whipped
21 Kind of beer
22 Bugged down

The Weekly Crossword Puzzle

PUZZLE SOLUTION

Censorship in Building A

Trouble Sleeping... A CARTOON BY JASON PECK... (C★☆)

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger October 10, 1991 7

Help Wanted

FULL / PART-TIME
10:25 to start. Must be good with people internship (Scholarship)
Available
Call 819-3335

Heal The Earth /
Teach Others
Earn $100-2000 per month. For Intro appointment call Jo at 933-8848

FREE SPRING BREAK
TRIPS
to students or student organizations promoting our Spring
Break Packages
Good Pay & Fun. Call
CMI 1-800-423-5264

FREE TRAVEL, CASH,
AND EXCELLENT
BUSINESS
EXPERIENCE!
Openings available for individuals or student organizations to promote the country's most successful SPRING
Break tours. Call
BRIK tours. Call
Inter-Campus Programs
1-800-327-9013

Help Wanted
Part Time
Prospect Heights Park
District. Evenings 3-4 days per week.
Call 394-2848

Help Wanted

GRADUATING FROM
COLLEGE?
Uncover the secrets of
job hunting by investing
$3.95 in a 24 page booklet written by a professional employment specialist. Your future job offer is just around the corner. To order, send $3.95 to Bosman and Assoc., P.
O. Box 1513-C, Palmdale,
IL 60078

Harper Gama Room
Superstars
Wanted
$4.50. Some days, mostly evening hours available. Contact
Student Activities,
A336, 397-3800,
ext. 2242

COLLECTIONS
Telephone collection
work, part time, days,
flexible hours. Call Joe Fischer after 11 am for an interview.
LAMAR AGENCY, INC.
884-4700

Advertising Sales
Aggressive sales starter for FT/PT temporary employment. Must have own transportation.
Unlimited earning potential. Commission only sales. For appl. call Minn at 372-6682

Wanted

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing
Services. Term papers,
resumes, cover
letters, etc. Low Rates!
Least Print Call Law @
704-705-1673

Typing/MP Service
Resumes, Term Papers
Laser Print Quality
Tina (708) 891-3188

Tutoring by Ph. D.
Undergraduate Science
& Math
Call 706-913-8282

Wanted. Students
Who Can Answer
Their Grades

Tired of having your grades lowered due to poor typing and/or spelling? I can help. I can also incorporate charts or graphs if needed. Only $2.00 per page for plain text.
Additional charges for charts and graphs. CALL TODAY. Call Randy at 709-595-4883

Spring Break
Cancun, Bahamas from $295. 100 dollars
roundtrip air, 7 nights
hotel, parties, free
admission, hotel taxes
and more! Organize a small group. Extra line trip. 1-800-BEACH-17

Services

NEED WORD
PROCESSING?
NEED IT FAST?
Well, we have the answer for you. Call D &
J services for all your desk top needs. Prompt service at reasonable rates. CALL NOW (708)
993-4582

NEED A TYPIST?
I HAVE OVER 15
YEARS EXPERIENCE
in academic and resume typing. Computer and letter quality printer used. Call VITALE
SECRETARIAL SERVICE
(708) 513-5885

LOSE FAT, GAIN
MUSCLE
Breakthrough products used
by trainers, athletes,
doctors. Weight loss without drugs, dieting, or deprivation from 5-100
lbs. Lean muscle gains
with proven effective
non-steroidal formula.
708-858-1591

Health Restoration
Restore your health with
the natural use of Aloe
Vera and Hyaluronic Acid. Various medical services provided.
Helen Dehn INC.
BP checks. Licensed and
certified professionals.
704-427-1909

Roommates

Single female looking for roommate for 2 bedrooms/
2 bath home in Hoffman Estates. Female preferred. Call Jeannine
Cawell at 398-3626 or 519-1702 in the evenings

Single White Male looking for roommate to share apartment. Respectful of privacy and property. 1 year lease agreement,
approx. $312 per month.
Harper area. Call John
Daytime 459-9529 ext.
225, Night 339-3852

For Sale

1992 NUDE COED
CALENDAR
... featuring nude Illinois college women. Mail
$9.95 to: COED
CALENDAR, P.O. BOX
434H, DEKALB, IL
60115

63 BMW 320iA
Red w/ 61K interior
5 spd, 91K, GREAT
COLLEGE CAR! Mint cond.
See my irremovable stereo
(am/fm cassette)
Sunroof, alloy wheels, nil maintenance risk
$4900 O.B.O.
78 Mustang
pale blue, $15,000
invoice $7500 O.B.O.
Mint condition. Call Pat at 312-775-1869

Fitness

The Search is Over...
Why are so many NFL
Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders pinning in record numbers?
Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history.
CALL NOW!
708-858-5391

Information

Standard Classified
Rates and
Information
Commercial classifieds
are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line.
Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger
will not be responsible
for typographical errors
in ads taken by phone.
Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call
(708) 397-3000, ext.
2440, or send fax with cover sheet in (708)
397-5210.

Drive
Sober

NewsBriefs

Students who qualify for a degree or certificate for the Fall 1991 semester need to petition for graduation by October 10, 1991.
Graduation petitions can be obtained in the Registrar's office, Building A, Room 213.

Early registration for current and past students, spring semester is coming soon. For assistance with your educational planning and coursework in Student Development now. Counselors are available in I-117 and D-142 from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday, and from 4:30-7:30 p.m. Monday thru Wednesday in I-117. Daytime students will register during the day by appointment only. Appointment cards will be available in A-213 beginning on October 31. Computer terminals will be open for daytime registration, by appointment card only, November 11, 12, 13, 14, 18, 19, 20, 21, 25, 26, December 2, 3, 4, 5, and 9. Registration hours during these days are from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Registration for evening students will be November 11, 14, 18, 19, 25, December 2, 3, and 9 from 6:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m., no appointment needed.

AS A SPECIAL MARKETING TEST, A MAJOR TRAVEL IS OFFERING
EVERYONE WHO CALLS WITHIN 72 HOURS OF THIS PUBLICATION
DATE:

FREE - FREE - FREE
A DREAM VACATION TO HAWAII

As a special marketing test, we will send to each person in vacation certificate holder a free vacation to Honolulu, Hawaii. This certificate entitles the user to receive 8 days and 7 nights of lodging for two people and one free airline ticket travelers' baggage, one airline ticket at the regular coach price.

There is no other product to purchase and there is no charge for this special certificate offer. We will however limit the number of certificates to be issued in this market to those that call within 72 hours of the publication of this ad.
The reason for this special offer is that we wish to test the demand for this type of advertising and inform you of our special travel programs. But please remember that there is absolutely no obligation. In order to receive this special vacation offer:

CALL NOW
(708) 781-7384
8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Club Notes

HONORS PROGRAM

The Honors Challenge - If you're the kind of student who... "Loves a challenge," "Gives your 'personal best,'" "whenever the project," "Chooses courses for their content and challenge, not just for an 'easy A,'" "Has skills and interests in more than one subject area," you are that "exceptional" student who wants a more personalized, enriched college education. The Harper College Honors Program can provide you with the rewarding educational experience you're looking for. For more information call:
Dr. Elizabeth Anne Hull at (708) 397-3000 ext. 2323
Honors Society Club Business Meeting Monday, October 14 at 5:15 pm in room F-135

COME SEE The Rhythm & Moves Dance Co. perform on Saturday October 12 at halltime of Harper Hawks/Triun Trojans football game.

WCHM - Palatine's Cable Music Station

WCHM is once again broadcasting for the 1991-92 school year. WCHM broadcasts over TCT and Continental Cable Stations, the lounge, and cafeteria in Building A. We offer FREE announcements to campus clubs and special events. If your club is interested, please send us your announcement with the running dates and two weeks notice and we'll see that it gets on the air. Also, if for some reason you need the Radio Station turned off for a special event either in the lounge or cafeteria, you must obtain a "Turn Off Request Form." These are found in the Student Activities Office or the WCHM office (A336).
This is our policy and we need only twenty-four hours notice. We do not accept calls at the time of the event. If for some reason the station is too loud or quiet, please get in touch with the management of WCHM, for the on air DJ's are not permitted to turn up or down the main volume levels. Hopefully, you'll continue your support in our quest for the FM dial! If you have any questions or comments we'd be happy to hear them, please call Rebecca Mandel, Station Manager at extension 2488.

The Harbinger is looking for a few good men and women!

Turn Money while you're at Harper by selling advertisements for The Harbinger. You can earn extra spending money with only working a few hours a week. Stop in A367 and talk to Gary or call us at 397-3000, ext. 2460.
Also, The Harbinger is accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists, and editors. Apply in Room A367 or call Mario Golemski at 397-3000, ext. 2461.

HARBINGER SPORTS

SPORTS FINAL

October 10, 2001

Hawks roll Rock Valley Trojans 24-6

Hawks clinch conference title with victory over the Trojans

Kurt Gosselin
Harbinger Sports Editor

The Hawk's season has thus far been filled with peaks and valleys. Luckily for the Hawks, the next valley they faced was only Rock Valley, who they pulverized 24-6.

As for peaks, with the win, the Hawks improve to 5-0 in the NAC, 5-1 overall, to clinch at least a share of first place.

"A conference title was one of our goals," said Head Coach John Elshak. "It's nice to have [a share of] first this early in the season."

Harper might still have to share the NAC crown, but against the Trojans, Harper's defense made sure that the Hawks did not have to share the ball.

The Trojans came in as the number one rated offense in the conference, but versus Harper, they played like number two. The Hawks' "D," led by sophomore lineman Paul McAndrews, held the heralded Rock Valley offense scoreless through the first three quarters.

"The whole defense kicked in," McAndrews said. "They finally started to drive late, but only after we stopped blitzing and went into a prevent defense."

"Our line played well," Elshak said. "Their QB was under constant harassment."

Other key contributors on the Hawk's defense were Doug Winter, Mike McDowell, Tom Jackson, Mike Martinez and Tony Saa.

The Hawk's offense, though grounded by the high winds, still managed to put up their usual solid numbers. Harper exploited the Trojan's protection for 119 yards of total offense, led by our running back Derrick Harris' 144 yards on 20 carries.

In burying Rock Valley, the Hawks have unearthed new problems. Against Rock Valley the Hawks were without the services of five starting players. Kerry Kirby, Joe Sartori, Kenny Taylor, Dave Grubbs and Rick Hegarty, due to injuries sustained prior to, or during the game. According to Elshak, if the Hawks are to be successful in the Running Back Derrick Harris breaks free and runs 52 yards downfield to set up a Harper touchdown. The Hawk's post season, the majority of these players must return.

Even with these negatives, the Hawks remained confident throughout the contest.

"They're still just Rock Valley," McAndrews said. "And we're not going to lose to Rock Valley."

The Hawks opened the scoring in the first quarter when quarterback Steve Matthews found Jason Calabrese in the back of the end zone for a 21-yard touchdown pass. Matthews would complete 8 of 16 passes for 108 yards and two interceptions on the day, while Calabrese would grab 3 Matthews offerings for 64 yards. A Tom Newman 23-yard field goal with 41 seconds left in the first would put the Hawks up 10-0.

A failed fourth-and-one attempt by the Trojans gave the ball to the Hawks, who promptly gave it to Harris. 19 yards later, the Hawks took a 17-0 lead.

With 13:09 remaining to play, the Trojans finally broke through the Hawk's defense when running back Matt Roddebaugh wampered 12 yards to cap off a 80-yard Rock Valley drive. Defensive captain Shaver's Hawks defended the extra-point conversion to minimize the Rock Valley damage.

Conrad Humes killed the Trojan's rally hopes when he scored from 10 yards out following two Harris' runs netting 82 yards combined.

Harper's next contest is Saturday, October 12, when they face Trion College at home.

Tennis team nets yet another win

Women's Tennis team moves to 7-1 with win over Elgin

Kurt Gosselin
Harbinger Sports Editor

Danielle Luttko practices for upcoming NAC Regional Playoffs. The Hawk's

After a tough loss to Illinois Valley, the Harper women's tennis team traveled to Elgin Community College (ECC) looking for revenge. ECC was more than happy to accommodate the Hawks, losing 8 of 9 matches.

With the victory, the Hawks improve to 7-1 but remain 4-1 in the NAC.

The week before versus Illinois Valley, Harper was shut out 0-0, yet again have been their finest game of the season.

"The score was not indicative of the tennis that we played," said Head Coach Martha Bolt. "This was an extremely strong team."

Number one doubles team Danielle Luttko and Beth Kelly led the way for the Hawks against ECC. Other major contributors were Sen. Sihard, Cheryl Elko, Nicole Legittimo and Cindy Parde.

The previous week against Illinois Valley Elko played what Bolt called a "beautiful match," yet still lost in three sets.

"It was a terrific loss," Bolt said. "[Elko] played over her head, it was just a shame that it was a loss."

The Hawk's next contest is Thursday at College of DuPage for the beginning of the NAC Regionals.

Gym Shorts

V-ball team sweeps

The Harper women's volleyball team participated in the McHenry County College Quad Tournament last Tuesday. The Hawks won all four matches, beating Team 15-6, 15-5, and 15-2; Wright 15-4 and 15-2; and McHenry 15-10 and 16-14.

Hawks volleyball team will play Montrose Valley in Palos Hills on October 10 and in South Holland against South Suburban & Kankakee on October 15.

Swimmers Meet

A Harper swimming and diving team meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 7 in Building M room 161-B.

All interested students should contact the Physical Education office at extension 2466 for further information.

Basketball Tryouts

The Harper men's basketball team is holding tryouts on Tuesday, October 15 at 3 p.m. in Building M. Only fall-time students are eligible for the team. Those interested should call the Physical Education office at extension 2466.

Harper's 5K Wellness run draws crowd

Kurt Gosselin
Harbinger Sports Editor

The second annual Harper 5K Wellness Run/Walk for Wellness had few obstacles to overcome, but overall was a complete success.

As planned on Sunday, October 6, 214 avid and casual runners of all ages gathered at Harper's TAC certified course to get involved with the fitness era.

The overall winner of the event was Amanda Paredes from the male 21-30 age group who ran the course in 16:45. Steve Daria placed second at 17:26 and Carlos Alvarez took third with a time of 17:41.

Aside from awards going to the overall winners of the event, the top three finishers in the individual categories also received acknowledgments.

In the male division, placing first in the 16-20 group was Daria while Paredes captured the top spot in the 21-30. The other first place finishers were: Ken Maszynski, 11:40; Abbie Wright, 41:50; Nick Koplus, 51:00; Sam Stevenson, 61:40; and Denny Litwin, Walkers.

For the women, the top runners in each category were: Kristen Schett, 16:30; Kendra Delano, 21:30; Paul Parmann, 31:40; Elizabeth Hicks, 41:50; Lee Vogel, 51:40; Penny Dehl, 61:40; and older and Lindsey Stenmetz, Walkers.

All the proceeds of the event went to the Harper Educational Foundation which provides scholarships for Harper students.

THE HARINGER

William Doherty, Harmer College

October 17, 1991

Volume XXIV, Number 13

PREFERRED FUTURE?

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Fisher King Review

Page 4

Harper art eats students

Page 6

SPORTS

Hawks defeat Triton
Trojans 52-14 to finish
6-0 in conference play

Page 8

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Opinion Column	2
Features	3
Movie Review	4
Arts & Entertainment	4
Comics	4
Classifieds	7
Football	8
Sports	8

New bookstore causing debate

Kel Mason
Harberger News Editor
Eric Jason
Harberger News Editor

The new bookstore will be attached to P and F Buildings.

Harper College has approved a $5.5 million renovation plan that includes building a new bookstore, beginning in mid-1992. Bookstore manager Rich Seiler said the new bookstore will take up approximately 4,358 square feet to help reduce customer lines at the beginning of the semester. The increased square footage will go toward shipping and receiving space, which the present bookstore does not have. The additional space will also allow storage within the bookstore preventing internal theft. The new bookstore will also have larger aisles to prevent shoplifting. Stricter cash counts by employees will be enforced.

The new bookstore is scheduled to open between February and June of 1993 but no definite sales will not be seen until fiscal year 1993/94, Seiler said.

Projected gross revenues for the new bookstore are expected to be $185,000 for fiscal year 1993/94 and $170,000 for 1994/95. Initially approved by the new bookstore is Board of Trustees member Larry Mount.

"I think there are better ways to spend $5.5 million," Mount said. "We're short of classroom space, a new theater or lighted football field. There are more important things."

Mount noted the University of Chicago bookstore delivered books to the classrooms and he said Harper's should do the same.

"Experiment a little, start small and deliver to a few classrooms. There are more creative ways to solve this problem," Mount said. Auxiliary Revenue Bonds will be sold and generated to pay for the new bookstore said Kent Maize, Vice President Administrative Services. Interest and principal will be paid with proceeds of the old

Maize said the students are in need of better facilities for more convenient distribution of book and supplies.

"We have had complaints from the students about the long lines at registration time. And it is the administrative judgment that we need a bigger bookstore to alleviate the congestion and traffic," he said.

The bigger bookstore will provide more soft material such as shirts, sweaters and other clothing. It will also be able to hold more supplies, such as paper and books, that the old store can't hold.

Though concerned about the possible negative effects of the bookstore, Smith is in favor of the new bookstore.

"There are no classes or parking in A Building. I support the new bookstore's location," Smith said.

Some students said that the new bookstore is a waste of money.

"I think the old bookstore is adequate. They should allocate the funds better for student activities. I lost of our hands where we want our music to go," Shari Stanton, a student, said.

In addition to the new bookstore, one of the plans is to build a classroom building, remodeling of Buildings F and A and building a new post shop.

Requirements raised

Harper applicants will face tougher admission prerequisites

ERIC JASON
Harberger News Editor

High school students seeking admission to Harper for the fall 1993 semester will face more stringent entrance requirements.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has passed legislation that sets minimum course requirements for high school students wanting to get into Illinois Colleges as part of the baccalaureate program.

"Community college admission requirements for transfer programs must be comparable to the admission requirements of four year schools," said Bruce Bickner, Harper College's Director of Admissions.

The requirements for admission include four units of English, 2.5 units in areas of social studies, mathematics, and science and 1.2 units in foreign language, art or music.

Also, Vocational education programs which teach job skills require a minimum of 15 units of high school credit.

"Students who don't immediately meet these requirements will be, as we mean, be denied the opportunity to pursue transfer associate degrees and ultimately the bachelor's degree," said Bickner.

But they should be made aware that it could somewhat slow their progress.

There is some leeway in the new law that will allow institutions to adopt alternate ways of fulfilling these requirements.

Applicants who do not meet the entrance requirements will be admitted to Harper as pre-baccalaureate transfer students, and they will be allowed to satisfy admission requirements in other ways not disclosed at press time.

The new law may charge the preparation that high schools make for their students as they head into college.

"A careful educational planning early on in high school now becomes even more important. Students need to meet with their counselors on a regular basis," Bickner said.

Senate loses support

"I felt that the senators were doing it for their own political advantage. I think they were just trying to get their own points across."

Nancy Peterson, page 17 Communication major

"I think they did the best they could do on such short notice. The Senate was caught off guard by the whole situation."

Mike Cery, Communication major

The battle is finally over. Clarence Thomas is now a Supreme Court Justice. The Senate hearings dragged on for over a month to no result.

The question of Anita Hill's and Thomas's credibility has been raised, but not the performance of the Senate.

A poll by the Harberger on the senate's handling of the Clarence Thomas and Anita Hill hearings last past weekend.

Faculty, students, and staff of Harper were asked: "Do you feel the senate handled the Clarence Thomas and Anita Hill hearings correctly?"

The overall vote was 106 respondents against and 47 in favor of the Senate's investigation into Thomas's sexual harassment.

Nineteen respondents were undecided: seven were men and 12 were women.

The total number of respondents broke down into 98 being women and 14 being men.

The respondents who disagreed with the Senate investigation tactics mostly objected to the way we called for Hill and the time it took to call for the Senate to come in a final decision on Thomas. Those who agreed were more in favor of a long term investigation into Thomas's alleged sexual harassment of Hill.

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Calemki
Managing Editor	Eric Jason
News Editor	Suzanne Haskie
Faculty Advisor	Gary A. Tackie
Business Manager	Andy Leaman
A & E Editor
Feature Editor	Phil Mapes
Photo Editor	Kurt Gavelin
Sports Editor	Michael Cichy
Layout Editor	Alba Chumand and Dave Rogers
Copy Editors

EDITORIAL

Harper College prefers foreign students' checkbooks

The first portion of Harper's "Preferred Future" is currently underway. The idea is to CREATE AN ENVIRONMENT FOR INTERNATIONAL MULTICULTURAL EDUCATIONAL EXPERIENCES WHICH PROMOTE THOUGHT, APPRECIATION AND RESPECT FOR INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS AND AWARENESS OF GLOBAL INTERDEPENDENCE OF ALL HUMAN GROUPS.

The implementation of this program has begun, and just like every program or issue there are good and bad points. This time, the bad points easily outweigh the good. The plan of attracting more foreign students to Harper is a grand idea to help create the committee's concept of an international experience, but it is obviously hot air.

If this was true the price of tuition for international students wouldn't have been raised AGAIN, from $151.16 to $170.33 a credit, effective immediately. These students now resemble a rock in a hard place, because many of them don't have the funds necessary to transfer at the end of this semester.

Suddenly four-year schools are becoming more affordable and attractive to these students. Case in point, at Eastern Illinois University an international student pays the same rate as a non-resident student. Tuition for a semester is $2,394 for 12 to 18 semester hours. If a full-load is taken it works out to only $133 a semester hour.

Another thought is if it is important to attract international students to Harper shouldn't there be on campus dormitories or reasonably priced living arrangements made for these students?

A reasonable price is what everyone looks for, and that is how the committee is going to increase the participation in exchange programs such as Study Abroad.

Another part of the committee's plan deals with the hiring of administrative, faculty, professional-technical and classified staffing at Harper that will reflect the minority population in the district.

It shouldn't take a plan of any kind, let alone a "Preferred Future" to hire minorities for these positions. At last check Harper didn't have one single minority full-time faculty staff member. Does that coincide with their cultural educational experience ideas?

So far, there has been a lot of talk, and it seems like hot air. Thus far the committee has talked the talk, now let's see if they can walk the walk.

Staff

Daniel Andrews, Maggie Rutan, Dwyer Roberts, Jason Feinstein, Greg Gillingham, Kim Jensen, Caroline Lovell, Tim McChord, Jason Pick, Cara Poon, Michael Skorn, Kad Stangorfer, Matt Workman, Alexander Yankovich

Senate hearings provide good t.v. viewing

Jason Feinstein

Media Watchdog

Well, it looks like we all have our television programs back. The Senate has concluded its hearing on the allegation that Supreme Court hopeful Clarence Thomas committed sexual harassment. I remember on Friday that I got out of class pretty early and, not having to work that day, I figured that I would watch a little television. But, to my surprise, the hearings would monopolize the rest of the weekend. At first I was annoyed, but as I became engrossed in the hearings, they unfolded better than a plot from All My Children.

Well, let's have a little background first. The main reason for these hearings is that Anita Hill, a law professor from the University of Oklahoma, has accused Thomas of sexual misconduct. Hill claims that Thomas acted inappropriately when she was his assistant. Hill was Thomas's assistant when he headed the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

worked for Thomas in the EEOC and at the Department of Education. Perhaps she is imagining that all this happened. But more likely she was put up to this by the liberals who don't want Thomas on the highest court in the land. Perhaps Hill and her co-conspirators thought that this would make Thomas withdraw his nomination. They underestimated him.

I believe that these hearings have robbed the judge and his family of their integrity. No job is worth it. Hey, I'd go through with it, but I'm funny that way. I think Thomas will be confirmed. We as citizens can only hope that the Senate will eventually get to the truth and that the proper parties will be punished. I am inclined to agree with Thomas' chief supporter, Senator John Danforth. D-Mo. Sen. Danforth called these proceedings a disaster. Indeed, silly me, I thought the 1950s, witch-hunt politics, and Sen. Joe McCarthy were dead and buried.

Hill alleges that Thomas continually asked her out on dates and openly bragged about his sexual prowess. I was quite surprised to hear Hill testify that she "broke off" to his sexual organ as "Long Dong Silver," a supposed X-rated movie character I find this all too hard to swallow, no pun intended.

I think that the only truth in her testimony was that her name was Anita Hill and that she

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A307.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editors. Letters must be signed and include a valid security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of the paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Professor becomes standup comic for laugh research

University of Louisville psychiatry professor hits the road as America's Laugh Doctor

Diane Sam
Cottage Press Service

"A fellow comes up to me at a party, and he says, 'I understand you're a doctor — do something medical.'" "Point. 'So I made him wait.' Laughter. 'And then I killed him for it.' More laughter. 'When it's a good night on the comedy club circuit, America's Laugh Doctor is knocking them dead. Cliff Kuhn is giving the audience a cure for their blues. It's magic, almost chemical. They love his jokes! They love him!

And then there are bad nights when the audience is unresponsive, too embarrassed for him even to utter. He's mumbling in blind panic, trying to come up with a quick joke, anything that will make the act okay again.

For Kuhn, it's called. A standup comic's worst nightmare. But the bright nights in comedy clubs are more than just gigs to Kuhn, who went on the standup circuit this year to do in-depth research on laughter and its role in healing. His specialty as a professor of community psychiatry at the University of Louisville School of Medicine is finding out why mind-body interaction is so important to people with chronic ailments, such as rheumatoid arthritis, and life-threatening illnesses like cancer. So, with the blessing of the school, he went on sabbatical to study laughter, which has been proven to be good medicine. "I was always a frustrated comic, and ten years, researchers have found that laughter actually helps relieve some symptoms. 'Laughter raises the tolerance for pain. It also stimulates the immune system,'" said Kuhn. Laughter boosts T cells, natural killer cells. "They're in more abundance in those who laugh more. It's been well documented that laughter is a valuable tool for eliminating stress the comics throw the gauntlet down and said, 'You've got to get up there.'"

Gulp. So he did. "It was a lark. I thought I was the best comic since Bob Hope. It was the second time that was bad," Kuhn said.

"It's a terrible feeling to stand up there and hit them with a joke... and you get silence," he said. "It's really embarrassing. You panic and feel energy," he said. The secret, he said, is letting the audience know in the first 10 to 15 seconds that it's okay to laugh with you... or at you.

"There's a certain inhibition to laughing in public," said Kuhn, who noted that it was not acceptable in Western culture to laugh out loud in public until the past 200 years or so. Even now, there is a certain uneasiness and suspicion about people who smile a lot or laugh easily. They tend to be viewed as goof-offs or trouble-makers, he said.

"We sometimes feel we're being more responsible if we look at the dark side," he said. "We have a tendency in our society to take ourselves too seriously."

Kuhn said he planned to keep a diary while on his 14-city tour, take notes and interview fellow comics. Once he finishes, he plans to report the findings in a book.

The last of the road is strong, but Kuhn plans to hang up the microphone.

"I dislike it, but I really love my work in psychiatry. I have a serious commitment to bring this back into the medical community."

"We somehow feel we're being more responsible if we look at the dark side. We have a tendency in our society to take ourselves too seriously." Dr. Cliff Kuhn in one way or another," he said. Kuhn said he actually started working with standup comedians to learn the ins and outs of the trade when he began holding laughter workshops for patients with chronic conditions that defied the treatments of modern medicine. In order to present live comedy material at the workshops, Kuhn started hanging around comedy clubs.

"I asked so many questions about the techniques of comedy that they started to teach me," he said. It takes a long time to get rid of the feeling to just run off stage."

Kuhn said he has a new-found respect for the business.

"The people who are good make it look easy. It takes an awful lot of

Does Your Heart Good

American Heart Association

EXERCISE

YOUR DEGREE COULD BE CLOSER THAN YOU THINK.

Roosevelt University's Arlington Heights Campus requires fewer hours for graduation — traveling hours, that is. Not only do those hours add up, but so does the money you save, because you can live at home. What's more, our accommodating mix of week-day, weekend and evening classes permits you to make money, working part-time or even full-time. Each semester more than 2,500 students enjoy these advantages while pursuing a degree at Roosevelt.

You can earn your bachelor's or master's degree entirely at our Albert A. Robin Campus in a variety of subject areas including Business Administration, Education, English, Public Administration, and History.

So when you consider which four-year university to attend, remember you can go a long way further in your education when you don't have to go a long way to your campus.

A Roosevelt semester will be on your campus Tuesday, October 22 from 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. in the Lounge, and will also be available at the College Park Theatre, October 26 from 1:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. in the A Building.

Roosevelt University

A Force in Chicago's Future

Albert A. Robin Campus
2121 S. Goodlet Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005 • (708) 437-8200
Downstate Campus • 430 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60605 • (312) 341-2000

Roosevelt University
Albert A. Robin Campus • 2121 S. Goodlet Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005
Please send me further information and a schedule of classes. I am considering enrolling at Roosevelt in _____ ☐ Fall ☐ Spring ☐ Summer 19____

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____
TELEPHONE _____

HealthCorner

FOR HEALTH THAT MATTERS

Free health services available to students

The Health Service is located in Building A, Room 362, and is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday. Registered nurses staff the Health Service and the following services are available without charge to students:

- Confidential Health Counseling
- First Aid
- Over-the-counter medications
- Medical parking permits
- Health education / brochures, counseling
- Student hospitalization insurance information
- Administration of allergy injections
- Referrals for health problems
- Substance abuse information and referral
- Rx area
- Blood pressure screening
- Cholesterol screening ($2 fee)
- Confidential and free testing for:
  - Mononucleosis
  - Pregnancy
  - Tuberculosis
  - Sexually transmitted diseases
  - Hemoglobin
  - Vision deficiencies
  - Hearing deficiencies
  - Tenent cultures

Part-time physicians provide medical care and one-half hours per day during the fall and spring semesters. They diagnose, treat, and prescribe medications, laboratory tests and x-rays as needed. Call the Health Service at extension 2268 if you have any questions. Use the services, they're free, confidential, and for you!

The Health Service is also the resource for all wellness programs on campus including the Drug, Alcohol and Wellness Network (DAWN). This is a comprehensive proactive drug and alcohol prevention program for students and other members of the Harper College community.

DAWN provides education programs, support groups, counseling, resource and referral information and the Peer Educators' Listening to Students (PELS) program. DAWN also invites your participation in the development and implementation of programs and activities. For additional information, contact the DAWN office in Health Service, 362, extension 3626.

Seminar offered to help maintain a healthy lifestyle

A free seminar to help maintain a healthy lifestyle will be offered at Harper through the Physical Education, Athletics and Recreation Division.

On Saturday, October 19, Exercise Physiologist Kelly Wickstrom will present "Eat to Live." The seminar will cover the how-to's of a strength training program ranging from calisthenics to the use of resistance equipment.

The seminar will be held from 9 - 10 a.m. in Building M, Room 244.

To register, please contact the Human Performance Laboratory at 397-3600, extension 2468.

The Harper College literary-art magazine Point of View is looking for two student editors for this year.

Literary Editor

The Literary Editor directs the selection and preparation of writing that will be published in the magazine.

Art Editor

The Art Editor selects art work for publication and designs the magazine.

These positions involve a great deal of work and responsibility, but they can become a valuable part of a student's credentials for college transfer and employment.

Any student interested in either of these positions should contact Dr. Frank Smith in F-348B, ext. 2777 or Jeanne Pankam, Student Activities.

Gilliam hooks another winner

Asta Consuegra
Harbinger Staff Writer

And now for something remarkably Gilliam-esque... It's The Fisher King. Director Terry Gilliam, the genius behind Time Bandits, Brazil and The Adventures of Baron Munchausen, treats viewers to a tale of life, love, sanity, redemption and the Holy Grail.

The film is the first Gilliam vehicle based on someone else's work. The screenplay, written by Richard LaGravenese, has interesting characters, wild hallucinations and the Holy Grail. It breathes of Gilliam's imagery. It's hard to believe he's not the author.

The Fisher King tells the story of Jack Lucas (Jeff Bridges) and Parry (Robin Williams). Jack is an abrasive, New York stock radio personality. One day, his vulgar, offhand remarks cause a disturbed lunatic to kill seven people at a popular yuppie bar.

Three years later, a guilt-stricken Jack drifts into an alcoholic stupor. He's saved by his long-suffering girlfriend Anne (Mercedes Ruehl), a video store owner. She advises Jack but he's too self-absorbed to notice her.

Jack's life changes when he meets Parry, a homeless man who believes he is a medieval knight.

Parry (Robin Williams, left) is a street person living in a world of his own who helps horror DJ Jack Lucas (Jeff Bridges).

Parry's mission is to rescue the damsel Lydia (Ananda Purnani) from her elf captivity and to retrieve the Holy Grail from a millionaire's Fifth Avenue mansion.

Soon Jack discovers that Parry, a former professor of medieval history, legend and mystery when his wife was murdered in the bar incident.

Jack, in his search for redemption, agrees to assist Parry on his quest for Lydia and the Holy Grail.

The film is full of Gilliam's brilliant imagery like Parry's hallucinations of the flame-spewing Red Knight and the wailing commotion at Grand Central Station.

Jack's rise and fall are shown through extreme close-ups, unusual angles and vertical camera movements.

The Fisher King is a crowd-pleaser. Its cast (Bridges, Williams, Ruehl and Purnani) gives life to an intriguing story. The innuendo of street people like Michael Jeter as a transvestite who sings Faded Memories adds to the magic.

Kudos to Terry Gilliam and Richard LaGravenese for a first-rate script, great casting, vivid imagery and a convenient escape from reality. Long may they reign!

Rating: ★★★★★ out of 5

Curse of the evil Gorgon

Kari Gellis
Asta Consuegra
Harbinger Editors

Frenzy ensues as the line the aircrew: they eye longingly at the planes in the distance. Before they can fly they must put in their time in the flight simulators.

The picture is the same at Medusa, a juke bar for those too lame to have like MD. Medusa's meaning: ground for real bars, but barely.

Medusa is located at the corner of West Madison and West Chicago in Chicago. The outside of the building is devoid of any marking other than a few small red lights over the front door. Believe us, they have good reasons for keeping it hidden.

There are two separate areas to dance, or with the bulk of the dancers not to dance. Five meters they play "two-step" while upstairs they play "alternative" with videos projected upon two opposite walls, giving you the impression of being crushed between the 10 ft mannequins of Jesus Jones.

The alternative music is adulterated by the addition of monotonous dance beats for those who are unable to comprehend the rhythm. Originally, provided. This belittles the artist's intentions. Some music was not intended to be danced to like the release on MD.

Having the limited dance music appears as a good idea. After hearing the remix of Head 1 like a hole by Nine Inch Nails, among the other traxxes to mix, one wants to throw themselves from a high place.

Even with the dance beats added, only a scant few felt compelled to get off their butts and stop staring vacantly into dancer-free space. The system of disco flashing disco-batons flowing that rise up from the heavily scratched hardwood floor was used primarily for seating rather than dancing.

The biggest action was a man-mosh circle that popped up through the efforts of about 20 pseudo-punks to Stup by Jane's Addiction. The only thing accomplished was running around in a circle as if they were playing ring-around-the-posey. They then promptly returned to their vegetative state when Ministry's Burning Inside came on.

Public Enemy's new single, Shook the crowd with its presence. After they recovered a few pretended to be Chuck D or mimed a fake Slave Dance.

Basically, the entire Medusa crowd was filled to the brim with grim. The vampire coffin chicks, decked out in clothing as dark as their attitudes, were out in full force. They conversed with the preppies, who were looking dapper in the school-type clothing their mothers set out for them.

They were usually set off by the presence of the neo-punks who mostly looked strange but strangely out of place in the "alternative" dance area.

The minimalist decor, which possessed the lighting, typically needed by your average vampire, was at least populated. The seething masses were grooving to an alternative deviant house music. The problem here was that instead of hip hopping, the crowd was simply booping.

While it was interesting to watch a human version of Pop Secret over an open flame, the upper level still had the possibility of being the mediocrity of their version of house music.

Medusa is supposed to be a good, though inconsistent night to night, but for the underage crowd as well as those over 21. On any other night it might be a swamping place, though we'd rather not risk our $7 cover charge again. We've heard the Ennio takes a dump, or something in that effect, is out and not to save our money for that gala event is dumber than going to Medusa's in the first place.

Rating: — out of five

Sotavento's cultural exchange

Bringing traditional Latin music has been a goal of Sotavento since its inception in 1981. The band formed while they were students at the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

People are opening up and experiencing new types of music and not letting a language barrier stop them from listening," said band member Jaime Guasche.

Their goal is to bring the Latin culture to audiences through the music they play.

The members of Sotavento from left to right are Anne Frost, Orlando Cabrera, Jaime Guasche, Laura Brown and Francisco Lopez.

schaumburg something....

dance, jazz, and contemporary music at the schaumburg prairie center for the arts chicago repertory dance ensemble -- "chicago's best dancers on a single bill," dance magazine. chi-town jazz dance -- "decidedly fresh, impressively eager, and undeniably entertaining," chicago reader. ballet chicago -- "well on its way to establishing itself as a resident ballet company chicago can take pride in," chicago reader. laurel masse -- "one of the two or three best female jazz singers this side of sara and ella," chicago sun-times. mr. b -- "mr. b knows the complete legacy of the blues piano. no many pianists in this style play with more conviction," download. turtle island string quartet -- "i've never heard a better integrated product of jazz, blues, bluegrass, rock, pop and classical influences," stanford times-tribune. winter solstice (with pianist liz story, bassist michael manning, and the modern mandolin quartet) -- "warm with honesty and integrity," gloucester county times. david bromberg -- "one of the finest guitar players in the bluegrass field," new york post. the persuasions -- "simply brilliant, applying their incredible, octave-skipping (a rhapsody) streetcorner harmonies to a collection of classics," warabington. exclusive engagement christopher haughlin and barred haque -- acclaimed classical guitarist and revered jazz acoustic guitarist together for an evening of brilliance, premiering an original composition for this concert.

chicago repertory dance sat. oct. 12 - 8pm chi-town jazz dance sat. jan. 18 - 8pm ballet chicago sat. apr. 25 - 8pm

for tickets call the prairie center box office weekdays 10am - 2pm at 708/894-3600

SCHAUMBURG PRAIRIE CENTER FOR THE ARTS 201 schauburg ct, schauburg, il

laurel masse sat. oct. 19 - 8pm mr. b sat. nov. 16 - 8pm

turtle island sun. apr. 12 - 7:30 winter solstice sat. dec. 7 - 8pm

david bromberg sat. jan. 25 - 8pm the persuasions sat. may 2 - 8pm

laughlin & haque sat. mar. 7 - 8pm

Sandman breaks stereotypes He's not your average comic book hero

Michael Cichy

Prometheus Unbound

This weekend some members of the editorial board and I headed out to see Nirvana at Carnegie (that's in Chicago for all you suburban home bodies), then stay and celebrate the twenty-first birthday of the youngest member of our group. Unfortunately, as we approached the door, the show sold out. (45%)

We then decided to go to Madonna's until midnight, then return to Metro to celebrate BIG MISTAKE! For further details, see the Madonna's obituary in our group. Unfortunately, as we approached the door, the show sold out. (45%)

The Sandman comic book, but not a drooping super-hero comic (like any of those published by Marvel Comics). The Sandman is published by DC as part of their mature readers line. Since the popularity of the series has made it almost impossible to find any back issues of the series, DC has released three compilation books covering the first twenty issues of the series. The Sandman is Morpheus, a.k.a. Dream, an anthropomorphic entity who is the embodiment of dreams and nightmares. He is the younger brother of Destiny and Death, and the older brother of Desire, Dope, and Delirium. He's not a super-hero, and cannot be considered as anything close to that. He does not fight super-villains or injustice, rather the stories are about Morpheus's dealings with the affairs of the Dream King (his job, if you will).

The Sandman is the creation of Neil Gaiman, Sam Keith, and Mike Dringberg. All the issues are written by Neil Gaiman, whose stories have been compared to those by Alan Moore. While Gaiman's series border on the horror genre, they are more thoughtfully written than the typical horror comic. His stories are commonly grouped with those by Grant Morrison, but Gaiman's stories are more nearly as abstract as Morrison's.

The first book, Pandora, covers the first eight issues of the series. It starts with the capture and eventual escape of Morpheus. He is captured by Rowena, a woman who is supposed to be a contemporary of Alexander the Great. Rowena attempts to capture Death, but gets Morpheus instead. He is held prisoner for seventy-two years by Rowena, and later by Death's son, Aion.

Morpheus eventually escapes, but finds that he has three tools: a pouch of sand that never runs out, a helmet, and a robe. He has been stolen. The remainder of the story is his quest to regain these tools, which he comes increasing difficult. The final chapter involves a meeting with Death, as Death reminds him of his purpose. The most impressive character in this story is Death, who is portrayed as a likable character, rather than the old Marvel "death to villain" stereotype.

A Dot's House is the second book, covering issues 9 through 16. The first chapter is the Morpheus/Death meeting, the same as in the first book. This book was first released several months ago, and the eighth issue was added to the Excalibur and Nightmare book because Neil Gaiman wanted it that way.

This story involves Rose Walker, a twenty-one year old woman who is looking for her missing brother. Rose is also a Vortex, a person who threatens all civilization if Morpheus does not stop her. Morpheus, meanwhile, must also track down four Major Arcana, "living" personifications of dreams and nightmares, who have escaped to Dreaming (the realm of dreams). On top of that, he has a "price engagement" which he must attend. The intricate plot line is made even more enjoyable by the interesting characters in the story.

At one point, Gaiman also lampoons those annoying hotel conventions by showing the reader a several after convention. The story manages to remain a serious matter while having several moments of black comedy.

The Dream Country is a compilation of four stories that are not part of an ongoing story. The stories range from cats who are unhappy with their life, a captured Muse forced into slavery to the "origins" of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream.

Any or all of the books are definitely worth the price (about $13.00), as are the current issues of the series. A new plot-line has been just started (featuring a character from the Lois L'Amour story line), so now would be a good time to pick up an issue. If you need additional atmosphere to read this turn them off all lights, other than your reading lamp, and go on some Skinny Puppy or Legendary Pink Dots and enter the Dreaming.

Harper art eats student

Palatine Police and Public Safety are launching an investigation into the alleged consumption of a Harper student.

"Artwork is usually not known for this sort of thing," said Thomas Forester, adjunct art professor.

The accused student's name is being withheld pending the conclusion of the next class.

The accused student's name is being withheld pending the conclusion of the next class.

Industrial funk?

Christopher Garofalo

Die Warrau
BIG ELECTRIC METAL BASS FACE
Atlantic

First let me talk about the album title. BIG ELECTRIC METAL BASS FACE. This album is big with over sixty minutes of music, and it sure is electric—or rather electronic. Metal? No, they're not a metal band but there's plenty of them on the fourteen songs. I don't know where they got face from, however. It just flashes off the title and sounds well together. This industrial type guys did something a little odd this time around. They added a certain funk to a few of the tracks. Don't ask if it's better or worse—just different.

Their first single, Funkopolis, is a pretty decent track with plenty of funk, hence the name. I'm not a funk fan, but it's a good funk, industrial funk. The title single, Are Corvids, is actually better than Funkopolis, but unfortunately doesn't appear on the album.

Some songs that you've heard are Brand New Convertible Car and Suck It Up, although the latter is funny as a sick way. If those two songs are to your liking, it only gets better from there.

All you kiddies under eighteen may wish to content with your parents before investigating this album any further because there is a parental advisory sticker on the packaging. Oh no! Not that!

There is a Skinny Puppy influenced song, Red All Over, which is fine for Die Warrau but if Skinny Puppy did it, they might be laughed at for lack of creativity.

The most listenable songs are Stock Bro, My Pretty Little Girlfriend, and my personal favorite, Dung in Paradise. All have the strong industrial beat that is more akin to DISCO RIDGEO. The very last song on the album is Head. It adds a refreshing In The Nursery feel which is purely instrumental with no beat. Maybe the fact that this album was partially recorded at Chicago Train made them realize that in The Nursery isn't that bad. Even my grandfather may like this song.

What exactly does Die Warrau sound like? Well, this album is different from their 1989 debut, but this album is a cross between Nitzer Ebb, The Weathermen, Front 242 and James Brown. Just only on a few of the songs. Why, you ask? Christe has a Nitzer Ebb vocal quality, the writing skills of The Weathermen.

The monumentality of Front 242 and the influence of James Brown's rhythms (and again, only on a few of the tracks).

DISCORDINGO was good, but BIG ELECTRIC METAL BASSFACE is better with more concrete material and less nonsense like Sexus from 1989. If you've never heard Die Warrau before, I would recommend BIG ELECTRIC METAL BASSFACE as a start. Whether or not fans of DISCO RIDGEO will like this is another story. If industrial dance is your option, go for the bass face. If dance mixed with newwave and other mayhem is to your taste, then opt for DISCO RIDGEO. All in all, I would still recommend the bass face if not only to see how Christie and Marcus have progressed (or regressed for you non-believers) over the course of two years.

Rating: ★★★★★ out of 5

Editors note: Last weeks review of the Shaman should have read ★★★★★ instead of ★★★★★ as printed.

OUTGOING?

UPBEAT?
Wild & Crazy?

Be Yourself At Applebee's!

Grand Opening Job Fair
New Hiring For All Positions
Come be part of the fun at Applebee's Neighborhood Grill and Bar the newest restaurant concept to hit the westland located at One Schuamling Place.

APPLY MON. - SAT. from 10am - 3pm & 5pm - 7pm
LA QUINTA INN - SCHUAMLING PLACE
Located behind the Schuamling Place
On Higgins Road

Neighborhood Grill & Bar
ONE SCHUAMLING PLACE

Equal Opportunity Employer

The Harbinger Wants you!

The Harbinger is seeking writers, copy editors and a feature editor. No experience necessary, just ambition, drive and the dedication necessary to put out the finest college newspaper possible.

If you are interested contact the Harbinger office at A367, or call 397-3300 extension 2463.

PORTABLE PACKAGES

286 LAPTOPS & CAMS
BUBBLE-JET PRINTERS AS LOW AS $1995 AND EVEN LESS SOLD INDIVIDUALLY
ALSO: CALL VIRGIL AT 616-1347

COMICS

TROUBLE SLEEPING... by Jason Beck

BEWARE: MADBOY COMICS ARE RETURNING. SAME!

"LAST YEAR I EARNED A 3.5 AND $10,000."

"My GPA went up last year, but I guess that figures. A major university study showed that students who work 15 to 20 hours a week do better academically. It's true for me. And I've got UPS to thank for it."

"I know students who work for UPS do better financially. I'm working part-time and making about $10,000 a year. The hours are good too. I only work about four hours per day, so I still have time for classes and study. Chances are you'll be offered a position in Operations. But you could wind up working in Accounting, Industrial Engineering, IS, or Customer Service."

"Think of it—great pay, flexible hours and maybe even better grades. There isn't another outfit anywhere with a better deal than that. That's a lot better than average."

Openings exist at UPS Palatine, 21001 Hicks Road (corner of Rand and Hicks). Interviews conducted Monday's 3pm to 5pm and Wednesday's 9am to 11am. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Call 705-6425 for more information.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US.
UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger October 17, 1991 7

Help Wanted

Heal The Earth / Teach Others
Earn $100-2000 per month. For interview appointment call Jo at 558-0148.

ASSEMBLERS:
Excellent income to assemble products from your home. Info 504-646-1700 Dept. P3798

O'Hare area company has openings in shipping/receiving. Full and Part Time evenings with one weekend day required. Flexible hours days. Call Todd after 3pm 593-2139

COLLECTIONS
Telephone collection work, part time, days flexible hours. Call Joe Fischer after 11 am for an interview. LAMAR AGENCY, INC. 884-4700

SCHOLARSHIPS, GRANTS...

No matter what your grades are... You may qualify for thousands of dollars in financial aid and it won't cost you one cent. We know the what's - where's - how's on qualifying for this money!! Do you?? Complete details $5.00
SCHOLARSHIP LOCATING SERVICES OF AMERICA, INC. 401 W. Army Trail Road, Suite 122 Carol Stream, IL 60188

Help Wanted

Harper Game Room Supervisor Wanted
$4.50 Some days mostly evening hours available. Contact Student Activities: 4336, 597-3000 ext. 2242

Advertising Sales
Aggressive sell starter for PT/PT temporary employment. Must have own transportation. Unlimited earning potential. Commission only. Sales. For appl. call Mike at 373-6602

PANAMA CITY BEACH
This Spring Break earn free trips and make the most money. Sell the best location on the beach next to the world's largest night clubs. Campus reps organizations needed for promote Spring Break. Call Kim at 1-800-558-3002

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services. Term papers resumes cover letters etc. Low Rates! Laser Print Call Lori @ 708-705-1673

Typing/WP Service
Resumes, Term Papers Laser Print Quality. Time 708/891-3108

Tutoring by Ph. D.
Undergraduate Science & Math. Call 708-913-8262

Wanted: Students Who Care About Their Grades
Tired of having your grades lowered due to poor typing and/or spelling? I can help. I can also incorporate charts or graphs if needed. Only $2.00 per page for plan text. Additional charges for charts and graphs. CALL TODAY! Call Randy at 708-555-4993

THOMAS 52 Hill 48 (SUDDEN DEATH)

Services

NEED WORD PROCESSING? NEED IT FAST?
We'll have the answer for you. Call D & J services for all your desk top needs. Prompt service at reasonable rates. CALL NOW! 708-832-4562

NEED A TYPIST? I HAVE OVER 15 YEARS EXPERIENCE
in academic and resume typing. Computer and letter quality printer used. Call ATACE SECRETARIAL SERVICE 708/213-5885

LOSE FAT, GAIN MUSCLE
Breathru products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight loss without drugs, denial or deprivation. Lose 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-alteral formula. Ivan 708-658-5391

Herb Restoration
Restore your health with the natural use of Ayurveda and Mysore Herbs. Various medical services provided. Home Baths INC. BP checks, Licensed and certified professionals. 708-427-1909

Roommates

Single female looking for roommate for 2 bedroom 2 bath home in Hoffman Estates. Female preferred. Call Jeannine Carwell at 388-3636 or 519-1702 in the evenings

Single White Male looking for roommate 10 share apartment. Respectful of privacy and property. 1 year lease agreement. Approx. $112 per month. Harper area. Call John Daytime 459-5528 ext. 222. Night 339-3852

For Sale

1992 NUDE COED CALENDAR
featuring nude Illinois college women. Mail $4.95 to: COED CALENDAR P.O. BOX 434H DEKALB IL 601156

83 BMW 320i
Red w/blk interior 5 spd. 6ix. GREAT COLLEGE CAR. Mini cond. Sony removable stereo (am/fm/cass). Sunroof alloy wheels all maintenance rec. $4900 O.B.O.
70 Mustang
velvet int. $15,000. Invested $7500 O.B.O. Mini condition. Call Pete at 312-775-1563

Fitness

The Search is Over.
Why are so many NFL Athletes MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company. We create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW! 708-658-5391

Information

Standard Classified Rates and Information
Commercial classifications are $4.50 for the first four lines $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call (708) 387-3000, ext. 2450, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210

Why settle for second BEST when you can have the WORLD

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

"WE FEATURE"

- Aerobics: High/Low Impact and Step Classes
- Cybex Circuit Training with Rehabilitation Equipment
- Lifecycles • Stairmasters
- Cybex Most Advanced Free Weight Equipment
- Child Care • Saunas • Towel Service • Pro Shop
- Individual Fitness/Nutritional Counseling

HOURS
M-F 6:00 AM - 11:00 PM
Sat 8:00 AM - 7:00 PM
Sun 9:00 AM - 6:00 PM

Have the Healthiest Body In the World at:
WORLD GYM & FITNESS

(Loehmann's Plaza)

Call 228-7775 for more info
262 E. GOLF RD., ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
DIRECTIONS: 1 block east of Arlington Heights Rd. on Golf, in Loehmann's Plaza Shopping Center.

THE BIG KAHUNA HALLOWEEN PARTY
aka big name for a big party

Join us for one Wild Halloween Party.
Thursday, October 31!
Sponsored by Coors Light.

$1,000 Cash for Best Costume!

• Ghouliah games for spooky prizes!

Y108

• Elvira look Alike Contest.
Win $500 Cash!

Coors LIGHT.

708 Algonquin Rd., Arlington Heights, IL (708) 430-4504

HAWKING SPORTS

■ 3 October 15, 2001

• SPORTS FINAL •

Hawks clinch division with win over Trojans

52-14 victory ensures Harper division crown

Karl Gossau
Hawkeye Sports Editor

When the Hawks faced the Trojans last Saturday, their goal was to prove to the schedule wrong. After all, they naively believed that it would take the Hawks nine games to win the North Central Community College Conference (NCC) when it only took seven.

The Hawks' clinched sole possession of first by lambasting conference adversary Trojans 52-14. By defeating Trojans that finished the season with a perfect 6-0 record in conference, with only two non-conference games remaining.

Normally Head Coach John Hatawk would be patting the sidelines, for the eleven ranked Hawks, but he decided to reserve from football to compete in a Florida golf tournament was needed.

Defensive Coordinator John Newcomb was left in charge to decide how to attack the Trojans, who rank last in conference, allowing 29 points per game.

Quarterback Steve Matthews made that an easy choice. Matthews finally demonstrated the potential that made him one of the top QB's coming out of high school by completing 10 of 14 passes for 200 yards and 4 TD's.

"Offensive Coordinator Ron Larkham was giving me a lot of freedom," Matthews said.

Matthews' favorite target was sophomore Nick Bly, who he hit four times for 63 yards and a touchdown. Derrick Harris also exploited Trojans' defense, rushing for only 12 yards in 11 carries but receiving 2 passes for 62 yards with two touchdowns.

While Harper's offense amounted over 300 yards of offense, the Hawks' defense held Trojans' star QB Chad Bowman to 69 yards, 11 below his conference leading average.

"Our whole defense played tremendously," said defensive back Mike Miller, "we have by far the best defense in the conference."

Miller led the Harper D that forced six turnovers and blocked three punts, two of which led to touchdowns. Other defense players who had integral roles in the win were: Thomas Jackson, Paul McAndrews, Jeff White, Lawan Young, Mike Martinez and Darnan Dickerson.

The Hawks started in their usual fashion quick. On the Hawks' first play from scrimmage, Matthews threw a dump pass to Harris who dashed 57 yards for the sideline for a touchdown.

Martinez keyed the next Harper score when he took out two guys on Trojans' punt blocking formation allowing Miller an easy route to block the punt. White picked up the loose ball and scrambled into the end zone just three minutes into the game.

Yet another blocked punt led to a Harper's offensive when punter after the block, Matthews threw a screen pass to Harris who slipped in for an easy six A 20-yard Tim Newman field goal and Matthews' 35-yard TD hookup led to a 34-0 Harper lead after the first quarter.

In the second Harper would

Defensive lineman Lawan Young spearheads the Harper blitz

keep the pressure on when Matthews would find a diving Brett Summers in the end zone. Yet another Harde's 25-yard TD run would put the Hawks up 45-0 at the half. The Hawks' only score of the second half was a 5-yard TD run by freshman fullback Trevor Rogers. Newman's seventh PAT gave the Hawks a 52-0 lead at the end of three.

The Trojans mounted a huge comeback after taking some Harper ribbing in the fourth, but even after two TD's, the final score still did not make the game look closer than it actually was.

Harper's next contest will be Saturday against University of Wisconsin IV team.

Gym Shorts

Academic accolades

The NCAA released its Academic All-American list last week. Of the head JCO athletes to make the list, Harper topped all colleges with three. The students included were: Sharon Edge, 1.6th grade point average (GPA), Lisa Berg, 3.63 GPA and Mike Theodorakis, 3.60. The other four local junior colleges (McHenry, Wright, CCO and Oakton) were represented by only one student/athlete each.

Coaches picks

Following last week's announcement at Rock Valley, The Harper football team's coaches named their players of the week. The players were: on offense, Derrick Harris with 144 yards and a TD, on special teams, kicker Tim Newman, who had a 23-yard field goal and won 3 for 3 on extra-points and for the defensive squad, Tom Jackson, for his point pass rush.

Golfer honored

Harper golfer Marc Ishihashi was selected for the NCAA national golf tournament. This honor comes just after he led the team to their best finish of the season. Last weekend the Hawks took third place at the NCAA Region IV tournament in Freeport at the Park Hills Golf Club in their final composition of the 1991 campaign.

Bull's championship first of many to come

Tim McDonald

Courtside

Remember Da Bulls? Well, they are back. The 1990-1991 NBA Champions are back training camp preparing to defend their crown. Most often, the hardest part of winning championships is defending it.

The Bulls will only repeat if they stay healthy. Michael Jordan received some much needed rest over the off-season but it was not the normal amount he gets with the Bulls playing midway into June. The rest of the team came into camp looking decent. The biggest surprise on the first week of camp was B.J. Armstrong. B.J. put on twenty pounds over the off-season and it looks like he'll make it. He will take away John Paxson's job this season if Phil Jackson allows him to see the truth.

The Bulls' depth chart at every position is very good until you look at center. Bill Cartwright could slide and highly over paid. The Bulls' front office should spend the money to pick up a decent free agent center or even make a trade.

Will Pender is what you would call nothing. He made some contributions in the playoffs last season and now the Bulls' coaching staff have a new confidence in what I would call nothing. I saw a video of I draft choice.

At guard, the Bulls have Michael Jordan, B.J. Armstrong and John Paxson. Paxson will always be decent but youth is where it's at. B.J. deserves the shot to run the team.

Point guard has always been an important part of any team. B.J. can run the ball up the court as fast as the next player. He needs the experience that playing everyday gives a player. Phil Jackson will have some big decisions to make opening day at point guard.

At forward, the Bulls have the premiere power forward in Horace Grant. He was the only player last season that stayed consistent on a daily basis. He constantly puts up the points and pulls down the rebounds. He will be around for years to come. Scottie Pippen is decent, I know. How can I say he is only decent when he is playing for the U.S. Olympic Team? Scottie played all last season very inconsistently. One game he would put up 30 points and the next 10. If he wants to be a superstar he needs to get it together this year and play every game the way he played in the Finals last season.

Sney King can be summed up in one word: Disappointing.

Will Phil Jackson give him playing time? We'll have to wait and see. He needs time to develop and only Jackson can give him that. If we are not going to develop him, get rid of his $15 million dollar salary and spend it on players with value like Scott Williams. Williams is a good bench player. He adds spark in the team and always gives everything he has in the team. Mark Randall may ultimately take Williams' spot on the roster. I don't like that idea but the Bulls' front office might.

The Bulls have the team of the 90's. Michael Jordan has not peaked yet and will continue to build this Bulls' team into a dynasty. The Bulls' have the best fans but I really don't think they will accept anything less than an other winning year. The Bulls will be different than other Chicago winners in years past. This year, they will win again.

Volleyball team ready for post-season

Karl Gossau
Hawkeye Sports Editor

For only the third time in 20 years, the Harper women's volleyball team has reached the 20-team playoffs. After handily defeating Moraine Valley last Thursday, the Hawks' overall record stands at 20-6-2, 5-0 in the National Community College Conference (NCC).

The Hawks still have five tournaments remaining in a parts quein, so their chances of eclipsing Harper's best record of 26-2-0, 26-2, set in 1986 are good.

With the NCC volleyball tournament on Saturday, October 19, at Trojans and the Region IV playoffs starting on Tuesday, October 29, the Hawks are poised for post-season action.

"We're in a nice position...being in control of our own destiny," said Head Coach Renee Picus. "We're playing the best (bull) right now that we have been playing all year."

Though winning is a terrific effort, Harper Hawk stands out: Sophomore Amy Longmore.

Her performance this season has led many to believe she is a National All American. And with statistics like a 450 hitting efficiency, good for seventh in the nation, no one can disagree. During Harper's sweep at the All-Henry Quad meet, in 10 attempts, Longmore tallied 8 kills in 10 sets, unanimous All-Tournament Player selection.

Even with Longmore filling the tough middle hitter position, volleyball is a team sport. Without the help other talented players, Harper would be useless in the NCC instead of perfect. The other Hawks are: Brooke McKissack, Lynette Novy, Monica Plamoni, Erin Hammy, Karli Baatz, Erin Turner, Kerry Lee, Christa Moore, Dana Larson and Desiree Hammy.

The Hawks' next meet is Thursday versus Elgin and Highland at Elgin.

THE LARBINGER

William Shinnery-Harper College

October 24, 1991

COLLEGE TRANSFER
GUIDE PULL-OUT

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

The Drovers concert

Page 6

FEATURES

President Paul Thompson enters Hall of Fame

Page 5

SPORTS

Women's volleyball smashes off Wright

Page 12

Derrick Harris and the Hawks demolish U of W (LaCrosse) en route to new school records

Page 12

CONTENTS

News	2
Letters to the Editor	3
Opinion	3
Features	5
Health corner	6
Arts & Entertainment	6-7
Guests & Books Review	6
Comics	9
Crossfields	10
Sports	11-12

Board candidates speak out

Kurt Gelsus
Harberger Managing Editor

For the first time in recent history, a majority of the Harper board of trustee seats are up for re-election. Voters in the November 5 election will decide who will receive four of the seven board positions.

Three weeks prior to the election, on October 17, the Daily Herald and the Palatine League of Women Voters sponsored a forum at the Palatine Senior Center to give the ten candidates some exposure to the public and press.

The normal procedure for the trustee election would be a three-year rotating plan two seats are available in concurrent years and three seats are up for election during the third year.

This method was adopted to prevent a controlling majority from being decided in a single election. Unfortunately, the resignation of ex-trustee Susanne Orzech during the three-year year caused a majority of the seats to become available.

"This is the first time in my [president's] history that this has happened," said President Paul Thompson.

"It's just not supposed to happen this way," said incumbent candidate Larry Meiss.

Board of Trustees candidates take questions from the audience during the candidate forum last Thursday forum for potential members to express their platforms to those in attendance.

Paul Gelsus

One of the most controversial topics discussed was Harper's apparent lack of full-time minority professors.

Most candidates were in consensus that a more active approach must be taken in the hiring of minority instructors.

"We owe it to our students to provide a more culturally diverse faculty," Meiss said. "Frankly, I don't think we've worked hard enough to hire [minorities]."

The only candidate to disagree with this aggressive minority hiring policy was Jacqueline Rothman.

"I don't believe that anyone should be hired because they are a minority," Rothman said. "If we go through Harper's faculty, you will find that it is multi-ethnic."

Aside from Rothman, most candidates supported minority hiring plans like advertising in ethnic publications or contacting the local universities to make Harper's employment opportunities known.

Another hot topic was Harper's current smoking policy.

All of the candidates supported the campus-wide smoking ban, with the exception of Barbara Hart.

"People tend to smoke in areas where they should not," Hart said. "I feel a ventilated area should be provided for the smoking public."

"Part of [Harper's] preferred future is to be a leader in the community," said incumbent Stephen McCulley. "We have to look at the health of our community, students and staff."

With a near faculty strike in 1990, many of the board members discussed the need for communication between faculty and administration.

"I think we have had a lot of lip service," said Eliott Mann. "We have to sit down and be sincere, be honest."

One subject that few commented on was Harper's approval of the 1.5 million dollar bookstore/classroom expansion.

Only Meiss criticized his position on this issue.

"I am opposed to the bookstore as an unnecessary expenditure to get rid of long lines two times a year," Meiss said. "However, I think the addition of the classroom space is necessary."

Gandhi's speech stresses peace, non-violence as key to end racism

Eric Jason

Harberger News Editor

Improving the world through non-violence was the topic of Arun Gandhi's speech at Harper last Wednesday. Gandhi, who is the grandson of India's former Prime Minister Mahatma Gandhi, spoke about the continued importance of his grandfather's teachings.

"Non-violence is an eternal concept. If we make an effort to learn it and apply it in our daily lives, we can bring about a substantial change in our society," said Gandhi.

Gandhi's speech centered mostly on the success of non-violent protests in the past against oppressive forces. He explained an incident that occurred in Nazi Germany when Jewish spouses were taken away to prison camps for being married to German citizens. The 10,000 families involved in this situation blocked access to the prison camp in protest, eventually forcing Hitler to rescind the order. They succeeded without using violence, even under the threat of death by German soldiers.

Gandhi argued that non-violence is the key to becoming a civilized culture and that it can be only done by reducing violence to an all-time minimum.

In an effort to make non-violence useful to society, Gandhi created the Center for Non-Violent Study. It will be centered in Florida and will be aimed at students at the college and elementary level.

Gandhi's speech also addressed the dangers of passive violence (attitudes of hate and oppression) in our world and how it could do more long-term harm than individual acts of physical violence.

Gandhi is presently conducting a study dealing with the problem of racism in America. It represents perhaps one of the most dangerous types of passive violence.

"America is not a melting pot, because a melting pot implies that everything inside is made into one," Gandhi said. "I would rather look at America as a bowl of mixed salad."

Racial differences, according to Gandhi, are rampant throughout our country, most strongly in politics. He sees people like Judge Clarence Thomas and President Bush using racism to gain and maintain power.

"Now, you have racism on a different level, and politicians have

Arun Gandhi spoke of the relevance of non-violence in Building 3 last Wednesday been exploiting it for elections and other things," Gandhi said. "It's on both sides. I'm not just blaming the whites but even the blacks are doing the same thing."

Paul Meiss

Gandhi said the racism problem in America is growing because of the power struggles between different racial and cultural groups.

It is no longer a matter of one group being totally dominated by another like racism in the south during the 60's.

"It is leading to a sense of confusion. Each side is trying to see how much they can get from the other side by embarrassing them and getting things out of them," Gandhi said.

Gandhi sees activities that educate people about different cultures as important ways of ending prejudice.

"Yes, I think it [Harper's Intercultural Week] is a very good idea. It helps people understand different cultures and attitudes," Gandhi said. "Through that sort of understanding we can come to appreciate one another."

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Galenski
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Kurt Goslin
News Editor	Eric Jasen
Features Editor	Andy Learman
A & E Editor	Phil Mapes
Sports Editor	Alina Chivladu, Linda De Luca and Dave Rogers
Photo Editor	Michael C. Chy
Copy Editor	Suzanne Harvie
Layout Editor
Faculty Advisor

EDITORIAL

Board of Trustees cares.... about what

To care or not to care about the students of Harper College, that is the question. Unfortunately, by ignoring this question, the Board of Trustees shows us how students are little more than pawns in their political chess game.

You would think a Board of Trustees elected by the people would serve the people. Instead, the only thing served in Board meetings is coffee.

But now, with the controlling majority up for election on November 5, the students finally has a chance to cast a vote that actually counts. Board members need to show their support for the college and the students, not just make decisions. Do members of the Board know how students really feel? How many Board members actually spend quality time on campus talking with students? Better yet, how many spend any time talking to students?

One of the biggest questions on the student's minds is the Board's approval of a new $15 million bookstore. Granted, the additional classroom space is necessary, but spending that amount of money on alleviating long lines twice a year is beyond justification.

The Board must think they're playing with Monopoly dollars because it seems like they're building more hotels on their Boardwalk. While most games are fun, the students and taxpayers aren't enjoying their visits to the Board's monopoly. (Literally).

The money wasted could have benefited students elsewhere. The Physical Education department could improve greatly if given a little more support. The football field needs lights, the baseball field needs a field and a fence, and what about the soccer team? Oh yeah, we don't have one. And that is definitely not because of a lack of interest.

Other areas that could benefit from an improved allocation of dollars are plentiful. How about paying staff members to extend the library's weekend hours or subscribing to magazines that the students have heard of, as opposed to Insects Illustrated or Underwater Basketweaving Weekly?

If the voters will take this election seriously then maybe the Board members will take their positions seriously. When this happens maybe some landscaping will be planned to improve Harper's aesthetic appearance rather than Building ZZZ.

Staff

Daniel Amelio, Maggie Balon, Elina Baloght, Kim E. Larson, Caroline Lovell, Tim Mc Donald, Joe Palmer, Jason Peck, Gene Perino, Michael Sierra, Karl Stumpler, Matt Winkelman, Alessandro Yonakian

Letters to The Editor

Reader feels Media Watchdog failed to see crucial points

Dear Editor,

This is in response to Jason Fomsten's column Media Watchdog. Yes, Jason it's a shame that the Senate hearings "unintentionally" weekend television so you could not watch All My Children on Friday, or any of those brilliant sitcoms you eagerly turn to on Saturday and Sunday.

But Jason, let's be fair. You were obviously entertained when Anita Hill quoted a few lines that Clarence Thomas used when bragging of his sexual prowess and referred to his penis. I imagine your ears perked momentarily and your tongue hung out.

You said you believe these hearings "robbed the Judge and his family of integrity." What about Anita Hill? Do you think that she would have chosen to sit before the Senate much less the entire viewing public if she did not believe that this was of crucial importance?

If you are the Media Watchdog you say you are; your ears would have stayed perked throughout her questioning and perhaps heard her tell the man who she felt she could not speak out sooner and the reasons she continued to work with Clarence Thomas and put up with his sexual innuendos and suggestions.

I'm afraid Jason, you missed all the important lessons you should have learned from this display of our great democracy. I think you failed in your job as Media Watchdog to report the essential message Anita Hill tried to point clearly for your benefit. But you, like most of the Senators are men, who usually find it difficult understanding the concept that women must live by their standards.

Lydia Fernandez

Harbinger classified advertisement found offensive

Dear Editor,

I consider the advertising of nude cord calendars in the September 26 edition of The Harbinger very offensive. I don't believe this advertisement presents a good image of our college. If an individual chooses to buy pornographic material, let them go to a store. It is inappropriate for an "institute of higher education" to be involved in matters of such an offensive and vulgar nature. Name Held Upon Request

Censorship will not be tolerated

Mario Galenski

Letter from the Editor

Once again I feel it is time to address you and let you in on a few things. It seems that everybody has an opinion about something, yet no one feels the need to respond and tell The Harbinger staff what ticks them off or what they want to see in the paper.

Instead, a majority of the letters I receive are nothing but attacks on artistic freedom or censorship. All through we are putting out a college paper for the college; we will not be censored in any way, shape or form.

The Harbinger is completely free of censorship. We reserve the right to voice our concerns and criticisms and express ourselves in any way we feel is right.

Obviously when the subject of censorship comes up, people seem to pay more attention. What one thinks is art another may think is trash. What one thinks is offensive another may think is harmless. The point I'm trying to make is that everyone perceives things differently, or to each is own. You can't please everyone all of the time.

Some of the things we do may test the bounds of offensive from time to time in some minds, but we have the right to express ourselves and that we will do. People seem to be reading too deeply into our comics, columns, etc. All I can say is lighten up. I think there are a lot more pressing issues to be worrying about. And if you can't think of any read the editorial this week.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exam. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administrators. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved

OPINION

Capital punishment necessary to end drug problem Addicts, dealers should be mercilessly executed

Jason Feinstein

Media Watchdog

Ok, let's get right to the point this week. I read a very interesting, yet very disturbing article in last week's "Sun-Times". The first item was that Vanilla Ice is making his movie debut. Wow. Hey, if I wanted to make fun of losers, I'd make fun of the Democrats in '80, '84, '88, and '92. But that's not what I am here for.

Some wacky, anonymous analyst wrote about the tremendous decadence in the United States today. It is a fact. The good 'ol U.S. of A has one of the worst crime problems of any other country. We are not counting my hometown, the great cesspool called New York City. I miss that place. I feel a tear well up. I swear me apart. But, I love this country and it is a shame what is becoming of it. I am also afraid of the type of place that I am leaving to my children, grandchildren, and their children. I do believe that a major cause for all this crime is due in part to the so-called drug war, which we are horribly losing.

The only way to eliminate the drugs and the crime that is a by-product of them is to have stronger laws, much stronger laws. We should have a law that is common in some foreign countries. Any drug possession should be a capital crime. Thus all offenders shall be swiftly and mercilessly executed. This applies to everyone. From the high drug dealer to the common drug pusher, drugs are not. I could not be more happy then to see all these human

The drug problem is totally out of control. Something has to be done. We must weed out every last controlled substance. The liberals would have you believe that more humane actions are necessary. No way. When you see a cockroach, you destroy it. Addicts and dealers are the vermin of our society. Some people would also have you believe that drugs are no worse than tobacco or alcohol. Bull! There are legal drugs are not. I could not be more happy then to see all these human garbage do a dance from the end of a rope.

Speaking of capital punishment, our prisons and death rows in the country are ridiculously overcrowded. Criminals who murder, rape, kidnap, and molest children should be put to death. Life sentences and sentences over 100 years are a joke. Why should we, the taxpayers, be forced to support the rest of their miserable lives. I'd rather pay for their disposals. Personally, I think lethal injection is not a good deterrent. The gas chamber, the electric chair, and hanging from the gallows are far more imposing and perhaps would scare would be violent criminals from committing violent crimes. The great state of Florida fondly calls its electric chair, "Old Sparky". It makes me feel all warm inside. What would make me happy? Simple. A uniform death penalty in all 50 states. We are one country, therefore one final deterrent. Draconic yes, cruel no.

We have been forced into a corner. Enough is enough. It is time to take our country back from these human parasites that some of our citizens have become. Be angry, yes. But above all be very, very sad. Shed a tear at what has become in the last century. Don't worry about any nuclear confrontation, worry about another kind of war. Think about it my friends.

Involvement will end Harper H.S. brain set

Hello, avid readers of my column. I'm sitting anonymously in the cafeteria, pondering a topic for this week. By the way, sorry I missed last week's paper. I had a brain-cramp and by the time I realized I hadn't turned one in it was already too late. (I apologize for the cheapy way this turned out. I had a lot on my mind.)

Something really interesting just happened to me. As I said, I was sitting here anonymously writing away, when a guy walked up with his tray and began to sit down. I thought, should I ignore him like most people would (since I pride myself on being different I did not). So I said hello and he nodded in agreement. I kept thinking and scribbling some notes while he ate. When I looked like he was finished, I asked him how he was. When he didn't respond I repeated myself. He looked right at me and when he realized I was speaking to him he pointed to his car and said, "I'm dead."

I handed me a piece of paper. "Oh! I wrote 'do you read lips?'" He wrote back saying yes, but not well. We continued our somewhat conversation and it turned out he had come here from N.I.L., a school I wish to attend in January.

He told me they didn't have good services for the hearing impaired. I asked him about the services here at Harper. He said they were good. I told him I wrote for the Harbinger. He told me he had to go to class. So I told him I hoped to see him around. If he is reading this week I would like to say hello to Chris Lopez.

You didn't think I was gonna go a week without denouncing some injustice, did you? My gripe this week is about an attitude rather than a situation or policy. So the school heard can rest easy in escape of a possible bullet—for now. Anyway, it began last week after a guy read my column and made the comment, "I wish this school used to be a high school with athletes, now it's just a high school." At first I seemed to agree with him. Then I thought about why it seemed like a high school. I realized it was the students as much as anybody else who give this impression of Harper. It is because of the lack of effort of the majority of us here to get involved with other activities or nothing at all. At least taking the time to strike up a conversation with the guys who end up sitting next to you in class or in the never-ending cafeteria. If Harper is going to lose the high school impression, it's going to take more than a strip of bars within walking distance of the campus and dormitories. Well, goodbye, dude—that's all folks!

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

Independent Contractors Home Show Harper Exposition Hall

Friday, October 25 Saturday, October 26 Sunday, October 27

Visit Experts at over 100 Home Improvement Service Exhibits. Meet Famous TV & Sports Celebrities

For Information, call (708) 397-3000

Additional Discount Tickets Available at ACE Hardware Stores

Harper Exposition Hall
Roosevelt Rd. at Algonquin Rd.
in Palatine

THE INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS HOME SHOW
Harper Exposition Hall

6.00 Regular Admission
-2.00 OFF
4.00 Your Cost

Friday, October 25, 4.00 p.m. to 9.00 p.m.
Saturday, October 26, 10.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m.
Sunday, October 27, 10.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m.

Visit Experts at over 100 Home Improvement Service Exhibits. Meet Famous TV & Sports Celebrities

President Thompson a modern day Renaissance man

Athletic accomplishments earn induction into Gustavus Adolphus Hall of Fame

Kurt Gmelz
Harbinger Sports Editor

During the Renaissance period, man concentrated on developing every facet of himself. After the 14th Century, though, finding the true well-rounded, renaissance man was all but impossible.

Picture from the Hall of Fame plaque awarded to Thompson

Surprisingly enough, here at Harper, the epitome of the Renaissance man has gone unnoticed. Harper College President Paul Thompson is truly a man after his time.

Thompson's academic achievements are fairly well noted. After earning a mathematics degree from Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minnesota, he went on to earn a master's and doctorate from the University of Illinois.

What few know about Thompson is that in addition to being a scholar, he was also a highly accomplished athlete. His recent induction into the Gustavus Adolphus Athletic Hall of Fame should more than prove that.

My achievements over the years have more and more been measured by my academic attainments and credentials," Thompson said.

"This honor reaffirms my own belief and interest in seeing extra-curricular activity recognized as an important part of a more holistic educational pattern for all students."

He was described by the selection committee as "The epitome of the small college student athlete." Few would disagree. Thompson played football for the Gustavus in all four of his years, which included earning all-MAC recognition in 1960 as the starting quarterback for the team that ended up 3-1-1.

Thompson was also a pitcher/outfielder for the Gustavus baseball squad for four seasons. During his senior year, he led the team to a 13-1-1 record, tying for the conference championship.

Even though some people would feel that athletics and academics are completely opposed, Thompson believes that his participation in sports greatly helped him in his collegiate career.

"Athletics brought home to me that putting theories into practice is not always the easiest thing to do," Thompson said. "If everything takes a lot of work and a lot of effort."

Even though Thompson was an exceptional athlete, even he was prone to those momentary mental lapses.

Thompson has done the standard quarterback blunder when he lined up behind a guard. On another occasion, he even managed to hand the ball off to a blocking back.

Though Thompson is obviously a qualified student and athlete, many universities are accepting applicants simply due to their athletic abilities. Though against practices like these, Thompson does see this as accomplishing something positive.

"College really should be for the student," Thompson mentioned. But it can be a learning environment for someone who is not as academically qualified as the ones they have other girls. I think it's marvelous.

However, Thompson does concede that it doesn't always work that way. If given his chance, he would rather see the academically prepared student in college.

Most athletes would find it hard enough to keep their grades up while participating in athletics, but Thompson felt he needed to do even more.

In addition to being a student and athlete, Thompson was also involved with Student Senate, the College Athletic Committee and the Ignatius P. Alpha fraternity. He believed that by participating in these clubs, plus working in the college bookstore, he better prepared himself for the future.

"Extra-curricular activities are very important," Thompson added. "The studies are finding that students who participate in other activities while doing regular coursework

Harper College President Paul Thompson as he looks today tend to learn more and have more success following their educational experience."

Considering what Thompson has achieved up to this point, even all students should be advised to follow his blueprint to success.

The Arts

Culture Quest
Local Theatre
Play Reviews
Museums
Foreign Films

HealthCorner

FOR HEALTH THAT MATTERS

College students at higher risk for contracting diseases, vaccination may be needed

Do you believe that the immunizations you received as a child will protect you for life? Do you know what vaccinations you have received or which ones you need? Are you aware that you as a college student are at higher risk than the general public for contracting certain vaccine-preventable diseases?

Of the 27,672 measles cases reported in the U.S. in 1980, 62,077 (22.5 percent) occurred in persons 20 years of age and older; 27 of 89 (30.3 percent) measles deaths provisionally reported in 1990 were among persons 20 years of age or older.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control estimates that there are 300,000 to 400,000 new cases of hepatitis B infection occurring in the U.S. each year, with six to ten percent becoming chronic hepatitis B carriers.

Up to one half of Americans over 30 years of age are inadequately immunized against tetanus and diphtheria. Despite the availability of safe and effective vaccines against diphtheria and tetanus, there are still on average 50 cases of tetanus—resulting in at least 10 deaths—annually in the United States.

Why take the chance of dying from interrupting your education because of, or being hospitalized for, a preventable disease? Take advantage of the precautions that are currently available. Vaccines for common illnesses such as measles, mumps, rubella, tetanus, diphtheria and hepatitis B. Yes, you may have been vaccinated for most of these as a child, but some recommendations may have changed since then. Some vaccines, such as the tetanus/diphtheria vaccine, are effective only for a limited time, after which you need a booster. After, you may be at risk for vaccine-preventable diseases if you work in a health care setting, have sexual intercourse with multiple partners, or travel to other countries.

The Harper College Health Service, A-82, will review and evaluate your immunization record and administer needed vaccinations. If you do not have any records—get vaccinated again. Being re-vaccinated will not harm you in any way. Vaccines are among the safest medicines available.

The more common side effects from adult vaccines are brief and mild, such as a low fever or a sore arm. The benefits from immunizations far outweigh the risks and problems associated with natural infections.

Sports that make a difference!
The Harbinger

Lockjaw can cause death, severe disability, respond to early signals get tetanus shot

TETANUS PREVENTION IN NORTH SUBURBAN COOK COUNTY

Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a dangerous disease which causes death or severe disability. People who develop tetanus have only a 10 to 60 percent chance of surviving the disease. Tetanus is contracted when soil with the tetanus bacteria, or it comes into contact with a wound. Stepping on a dirty nail or pricking one's finger on a rose thorn are some of the many ways in which people get tetanus. Deep puncture wounds can get infected with the bacteria, as can small slices, scratches, and burns. Early signs of infection include stiffness in the face and neck spreading with jaw (hence the name "lockjaw"), back, and abdomen.

Tetanus can be prevented by getting the tetanus immunization, which is free to all residents of suburban Cook County at any of the Cook County Department of Public Health (CCDPH) immunization clinics," said Dr. Ralph Cordell, Director of the Communicable Disease Division at CCDPH. Dr. Cordell added that "Past experience has shown that persons often wait until they are at risk (i.e. working in flooded or other disaster areas) before being immunized. This results in sore arms and other side effects at a time when they are especially bothersome. People are advised to keep up to date with their immunizations."

The tetanus immunization administered at CCDPH clinics also contains the diphtheria vaccine.

People receive the shots in a series: after getting the first shot, a second shot is given two months later. Six months to one year after the second shot, a person receives the third immunization against tetanus. Once the initial three shots are given, a booster is recommended at least every ten years or more if a person has a tetanus-prone injury.

Other immunizations, such as measles, mumps, rubella, polio, and many others are offered at the CCDPH clinics.

Residents of northwest suburban Cook County can go to the immunization clinics in Des Plaines at Trinity Lutheran Church, 675 Algonquin Road, on the third Thursday of each month, 9:11 a.m. at Streamwood Telfer High School, 1100 Shirley (at the intersection of Shirley and Irving Park Roads), on the fourth Monday of every month, 5:30-7:30 p.m.; in Wheeling at Wheeling High School, 900 South Elmham, on the second Monday of every month, 5:30-7:30 p.m. You do not need an appointment for these clinics. For more information, call the CCDPH North District Office at (708) 618-2960.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Ghoulishly delightful activities for a haunting Halloween

Haunted Houses

Arlington Heights

Goebbert Farm
Haunted House, 815
W. Road Rd., 706-
253-1554, 7-10 p.m.
Friday-Sunday, Oct.
25-27, 30, 31, $5.
Buffalo Grove

Jaycees Haunted
House: Youth Center,
50 N. Raupp Blvd.,
708-315-1995, 7-30-
10 p.m. Oct. 25-31, $3.
Des Plaines

"Terror on the Lake" Jaycees
Haunted House: Lake
Park, Trouty and Lee
St., 708-518-6977,
6:30-10:30 p.m.
Thursday Oct. 25, 28-
31, Nov. 1, $4.
Elk Grove Village

Jaycees /
Berthold's "Tunnel of Terror" Haunted
House, Berthold's
Nursery, Devon and Tonne Roads, 708-
439-2600, 7 p.m.-
midnight Oct. 25-31,
midnight Oct. 25-31,
$3, $2.50 for adults.
Elk Grove Village

Park District Haunted House,
Communism/Teens Center, 180
Mormon Blvd., 708-437-4220, 7-11 p.m. Sundays-Thursdays through
Oct. 30 and 7 p.m.-midnight Oct.
31, $3, $1.50 in advance.
Evanston

Jaycees Haunted House: York
Commons Swimming Pool, York and Cuyaga Roads, 708-832-2007,
7-11 p.m. Oct. 25, 28, 30 and 31, 7-10 p.m. October 28 and 29, 6-10 p.m. Oct. 27, $3-$3.50.
Schaumburg

Jaycees Haunted House, 231
Civic Dr., 708-980-5130, 7-10 p.m.

Sundays-Thursdays, 7-11 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through Oct. 31, $3.
Sarasota

Jaycees Haunted House, 947
Irving Rd., 708-837-5200, 6:30-10 p.m. weekdays, 6:30-11 weekends from Oct. 25 through Nov. 3, $3.
Other Happenings

Boat at the Zoo
Triton College, 2000 5th Ave.,
River Grove, 708-456-0300, ext.
820. Presented by Triton College and Ballet Theater Pennsylvania. 8 p.m. Oct. 31, $15, $10 for students.
Fright Fest

St. Pags Great America,
Gurnee, 708-249-1776. Stage
Oct. 31, $10, $7 in advance.
Chicago Supernatural Tours
Departs from De Paul University Lincoln Park Campus, 708-499-0300, reservations required, 7 p.m.
to midnight Oct. 24-27, Oct. 29-
Nov. 3, Nov. 8, 9, 22-23 and 29-30;
noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 27,
Nov. 2, 3, 9 and 10, $23-$3-$33.
"Dracula"

Board at Michigan Avenue
Bridge and Wacker Drive, sailing
aboard Chicago's First Lady, 312-266-2532 or 708-358-9900. Includes a costume contest, 5:30-8:30 p.m.
Oct. 31, $29.
Halloween Spirit at Graceland
Clark and Irving Park Roads;

Shows, rides, and walk through activities: 11 a.m.-9 p.m. Oct. 26, 5-11 p.m. Oct. 25, $21.50, $25.50 for both days.
Halloween Concert
Mandel Hall, 1131 E. 57th St., 312-702-8484. Presented by the University of Chicago Symphony Orchestra, 7 and 8 p.m. Oct. 31, free.
Halloween Cruise

Board at Michigan Avenue
Bridge and Wacker Drive, sailing
aboard Chicago's First Lady, 312-266-2532 or 708-358-9900. Includes a costume contest, 5:30-8:30 p.m.
Oct. 31, $29.
Halloween Spirit at Graceland
Clark and Irving Park Roads;

Zoo, 2200 N. Cannon Dr., 312-935-6700. Includes a "Grand Parade" with Boon the Clown, marching band, and costumed characters;
noon-2 p.m. Oct. 26, free.
A.D. Science Fiction Films

Moraine Valley Community
College 10901 S. 88th Ave., Palos
Hills, 708-974-5745. Features Capture from the Black Lagoon and "It Came from Outer Space"; 7 p.m.
Oct. 24, $2.50.
Whoosh Witch

Leaves from the Fairstone Auto Center, Woodfield Mall,
Schaumburg, 708-837-6623 for 708-526-2377. Halloween road rally; noon Oct. 27, $14 entry fee.

Drovers played contemporary jigs

The Drovers played, a unique blend of traditional Irish jigs mixed with contemporary urban American sounds, to a captive audience during their Interlarch Week performance.

Mark Whelan
Harbinger Staff Writer

The Drovers appeared in concert in the student center on Wednesday, October 16th. They played as a part of the college's third annual Interlarch Week.
The Drovers, an Irish folk-rock band, played Irish jigs with a contemporary beat. They mixed the music of their Celtic heritage with their urban American experience.

The music was an upbeat and increasing combination of electric guitar with the symphonic sound of the violin. It adds up to a dramatic piece, reminiscent of the Irish folk-rock sound of the Pogues.

They added a great dimension to Festival of Nations Day.
The music has played for royalty in Monaco, in clubs throughout the Midwest and at the Grand Ole Opey.

One of The Drovers' biggest accomplishments in their appearance on the soundtrack to the Chicago based movie Backdraft.

DeVito a red hot lover?

Phil Marks
Harbinger Photo Editor

Movie viewers seem to have little choice these days when it comes to seeing non-violent films. Titles like "Witness", "Whore", and
"The Taking of Beverly Hills" are threat upon us. God knows what "Cool as Ice" will give us. With
"Curly Sue" and "Little Man Tate" just coming out this week, I am again stuck with America's grubbing grinch.

In "Other People's Money",
Larry "The Liquidator" Garfield
(Danny DeVito) likes to take over corporations for fun. In fact, his philosophy is the same as Louis's in
"The Super". Whoever acquires the most money in his lifetime wins.
Larry's latest project is the overtaking of an old fashioned cable and wire manufacturing company in New England.

This two-bit factory means nothing to Larry, but it means everything to Andrew Jerroson (Gregory Peck), the President, and his wife, Bea Sullivan (Piper Laurie).

After all, his father and his grandfather before him have kept

New England Wire and Cable alive for years, and he is not about to let his sentimental soldering plant go into the hands of Larry. What they need is a lawyer. In walks Beal's daughter Kate (Penelope Ann Miller), a successful prosecutor.
When Larry pleads, Kate asks, "Why should I help you?" Kate's problem with the old codger is never made clear, but Kate helps him out for her mother's sake.

Now, it's up to Larry and Kate to handle it out. During their meetings, they eventually (oh, gosh) fall in love. Larry even plays his violin over the phone for her. This eventually leads to problems both privately and professionally. Is DeVito convincing as a romantic lead? You be the judge, since there is no judge in this film. Yes, that is DeVito's favorite Dean Jones as Jerry's well-run chief executive.

Finally, a word of advice to anyone who has or will someday attempt to take notes in a darkened movie theater: Never drop your pen on the floor in the middle of the film, because you'll never find it until the lights come on, if ever.

Rating: ★★ out of five

FOCUS '91:

COLLEGE AND CAREER NIGHT

OCTOBER 30, 1991

BUILDING A

5:30 - 8:00 PM

College Transfer
Guide

1991 HARBINGER COLLEGE TRANSFER GUIDE

INSIDE

- 3 • Transferring to a four-year school
- 4 • Transfer Planning Steps
  - Student Development Centers
  - Undecided on a Major?
- 5 • Available Scholarships
- 6 • Questions to Ask a College Representative
- 7 • Harper Expands Group Counseling Program
  - Colleges to Visit Harper

THIS SPECIAL ISSUE IS FOR ALL THE HARD WORKING STUDENTS WHO PLAN TO CONTINUE THEIR
SECONDARY EDUCATION
AT A FOUR YEAR
INSTITUTION AND HOPEFULLY
GRADUATE SCHOOL.
GOOD LUCK!

THE HARBINGER
STAFF

1991 HARBINGER TRANSFER GUIDE STAFF

Gary Tickle
Business Manager

Special Thanks to:
Sheryl Mette - Transfer
Coordinator - Student
Development for all your help.

Susie Haske for your patience and the endless hours of typing.

1990 Harbinger Transfer Guide
Staff. MJ, PS, MB.

You can study business at Trinity.

You can study science at Trinity.

You can study the arts at Trinity.

College Reps meet at Harper

Selecting the right four-year college is one of the most important decisions you will make during your lifetime. This decision will have a great impact on shaping your future.

To assist you in this process, Student Development has organized FOCUS '91 - College and Career Night on October 30, 1991 from 5:30 - 8:30 p.m. in building A. You will be given the opportunity to gather materials from colleges and universities and to talk to representatives who will answer questions about their schools. Not only will FOCUS '91 provide you an opportunity to talk to college representatives, but you also will be able to attend a variety of seminars.

These seminars include such topics as Financial Aid, Career Transitions, and How Not to Pick A Major. A panel of representatives from area four-year colleges that offer non-traditional Bachelor's Degrees will be available at 6:00 p.m. Sign language interpreters for the deaf are available upon request by calling 597-3000 (TDD).

Here are some factors to consider when putting together questions to ask college representatives. Decide which of these areas are most important for you when making a four-year college choice.

College characteristics include location, surrounding community, college affiliation, enrollment, unique programs, core requirements, and academic calendar.

Admission requirements include such factors as: required GPA for transfer students, amount of college credits required, necessity of sending high school transcript, ACT/SAT requirements, application deadline, special requirements for certain majors, what percentage of transfer students admitted, can admission be appealed, and will participation in activities enhance your application.

Academic characteristics include such factors as: average class size, average GPA for transfer students accepted for last semester, the advantage of earning an AA/AS degree before transferring, completion bachelor degrees for students earning AAS degrees, procedure for orientation and course scheduling, how are students advised, most popular majors, strongest majors and additional services provided to assist students (tutoring, LD support, career & personal counseling, job placement, services for disabled students, etc.)

Social life includes factors as:

average age of students, male-female ratio, percentage of students living on campus, off campus, in dorms or not, and how many stay on campus on the weekends.

Cost includes such factors as: tuition room and board, other fees, cost difference for out-of-state students, when the earliest time to make housing deposits and when are bills due.

Financial Aid includes such factors as: percentage of students receiving financial aid based on need, percentage of students receiving scholarships based on merit, financial aid procedures, when is the student notified of the award, work-study, and is there campus employment available.

Student population includes such factors as: where are most of students from, percentage of commuters, students activities, athletic programs, and college visitation program.

Take advantage of this opportunity to gather information and ask your questions about your particular situation. Attending FOCUS '91 on October 30 may be just what you need to choose a four-year college; tailored to meet your specific needs.

What to See and Do When Visiting a Campus

Art Galleries

Are students' work on display? Are shows of students' work held regularly?

Athletic Facilities

Is there an instrumental program? What type of exercise and weight-training equipment is available to students?

Bookstore

When is it open? Can you charge textbooks? Can you return textbooks if you drop a course?

Classrooms & Lecture Halls

Are classes taught by professors or by teaching assistants? Do professors have regular office hours?

Dining Facilities

How often are meals served? Is the food good? What happens if you miss meals?

Housing

Are you required to live in a dorm? Are the dorms co-ed?

Fraternities & Sororities

What kinds of activities are Greeks involved in on campus?

Library

When is it open? Is it computerized?

Music Practice Room

When are rooms open? Are they only open to music students?

Newspaper

Is there a student newspaper? Does it have a volunteer staff or must you be in the journalism program?

Radio & TV Stations

Must you be a broadcast or communications major to work in the studio?

Religious Centers

How many places of worship are on campus and which faiths are represented?

Science Laboratories

What is the quality of the equipment used in the laboratory? Do undergraduates have access to the same equipment as graduate students?

Student Center

When is it open? What services and activities does the center provide for students? Are there game rooms, meeting rooms, and a cafeteria, for example?

Theatrical facilities

What are some of the performances that have been staged recently? Can non-theater majors try out for plays?

"Transferring To Drake Was To My Credit."

Troy Wayne Gustafson

"I transferred to Drake and took my community college credits with me! Most of my credits transferred so the transition was easy.

And I know a degree from Drake will be to my credit when I begin my career, because in recent years almost 95% of all Drake graduates found employment in their field or were accepted in the graduate school of their choice.

I'm majoring in pharmacy, but there are more than 60 other undergraduate majors from computer science to music students.

For more information on transferring, visit the Drake campus or call the Office of Admission at 515-271-1111 or toll-free 1-800-441-1942.

Drake
DRAKE UNIVERSITY

2021 University Avenue Des Moines, Iowa 50315

Put your hard-earned community college credits to good use. Earn a degree in business!

LUCEP (Lewis University Career Education Program)

- Offers an accelerated bachelor's degree program in Business
- For those with at least 40 semester hours of college credit and three years of work experience
- For those who are at least 24 years of age
- Classes in Romeoville, Oak Brook or Schaumburg

Call (312) (708) or (815) 838-6500, extension 570

A CHRISTIAN BROTHERS UNIVERSITY
LEWIS UNIVERSITY

What to do if you get an incomplete:

1. Review the Incomplete Grade Contract you received from your instructor.
2. Complete all work by mid-term of the following semester.
3. After you turn in your completed work to your instructor, follow-up to check that a grade change report with your new grade is filed in the Registrar's Office.

Planning to transfer soon? Prepare NOW

It is not too soon to start the process!

If you have any questions about transferring, see a counselor in one of the Academic Advising and Counseling Centers, in D142 or 1117.

Use the DISCOVER computer program located in the Career Planning and Personal Development Center in A347, or the GIS computer program, D142 and 1117 to find a college to match your needs and interests.

FOCUS '91

THE HARBINGER COLLEGE TRANSFER GUIDE

TRANSFER PLANNING STEPS

1. See a counselor to begin developing an educational career.
2. Narrow your choice of four-year schools as soon as possible. Transfer information materials, work sheets on transferring, and visits by college representatives may help you in this process.
3. Obtain a catalog from the school(s) that you are considering and become familiar with their General Education and your major area requirements.
4. Approximately one year before you plan to transfer, contact the school of your choice requesting application for admission, financial aid and information on housing. Note any deadline for return of applications, fees or transcripts.
5. If possible, visit the school(s) that interests you the most and talk with the admissions staff and/or the advisors in the department of your planned major.
6. Submit all the necessary applications to the four-year college/universities of your choice. Request that the Harper College's Registrar's Office, A213, send transcripts to them.
7. File a petition for graduation from Harper College in the Registrar's Office no later than mid-term of the semester you plan to graduate.
8. Have a final transcript sent to the school(s) to which you are applying.

UNDECIDED ON A MAJOR?

The Career Planning and Personal Development Center in A347 may be the place for you to start. The Career Planning and Personal Development Center staff provides individual career counseling. Seminars are presented on topics such as career interests, career transitions and future career trends. Utilize the career library which houses 800 books, magazines, newsletters, and pamphlets. There are several software packages in the Career Center to help you explore careers and colleges using the computer. For more information, call 397-3000 extension 2220.

Student Development Centers

The Student Development Centers in D142 and 1117 provide counseling for academic and personal concerns. Both centers have extensive information for students planning to transfer, including college catalogs and college applications. Transfer guides, including course equivalency information where available, have been developed for some Illinois schools. These following schools have a compact agreement with Harper College. They accept the A.A. or A.S. degree as meeting all general education requirements and grant automatic junior standing upon transfer.

Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, 1-800-252-5711

Governors State University, University Park, 1-708-534-5000

Illinois State University, Normal, 1-800-322-2314

Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, 1-800-892-3050

Sangamon State University, Springfield, 1-800-252-8533

Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, 1-800-632-3531

Western Illinois University, Macomb, 1-800-322-3902

- Advertising
- Art
- Art Education Specialist
- Accounting
- Biology
- Business Administration
- Chemistry
- Communications
- Computer Information Science/Management
- Information Science
- Computer Sciences
- Dramatic Speech
- Early Childhood Education
- Elementary Education
- English
- French
- History
- Justice & Peace
- Marketing
- Mathematics
- Molecular Biology
- Music
- Music Education Specialist
- Nursing
- Political Science
- Pre-Dentistry
- Pre-Law
- Pre-Medicine
- Pre-Physical Therapy
- Pre-Pharmacy
- Pre-Medical Technology
- Pre-Veterinary
- Psychology
- Public Relations
- Religious Studies
- Secondary Education
- Spanish
- Special Education
- Social Work
- Sociology
- 3-2 Engineering

FIND OUT HOW EASY IT IS TO COMPLETE YOUR DEGREE AT CLARKE COLLEGE!

• Over 100 students transfer to Clarke College each year.

• Clarke is affordable. In 1990-1991, 79% of students received financial aid.

• Renewable $2,000 Transfer Scholarships available with a 3.25 GPA and 30 transferable credits from your most recently attended school.

• Clarke has a strong academic reputation and placement record. 95% of graduates are employed or in graduate school within 6 months of graduation.

• Opportunities for paid, professional work experience in your major.

• Excellent accelerated evening program available for non-traditional age students.

• Only three hours away on the scenic Mississippi River in Dubuque.

WANT TO KNOW MORE?

Stop by the Clarke table at Harper College FOCUS '91 college and career night on October 30 and visit with Assistant Director of Admissions Christen Sadowski or call 1-800-383-2345.

CLARKE
COLLEGE

1550 CLARKE DRIVE
DUBUQUE, IOWA 52001-3198

THINKING OF COMPLETING A 4-YEAR DEGREE?

Take a look at

BARAT COLLEGE

in Lake Forest, Illinois

A coeducational liberal arts private college for resident and commuter students.

• 24 majors in 13 departments including: Education/Psychology, Management/Business, Performing Arts, and Studio Arts

• Day and Evening classes

• Child care services

• Part-time or full-time status

Join Barat's many students who have completed Associate degrees at community colleges.

Plan to attend the:

FALL CAMPUS PREVIEW
on Saturday, November 23 at 9:00 a.m.
on the Barat College campus

For more information call Admissions Office
(708) 234-3000.

THE HARBINGER COLLEGE TRANSFER GUIDE

FOCUS '91

5

Scholarships Available for Transfer Students

Did you know there are Harper student designated scholarships available at many four-year colleges and universities? These full tuition and most are renewable when the recipient is maintaining satisfactory academic progress. To be eligible for the scholarships, students must have a 3.0 to a 4.0 GPA. Scholarship applications may also require an associate degree, written essay and/or recommendations.

The following private colleges and universities offer scholarships to Harper transfer students.

Alma College
Alma, MI 48801
Contact: Mark Nazaro
517-463-7111

Burai College
700 East Waukegan Road
Lake Forest, IL 60045
Contact: Mr. Helen Anderson
Office of Admissions & Financial Aid
708-234-3000

Beloit College
Beloit, WI 53511
Contact: Mr. Frank Cervello
Office of Admissions
608-365-3301

Bradley University
Peoria, IL 61625
Contact: Linda Hauser or Andrea Taylor
Assistant Director of Transfer Admissions
309-676-7611

Drake University
2507 University Avenue
Des Moines, IA 50311
Admissions Office: 515-271-3181

Illinois Institute of Technology
3300 South Federal Street
Chicago, IL 60616
Contact: Mr. Art Shearman
312-567-3025

Kentall College
Evanston, IL 60201
Contact: Peter Paulsen
Director of Admissions
708-866-1300

Knox College
Galesburg, IL 61401
Contact: Karen Crowell
800-323-0122

Loyola University
820 North Michigan Avenue
Chicago, IL 60611
Contact: Mr. Jack Christian
312-915-6500

Mundelein College
6163 N. Sheridan Road
Chicago, IL 60640
Contact: Kathy Amato
Director of Financial Aid
712-989-5440

Ripon College
Ripon, WI 54971
Contact: Mr. James Reilly
Dean of Admissions
414-748-8185

Roosevelt University
Northwest Campus
2121 S. Goodbert
Arlington Heights, IL 60005
Contact: Mr. Lou Wallen
Admissions Coordinator
708-417-9200

Public colleges and universities also offer transfer scholarships for their general transfer student population, although not designated specifically for Harper transfer students.

Now is the time to inquire about these scholarships. It is recommended that you begin your search for these scholarships by contacting the Office of Financial Aid or the Admissions Office of the school of your choice. Indicate in these offices that you are considering transferring so these institutions, should you wish to receive specific transfer scholarship information, general financial aid information and what the requirements are to apply.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE

Plan To Attend

FALL OPEN HOUSE!!!

And See How
Columbia College
Can Shape
Your Future!

All Are Welcome!

SATURDAY,
NOVEMBER 9,
10:30 AM-3:30 PM

WE'VE MADE IT
EXCELLENT!

- Personalized educational programs
- Small class size
- Faculty of working professionals
- Extensive internship opportunities

WE'VE MADE IT
COMPREHENSIVE!

- Advertising
- Advertising Art
- Arts Management
- Computer Graphics

- Dance
- English
- Fashion Business
- Fashion Design
- Fiction Writing
- Film Video
- Fine Art
- Graphic Design
- Illustration
- Interior Design
- Journalism
- Liberal Education Studies
- Magazine Writing
- Editing
- Marketing
- Marketing Communication
- Music
- Mass Business
- Photography
- Professional Writing
- Public Relations
- Radio Sound
- Science and Mathematics
- Television
- Theater

NOW, WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

For more information, go to receive your free call.
312-662-1600, EXT. 100

For further information, contact
Columbia College, 1115 North Dearborn
Avenue, Chicago, IL 60610-5093

QUESTIONS TO ASK OF A COLLEGE REPRESENTATIVE

1. How many students are there? How many are graduate students? What is the male/female ratio?
2. What is the campus like i.e. size, location to nearest city or downtown area?
3. What is the makeup of the student body i.e. from what states, commuter vs. residential religious backgrounds, most populated majors?
4. What is the housing situation, where can freshmen live? What are the dorms like?
5. What percentage of students return for their sophomore year, remain to graduate?
6. What are the strong majors at your college, do you have my major?
7. What are the size of the classes, are they taught by professors or grad students?
8. What opportunity is there for research, independent study, study abroad?
9. Are there internships for co-ops?
10. What kinds of clubs and activities are there, is there a Greek system or other social societies/fraternities?
11. Do you have an honors program?
12. How is the job placement, will I get assistance? How about placement in med/law school, etc.?
13. Do you have career planning and counseling services?
14. Is the sports program large and diverse, are you known for a particular sport, what division?
15. How popular are intramurals?
16. Are there special facilities in your interest area i.e. radio station, computer access?
17. What are your admission standards, what kind of student are you looking for?
18. What is the tuition, room and board and total cost (in program) of this school?
19. What kind of financial aid is available, how about scholarships not based on need, athletic scholarships?
20. What arrangements must I make to visit your campus?
21. Are there admission deadlines I need to be aware of?
22. Why should I choose this school over another similar one - what's special?

LEWIS UNIVERSITY

Register Now for Spring!

• Earn a Bachelor's Degree...

Lewis offers bachelor's degrees in 50 majors, including accounting, art, aviation, business, criminal/social justice, education, history, MIS, marketing, math, music, natural sciences, nursing, public administration, social sciences, speech & theatre, plus preprofessional programs.

• You may transfer...

Up to 72 credits from your community college and unlimited* credits earned at senior colleges.
(* The last 32 credits for your degree must be taken at Lewis.)

For information, call
(312), (708) or (815) 838-0500, ext. 250

A CHRISTIAN BROTHERS UNIVERSITY
LEWIS UNIVERSITY

ROUTE 1, RICHMOND, ILLINOIS 61871

CAREER PLANNING & PLACEMENT
SEMINARS FALL '91, Room A-347

CURRENTLY ENROLLED STUDENTS ONLY

Please Call 397-3000, Ext. 2220 to Register

CAREER INTEREST TESTING WORKSHOPS

Two-Session Workshops ($5.00 Testing Fee)

Tuesday, November 5 & November 19 6 - 8 p.m.
Monday, November 11 & November 25 9 - 11 a.m.

CAREER CHANGES

Tuesday, December 3 5 - 6 p.m.

INTERVIEWING TECHNIQUES

Wednesday, November 6 5 - 6 p.m.
Thursday, November 21 1 - 4 p.m.

RESUME WRITING

Tuesday, November 12 6 - 7 p.m.
Wednesday, November 20 1 - 4 p.m.
Monday, December 2 5 - 6 p.m.

JOB SEARCH TECHNIQUES

Tuesday, October 29 6 - 7 p.m.
Wednesday, December 4 5 - 6 p.m.

MOCK INTERVIEWS (By Appointment Only)

Friday, November 22 10 - Noon
Friday, December 6 10 - Noon

ALL SEMINARS, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE CAREER INTEREST TESTING, ARE FREE!

YOUR DEGREE COULD BE CLOSER THAN YOU THINK.

Roosevelt University's Arlington Heights Campus requires fewer hours for graduation - traveling hours, that is.

Not only do those hours add up, but so does the money you save, because you can live at home. What's more, our accommodating mix of week-day, weekend and evening classes permits you to make money, working part-time or even full-time. Each semester, more than 2,500 students enjoy these advantages while pursuing a degree at Roosevelt.

You can earn your bachelor's or master's degree entirely at our Albert A. Robin Campus in a variety of subject areas including Business Administration, Education, English, Public Administration, and History.

So when you consider which four-year university to attend, remember you can go a long way further in your education when you don't have to go a long way to your campus.

A Roosevelt counselor will be available at the College Fair, Wednesday, October 30 from 5:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. in the A Building, and will also be on campus Thursday, November 7 from 9:00 a.m. to 12 noon in the A Building.

Roosevelt University

A Force in Chicago's Past - A Leader in Chicago's Future

Albert A. Robin Campus

2121 S. Gorbett Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005 • (708) 437-6000

DePaul Campus • 430 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60605 • (312) 341-2000

Roosevelt University

Albert A. Robin Campus • 2121 S. Gorbett Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005

Please send me further information and a schedule of classes I am considering enrolling at Roosevelt in

☐ Fall ☐ Spring ☐ Summer 19__

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____

ZIP _____

DAY PHONE _____

11

Harper Expands Group Counseling Program

Harper's Student Development Division and Community Counseling Center have developed a group counseling program to offer help to students, staff and community residents in dealing with personal difficulties. The groups, led by experienced mental health professionals, help identify, address and resolve issues that cause emotional distress. Having support, direction and encouragement from other persons who are concerned enables an individual to have the strength to tackle difficult—and sometimes seemingly overwhelming—problems.

RELATIONSHIPS is a group for young adults which meets Thursdays at noon. This group focuses on issues such as getting along with parents, dating issues, feeling lonely, shy and/or depressed, and coping with an alcoholic parent. The topics are selected by the group members.

HEALTHY EATING PROGRAM provides a didactic and experiential series of meetings to help participants explore and understand the psychological issues associated with compulsive overeating and other problematic eating patterns. This group meets on Thursdays at 5:45.

VICTIMS OF SEXUAL ABUSE group meets Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. and is open to any woman who has been sexually abused in any manner. This group is designed to help participants understand their feelings about what happened and examine how these incidents are affecting their current lives.

PARENTING SKILLS GROUP meets Saturday mornings. This group will provide informative discussions on parenting skills and techniques. It will also provide parents the opportunity to share concerns and experiences with other parents as well as explore the personal difficulties that interfere with good parenting.

WOMAN'S SUPPORT GROUP meets on Saturday mornings. This group is geared toward women who want to increase their self-awareness and make changes in their lives. Issues that are typically addressed include self-esteem, single parenthood, identity issues, stress, depression and relationship problems.

FOR MORE INFORMATION,
CALL 397-XXXX, EXT. 2577

Fall College Visits

The colleges listed below are scheduled to visit our campus on:

October	31	Arizona	9:30 - 1 p.m.	J Lounge
November	5	Columbia	9:30 - 1 p.m.	A Bldg.
November	5	Northern Illinois	9:30 - 1 p.m.	J Lounge
November	7	Loyola	9:00 - 1 p.m.	J Lounge
November	7	Roosevelt	9:00 - 12 p.m.	A Bldg.
November	18	Lewis University	10:00 - 1 p.m.	A Bldg.
November	19	Elmhurst	9:30 - 1 p.m.	A Bldg.
November	20	Roosevelt	5:30 - 8 p.m.	A Bldg.
December	2	Columbia	9:30 - 1 p.m.	J Lounge
December	5	Northern Illinois	9:30 - 1 p.m.	A Bldg.
				J Lounge

Two students step into the future by learning the basics of desktop publishing.

Photo by Phil Mason

Northwestern Business College, for a lifetime of success.

Northwestern Business College offers an education that will increase your options and help you succeed in the business world of today and tomorrow. Northwestern Business College is a place where each student can make a difference. With a strong curriculum and one-on-one teaching, we encourage students to think, communicate and grow. Perhaps most important, you will be part of a community that has made a serious commitment to your hopes and your achievements.

If you would like to experience Northwestern Business College for yourself, call for an appointment. Call us at either our city campus at 312-777-4220 or our Suburban Palos Hills campus at 708-430-0990.

NORTHWESTERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

For a lifetime of Success

4829 North Lupton Avenue
Chicago, IL 60630
312-777-4220

8399 Roberts Road
Palos Hills, IL 60465
708-430-0990

© 1991

Gradepoint Has Its Privilege

As a transfer student you have worked hard to attain certain grades and accomplishments. Now, as a North Central College Transfer Scholar, you can receive a scholarship to reward your prior work and to assist in your future success.

Selection as a transfer scholar entitles you to:

- ☐ No-need based financial aid
- ☐ Automatic $1,000.00 Scholastic Award
- ☐ Opportunity to receive up to $5,000.00

For additional information please contact the North Central College Transfer Coordinator at (708) 426-3414.

North Central College
Office of Admission
P.O. Box 3063
Naperville, IL 60566-9900

2	ALBANY COLLEGE	27	BIRMINGHAM COLLEGE	53	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	78	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
3	ALBANY COLLEGE	28	TRINITY COLLEGE	54	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	79	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
4	ALBANY UNIVERSITY	29	TRINITY COLLEGE	55	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	80	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
5	ALBANY COLLEGE	30	TRINITY COLLEGE	56	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	81	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
6	ALBANY COLLEGE	31	TRINITY COLLEGE	57	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	82	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
7	ALBANY COLLEGE	32	TRINITY COLLEGE	58	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	83	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
8	ALBANY COLLEGE	33	TRINITY COLLEGE	59	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	84	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
9	ALBANY COLLEGE	34	TRINITY COLLEGE	60	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	85	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
10	ALBANY COLLEGE	35	TRINITY COLLEGE	61	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	86	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
11	ALBANY COLLEGE	36	TRINITY COLLEGE	62	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	87	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
12	ALBANY COLLEGE	37	TRINITY COLLEGE	63	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	88	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
13	ALBANY COLLEGE	38	TRINITY COLLEGE	64	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	89	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
14	ALBANY COLLEGE	39	TRINITY COLLEGE	65	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	90	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
15	ALBANY COLLEGE	40	TRINITY COLLEGE	66	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	91	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
16	ALBANY COLLEGE	41	TRINITY COLLEGE	67	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	92	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
17	ALBANY COLLEGE	42	TRINITY COLLEGE	68	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	93	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
18	ALBANY COLLEGE	43	TRINITY COLLEGE	69	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	94	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
19	ALBANY COLLEGE	44	TRINITY COLLEGE	70	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	95	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
20	ALBANY COLLEGE	45	TRINITY COLLEGE	71	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	96	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
21	ALBANY COLLEGE	46	TRINITY COLLEGE	72	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	97	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
22	ALBANY COLLEGE	47	TRINITY COLLEGE	73	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	98	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
23	ALBANY COLLEGE	48	TRINITY COLLEGE	74	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	99	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
24	ALBANY COLLEGE	49	TRINITY COLLEGE	75	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	100	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
25	ALBANY COLLEGE	50	TRINITY COLLEGE	76	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	101	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
26	ALBANY COLLEGE	51	TRINITY COLLEGE	77	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	102	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
27	ALBANY COLLEGE	52	TRINITY COLLEGE	78	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	103	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
28	ALBANY COLLEGE	53	TRINITY COLLEGE	79	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	104	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
29	ALBANY COLLEGE	54	TRINITY COLLEGE	80	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	105	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
30	ALBANY COLLEGE	55	TRINITY COLLEGE	81	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	106	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
31	ALBANY COLLEGE	56	TRINITY COLLEGE	82	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	107	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
32	ALBANY COLLEGE	57	TRINITY COLLEGE	83	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	108	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
33	ALBANY COLLEGE	58	TRINITY COLLEGE	84	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	109	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
34	ALBANY COLLEGE	59	TRINITY COLLEGE	85	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	110	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
35	ALBANY COLLEGE	60	TRINITY COLLEGE	86	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	111	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
36	ALBANY COLLEGE	61	TRINITY COLLEGE	87	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	112	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
37	ALBANY COLLEGE	62	TRINITY COLLEGE	88	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	113	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
38	ALBANY COLLEGE	63	TRINITY COLLEGE	89	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	114	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
39	ALBANY COLLEGE	64	TRINITY COLLEGE	90	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	115	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
40	ALBANY COLLEGE	65	TRINITY COLLEGE	91	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	116	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
41	ALBANY COLLEGE	66	TRINITY COLLEGE	92	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	117	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
42	ALBANY COLLEGE	67	TRINITY COLLEGE	93	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	118	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
43	ALBANY COLLEGE	68	TRINITY COLLEGE	94	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	119	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
44	ALBANY COLLEGE	69	TRINITY COLLEGE	95	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	120	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
45	ALBANY COLLEGE	70	TRINITY COLLEGE	96	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	121	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
46	ALBANY COLLEGE	71	TRINITY COLLEGE	97	NEW COLLEGE, COLUMBIA	122	TENNESSEE COLLEGE
47	ALBANY COLLEGE

Focus '91

Art has second course

A quick thinking photography major got the shot, though missed the person

Harper College's artwork has struck again. Another student has allegedly been devoured by a sculpture.

"We're starting to suspect a trend here," Palatine Police Chief E. Claire Duncan said. "We have our top investigators looking for any connections."

Inside sources at the Palatine Police Department have leaked to the press their suspicion that the two students being eaten by art in two weeks time may be linked. They have asked State Police investigators for assistance.

Police have not issued a wing of the Cook County Correctional Facility to hold the two pieces of art in question. They are being held separately in case they are carnivorous.

"We just haven't been able to establish their feeding habits yet," said Norm Adladyk, state biologist and amateur artist.

People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) has staged a protest at the Cook County Correctional Facility on the grounds that placing art in a cell is cruel and unusual punishment. PETA feels that art has a constitutional right to be on display.

"We have our crack surveillance team out there watching the remaining art," Duncan said. "Students who wish to admire the art on campus should do so discreetly and from a distance."

Harper College officials, decorated in a closed-door meeting not to take any action pending further study.

"This is not the time to take rash actions," said Sven Den-Yarash, Harper College official. "There are more important things to do than waste money removing art from the campus."

Critique the critics

What is it like to be a film critic? Find out October 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the building theater when Dan Gier, The Daily Herald, Norman Mark, NBC-WMAQ-TV channel 5, Nick Diglio, WGN Radio, Johanna Stammetz, Chicago Tribune. They will discuss what it is like to critique movies, how to spot and analyze new trends in films and what films will be hot in the coming months. There will be a question and answer period.

Tickets are $5 for the public and $3 for Harper students, faculty, staff and senior citizens. For tickets and information call the Harper College Box Office at 708-997-3000, ext. 2547.

Subwich

invites all Harper Students to a
FREE Lg Drink

with any Subwich or Salad Purchase

Students must show I.D.

(offer expires 10-26-91)

Subwich is Located in the Queenly Plaza at the corners of Euclid & Kingston Rd.

Hours: Daily 10 a.m. - 10 p.m., Sunday 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Call ahead for fast pick-up

991-1188 FAX 991-1277

Subwich

Money Saving Coupon

$50¢ off

Any 6" Subwich

one coupon per customer

per visit

offer expires 12-31-91

where OUR bread really does make the difference.

Make the Switch to Subwich

Subwich

Money Saving Coupon

20¢ off

Any Bag of chips or fresh fruit

one coupon per customer

per visit

offer expires 12-31-91

Sumner and Marr? One band?

New Order feel without The Smith's sound

Christopher Garcia

under the Surface

Electronic
Warner Bros.

Bernard Sumner and Johnny Marr are two big names in the English music scene. Sumner (born Bernard Dicker) was in Joy Division until the suicide of singer, Ian Curtis. Since 1981, he has been the lead singer in the re-grouped New Order. He also sang on a song in 1988 State's latest album, EXCEL entitled Spanish Heart.

Incidentally, New Order is due out with a new album in early 1992. Marr is the co-founder and guitarist of The Smiths, which he left in 1987 to become a session guitarist. In 1989, he handed with The The. The two started writing together in early 1989 in Electronic and produced the hit single Getting Away With It with Neil Tennant.

Tennant also helped write The Patience Of A Sheep with his alternate partner, Chris Lowe.

Marr's use of the guitar adds texture to the songs when keyboards are stressed. Try All You Want is the only song with no guitar. What is Marr doing then? Probably some keyboard action.

Unlike many bands of the same caliber, Electronic manages to form songs with distinct differences between them. Although the album is primarily New Order-ish, there are some surprises. (I don't Country uses a (gasp) rap provided by Sumner and some many guitar work (wacka wacka) via Marr. Feel Every Beat also uses a Sumner rap. Sinner has soft, melodic orchestrations worthwhile of Louis Clark, and Tighers Up uses acoustic guitar.

Two years ago, when Depeche Mode played at the Dodger Stadium, Electronic had their first live concert as the opening band. Supposedly Electronic were to have toured through Chicago this month. I guess it's not the case anymore — maybe next month or the following.

This album has been released a good three months now, and their first single Getting Away With It, was released eighteen months previously. There are eleven songs covering over fifty minutes.

Sumner and Marr are two musicians with similarities and differences. Sumner admires early Rolling Stones and Marr loves Radiohead. Both, however, don't like being in the spotlight. Sumner is reluctant to be photographed for album covers and he doesn't like his name on them either. He's more into the Kraftwerk concept of music making — anonymous figures with the absence of personality.

For you die-hard fans and collectors only: There are a total of four b-side singles available thus far. The import single of Feel Every Beat has two b-sides, Second To None and Lean To The Inside. The import and domestic singles of Getting Away With It and Get The Message have one each, Lucky Bug and Free Will. All are worth the price to have, if not for the sizes of the a-sides, for the b-sides, because they're not on the album.

Electronic have come up with a winner in this reviewer's opinion. A word of warning for all you Smiths fans: Electronic is nothing like them. If New Order is your group of choice, run out and buy this album — you'll love it! The Marr influence is there, but it's not overly dominant; the electro-beats of New Order rule the album.

Rating: **** 1/2 out of five

Nitzer Ebb exceeds expectations

Steve Hu
Harbinger Guest Writer

Nitzer Ebb, one of the most popular alternative dance bands in the world, will be releasing their fourth album on October 29. The album is called EBBHEAD and follows their third EP, only Family Man makes it to the album, even that song is technically an extra track and has been EBBHEAD is not covering a lot of old ground.

If you've heard Family Man and don't care for it, don't worry. It's probably the weakest track on the album. Even the worst of the remaining nine songs is only slightly below average for Nitzer Ebb.

Most bands change styles throughout their careers. To say that Nitzer Ebb have changed styles is a gross understatement. Their earliest songs like I'm in a Fantasy Now, Body Works and Crane (both from early 1985) were created very simply with a repetitive drum pattern, a basic keyboard track and a sequence, and vocals, generally shouted and always abstract.

The first album, THAT TOTAL AGE, launched several huge dance floor hits that still pack the floor today — songs like Maridown, Join in the Chain and Let your Body learn were a step up musically from early Nitzer Ebb songs but the band had not yet made progress on lyrics.

The second album, 1985: BELIEF, showed great strides in a compilation for the band. Unfortunately the album suffered from uneven pacing — even though the songs were good, the album's structure diminished its appeal.

Nitzer Ebb gained widespread recognition during last year's tour with Depeche Mode. They had long been slated to appear as Depeche Mode's opening act way back in 1987 but apparently had trouble obtaining a work permit, so for Nitzer Ebb fans this was the tour they had been waiting these years for. By many people's accounts Nitzer Ebb upstages Depeche Mode while performing songs from the SHOWTIME album.

SHOWTIME featured a musically mature but far too experimental Nitzer Ebb — some of the songs dabbled in jazz and in newscast the while thing was a bit mellow. Compared to EBBHEAD, though, even THAT TOTAL AGE is mellow. Band members Doug McCarthy and Ben Harris poured every last bit of energy they could muster into the tracks on the album.

Some of the songs are reminiscent of older Nitzer Ebb songs. For example, Time is a near copy of My Heart from SHOWTIME, while Laskade Drive is structurally similar but more energetic rehash of All over, also from SHOWTIME. Every track on EBBHEAD has its own hook — Reasons has its simple but catchy chorus and bassline, Ascend switches gears in the middle to change from an average, unremarkable song to a powerful drum-driven piece.

Godhead, my favorite track, dabbles in (presumably sampled) electric guitars. The current single Give to You, features string arrangements (arranged by Andrew Poppy) backing up a very strong vocal — the whole thing is impeccable. It was clear what to expect of EBBHEAD with producers by Depeche Mode's Alan Wilder, but rest assured the final result exceeds any and all expectations.

LOVES A GOOD PARTY!

SO... WE'RE THROWING YOU ONE.

Just turn it on and go. An IBM PS/2 comes with all you need to get started. Let your ideas come to life with just a click of a mouse.

An IBM PS/2 can do all kinds of work for you. That gives you more time for you.

Save up to 58% off IBM equipment!

Monday October 28

Learn to Transform the Classroom Experience using IBM Multimedia!

At 2:00 PM Dr. Fred T. Hofstetter, Associate Provost and Director of the Instructional Technology Center at the University of Delaware and IBM Consulting Scholar will demonstrate the uses of Multimedia and Hypermedia for instruction.

Multimedia, a multi-sensory approach to education, is bringing powerful new capabilities to desktop computers. Multimedia used to mean complicated programming. Today, faculty can learn multimedia applications in under an hour.

J BUILDING LOBBY 10:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M.

COMICS

IT ALWAYS RAINS...

Trouble Sleeping...? by JASON BECK

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

Heal The Earth / Teach Others
Earn $100-2000 per month. For interview appointment call Jo at 555-0548

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS
to students or student organizations promoting our Spring Break Packages. Good Pay & Fun. Call Kim 1-800-425-5264

Others area company has openings in shipping/receiving. Full and Part Time evenings with one weekend day required. Flexible Hours/Day. Call Todd after 5pm 553-2139

Part Time Telemarketer
$8.00 per hour plus incentives. afternoon or evening Monday through Thursday. For more information call 381-2777

Transferring to a Four-year University?
Check out The Transfer Guide

Help Wanted

Advertising Sales
Aggressive self starter for FT/PT territory employment. Must have own transportation. Unlimited earning potential. Commission only Sales. For appt. call Mike at 572-6502

PANAMA CITY BEACH
This Spring Break can be fun and make the most money. Sell the best location on the beach next to the world's largest night club. Campus reps/organizations needed to promote Spring Break. Call Kim at 1-800-558-3002

BEST DAMN CAMPUS REP WANTED!
North America's Best Damn Tour Co. Only one can offer you a FREE spring break trip for every 20 paid and a chance to win a VISA/MasterCard. Join thousands of other campus reps. CALL NOW 1-800-853-5604

What Happening in Arts & Entertainment?

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services. Term papers, resumes, cover letters etc. Laser Printer. Laser Print Call Lori @ 708-705-1673

Typing/WP Service
Resumes, Term Papers, Laser Print Quality. Tina @ 708-991-3198

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford. Resumes, resumes, cover letters, anything you need in great FREE laser print. FREE spell check. FREE COVER PAGE. Call Today! Randy @ 708-995-4883

Large Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs. Includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2024. Evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60135

Services

NEED WORD PROCESSING? NEED IT FAST?
Well, we have the answer for you. Call J. J. Services for all your word processing needs. Prompt service at reasonable rates. CALL NOW 708-933-6562

Typing by Ph. D.
Undergraduate Science & Math. Call 708-913-8282

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Qualifies products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight loss without drugs, denial, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lose muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formulation. 708-658-5381

Health Restoration
Restore your health with the natural use of Aloe Vera and Hypnagogic herbs. Various medical services provided. Home Bathing, H.C. BP checks. Licensed and certified. 708-427-1909

Roommates

Single Female
looking for roommates for 2 bedrooms condos in Schaumburg $300 per month plus 10 utilities. Female non-smoker preferred. Call Vicki at 865-8845

For Sale

1982 HIDE CODE CALENDAR
featuring nude female college women. Mail $9.95 to: CODE CALENDAR, P.O. BOX 4348, DEKALB, IL 60156

Stim Colors Radar Detector
Call Ray at 708-537-3619. Best time before 11 a.m.

GRADUATING FROM COLLEGE?
Uncover the secrets of job hunting by investing $3.95 in a 24 page booklet written by a professional employment specialist. Your valuable offer is just around the corner. To order, send $3.95 to: Bookman & Assoc., P.O. Box 1515-C, Palmdale, IL 60071

Fitness

The Search is Over.
Why are so many NFL, athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders paying in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW! 708-658-5381

Information

Standard Classified Rates and Information
Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first line, $0.35 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors or ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger at 2467. Call 708-971-3000, ext. 2467, or send fax with cover sheet to 708-971-5210

NewsBriefs COLLEGE NEWS UPDATE

The withdrawal deadline for 15 week Fall credits classes in November 16, 1991 by 12:00 noon. Drop forms are available in the Registrar's Office, A213.

Early registration for current and past students, spring semester is coming soon. For assistance with your educational planning see counselors in Student Development now. Counselors are available in I-117 and I-142 from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday, and from 4:30 - 7:30 p.m., Monday thru Wednesday in I-117. Daytime students will register for spring during the day by appointment only. Appointment cards will be available in A-213 beginning on October 31. Computer terminals will be open for daytime registration, by appointment card only, November 11, 12, 13, 14, 18, 19, 20, 21, 25, 26; December 2, 3, 4, 5, and 9. Registration hours during these days are from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Registration for evening students will be November 11, 14, 18, 19, 25, December 2, 3, and 9 from 6:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m., no appointment needed.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE - DAY CLASSES

Final Exam Period	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
8:00-9:45	December 16	December 17	December 18	December 19	December 20
	All English 101	All Accounting Classes	All MTH 102, A 103 Classes		Faculty Grade
9:55-11:40	M-W-F	T-R	M-W-F	T-R	Processing
11:50-1:35	M-W-F	T-R	M-W-F	T-R	Specialty Arranged
1:45-3:30	M-W-F	T-R	M-W	Exam	Exams
3:40-5:25	M-W	12:40-12:50	1:40-2:15
3:45-5:00	M-W	3:45-5:00	3:05-4:20

1. Classes beginning at 4:45 p.m. or after will follow the evening class schedule.
2. Evening Classes will use the week of December 16 for final exams, to be held during regular class periods.

SATURDAY AND "WEEKEND COLLEGE" CLASSES
Final exams for Saturday and "Weekend College" classes will be given the week of December 14 during regular class periods.

SCHOLARSHIPS, GRANTS...

No matter what your grades are...
No matter what your family income is...
You may qualify for thousands of dollars in financial aid and it won't cost you one cent. We know the whos - where's - how's on qualifying for this money!!
Do you? Complete details: $5.00
SCHOLARSHIP LOCATING SERVICES OF AMERICA, 310 W. Army Trail Road, Suite 122, Carol Stream, IL 60818

Metropolitan
Property and Casualty Insurance Company and Agents

"Get Met, It Pays."
Insurance for your home, auto and boat.

Also,
Renters Insurance (Personal Belongings Insurance) for your apartment or condo.
Very competitive rates - coverages in the Harper Area.
Give me call for a quick competitive quote.

Joel Blanchette
Property and Casualty Specialist
(708) 303-0130 ext. 313

Become Miss America Or Miss Teen America

Attend our Seminars October 28 or 31 a.m. at the Schaumburg Beer Western 1725 E. Argonne Road (off 53) Spend an entire morning with Jay and James Robbins of Image Improvement who have produced Marjorie Vincent, Miss America (90) and Cheryl Majors, Miss Illinois (90) We'll help to prepare you for the interview and help you have a complete winning day. Each participant receives a $25 certificate towards an Image & Color Analysis. Advanced registration $25. *Drop this coupon for an additional $5.00.

At the door $30.00. Check, Visa, MasterCard, American Express.

Positive Image/Peggy's Consultants
(708) 864-8270

Certified Image Consultants

TODAY'S THE DAY

Stop Smoking.
American Heart Association

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris Pregnancy Center

708-865-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Chubs, Groups, Teams

NO BRAINER FUND RAISER

- Absolutely No Investment
- Earn hundreds of dollars per day! $1,000 or more per week!
- Ask for Darren between 9:00 am & 5:00 pm.

CALL TODAY
1-800-669-7678

Women's tennis team finishes very successful season

Hawks finish at 8-1 in the N4C

Ken Geiler
Harbinger Managing Editor

Time to put away the rackets for the winter, but not before one last look at Harper's women's tennis team's season.

Martina Bell's return to coaching this season must be termed a success. Harper finished second in the North Central Community College Conference with an 8-1 mark. The Hawks were also third in the Region VI Tournament.

"I would have liked to be first or second as regional and go to the nationals," Bell said. "But we faced reality and decided to hold on to third place."

The Hawks' success might be attributed to a balanced squad. Number two singles player Sen Sahara won nine matches.

"She moved up quite a bit this year," Bell said. "She accepted the pressure of number two. It was a good challenge for her."

Cheryl Ellis was another player to improve, moving up from number five to number three. Bell Kelly also won nine times at the number four singles position.

"We were hesitant about her knee coming into the year," Bell said. "She had an injury problem, but it held up beautifully. She was extremely competitive, as her second place in singles shows."

Denise Lutka earned the sportsmanship award at last weekend's regional tournament.

"Denise was comfortable at number five," Bell said. "She changed her game around and played the way I felt she should play. She and Bell Kelly did a great job of doubles."

Nicole Leguina held the number one spot despite never playing tennis before.

"It was fun to see (Leguina) do her thing out there," Bell said. "If you want to be mechanics, you look at Nicole. She accomplished a lot for a beginner."

Number one singles player Tracy Osborne battled injuries most of the year, but is expected to return next fall.

Men's Tennis

There will be an important meeting on October 31 at 2 p.m. in M 244 for all men interested in trying out for the Harper men's tennis team next spring. The squad is limited to full-time students only. For additional information, contact Head Coach Roger King through the Physical Education and Recreation office. Harris leads nation.

Harris leads nation
Hawk's running back Derick Harris currently leads the nation in scoring with an unbelievable 104 points through only eight games. Thus far in the 1991 campaign, Harris has scored 17 touchdowns and one two-point conversion in six games for his total. Last Saturday against the University of Wisconsin at LaCrosse, Harris broke James Hayward's single-game scoring record of 24 points when he scored 26. With three games remaining, Harris still has an outside shot at Hayward's all-time single-season scoring record of 150 points set in 1989.

Eliasik tries golf

Head football coach John Eliasik took a brief vacation when the Hawks played Triton in particular in a Florida pro-am golf tournament. Eliasik's team finished 5th out of 18 teams in the team scramble journey event. Things went well for Eliasik's team in the early round, but after reaching as high as 17th place overall, they eventually faded, missing the final cut by 4 strokes.

Golfers

Continued from page 12

Blackhawk (second in Division II match play. In Division III play, the College of DuPage (C.O.D.) took first, while North Central Community College Conference (N4C) champion Rock Valley placed second.

Mark Ishabashi led the way for Harper as he led in all seasons. His finish at 83 not only placed him eighth individually, but also qualified him for nationals.

One major surprise for the Hawks was John Chang. His 86 from the fifth man's spot, good enough for sixteenth, was a major factor in the Hawks' excellent finish despite the course conditions which hampered play throughout the tournament.

"It was windy, the course was soaking wet, it was 40 degrees and didn't warm up," Karras said. "The course (Park Hills) is challenging enough without these factors."

With N4C divisional play over, the Hawks end up third just behind National Championship calibre C.O.D. Returning for Harper next season will be Jeff Zieg and Ron Swartzell with Tony Swanski, graduating and Chang transferring. The only unanswered question is if Ishabashi, who is currently being courted by other colleges, will transfer out.

The Harbinger

YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

Free Lecture

In Celebration of National Alzheimer's Month

"If You Could See Through Their Eyes"

Internationally recognized, Dr. Donna Cohen will enlighten caregivers on what it feels like to have a chronic disease like Alzheimer's. Learning this perspective, the caregiver increases their:

- patience
- understanding
- respect
- kindness...

during moments when they have difficulty coping with the person in their care.

Date: Sunday, November 3, 1991

Time: 3:30 p.m.

Location: The Moorings of Arlington Heights
811 East Central Road
(1 block East of Arlington Heights Road)
Lecture in Harbor Room

Please RSVP by November 1st
Call Shelly at (708) 419-5916

Dr. Donna Cohen is a Professor of Gerontology and Community Health Sciences at the School of Public Health at the University of Illinois at Chicago. She is internationally distinguished for her research, clinical practice, and education in aging and geriatric psychiatry. Dr. Cohen has authored and edited four books, and co-edited 1990's award-winning book, "Alzheimer's Disease: A Practical Approach." Alzheimer's disease and related disorders, and long-term care. Dr. Cohen's research program has focused on the role of the family in the care of Alzheimer's disease and related disorders, from research to an increasingly aging society.

Sponsored by Parkside Adult Day Health Services

Why settle for second BEST when you can have the WORLD

OPEN
7 DAYS
A WEEK

Bring in this special
1-3-91 ad for FREE 1st trial
(no purchase necessary)

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

"WE FEATURE"

- Aerobics: High/Low Impact and Step Classes
- Cybex Circuit Training with Rehabilitation Equipment
- Lifecycles • Stairmasters
- Cybex Most Advanced Free Weight Equipment
- Child Care • Saunas • Towel Service • Pro Shop
- Individual Fitness/Nutritional Counseling

HOURS
M-F 6:00 AM - 11:00 PM
Sat 8:00 AM - 7:00 PM
Sun 9:00 AM - 6:00 PM

Have the Healthiest Body
In the World at:
WORLD GYM & FITNESS

(Loehmann's Plaza)

Call 228-7775 for more info

262 E. GOLF RD., ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
DIRECTIONS: 1 block east of Arlington Heights Rd. on Golf
in Loehmann's Plaza Shopping Center

HARBINGER SPORTS

• Conference 26, 1991

• HARBINGER

Volleyball team makes Wright wrong

Hawks continue record setting season with sweep of Wright Junior College

Em Turner quick on defense on Hawks crush the Wright Rams

Kurt Goetz

Harbinger Managing Editor

The Harper women's volleyball team was not their sharpest last Tuesday against the Wright College Rams. After all, they only swept the Rams, winning the games 15-7, 15-1 and 15-2.

"We really are a lot better than this," said Head Coach Renee Boscomb. "We had a lot of advantages. We have played much better games."

The victory over the Rams adds to the fact Harper won record on one match days, winning the Hawks to 28-8, 1-0 in conference.

This is only Boscomb's second year as head coach, yet she refuses to take any credit for Harper's success.

"The players do it, not me," Boscomb said.

And against Wright College, the players certainly did.

In game one, Harper's distinct height advantage was clearly noticeable due to ineffectiveness of the Rams power game. At every kill opportunity, Wright was forced to settle for a dunk instead of a dunk.

As opposed to the Rams, Harper's roster lost some of the big give hitters in the conference. Perhaps none is any bigger than sophomore Amy Longmore. Her play, along with that of Kari Baatz and Em Turner off the bench led the Hawks to victory.

Brooke McKivack also played a vital role with her consistent excellent sets, putting the middle hitters in the position to do damage.

The second game was characterized by very poor serving by Wright. The Rams had possession of the ball five times, four of which were either served into the net or out of bounds. Longmore continued her big contributions along with the excellent defensive play of Em Turner.

Throughout the final game, Wright played musical players, making numerous angles and substitutions. Longmore talked us into the final game alone, including her blistering game-ending spike.

"They are doing well because of the way they play together," Boscomb said.

The Hawks next contest is against Oakes, which is followed by a bye in the first round of the Region IV playoffs.

Hawks have record setting day against U of W

Two records fall as Harper demolishes Wisconsin at LaCross JV squad 54-6

Kurt Goetz

Harbinger Managing Editor

The Harper football team was in a very offensive mood after the long trip to University of Wisconsin at LaCrosse. In fact, when the game had finally ended, the Hawks had proven how offensive they had been by setting a record for most total yardage in a game with 592 in their 54-6 win over the Wisconsin JV team.

With the win, the 10th ranked Hawks improve to 6-0 in the North Central Community College Conference, 7-1 overall.

Another record to fall during last Sunday's rout was James Hayward's single game pass mark of 24. After breaking Lorenzo Butler's single game rushing record earlier in the season, Derrick Harris decided that Hayward's record was not to go. Along with rushing for 178 yards in 12 carries, Harris scored 26 points on 4 touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Even though the offense was producing the records, it was the defense that had the hits. The Harper defense kept the Eagles off the ground, holding Wisconsin to -31 yards rushing.

Just about the only rush that was working when the Eagles offense was on the field was the Hawks' pass rush. Harper recorded 10 sacks, led by defensive linemen Tony Sant's 3. Other Hawks' with sacks were Mike Miller (2), Nate Scholtz, Paul McAndrews, Doug Winter, Tom Perick and Ray Moser.

The game began neutral enough with both teams failing to score in their first possession. But on the Hawks' second series, a shanked 11 yard punt put Harper in excellent field position. After a near catastrophe where a Harris fumble was called back due to the Eagles' punting offense, Harris took a 10 from 11 yards out.

Punter Mike Morrison came on and kicked the extra point with no real place kicker Tim Newsum attending a wedding.

The Eagles would come back to score on a 1 play, 80 yard drive that culminated in a fourth-down, John Donahue (5 for 11, 68 yards) QB sneak. With nine seconds remaining in the first, the Hawks would get the ball back after Trevor Rogers' 18-yard kickoff return.

On the Hawks' very first play, Harris ran right 62 yards for a touchdown. Morrison would miss the extra point.

Miller would start the second quarter off with a bang, right into Donahue, who promptly lost the ball. Side-line receiver the fumble, the Eagles first of 5 on the day, with 14:04 left in the quarter. A Harris 2 yard TD run and a Steve Matthews 20-

Harris two point pass conversion would put the Hawks up 21-6.

On the Eagles next series they proved that they would not quit for a while at least, going for it on fourth and one. Linebacker Mike McDowell came up with big play against Wisconsin on the run. The Hawks responded to this with a 2 yard touchdown run by Rogers. This play was set up by a 25 yard pass completion from Mike Morrison to Greg Dwyer.

The Hawks would score on their opening drive in the third. The point after was a two-point conversion pass to Rick Heagerty, which was his first reception after coming off of an Achilles tendon injury.

Kenny Taylor, who was coming off an injury, scored in the fourth quarter from 62 yards out on a kickoff return to cap off the scoring.

The Hawks next match is Monday, against the Midland JV squad.

In other related games, Illinois Valley slipped by Marine Valley 18-13. Rock Valley crushed Joliet 32-12 and Grand Rapids mauled Triton 47-14.

Coach John Flork returned to lead the Hawks over U of W LaCrosse Eagles

Golfers wrap up season

Kurt Goetz

Harbinger Managing Editor

Only two people were under 90. No, it was not the Wednesday night meeting at the Elks Lodge. It was just Custer High's Region IV Golf Tournament that saw its best ever weather and poor course conditions inflate even the best golfer's scores.

"The season went pretty well, much the way I expected it," said Head Coach Jim Harris. "We played with the upper class of our region and still finished strong."

Which is exactly what Harper did at the Region IV event, finishing behind only Highland (first) and unpredictable 1991 campaign.

See Gotten, page 11

See Gotten, page 11

8 Weeks in...

Team	Conference		Overall
	W	L	W	L
Harper	6	0	7	1
DuPage	5	1	7	1
Illinois Valley	3	2	7	2
Rock Valley	2	1	5	2
Triton	1	4	3	6
Marine Valley	1	5	3	6
Joliet	0	5	2	7

THE HARBINGER

William Hunter Journal Editor

October 31, 1991

Volume 10 Number 10

GET SPOOKY

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Meet the critics

Page 4

SPORTS

Volleyball defeats Rock Valley

FOOTBALL

Howlers win gridiron battle by conquering Millers 28-6 in the process, the defense held their offense to a total of 51 yards.

Page 8

NEXT WEEK

The Field Museum's new permanent exhibit, "INTO THE WILD: ANIMALS, TRAILS AND TALES" opens to the public November 9. The Harbinger will have an exclusive preview detailing the exhibit.

CONTENTS

Editorials	2
Letters to the Editor	2
Options	3
Arts & Entertainment	4-8
Under the Surface	4
Guns and Roses review	5
Prometheus Unbound	5
Comics	6
Classifieds	7
Sports	8

Adjunct faculty petitions for election

Eric Jason

Exchange News Editor

The Harper College adjunct faculty has filed a petition for a collective bargaining election on October 21 with the Illinois Education Labor Relations Board. The adjuncts also are part-time employees who teach fewer than six credit hours per academic semester. This represents the first time that non full-time teachers have organized at Harper.

The adjunct faculty's major reason for organizing is to improve compensation and benefits for their positions.

The full-time faculty's latest critical faculty is better benefits and faculty organization. The number of adjunct faculty has over the years grown to outnumber the full-time. At present, there are 155 adjunct and 200 full-time instructors.

The adjunct faculty is seeking representation with the Illinois Education Association (IEA) and they will work together to negotiate with the administration on the future of the college.

Besides better salaries, the adjust faculty said it is looking to get security rights, job security and a stronger voice in administrative government. It also hopes to get a contract that will establish rules and guidelines that the college must follow.

"We're trying to get an active voice in how the school runs," said Terry Gial, member of the adjunct faculty organizing committee.

All of new part-timers are not allowed to serve on any committee of any sort.

The adjunct faculty is still attempting to organize along similar lines of Chicago Community College, which organized its part-time instructors in 1983. Chicago has a curriculum committee that has a non-voting part-time representative on the board.

The goal is to be able to have a teaching staff at Harper that is more unified.

"If Chicago is so well off and was received by all concerned, the administration and the staff too," Gial said.

No final date has been set yet for the collective bargaining election. The final decision will be determined by IEA, the Harper personnel department, and the adjunct faculty organizing committee.

Home show stars come to Harper

Eric Jason

Exchange News Editor

Better home improvement was the major theme of the Independent Contractors Association (ICA) Home Show in Building Mall last weekend. The show was made up of over 100 exhibits dealing with better home services and new products from local contractors.

Exhibits of heating, air conditioning, water proofing, and remodeling products dominated the show.

Experts in their respective fields were on hand at the booths to offer advice to consumers.

"This is entertainment coupled with an educational experience and the true key is that it is like a shopping center for home improvements," said John Norton, association director, ICA.

The main attraction at the show was Joe L. Evans and Ed Feldman from the PBS show "Furniture on the Move."

Their presentation centered on furniture repair but they used comedy to get the most points across.

Also appearing was Steve Thomas from "This Old House."

Appearing on Friday was the Chicago Bear linebacker, Ron Rivera, who talked about the Bear's strategies and signed autographs for fans.

Saturday featured an appearance by Justin Wilson, "The Cajun Cook" from the PBS show "Louisiana Cookin'" and Buddy Miles, former drummer from the Jimi Hendrix Experience.

Public turnout for the event was slow on Saturday, and show manager Scott Halesky said the ICA may not do a fall show next year. Though last year's show drew more than 10,000 people, attendance has gone down 60 percent for the fall shows over the past few years. The spring shows will continue, with the next one coming to Harper in March 1992, said Halesky.

Steve Thomas discusses remodeling techniques for the average homeowner

Contractors had mixed reviews of this show, some feeling that the smaller turnout didn't hurt the overall idea of the show.

"This one is a little smaller, not quite as many participants," said Ronald Schreyer, general manager of the Edna and Lina's Lumber Company. "But the people we have been talking to are definitely interested in what we have to offer."

Boris Bekech poses with Scott Hacker of Politics of the Home show last Friday

Candidates ready for upcoming election

The board of trustees election will be occurring on Tuesday November 5. Ten candidates will be competing for four open board seats out of the seven available.

There will be more than 200 polling places over the three county area that is in Harper's district. Voters will have to vote where they are registered on their voters registration card.

These are the candidates answers to the following questions: "Do you have any goals you'd like to pursue if elected to the board of trustees?"

Barbara Hart: Have a lesson between faculty and administration to solve the problem of poor communication.

Steve McCully: Showcase Harper more in the community and to evaluate programs on campus.

Sarah Boer: Brochure breaks down in communication with faculty and administration.

Larry Nelson: Work with faculty members to smooth communication. Shift goals of the college to include a world view. Place greater emphasis on curriculum review.

Donald Harrington: Ensuring that taxpayers are getting what they want for the money they spend. Improving performance with less cost.

Jacqueline Buttimus: Set concrete policy for college. Establish open lines of communication with administration and faculty. Be more flexible in policy.

Elliot Munier: Improve parking on campus. Increase community involvement with Harper. Have board members talking more with faculty.

William Barnes: Rely less on state funds. Attract other forms of revenue for the College.

Barbara Barker: Find alternative financing. Work with faculty members to smooth communications.

Peter Baker: Move us less to five percent and control the increase in tax rates. Curb the rising tuition rate.

*Special thanks to Matt Brinkman

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

Editor in Chief
Business Manager
Managing Editor
News Editor
Features Editor
A & E Editor
Sports Editor
Photo Editor
Copy Editors
Layout Editor
Faculty Advisor

Mario R. Galenski
Gary A. Tickle
Kurt Gessler
Eric Jason
Andy Lozman

Phil Mapes
Alisa Chinlund and Linda De Luca
Michael Cichy
Susanne Havlik

Staff

Daniel Anzures, Maygora Balam, Elyssa Balmight, Jenny Balam, Jason Feinstein
Christopher Garcia, Kim Harrison, Caroline Lawoff, Tim McDonald, Jason Pier, Gina Piccolo, Tasha Plonick, Dave Rogers, Michael Shura, Kad
Alexander Tschann

Dear Editor:

In regards to Jason Feinstein's column, Jason I don't know where to begin. Your argument is not logically sound. There are so many loopholes it's hard to believe that your opinion was published as is.

I would like to begin by saying that I respect your opinion, but unfortunately, it is obvious to me that you do not respect mine.

(Way, you mention "Any drug possession should be a capital crime." This applies to everyone." Do you see any problems here? It would be no problem to set someone up by planting a joint on them, and then according to you they should be "swiftly and mercifully executed." Of course, you might say you believe these "ADDICTS" deserve fair trials, or would you? Do you have any idea of how many innocent people would fall into this bar holes in your

Dear Editor

Regarding Mr. Feinstein's "Capitol Punishment" essay, everyone has the right to form their own opinion, but forming an opinion without a full understanding of the issue is complete ignorance.

In the past decade there have been several "stricter laws" passed on Federal, State, and local levels of law enforcement. More are still being drawn up. Judging from past history, how effective do you really think this type of solution will be? Is a new law or capital punishment really going to deter someone from entering the narcotics world? Research in various reputable texts has shown that these sort of solutions do not

Dear Editor,

In regards to Jason Fein's column I would like to say that like so many other white conservative suburbanites, you do not think. It is time for Americans to realize the real source of our problems and then try to solve

Nicotine, alcohol

In regards to Jason Ferstein's column, he forgot just two little argument, resulting in their execution? Another problem with this one-sided view is that you would wipe out at least 25% of Harper students, not to mention the percentage of society.

Everyone from politicians, teachers, artists, musicians, hey, maybe even your PARENTS—one can never tell. What about the teenagers who experiment once or twice with drugs at a party? They could have bright futures, but according to you "When you see a ~~unknow~~ you destroy it!"

You attempt to argue that drugs are worse than alcohol and tobacco because drugs are illegal. First of all, you cannot lump all drugs in the same category. Each must be judged individually, for example addictive/nonaddictive. Secondly, are you planning to let our government make all your decisions for you? Have you forgotten there was such a thing as prohibition? Pot kills brain cells, but guess what, so does alcohol.

S4870

vermin of our society, huh? Well, maybe so. But guess how they get that way later? Because society abandoned those less fortunate and themselves. The majority of this drug problem dwells in the ghettoes of our cities, yet what is being done about it? Well, the government of your "good 'ol U.S.A." has slashed essential aid to welfare programs, D.C.F.S., and social security, in name only a few. Does this lack of concern help the situation? No, but you think we should fatally punish these people instead of taking the time to seriously understand, give guidance to, and rehabilitate them. No, not all can be rehabilitated, but lets give them the chance.

them.

based on retaliation (if you do A, then B will happen). Do you think a heroin addict is concerned with the improbable consequences of being arrested, no matter how severe the punishment? No. Drugs are not the source of the drug alcohol are drugs too, do your homework think you need to do just a little more homework before you spout

similar to Hitler

and at the same rate. Pot is not physically addictive, alcohol is. The hemp plant takes in more carbon dioxide than any other plant, in return helping the ozone. Can you say anything positive about alcohol? I think you need to get some facts straight.

You say "Some criminals can be rehabilitated, others cannot." Who will decide who can and cannot live? Who has the potential and who does not? What if you're WRONG?

If your entire argument is easier said than done. When you've executed people like myself, what's next? When you see that crime is still there, will you find a minority race to blame and execute? Cee, you're starting to sound like HITLER!

Jasun, you need to read this. THINK FOR YOURSELF. QUESTION AUTHORITY!

Colleen J. Campbell

not an ignorant one

You also mention that some people feel drugs are no worse than tobacco and alcohol. Your rationale is that cigarettes and booze are legal and drugs are not. Wake up, you weasel! TOBACCO AND ALCOHOL ARE DRUGS! They both alter the mind and body the same as crack or LSD do. In case you haven't heard, Tylenol and Pepsi are also considered to be drugs by scientific findings.

While this drug epidemic must be resolved, your solution is absurd and without any type of rational consideration. Get the facts and understand the issues before you form an opinion and write about it. Ignorance is nothing to be proud of.

Tim Shure

problem. The desire to do drugs is. This is where our judicial system fails. Our society must eliminate reasons to do drugs rather than drugs themselves.

When I see a cockroach, I don't destroy it...I clean up my crumbs.

Kurtis Randall

o, do your homework and. off your pen. What are you into.
ug, too I anyway, genocide? ???!!

Phil Mancoske

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

Letters Policy
The Hartman welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a daytime telephone number. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser and all claims, losses are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved

My column is my opinion...Do you understand?

I had originally planned to characterize Anastasia, er, I mean, give my opinion on the act of governor of Louisiana, ex-Klanman, David Duke. But, I must delay that column. I have to respond to the letter written by Lydia Fernandez in which she showed dislike for my column about Anita Hill.

Lydia has given me a verbal spanking. I like that in a woman. Well, it seems that we are on a first name basis, dear, sweet, assimilated, naive Lydia. First things first. The title on the margin says "OPINION." This means that the columns that appear on the opinion page are opinions and commentaries. In other words, I can basically say what I want. It also means that I do not have to show both sides of an issue. It is my column and I write what I want to. Whether you like it or not, you grow to love it.

Now Lydia, let's take a little break word in time. We will turn you the error of your ways. It is true that I said that the hearings misrepresented most of the weekend. Yes when I am home I like to watch "All My Children," but I sometimes also watch boxing on Tuesdays if you are inclined to know. I feel that I must point out that I don't "cagerly turn on Saturday and Sunday." I do not have the luxury of being able to sit home and watch television all weekend long. I have to work full time, so that I may have the privilege of going to college.

Lydia, you have this annoying little habit of leaving out a very important word in your critique. Does the word "alleged" ring a bell? Anita Hill ALLEGED that Justice Thomas (I like the sound of that) bragged about his sexual prowess and the size of his penis. Hill also alleged that Thomas described his affinity for the so-called actor called

Jason Feinstein

Media Watchdog

"Long Dong Silver." I think I went to grammar school with him. Well, I digress. Do you understand my dear? Good. I know you do understand, eventually. Also, it would take a lot more than talk of a public that in my words to an appellate judge allegedly bragging about his penis for, as you put it, "my ears to perk up." Perhaps if Marilyn Chambers were here, but that's another story, indeed. I stand behind all of my previous and all of my future columns. I answer to no one, so therefore, I repeat: NOTHING. I still believe, in my opinion, that Anita Hill was not telling the whole truth. I did listen to a majority of the hearings, and Hill's testimony was so full of holes that you could stick the whole feminist movement in them. If Hill had to "put up" with Thomas' alleged advances, she should have quit and filed a lawsuit. But no, she wanted the publicity. Is she satisfied? She was on last week's National Enquirer, not that I read that rag.

So, Lydia I think it is you, not I, that missed out on the lesson here. Perhaps, if you took your head out of your...ah never mind. Let me tell you another thing. It is just possible that some women are capable and do indeed lie. However, it is not my intention to trivialize the case of sexual harassment. It does happen. The offenders should be punished. It is a shame that the man is always guilty just because a woman says so. These things are needed: proof, proof, and proof.

Well, at least Lydia had the guts to sign her name. On to the next issue, my friends. "Name Held."

This person was upset over the sale of nude coded calendars in The Harbinger. Give me a break. They are only offensive if the code is ugly. Anyway it's not pornography. Porn is when there are two or more people and penetration is showed or implied. Loosen up. The body is natural. If you want offensive, check out Vanilla Ice.

OK. Last thing about standards. What just women's standards? Men have standards, too. I can hear the ultra-feminists coming out of the woodwork now. Remember this: women aren't perfect and they do lie, just read any Danielle Steele novel. OK, bring on more, much more criticisms. I LOVE IT!

I will leave you with this last rhetorical question: Am I insane or is everyone else insane and I am sane, and are they trying to steal my magic bag? Think about it. Until next time...Goodnight

SCHOLARSHIPS, GRANTS...

No matter what your grades are.
No matter what your family income is...
You may qualify for thousands of dollars in financial aid and it won't cost you one cent. We know the "whats-where's" how to qualify for this money!!
Do you?? Complete details: $5.00

SCHOLARSHIP LOCATING SERVICES
OF AMERICA, 810 W. Army Trail Road, Suite 122
Carol Stream, IL 60188

Careless players, Harper parking lots are hazardous to one's health

Well, what do you know folks, I managed to get a column in, two weeks in a row. I would like to begin this week with a warning to all you weekend warriors like myself. I'm referring to those of you who enjoy a friendly game of football on a weekly basis. Bring this cautionary advice to you after a rather painful weekend last week.

I was out for my first game of the N.F.L., that's Neighborhood Football League last Sunday, when I suffered a multitude of injuries. After being speared by a somewhat careless player, I was rushed to the hospital by my friends. I went home that afternoon (which I have dubbed Bloody Sunday) with four stitches in my hip, two cracked teeth, a possible concussion, and a few other bumps and bruises. A rather costly price to pay for crashing. I don't get paid the million a year I should.

Anyway, my advice is, if you're gonna play be sure you've got a mouth guard and don't go out with the idea you're going to cream someone, because it may be one of your friends. A lesson I learned the hard way. I don't regret playing, but I do regret being injured, especially when it could have been avoided with a little common sense.

Anyways, in conjunction with this I would like to get my grip about the confusing and, in my opinion, hazardous design of our remotely located parking facilities. Upon entering the campus from either of the two main roads, which perpetuate the college, you are immediately faced with the decision to go in three different directions: none of which are labeled to their final destination. Due to the large number of students and faculty seeking access to the school during the morning and mid-afternoon the average person has approximately 1/10th of a second to make that decision before they are assailed by a variety of arm gestures, horns, jeers and I.Q. identifying arm gestures.

Much of this could be avoided with the implementation of a few clear and properly located signs directing the accidental tourist through the maze of parking lots. The use of such signs could also make these entrance cities a safer route for all those traveling the Harper College Freeway.

This is just a suggestion to the school board to make Harper a kinder, gentler place as I would like to end this week and maybe I'll bring more of these "fun" items with a question from The Book of Questions by Gregory Stock, P.H.D. The week's questions in #92. "Is there something you've dreamed of doing for a long time? Why haven't you done it?" A thought to ponder.

Mail Winkelman

Mensana en
Corpe Sano

Why settle for second BEST when you can have the WORLD

OPEN
7 DAYS
A WEEK

WORLD
GYM
& Fitness

Bring us in for special
12 or more month
$2 FREE initiation fee (weekend)

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

"WE FEATURE"

- Aerobics: High/Low Impact and Step Classes
- Cybex Circuit Training with Rehabilitation Equipment
- Lifecycles • Stairmasters
- Cybex Most Advanced Free Weight Equipment
- Child Care • Saunas • Towel Service • Pro Shop
- Individual Fitness/Nutritional Counseling

HOURS

M-F 6:00 AM - 11:00 PM
Sat 8:00 AM - 7:00 PM
Sun 9:00 AM - 6:00 PM

Have the Healthiest Body
In the World at:
WORLD GYM & FITNESS

(Loehmann's Plaza)

Call 228-7775 for more info

262 E. GOLF RD., ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

DIRECTIONS: 1 block east of Arlington Heights Rd. on Golf
in Loehmann's Plaza Shopping Center

The Harbinger

YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Gire and Diligio save the evening from disaster

ANDY LAMMAN
Harbinger A&E Editor

Playing to small crowd, Don Gire of the Daily Herald and Nick Diligio of WGN Radio held an conversation that extended beyond the stage.

Although scheduled to appear, Johanna Stancetti of the Chicago Tribune and Norman Marks of WTAQ-TV were unable to show because of various problems.

They spoke of what it is like to be a critic and review films for a living, delivering their messages with humor and a comradery that has been developed during their time spent in the same theater watching films during screenings.

In the earlier years of Gire's career, friendliness was a rare commodity. When Gire started reviewing there was only Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert in Chicago.

They were suspicious and judgmental of each other. Sitting at typewriter sales of the theater, Ebert in the front and Siskel in the back.

Gire, among the rest of the viewers of the film, would enter into the world dominated by the mood set by Siskel and Ebert. Every one would sit there being totally silent.

"It was like going to a wake,"

Don Gire of the Daily Herald and Nick Diligio of WGN Radio chatted freely with off in Building 1's theater.

said Gire.

This has changed since the death of Siskel has left the scene. There are a plethora of critics at screenings, now, and in some cases they actually talk to each other.

Gire said that if this was all his time, he'd hold for him he would have found another line of work.

Dramatic changes are not standard in the movie business, Gire and Diligio commented on how there has been little, if any, change in the rates of movie works or critical bombs.

Some people feel that there was a "Golden Age of Cinema" during the 30s and 40s when all films were wonderful and flops were nonexistent.

According to the critical couple, there has been any changes in the rates of good films to bad, there has only been a memory lapse over time.

of the bad ones.

"B movies were cranked out at a rate of 5,000 films a week," said Gire in his usual style of understatement.

These days are the reviewers' time. While the "average popcorn muncher," as Gire puts it, can walk out of a bad film and never think about it again the critic must think out and give reasons why the film is bad.

"Who the hell is going to see that unless they are paid to," said Diligio about the new Vanilla Ice movie.

The distant feel for Vanilla Ice's movie extends to those movies that are not as obviously bad. One movie was singled out for its saccharine filled scenes of false sentiment.

"I'll give you the bad things about the job - Curly Sue," said Diligio with Gire adding that it was "as far as the fear goes."

The two were very animated about their dislike for some films mentioned. When an audience member asked what they thought about Oliver Phipps Money Diligio began to mimic a vomit worthy of being in the Exorcist while Gire began convulsing as if prompted by a cattle prod.

Not to let these reactions be the stand out events of the evening, Diligio let an interesting image in the mind of the audience on why his is qualified for his job.

"I think I was concerned at a drive-in," said Diligio.

Even with the drought of critics the evening was well over well. The audience was held enthralled by the critics until 10 p.m.

Fortunately, an evening that could have been a complete disaster was not.

The Shamen are now a domestic release And hopefully MTV will not make them mainstream converts

Christopher Garcia

Under the Surface

The Shamen
EN-TACT
Epic

Let me apologize for reviewing the same band in a one month period, but the English band The Shamen (pronounced shay-men and not sha-men) are so unique that it must be done.

EN-TACT has been released domestically for the first time on October 22nd and it should receive recognition. This is probably one of the most exciting moments in alternative music history for as far as I'm concerned.

To those of you not familiar with The Shamen, they're typically defined as alternative/acid-house/electro-pop experimentalists.

Originally founded in 1986 as an indie rock band, Colin Angus and William Sinnett changed to their current sound in 1989 with the release of the Omega Anjo single. Since tragically drowned off the coast of Tenerife (Canary Islands) on May 23 of this year while shooting the video for Move Any Mountain (the remix of Progen).

The import version of EN-

TACT was released in November of 1990 and immediately became a hit as the U.K. Omega Anjo was released a year before the album, and the subsequent singles, Progen, Make It Move and Hyperreal rose to the top of the dance charts world-wide.

Progen '91 was released this July as an import and it now available domestically as a single.

The Shamen are known to be remix masters in the music industry. Estimates on the number of Progen mixes range from twenty-two to thirty-five, although the remix album PROGEN contains only nineteen of them.

The Shamen currently have six albums: PROGEN, STRANGE DAY DREAMS, EN-TACT, PROWARD, IN GORACHIEV, WE TRUST, and DROP. They also have eight twelve-inch singles from their current album, EN-TACT by far their most popular and accessible to date. The import CD has thirteen tracks, the import LP has ten and the domestic CD has fifteen.

Those of you with the import album won't benefit as well as people without it because the versions are not that different (four are also the same). Also, if you own all eight twelve-inch singles, the same applies. EN-TACT (domestically) contains two remixed versions of Hyperreal, Lightstep and Make It Move, and three mixes of Progen. It also contains the mix of Human NRG otherwise available on the import CD. Only Jack Dangers of Night Beat Manifesto, William Orbit, Renshaw Soundwave, and The Beatmasters, among others, mixed several of the tracks.

There is a video for Move Any Mountain (Progen) that was aired on MTV on their show, 120 Minutes (alternative music videos), which coincidentally runs at 10:00 p.m. on Sunday nights. Do you know what this means? Once an English band (or any foreign band) releases a video, an album and a single in the U.S., and is already popular overseas, that spells Trouble (with a capital "T"). Look what happened to Depeche Mode when Enjoy The Silence was played on the devoted B.96. The same went for Jesus Jones' Right Here, Right Now and ENF's Unbelievable. They became almost mainstream in music conversations. People actually thought that Depeche Mode was a new band! Little did they know that they've been around since 1981.

Popularity has its benefits such as money, but it also has its negative associations as well. The Shamen have come a long way since 1986 and they now have the sound to become popular, although it doesn't necessarily have to be commercial.

A band can be popular in a category such as alternative and not be commercial. This is one of those bands that must be known to the extent of, say, Moby. Not everyone knows of Moby and they shouldn't - for alternative music fans only. The songs on EN-TACT each have their own atmosphere: Possible Worlds, End is Even, Oxygen Reaction, and Hear Me Hear Me Hear Me. O My People on the import sound different from each other as all of their songs do. The most critical addition to democracy is the 106 Edit mix of Progen. Near the middle of the song, it shifts to typical B.96 house-type grooves and screaming and there it stops, only to be followed by the words "wrong track" and goes back into the mix. It's quite interesting.

If you've never heard The Shamen before and enjoy powerful techno-dance music with some catchy rap lines via Mr. C, and cool, crisp melodies and verses, this is something to investigate. Don't panic! The Shamen are NOT a rap band of any kind, so if rap is your pleasure, The Shamen probably are not.

Off the subject a bit, I'd like to introduce a new word that no one except my close friends know about. Shhhh. The secret word is "Quasi-Latino." What does that mean, you ask? That he goes up on a catwalk dressed as Bel Rio Divo and the ever annoying C+C Music Factory to me are considered as Quasi-Latino, or just "QCs" for short. Anything with a commercial synth-pop flair is QL. Rock bands that master their way to radio stations are not QL. It is a simple term used to separate bands with talent and those without. If I offended anyone, I'm sorry, I am just stating my opinion.

What I am trying to get at is, ah, yes. The Shamen are NOT QCs! Hey Killer Bee, f--- off and die!

Music Review

Rating: ★★★★★ out of five

At the ticket window...

Squeeze

Saturday Nov. 2, Riviera 46

N. Racine, currently on sale

Fishbone and Primus

Thursday Nov. 7, Riviera, currently on sale

Naked Raygun

Saturday Nov. 16, Riviera, currently on sale

Riche Sambora

Saturday Nov. 23, Riviera, currently on sale

Ozzy Osbourne

Tuesday Nov. 26, Aragon Ballroom

Lawrence at Broadway, currently on sale

Red Hot Chili Peppers, Smashing Pumpkins and Pearl Jam

Friday Nov. 29, Aragon Ballroom, currently on sale

Metallica

Friday Dec. 6, Riverfront Horizon, currently on sale

Tim Machine

Saturday Dec. 7, Riviera, on sale

Friday, Christmas Benefit for the Chicago Children's Memorial Hospital

Fall Choral Concert

Sunday Nov. 3 at 7:30 p.m., Harper College Building A

A Gershwin Spectacular

Sunday Nov. 3 at 8:30 p.m., Henneman Auditorium, 56 to 520

COMICS

EDGAN KISSORHANDS

GOD Help Us!

Here 92 Back

THE Wonder Lump

WAYNE GRETZKY Hockey Superstar

COLUMBIA COLLEGE

Plan To Attend

FALL OPEN HOUSE!!!

And See How
Columbia College
Can Shape
Your Future!

All Are Welcome!

SATURDAY,
NOVEMBER 9,
10:30 AM-3:30 PM

- Dance
- English
- Fashion Business
- Fashion Design
- Fiction Writing
- Film Video
- Fine Art
- Graphic Design
- Illustration
- Interior Design
- Journalism
- Liberal Education Studies
- Magazine Writing
- Editing
- Marketing
- Marketing Communications
- Music
- Music Business
- Photography
- Professional Writing
- Public Relations
- Radio/TV
- Science and Mathematics
- Telecommunications
- Theater

WE'VE MADE IT EXCELLENT!

- Personalized advice from advisors
- Small class sizes
- Faculty of teaching professionals
- Financial aid opportunities

WE'VE MADE IT COMPREHENSIVE!

- Advertising
- Advertising Art
- Art Management
- Computer Graphics

NOW, WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

For more information, or to reserve your space, call (312) 662-1000, EXT. 130

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, October 31, 1991 7

Help Wanted

Hasil The Earth Teach Others
Earn $100,000 per month
Call: Jo at 958-0848

Marketing Students
be paid while you learn flexible hours, must have car. $500
Marketing in a national company filling part time positions. Leave message for Mike at 1-800-582-2704.

PANAMA CITY BEACH
This Spring Break earn free trips and make the most money. Sell the best location on the beach next to the world's largest nightclubs. Campus organizations needed to promote Spring Break. Call Kim at 1-800-558-3922

O'Hare area company has openings in ship processing, full and part time evenings with one weekend day required. Flexible hours. Call Todd at 3pm 593-2138

Part Time telemarketer
$5.00 per hour plus incentives afternoons or evenings Monday through Thursday. For more information call 381-2777

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS
to students or student organizations promoting our Spring Break Packages. Good Pay & Fun. Call CMI: 1-800-423-5244

Help Wanted

LOOKING FOR
a Fraternity. Sincerely Student Organization or exceptional individuals that would like to potentially make $1000.00 or more sponsoring QUALITY SKI and BEACH trips on campus. For further information Call Kim at Orion Tours, Inc. 1-800-800-6050

BEST DAMN CAMPUS
North America's Best Dome Tour Co. Only one life can offer you a FREE spring break trip for every 20 paid and a chance to win a YAMAHA Waveblower. Join thousands of other campus organizations needed to promote Spring Break. Call Kim at 1-800-558-3922

TELEPHONE SALES REP
Das Plaines Telemarketing company seeks enthusiastic people for its day and evening shifts $6 hr plus bonus. For interview call 857-3807

GRADUATING FROM COLLEGE?
Uncover the secrets of job hunting by investing in professional employment specialist. Your future job offer is just around the corner. To order, send $3.95 to Bowen and Assoc., P.O. Box 1513, C. Palatine, IL 60078

Help Wanted

Blimpie Subs & Salads
NEW Schaumburg location hiring for all shifts positions. Possible management positions available. Make and learn A OK. Coal place to work. Prior food service helpful. Motivation & spirit! Please Call 708-612-5978 for info or apply at 816 W. Golf Schaumburg

Not an Elephant, than why are you working for peanuts? Join the telemarketing team of JEDI Enterprises. Phonework involves setting up appointments only. Want a fast growing company looking for people who want to excel. Base pay & commission offered. Reserve your spot in our training class. Call 268-1120

Need motivated students to help promote fitness job in Buffalo Grove. Arlington Heights area. Earn $5-10 per hour. Flexible hours. Work any day of the week. Call Chad or Ron at 215-9228

Fitness LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Breakshire products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight Loss without drugs, dieting, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Low muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formula. 708-658-5591

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services. Term papers, resumes, cover letters etc. Law Firms! Laser Print Call: 708-705-1673

NEED WORD PROCESSING? NEED IT FAST?
Wait, we have the answer for you. Call D & J services for all your desk top needs. Prompt service at reasonable rates. CALL NOW: (708) 893-4562

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford. Reports, resumes, cover letters, anything you need in print. FREE laser print. FREE spot checks. FREE COVER PAGE! Call Today: Randy @ 708-595-4883

Need a Typist?
I HAVE OVER 15 YEARS EXPERIENCE in academic and resume typing. Computer and laser quality printer used. Call VITAL SECRETARIAL SERVICE (708) 213-5885

Legal Services
FREE consultation for all your legal needs. Includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, bankruptcy, weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60189

Tutoring by Ph. D.
Undergraduate Science & Math. Call 708-913-8282

Services

The Search is Over...
Why are so many NFL Athletes MD's business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW: 708-658-5381

Health Restoration
Restore your health with the natural use of Aloe Vera and Hypoxerba. Various medical services provided. Home Batho INC. BP checks. Licensed and certified professionals. 708-427-1909

Typing WP, Service
Resumes, Term Papers. Laser Print Quality. Time (708) 991-3198

For Sale

ISU (Illinois State) student in need of publishing in December needs to sub out his share of year apt. in Normal, New York. Call at 1-309-452-1589 or e-mail at 708-256-8547

Slim Cobra Radar Detector
$65.00 or best offer. Call Ray at (708) 537-3819. Best time before 11 a.m.

Personal

KRISTEN
An image of your presence is always here. A smile from you makes my day, but something is wrong, you can't be read. So give me a sign so my heart's not BLIND. BRIAN PSY 101 LEC 803

Roommates

Single Female
looking for roommate for 2 bedroom condo in Schaumburg. $300 per month plus 1/2 utilities. Female non smoker preferred. Call Vicki at 885-8845

Patricia
Sublet for six months large apt. 2 bedroom w/ heat, water and gas incl. No pets. $600 mo. Dec 1st call 922-1477

Information

Standard Classified Rates and Information
Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in next issue. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information contact The Harbinger at 3367. Call (708) 597-3000, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 597-5210

NewsBriefs

The withdrawal deadline for 16 week Fall credit classes is November 16, 1991 by 12:00 noon. Drop forms are available in the Registrar's Office, A213.

Early Registration for current and past students, spring semester is coming soon. For assistance with your educational planning, see counselors in Student Development now. Counselors are available in 1117 and D-142 from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday, and from 4:00 - 7:00 p.m. Monday thru Wednesday in 1117. Daytime students will register for spring during the day by appointment only. Appointment cards will be available in A-213 beginning on October 31. Computer terminals will be open for day same registration, by appointment card only. November 11, 12, 13, 14, 18, 19, 20, 21, 25, 26, December 2, 3, 4, 5, and 9. Registration hours during these days are from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Registration for evening students will be November 11, 14, 18, 19, 25, December 2, 3, and 9 from 6:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m., no appointments needed.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE - DAY CLASSES

Final Exam Period	Monday December 16 All English 101 & 102 Classes	Tuesday December 17 All Accounting Classes	Wednesday December 18 All MTH 102 & 103 Classes	Thursday December 19 T.R. Cntrl Processing Time and Specialty Arranged Exams	Friday December 20 Faculty Cntrl Processing Time and Specialty Arranged Exams
8:00-9:45	M-W-F	M-W-F	M-W-F	M-W-F	M-W-F
9:55-11:40	9:00-9:50	9:25-10:40	10:00-11:50	10:00-11:50	10:00-11:50
11:50-1:35	10:00-10:50	10:50-12:05	M-W	M-W	M-W
1:45-3:30	M-W-F	12:00-12:50	M-W-F	M-W-F	M-W-F
3:40-5:25	3:45-5:00	1:40-2:55	2:25-3:45	2:25-3:45	2:25-3:45

EVENING CLASSES

1. Classes beginning at 4:45 p.m. or after will follow the evening class schedule.
2. Evening Classes will use the week of December 16 for final exams, to be held during regular class periods.

SATURDAY AND "WEEKEND COLLEGE" CLASSES

Final exams for Saturday and "Weekend College" classes will be given the week of December 14 during regular class periods.

Club Notes

The Harper College literary-art magazine Point of View is looking for two student editors for this year. Literary Editor - The Literary Editor directs the selection and preparation of writing that will be published in the magazine. Art Editor - The Art Editor selects art work for publication and designs the magazine.

These positions involve a great deal of work and responsibility, but they can become a valuable part of a student's credentials for college transfer and employment.

Any student interested in either of these positions should contact Dr. Frank Smith at F-148B, ext. 2777 or Jeanne Panikun, Student Activities.

Literature Club Now Forming.
Do you write fiction, poetry or essays? Do you enjoy reading literature? If so, you should join Harper's Literature Club. We write and discuss our own material as well as examine great works of literature. For more information, call Professor Rex Sturges at 397-3003 ext. 2440 or Diana Forster at 612-0799.

SKI CLUB
Indian Head Ski Trip, December 13-15. $85 + $5 room deposit for 2 nights lodging / 2 day lift tickets, transportation and much more!! DEADLINE: NOVEMBER 7. Pay at box office. Questions call John at 397-3000 ext. 2446 or Mike at ext. 2342.

HARBINGER SPORTS

October 1, 1992

SPORTS FINAL

Hawks pulverize Rock Valley in Region IV Women's volleyball team sweep Rock Valley Trojans in three games to start post-season

The strong serve of Amy Longmore overpowered the Trojans.

Kurt Gause

When Harper, senior volleyball captain, was between a Rock Valley Trojans and a Rock Valley Trojans in the Region IV Tournament. If the Hawks could not defeat the Rock Valley Trojans, they would miss their first-round tournament for the second consecutive year.

With this incentive it should surprise no one that the Hawks handily swept the Trojans 16-14, 15-4 and 15-12.

"This win was real big, especially for the girls who were here last year," said Head Coach Ronny Biscorn. "It was one of our goals for this season."

A product of that goal is the Hawks' all-time school best 30-2 record which they continue to increase. Another product of the Hawks' successful season is possible All American accolades for sophomore Amy Longmore.

"I didn't think of it early in the season," Longmore said. "Now I know it. It would be more than a honor."

Even with her exceptional talents, Longmore still considers herself simply part of a team. She just happens to be part of the one of the volleyball teams ever assembled at Harper.

And against Rock Valley, they proved it.

The Hawks struggled a bit in the first game, eventually overcoming the consistency of the Trojan blocking. The play of Erin Hanley and Lynette Noyes led the way, with the strong serve of Monica Purinton factoring in strongly.

A game-winning set point, as well as a 15-4 score would indicate. Kurt Bantz and Erin Turner provided the offensive punch with their play around the net.

Throughout the two games, Longmore played a solid if not unexpected role. But when the victory was in sight, she took control.

Longmore's serve keyed the Hawks to a run of 11 consecutive unanswered points to put the Hawks up 11-2. Rock Valley's steady play would keep the game close, but the offensive play of Bantz, Turner and Hanley would keep the ball out of the Trojan hands.

"I just tried to keep things going," Longmore said. "I wanted to stay away from mental mistakes."

"They played much better than in our prior meetings," Biscorn said. "They were definitely up for us."

The Hawks' next match is Friday, continuing play in the Region IV Tournament.

HAWKS KILL MILLIKIN Season ends with Millikin win

Kurt Gause

Harbinger Managing Editor

As far as the Millikin varsity volleyball team was concerned, it would take a natural disaster to beat Harper Hawks. Ranked 10th in the nation. Unfortunately, even after transferring Millikin's normal playing field in Decatur into a new track of wetlands, the Hawks still prevailed for their sixth consecutive win, 20-8.

This ends the 1991 season. The Hawks finish the regular season at 11-1, tied for the North Central Conference (NCC) of which they clinched three weeks ago.

With the regular field unplayable, the Hawks were forced to play on Millikin's practice field, which not only lacked stands but goal posts.

The only real problem the Hawks could only attempt two-point conversions.

Even with these adventures, the Hawks held Millikin to 51 yards of total offense, which included a total of 8 passing yards. The Hawk's defense also limited Millikin to only 1 first down.

As per the Hawks' usual game plan, the rushing game was the focus of the Hawk's attack. And as per usual, Derrick Harris led all rushers, netting 136 yards on 23 carries and 11 touchdowns. Harris, combined with Kenny Taylor for 341 yards on 6 carries, accounted for the bulk of the Hawks' 258 yards on the ground. With the weather conditions not conducive to passing, quarterback Steve Matthews was given fewer opportunities, but still managed to complete 6 of 12 passes for 115 yards. His chief beneficiary was LaDon Calabrese, who caught 2 passes for 67 yards.

Meriton White also physically placed smothered, his 51-yard average per punt last Monday against Millikin earned him praise from all sides.

Early in the first, the Hawks were first to score, as they have done in all but two of their games this season when Harris broke through from 3 yards out. With the two-point conversion pass from Matthews to Harris successful, the Hawks led 8-0 after the first.

The score would stay at 8-0 until halfway through the third, when Millikin tied the score on a 1-yard TD run and subsequent two-point conversion. On the Hawk's next possession, a patented "Derrick Drive" was attempted when Harris himself went in from 6 yards out.

The fourth quarter would see the Hawks score twice to eliminate any Millikin comeback hopes. First, Harris would break away and ramble 19 yards for the score. This was followed by Jerry Bailey's 13 carries for 60 yards. 5-yard touchdowns ran both conversions failed.

The Hawks' next contest in the NCAA Region IV playoffs this Saturday at home versus the Rock Valley Trojans.

Hey MLB: why not let the punishment fit the crime?

Mario Galenski

The Bottom Line

The inconsistencies in Major League Baseball are so glaring, that the man in the Sahara Desert pales in comparison. A pair of Oakley shades couldn't help everyone the most during fans fight the game.

Let me start with the obvious. This year the two teams that finished in last place in their respective divisions last season, not only finished in first this year, but went on to give us baseball fans one of the greatest World Series to date.

Personally I think it's a disgrace that this sort of thing could happen in professional athletics, or any other sport. It was nice not to see the Oakland Athletics, or any other damn California team vying for a Championship again.

MLB really needs to take a look at their so-called drug policy again. It is an absolute joke.

With the Atlanta Braves in the middle of a pennant race and three weeks to go in the season, their catalyst and leadoff man Ous Nixon was suspended for 60 days for violating baseball's drug policy.

Nixon violated his aftercare program and the commissioner's drug policy. In 1987, Nixon was in the Cleveland organization and entered a rehab center, but was never suspended. His recent suspension was due to a positive test taken from a sample in September. But, Nixon also tested positive in July and the commissioner's office didn't act on that positive test. Why? Because they felt that maybe it was an error.

An error my ass. Nixon had become well respected in the community and at the time was leading the league in stolen bases and the commissioner's office felt maybe this was just a one time cocaine line budge.

Yeah, right! The commissioner gave Nixon a second chance because of his stature in the community and with children. But all it boils down to is the commissioner's office felt maybe this was just a one time cocaine line budge.

Professional athletics is filled with personalities, especially baseball. Many of the wild personalities of days past are deceased, the most recent being Leo Durocher.

Another personality that is deceased in one sense of the term is Pete Rose. Let's face it, Rose gambled, and whether it was on baseball or not (he was only guilty of other sports gambling and tax evasion) baseball reamed him a new asshole, all because Commissioner, the deceased Ban Giannini, didn't like Charlie Hustle or his arrogant personality.

This eventually led to the dismissal of Rose from baseball for life, including induction to the Hall of Fame.

What does baseball do to the drug users? Rehabilitate them, try to and still let them into the Hall. A perfect example would be recent inductee, good 'ole Fergie Jenkins.

A player's statistics speak for themselves and that's what should get them elected into the Hall, not mistakes that they made in life. Especially mistakes they made after their career is over with. Sounds like baseball's version of the expost facto law.

Somehow, these two scenarios don't seem right. A 60 day suspension for using cocaine, and a life time ban for gambling, that makes a lot of sense. That sends out a clear message to the youngsters admiring baseball players: If you do drugs you'll be forgiven, if you gamble you lose.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Gabekli
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Kurt Gessler
News Editor	Eric Jensen
Features Editor	Andy Leaman
A & E Editor	Phil Mapes
Sports Editor	Alisa Chisholm and Linda De Luca
Photo Editor	Michael Cliby
Copy Editor	Suzanne Havlic
Layout Editor
Faculty Adviser

EDITORIAL

Students become victims of crime when reports are withheld

In January of 1990 a student at Southwest Missouri State University, Traci Bauer, then editor-in-chief of the Southwest Standard was refused access to campus security department reports. Bauer went on to file a lawsuit against her school with the help of the Student Press Law Center when the school refused to release information pertaining to an incident report involving an accusation of sexual assault committed by an athlete at the school.

The university said that the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), also known as the Buckley Amendment, prohibited it from releasing the crime report. U.S. District Court Judge Russell G. Clark ruled that FERPA did not cover campus law enforcement records and if it did, the law would be unconstitutional.

Where is the local tie in, you ask? The same excuse has been given to reporters representing The Harbinger.

Harper is obviously trying to give people the impression that this is the land of Beaver Cleaver, where life is peachy keen. Crime is news, and happens to be of the utmost importance to everyone on this campus. Why? If there is not any crime being reported to the reader through the school paper, then people may have the impression that crimes are not being committed. The Harbinger staff knows otherwise and is in the process of investigating.

Protection of yourself and your valuables are at stake. With access to these records the campus will be a more informed and a much safer place. "Students are becoming victims of crime because they don't know these crimes are going on on campus," said Mark Goodman, Student Press Law Center.

The law says that educational records cannot be released, and schools like Harper are trying to claim that campus crime reports fall under this category. They are sadly mistaken. Similar decisions have been given in other states as well.

Why won't Public Safety release these crime reports? Does Harper care about the safety of their students, staff and visitors?

This information should be provided with names, addresses and charges to the public, not just the press. The Public Safety big wigs should be here to help protect anyone on Harper's campus, and this will only be accomplished if the crime reports are released.

There is also another LAW that was passed in November of 1990, the Campus Right to Know Act. The campus crime statistics are required by law to be provided periodically. They have yet to be provided.

Once again, does Harper College care about the students or just their pocket books?

Staff

Daniel Anagnost, Elvira Bainton, Jerry Baker, Jason Forrester, Christopher Garces, Tim McDonald, Jean York, Gina Pardo, Tasha Parake, Michael Skura, Kad Stappier, Matt Winkelman, Alexandra Youshakov

COMMENTARY

Letters To The Editor

Public Safety needs to write more tickets

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter as disgust over the parking situation at Harper College, especially parking lots numbered 1 and 12, which are adjacent to Building F. The classes I'm taking this semester put me in the parking lots previously stated. It seems every time I drive into either of those parking lots, I find myself dodging cars that are parked outside the painted lines.

There was only one time this semester when I saw an officer writing a ticket for a car that was parked outside the painted lines. I am only asking that the school give the students more parking spaces, because obviously the students need it. Or, the police of the campus conduct more searches through the parking lot to ticket the violators. I hope this information that I have provided will be thought of thoroughly.

Name withheld upon request

FOCUS '91 is clear, pullout section a success

Dear Editor,

I would like to congratulate Gary Tickle for the great job with the FOCUS '91 section of The Harbinger. From the quality of the publication, it was obvious he spent hours of hard work to pull it all together. I have heard very positive comments from the counseling staff.

Also, the very big thank you to me on the second page was quite a surprise and much appreciated! I am glad we could work together to provide such a beneficial piece to the students and hopefully make The Harbinger some money in the process.

Thank you again for your dedication!

Sheryl A. Mease

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

FEDERAL RESERVE NOTE

OPPORTUNITIES AVAILABLE FOR BRIGHT, OUTGOING
AND ENERGETIC PEOPLE...

Work for the
Daily Herald

Field Sales Team
and earn up to $500.00 a week
part-time!

- Part time opportunities:
Monday-Friday 5:00 p.m. to
8:30 p.m. Saturdays too!
- Flexible hours to work around
YOUR schedule
- $12.00 an hour paid training
beginning immediately
- Transportation provided from
our office

Contact:

Kirk Bole - 870-3471 • Earl West - 870-3470

Between 12:00 - 5:00 p.m. Monday - Friday

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

AMY REYNOLDS
College Press Service

709 E. Goll Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Field Museum to open major new exhibit

Andy Leamon
Harbinger A&E Editor

The Field Museum of Natural History will open a new exhibit on November 9 that will showcase the biology and habitats of both mammals and birds.

One of the goals of the exhibit was to give the public an increased respect for nature and to demonstrate that nature is fragile and species can disappear, said Robin Whalley, one of the exhibit's designers.

"Into the Wild: Animals, Trails & Tales" is the largest exhibition project the Field Museum has completed. The designers of the exhibit placed the skeletal remains with stuffed and mounted specimens of the same species.

The exhibit resided in the Daniel F. and Ada L. Rice wing of the museum and occupies four main sections.

"Nature Walk" has the feel of a forest preserve with simulated dirt trails, trees and rustic looking displays. It is intended to take visitors through North and South American wetlands and woodlands. With an "environmental" sound track playing in the background, the simulation is well thought out and complete. Many rooms are even sprouting in a secluded corner by a tree.

The "Nature Walk" was designed to teach people new skills for observing nature while in a setting that emulates North and South America wetlands and woodlands, according to a "dead things under glass" feature, the museum created interactive displays. Visitors can touch elephant tusk and ostrich egg models or compare the different types of bird "World of Mammals" exhibit is divided into 5 rooms that show the evolutionary history and relationships of the animals. The exhibit starts with the "Early Mammals" chronologically. Some of the animals here lived during the time of dinosaurs. A section of the exhibit shows how plate tectonics has affected animal life.

The World of Mammals section also has rooms that focus on rodents and rabbits, hoofed and marine mammals and carnivores.

Round out the section the room "Primates, Bats and Shrews." It shows how humans are closely related to monkeys and bats.

The specimens from the various rooms have been gathered from the turn of the century collection rippled by do-

Whalley.

To give the visitors a hand in picking a site to practice their new skills, a computerized data base is available for public use. It contains information on all the nature reserves and organizations within a 75-mile radius of Chicago.

With a greater area of coverage is the "Field Guide to North American Birds." It contains 98% of all the species of birds in North America. This section also has a sound track.

This section also has a sound track. Bird calls in the background help to keep the atmosphere light, keeping the visitors from feeling like they are in a class room.

To keep the exhibit from being books to stimulate humans use such as a knife and fork, tweezers and a hole punch.

The "World of Birds" section of the exhibit features representative members of every bird order and 90% of all bird families.

Not to be out done, the mammal section is equally as impressive. The nations. Circuses are often the benefactors, they give the museum their animals when they die.

The exhibit is free with regular admission. The Field Museum of Natural History is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and will be closed on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

Sandman EP gives little to most For Metallica collectors and die hard fans only

Andy Leamon
Harbinger A&E Editor

For the hard core Metallica fan only. The EP of Enter Sandman has little new to offer those who are not actual Metalheads.

THE ENTER SANDMAN EP opens most interestingly with the version of Enter Sandman from the full length album. This is however not what you'd want to buy this for, particularly not since it is an import at import prices.

The CD goes for about $12 for 3 tracks and about $8 for the vinyl 12 inch (yes vinyl). Both contain Enter Sandman in demo and final form and Some Cold Crazy, a cover of an old Queen tune previously found on RUBY & YAT. Elektra's 40th anniversary compilation of cover tunes.

The difference between the two is the addition of the "work in progress" version of Holler than Thou. Having an additional track on the vinyl release when there is plenty of them on the CD is absurd, particularly now that turntables are expensive to most people and CD players are becoming common place.

Some Cold Crazy is a decent cover, with the sound and production quality typical of other Metallica covers, minimal but adequate. As with the other covers that have appeared on other EPs, Some Cold Crazy tops the original with its "treacher" sound and vitality.

Minimal is a apt description, and more than a bit overboard, of the demo of Enter Sandman. Recorded in Lars Ulrich's basement with only drums and the basic guitar parts present. It is an interesting look into the life of a song but gives little else. The structure of the song is almost identical to the version found on the full length album.

The only real difference is the lack of the "accessory" guitar parts, vocals and the different guitar solo. Hetfield, who did all the guitar on this track, did quite a different solo for the demo compared to the final one, interesting perhaps but far from earth shattering.

The "work in progress" Holler than Thou bears little difference from the final version. It lacks the crispness and sloping of frequencies where each part lays in the sound spectrum, and sound like a different mix of the final rendition.

With little actual listening value to give the average listener — unlike some of their other singles — this can only be recommended for the serious Metallica collector or fan.

Music Review

Rating: ★ 1/2 out of five

Subwich

invites all Harper Students to a FREE 1g Drink with any Subwich or Salad Purchase.

Students must 12-31-91.

Subwich is Located in the Regency Plaza at the corners of Euclid & Quentin Rds. Hours: Daily 10 a.m. - 10 pm, Sunday 10am - 6pm. Call ahead for fast pick up. 991-1188, FAX 991-1277

Subwich® Money Saving Coupon 50¢ off Any 6" Subwich one coupon per customer per visit offer expires 12-31-91	Subwich® Money Saving Coupon 20¢ off Any Bag of chips or fresh fruit one coupon per customer per visit offer expires 12-31-91
--	---

where OUR bread really does make the difference. Make the Switch to Subwich®

Does poetry really exist

ELIZABETH CANPA
Harbinger Staff Editor

I originally was going to write about the poetry thing in Chicago. But circumstances had me to write about one location — the Bop Shop, and I am glad for it too.

As I entered the small-framed door facing a very deserted Division street, I began to feel the pulsation coming from within the bar. I had a sense that maybe I didn't belong here, but I really did not care.

The long bar that curves around the bartender leads your eyes to the focal point, the tiny stage where many recite those beautiful words of poetry. Or do they? Dean, who is in charge of the poetry thing here at Bop Shop, sits quietly at the bar inhaling the bluish reason by Harmonica Paul and the Blue Vines. Excellent session is all I have to say.

As I sat in the vinyl covered booth I could feel the anger on top of the sadness mixed together with all the joy and happiness put into this song: Black beans and rice. Being of Cuban descent, I could totally relate!

As Harmonica Paul begins to wind down, he calls Senior Dean to the stage. Dean slowly lifts his pants from the bar stool and has this to say:
You know what?
There are no poets.

And I don't give a fuck!
Don't care—
Don't feel nothin' for it
'Cause poetry is dead with
No room for the corpse
And you know what—
Poets killed it!
Lead it dead out
Push hard around poetry's throat
And I kissed his cold lips goodbye

This was quite a good night. No poets showed up to recite their magical words for others to absorb the sweet sounds produced.

Dean believes that poetry is not a form of entertainment but rather a form of art.

"We're suffering from a poetry overload, everyone thinks they are poets," Dean says.

Dean believes poetry is very important and only a handful of people out there know what they are doing. Dean describes a poet as someone that makes you feel, makes you cry, someone that brings life back into poetry. According to Dean Wicker Park, the "crutch" of poetry slams is suffering the same as San Francisco.

"Everywhere you go you see bad poets doing bad poetry. I guess that's good because it points out the good poets, but it also fucks everything up."

"Someone has to stick their thumb into the whole eye of the poetry scene," Dean says. "I did Black & Hot, I started off gruff and then hands like the Sex Pistols come along and screwed everything up."

Dean believes that what poetry really needs is some anti-poets to spice up the real poets.

The real question here is, who is a poet and what is poetry? No one can really answer this question because poetry isn't new and it isn't old, it's an art form. But as usual someone comes along and does it wrong. What I mean by doing it wrong is 'doing' it to impress someone else. WRONG!! Poetry is for the individual. If others want to listen in — they are welcomed to — but remember, poetry is not for the masses. To be a poet you don't have to be an introvert, dress in black, and live dark. This is the myth about poets.

Those who are poets know who they are — businessmen and women, garbage men, housewives and anyone else from this world. A real poet speaks his voice and does not imitate others. Dean walks around in his leather boots, leather jacket and a cowboy hat — leather of course. Dean is a poet. He speaks his voice and doesn't care what others think.

If you feel courageous enough to travel down to 1807 N. Division just remember this. A kiss is just a kiss... sorry member this. I really need to say that, but seriously, don't go to the Bop Shop and expect anything, go to the Bop Shop and expect nothing, that way you can never be disappointed. Next week, Fitzgeralds in Berwyn.

Nirvana will take you to nirvana

Nirvana
NEVERMIND
Geffen/Sub-Pop

Nirvana's NEVERMIND is currently being heralded as one of the best releases of 1991, and it's difficult to see why. This album kicks some major (fill in the blank, kids)!

They are often grouped with other Seattle (and Sub-Pop) bands like Soundgarden and Mudhoney (alright, former Sub-pop), but their songs are more coherent and less abrasive. Their music has vivid bass lines, high-powered guitar and lots of energy.

The song Smells Like Teen Spirit has been getting lots of air-play on WNLN, and even WXTV has picked up on it. I have been told it also has been getting air-play on MTV (you see it here "first" and you see it again... and again... and again...). If you like Teen Spirit, you will definitely like this album.

The songs Breed and Territorial Pigeons blow Teen Spirit out of the water. These, by far, are the best songs on the album. Teen Spirit is incredible, but these two are awesome!

The only song which is unimpressive is Drain You. This is the only song on the album which doesn't grab the listener's attention. The song is not that bad, but it is not a great song by any measure.

The special mention, however, goes to Something in the Way. This song has ten minutes and five seconds of silence in the middle of the song. When the music comes back, the track becomes then most abrasive one on the album. One might think that this track is an evil joke being played by the band.

As much as I hate "putting on hand visages", I must say that this is one of the best albums of 1991.

Shadegrowth
WHAT'S THIS?
Johanna Face Records

Shadegrowth is one of the more popular bands playing the club circuit. Their songs have been on air-time on WNLN, and have now been released on CD. They have been called the next Naked Raygun, but should not be grouped with them.

The band consists of Dan Schaefer (vocals), Adam White and Dave McLain (guitars), Brian Vermin (Drums) and Sera (Bass). They are usually classified as a "hardcore" band, but this category is so broad, they cannot be judged by this branding. While they definitely have energy, they still have a legible sound, unlike some of the other "hardcore" bands usually encountered. If you know to WNLN's track show, you have probably heard them.

The best songs on the album are Never Say Never and Plunger. These songs crank! Plungers Dargons and Soreday are two other great songs. These songs are a relief from the electronic nightmare currently being heard on the radio. Five people playing real instruments and an energetic sound, unlike the pseudo-guitar groups like the Blue Aerophones.

However, the biggest problem with the album is the lack of diversity. The album becomes redundant at points, but not to an annoying extent. Another problem arises in the missing, shiny missing is really visible. Still, this album definitely puts Shadegrowth at the top of all the local bands; blowing Material issue out of the water!

Music Review

Nirvana
Rating: **** 1/2 out of five
Shadegrowth
Rating: **** 1/2 out of five

SPRING TERM BEGINS JANUARY 13

Only one Northwest suburban university has a long history of leadership behind it.

Roosevelt University
A Force in Chicago's Past — A Leader in Chicago's Future

ALBERT A. ROOSEVELT UNIVERSITY, 425 N. GARDEN ROAD, ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILL. 60005 • (708) 437-0200
ROOSEVELT CAMPUS, 425 N. MICHIGAN AVENUE, CHICAGO, ILL. 60610 • (312) 381-7001

Roosevelt University distinguished careers in business, the arts, the sciences and government. At our comprehensive Arlington Heights campus, you can follow in their footsteps with 28 undergraduate and 21 graduate degree programs. We'll also expose such advantages as an outstanding faculty (no teaching assistants), small classes, averaging 15 students, an advising center for program planning, and more.

We offer 240 day evening and weekend classes beginning January 13. Call (708) 437-9200 or mail in the coupon to learn more about how affordable an outstanding private education can be.

A Roosevelt counselor will be on your campus today from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon in the A Building, and on Wednesday, November 20 from 5:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. in the J Lounge.

For more information, call (708) 437-9200 or complete and mail to:

Roosevelt University
Albert A. Roosevelt Campus
2111 N. Garden Road
Arlington Heights, IL 60005

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
E-mail address _____
Phone number _____
Preferred campus _____
Date of birth _____
Arlington Heights _____

THINKING OF COMPLETING A 4-YEAR DEGREE?

Take a look at

BARAT COLLEGE

in Lake Forest, Illinois

A coeducational liberal arts private college for resident and commuter students.

- 24 majors in 13 departments including: Education/Psychology, Management/Business, Performing Arts, and Studio Arts
- Day and Evening classes
- Child care services
- Part-time or full-time status

Join Barat's many students who have completed Associate degrees at community colleges.

Plan to attend the:

FALL CAMPUS PREVIEW
on Saturday, November 23 at 9:00 a.m.
on the Barat College campus

For more information call Admissions Office
(708) 234-3000.

Why settle for second BEST when you can have the WORLD

OPEN
7 DAYS
A WEEK

WORLD
GYM
& Fitness

Bring us in for SPECIAL
1/2 off no. activation fee plus
2 FREE fitness sessions
(with activation)

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

"WE FEATURE"

- Aerobics: High/Low Impact and Step Classes
- Cybex Circuit Training with Rehabilitation Equipment
- Lifecycles • Stairmasters
- Cybex Most Advanced Free Weight Equipment
- Child Care • Saunas • Towel Service • Pro Shop
- Individual Fitness/Nutritional Counseling

HOURS

M-F 6:00 AM - 11:00 PM
Sat 8:00 AM - 7:00 PM
Sun 9:00 AM - 6:00 PM

Have the Healthiest Body
In the World at:
WORLD GYM & FITNESS

(Loehmann's Plaza)

Call 228-7775 for more info

262 E. GOLF RD., ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
DIRECTIONS: 1 block east of Arlington Heights Rd. on Golf,
in Loehmann's Plaza Shopping Center.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger November 7, 1991 7

Help Wanted

LOOKING FOR
a Fraternity, Sorority
Student Organization, or exceptional individuals that would like to potentially make $1000.00 or more sponsoring QUALITY SKI
and BEACH trips on campus. For further information Call Kim at Orion Tours, Inc.
1-800-800-6050

BEST DAMN CAMP
REP WANTED!!!
North America's Best
Dance Tour Co.
Only He/She can offer
you a FREE spring break trip for every 20 paid and a chance to win a YAMAHA Wavejammer.
Join thousands of other campus reps.
CALL NOW
1-800-243-5604

FREE SPRING BREAK
TRIPS
to students or student organizations
promoting our Spring
Break Packages
Good Pay & Fun.
Call CMI 1-800-423-5264

Head The Earth
Teach Others
Earn $100-2000
per month
For interview appointment call
Jo at 956-0668

MALE CNA's
for long term care case
Prospect Heights area
Call 392-2908 Alpha
Christian Registry

Help Wanted

Blimpie Subs &
Sandwiches
NEW Schaumburg location hiring for all shifts positions. Possible management positions available.
Moms and teens A-OK.
Cool place to work. Prior food service helpful/imo-tivations & spirit! Please call 708-612-1076 for info or apply at 818 W
Gott. Schaumburg

Need motivated students
to help promote fitness lab in Buffalo Grove/Arlington Heights area. Earn $5-10 per hour. Flexible hours. Work any day of the week. Call Chad or Ron
at 215-9228

Not an Elephant,
then why are you
working for peanuts?
Join the telemarketing team at
JEDI Enterprises.
Phonework involves setting up appointments only. Were a last growing company looking for people who want to excel! Base pay & commission offered.
Reveal your spot in our training class. Call 269-1120

O'Hara's company has openings in shipping receiving. Full and Part Time evenings with one
weekend day required.
Flexible hours/day.
Call Todd at 93m
933-2139

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing
Services. Term papers
resumes, cover letters,
etc. Low Rates!
Laser Print
Call Lori @
708-769-1673

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs
includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608, evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300
Barrington Road, Suite
400, Hoffman Estates,
IL 60135

The Search is
Over...
Why are so many NFL
Athletes, MD's
business professionals
and body builders joining
in record numbers?
Fastest-growing
nutrition and fitness
company will create more opportunities than any company in history!
CALL NOW!
708-556-5351

Health Restoration
Restore your health with
the natural use of Aloe
Vera and Myosotis Herbs.
Various medical services provided. Home
Baths INC.
BP checks, Licensed and
certified professionals.
708-427-1509

Services

GRADUATING FROM
COLLEGE?
Uncover the secrets of
job hunting by investing $195 in a 24 page
booklet written by a professional employment specialist. Your future job offer is just around the corner. To order, send $3.95 to
Bowman and Assoc., P
O Box 1513-C, Palatine,
IL 60078

Professional Word
Processing
at rates you can afford.
Reports, resumes, cover
letters, anything you need
in print. FREE laser print,
FREE spot checks. FREE
COVER PAGE! Call Today!
Randy @ 708-595-4883

Need a Typist?
I HAVE OVER 15 YEARS EXPERIENCE in academic and resume typing.
Computer and letter quality printer used. Call VITAL SECRETARIAL
SERVICE.
(708) 213-5885

NEED WORD
PROCESSING?
NEED IT FAST?
We have the answer
for you. Call D & J services for all your desk top needs. Prompt service at reasonable rates. CALL
NOW. (815) 893-4562

Typing WP Service
Resumes, Term Papers
Laser Print Quality
Tina (708) 991-3198

For Rent

Palatine Sublet
for six months, large
apt. 2 bedroom w/hall, water and gas incl. No pets. $850/mo. Dec. 1.
call 202-1477

Condo for rent
in W Dundee 2 bedroom 1 bath nice carpet
(replace no pets
$750/mo. plus security deposit. Call
(708) 683-2823

For Sale

1986 Chrysler
LeBaron QTS
4 door turbo black ext loaded, control, premium stereo, leather interior
15" wheels SHARP!
$3975 (book value) OBO
808-7751

Fuji 12 Speed
Racing Bike
Call for pricing. Call rehabs gear w/ metal blue
Low Miles $650 new $150 or best offer.
Call Gary at 855-9370 or
157-3100 ext 2450

Roommate

Singia Famale
looking for roommate for 2 bedroom condo in Schaumburg $300 per month plus 1/2 utilities.
Female non-smoker preferred. Call Vicki at 885-8845

Fitness

LOSE FAT-GAIN
MUSCLE
Breakthru products used
by trainers, athletes,
doctors. Weight loss
without drugs, denial, or deprivation from 5-100
lbs. Lean muscle gains
with proven effective
non-stimulant formulation. 708-658-5391

Personal

ANGEL,
I've sailed the seas, I've climbed the mountains and I've realized there's no one better for me than
you. I hope you can feel the same way.
I LOVE YOU!
TEDDY BEAR

Information

Standard Classified
Rates
and Information
Commercial Classifieds
are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for
each additional line.
Deadline is Friday at
noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or
check. The Harbinger
will not be responsible
for typographical errors
in ads taken by phone.
Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call
(708) 397-3000, ext.
2460, or call Vicki at 885-8845 with cover sheet to
(708) 397-5210.

Put your hard-earned community college credits to good use.
Earn a degree in business!

LUCEP (Lewis University Career Education Program)

- Offers an accelerated bachelor's degree program in Business
- For those with at least 40 semester hours of college credit and three years of work experience
- For those who are at least 24 years of age
- Classes in Romeoville, Oak Brook or Schaumburg

Call (312), (708) or (815) 838-6500, extension 570

A CHRISTIAN BROTHERS UNIVERSITY
LEWIS UNIVERSITY

COME SEE WHAT THE HARBINGER HAS TO OFFER!

The Harbinger does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, or physical or mental handicap. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Earn Money while you're at Harp by selling advertisements for The Harbinger. You can earn extra spending money with only working a few hours a week. Stop in A367 and talk to Gary or call us at 397-3000, ext. 2460. Also, The Harbinger is accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists, and editors. Apply in Room A367 or call Mary Calabrese at 397-3000, ext. 2461.

At RUSH
it's a fine line that separates the University

from the Hospital

When students first visit Rush University they often ask, "Where's the campus?" And our reply is, "Everywhere!" That's because you will find our students throughout Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center. Whether you're in a classroom, patient room or operating room, you're at Rush University. The hallmark of Rush is its unification of education and practice which promotes a dynamic and evolving learning environment. The faculty are practitioners as well as teachers and researchers, demonstrating up-to-date professional knowledge in the clinical setting while transmitting theoretical and practical expertise in the classroom. The foundation of the University is an outstanding patient care setting. Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center is recognized as one of the leading hospitals in the nation.

For more information about bachelor's degrees in Nursing, Medical Technology, and Perfusion Technology, and master's degrees in Nursing, Clinical Nutrition, Occupational Therapy, Speech-Language Pathology, and Audiology, contact College Admission Services, 1743 W. Harrison St., Flr. 119, Chicago, IL 60612. (312) 942-7100.

RUSH

Medical College      College of Nursing      College of Health Sciences      Graduate College

HARBIN ROCK SPORTS

■ 8 ■ November 1991

■ SPORTS FINAL ■

Hawks hit peak against Illinois Valley

Defensive captain Shaver Hawkins celebrates after the win.

Kurt Geisler
Hartberger Managing Editor

The worst thing that can happen to a football team is to spend winter at home. But after beating Illinois Valley 26-9 in the Region IV playoffs in sub-zero temperatures with 30-mph winds, they should reconsider spending some time in a nice warm house. Unfortunately, with their seventh straight win, the (9-1) Hawks will be too busy practicing for the Region IV Championship against the College of DuPage to worry about comfort. Even though the Hawks had a secure lead by game's end, the Hawks were down by one at the half.

Hawks advance to Region IV Championships

A 21-point fourth quarter padded the stats, just as the snow was beginning to fall the ground. "Rock Valley had a lead, but we fought back," said Head Coach John Elansk. "They just never gave up."

Key to the Hawks' victory, as always, was their defensive unit. After a blow coverage knockdown in the second quarter, the 'D' earned straight A's. On the afternoon, Harper held the Apaches to 192 total yards for 12 first downs.

"The defense played like men possessed," said lineman Paul McAndrews. "We were a bunch of crated dogs out there."

And of all the music cammen on the field, McAndrews was top dog. His inspired play led his team while his 2 and 1/2 sacks led all players on the field. Dorian DuKerene also made several big plays, compiling a sack and a interception, while Tom Jackson, Shaver Hawkins and Jeff White all contributed when needed. With a strong wind blowing out of the South, the Hawks' offense was grounded yet again. This suited running back Derrick Harris just fine. Harris broke the century mark for his eighth time, running for 156 of Harper's 219 rushing yards on 26 carries.

Full back Demetrius Hardrick also benefited from the weather, rushing 10 times for 48 yards. Only quarterback Steve Matthews was suppressed by the blizzard. Matthews completed 3 passes in 12 attempts for 63 yards.

But Matthews was not the only quarterback affected by the cold. Apache QB Aaron Gilbert fumbled during a keeper during Illinois Valley's first possession, setting up Harper's first score, a Harris 6-yard TD run. With the point after blocked, the Hawks led 6-0 with 11:40 left in play in the first quarter.

Four minutes into the second quarter, the Apaches turned from running the ball to passing, and found a soft spot on the frozen field. Gilbert completed 5 passes in a 94-yard, six-minute drive that culminated in a 23-yard touchdown strike to Matt Beard.

The Apaches led 7-6 until the first play on the fourth, when Matthews threw a bomb to Rick Hegarty good for 33 yards and six points. On the conversion Matthews forced a pass into traffic, only to find Apache defensive back Dan Scott standing on the off ramp. Scott extended the end zone and returned the two-point conversion unscheduled 105 yards.

Ahead only 12-9, Harris put the game on ice, literally. A bad punt by Shane Tringer put the Hawks on the Apache's forty. Two plays later, Harris statue-stopped his way 38 yards into the end zone.

Two Illinois Valley possessions later, Gilbert completed a pass to Hawk linebacker Dickerson, who promptly ran 46 yards for another Hawk TD. Tim Newman kicked his second extra-point to give Harper a commanding 26-9 lead with 9:30 left to play.

The Hawks' next game is Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Region IV Championship against C.O.D.

Old look for new Tourney

Kurt Geisler
Hartberger Managing Editor

It is said that history repeats itself. For the Hawks, that would be less than an ideal situation. Sherman, set the Wayback Machine to one year ago.

After finishing the 1990 campaign at 7-1, Harper handily defeated the Joliet Wolves in the opening round of the Region IV playoffs. Then, against the College of DuPage (C.O.D.) Chaparrals, the Hawks could not fight back from a 17-0 deficit, losing 17-13.

Surprisingly enough, the Hawks had beaten C.O.D. 17-15 in the regular season.

In the end, even though the Hawks had won a North Central Community College Conference (NCC), but they were denied participation in the Midwest Bowl. Instead, Harper went to the less competitive Royal Crown Cola Bowl.

Now, in 1991, the Hawks have finished 9-1 in the regular season, followed by a victory over Illinois Valley in the first round of the real season. In the regular season, Harper defeated C.O.D. 19-14. Now, to keep all ironies, Harper must face C.O.D. (9-1) again in the Region IV Championships.

"The (Illinois Valley) game was big for us," said defensive lineman Paul McAndrews. "But for the guys that were here last year, next week... means even more."

Will the outcome be the same? Even if you ignore the obvious circumstantial similarities, the Chaparrals still seem to possess an edge.

C.O.D. breezed through Rock Valley 29-0, while the Hawks struggled with the Apaches. Against C.O.D. the vaunted Harper rushing game was crushed due to the Chaps stacking the line. Derrick Harris, who ran amok versus Illinois Valley, was held to 23 yards on 25 carries.

The only offensive positive about the game was that quarterback Steve Matthews, who came through with his best game as a Hawk, completing 15 of 32 passes for 229 yards.

Defensively the Hawks were sound, holding C.O.D. to only 4 first downs. With inexperienced yet talented linebackers, the trio of Shaver Hawkins, Mike Miller and Mike Martinez must play over their heads and get in the Chaps' faces.

The Hawks have two main worries from the Chaps: Aaron Bailey and Bert Brandt. Bailey, a converted defensive back, has ground up the NCC, which includes last week's 12 carry, 145-yard performance against Rock Valley.

Sophomore quarterback Bert Brandt could also provide problems for the Hawks' secondary. Though Harper owned him in their lone contest, he has been lethal to the other NCC teams.

The Chap defense has also been potent during the regular season in addition to the Region IV playoffs. Rock Valley was held to 46 total offensive yards and two first downs in last weekend's playoff match.

What all this comes down to is strength against strength. If the Hawks cannot find a way effectively run against an augmented defensive line, it could be "deja-vu all over again."

Longmore nominated

After lead the women's volleyball team to a record breaking 31 wins, sophomore middle-hitter has been nominated by Head Coach Renee Bucomb for All-American recognition.

Longmore most recent led her team to a fourth-place finish in the Region IV Tournament held here at Harper.

Final Standings...

Team	Conference		Overall
	W	L	W	L
Harper	6	0	8	1
DuPage	5	1	8	1
Rock Valley	4	2	6	2
Illinois Valley	3	3	7	3
Triton	2	4	2	6
Moraine Valley	1	5	3	5
Joliet	0	6	2	8

*Through October 28

Field goal contest

There will be a field goal kicking contest on Friday, November 22, at 12 noon until 1 p.m. The contest is open to full and part time students (with the exception of Harper football players) and will be held at the field adjacent to "M" building.

GYM SHORTS

Anyone interested is encouraged to sign up at the Intramural office in M, room 202A, 11 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Eight ball for all

There will be a four round "Eight Ball Tournament" open to all students, faculty, and staff. The tournament will be held November 15, 22, 29, and December 6th. If interested, register at the Intramural office in Building M.

THE HARBRINGER

William Brainerd Harlow College

November 14, 1991

Volume XXVI, Number 11

MAGIC WE LOVE YOU

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

The Threepenny Opera is coming to Harper starting this weekend in J 143

Page 4

NEXT WEEK

In Arts & Entertainment

The review of The Threepenny Opera.

In Sports

The men's basketball preview

In Features

The new Intramural director Jim Ryan

SPORTS

Hawks lose to College of DuPage in the Region IV Championship game 21 to 11

Page 8

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Jason Feinstein	2
Matt Whiteman	2
Gadget man	3
Gay/lesbian club	3
Arts & Entertainment	485
Prometheus Unbound	5
Comics	6
Classifieds	7
Sports	8

AIDS speech stresses education

ELIZABETH CAMPBELL
Harbringer Staff Writer

The message is clear: AIDS does not discriminate! This message has been rippling through the world since Magic Johnson announced that he had tested positive for the HIV virus. Jack Doherty, an AIDS resource and training consultant, works to educate a society that refuses to learn the facts that underlie AIDS. Mr. Doherty presented a wide variety of issues to students Tuesday afternoon in J 118.

"AIDS affects all communities, all races, everyone and anyone is at risk," AIDS, Doherty said.

Over 200,000 Americans have contracted the AIDS virus, half of whom have already died. Approximately 1.5 million people are infected with the virus; most have not been tested and have no idea they are infected.

"We now are led to believe that over 5,000 children under 13 years of age have AIDS," said Doherty.

AIDS can be explained in three steps: transmission, testing and prevention.

The HIV can be transmitted only three ways. The first is through drug paraphernalia, such as IV needles are shared among users.

Another method of acquiring the virus is when an HIV-positive mother transfers it to her unborn child or during the birthing process. Breast milk has also been known to carry the HIV virus.

The final form of transmission is through sexual contact: heterosexual and homosexual. The HIV virus is most commonly transmitted through anal intercourse in which many issues are broken due to infection in that area. It is very common in third-world countries, and intercourse is the most popular method of birth control. This is one main reason the virus appeared in all of the world countries before appearing in the United States.

Once the virus has entered the bloodstream, it can take anywhere from 6 to 12 weeks for the antibody to appear. Thus, if someone gets tested too early, their test may appear negative.

"A test usually costs about $60, but if done in large groups it could be very inexpensive, if not free," said Doherty. "Cook County Hospital does tests for free, but places like the Howard Brown Clinic, of Chicago charge $70."

Finally, the last and most important step in stopping the virus from spreading is prevention. Practicing safe sex by using a condom is one of the more important decisions that people must make if they want to be sexually active, said Doherty.

Jack Doherty spoke to students about AIDS in Building J last Tuesday

Also if someone is going to stop, they should use needles and if they aren't available, wash the needles thoroughly with bleach, which kills the virus.

Another form of prevention is through the open discussion of the disease.

"People have got to realize that being afraid of talking about your life is AIDS is more frightening. Talking openly about your sexual behavior will allow others to feel more at ease about sex," said Doherty. "It's okay to freak out because it's your life you're dealing with, and not something that will go away with time. I don't think there will ever be a cure. What we are looking for is the result for AIDS is allow us more time."

When asked about the Stop AIDS organization at Harper, Doherty seemed very enthusiastic to hear that such a group existed.

"The best method in the prevention of AIDS is through the education of society."

Auto burglaries on the rise

Eric Jason

Harbringer News Editor

Public Safety is warning drivers to be more careful when leaving their cars in the parking lots this semester because of automobile burglary. Seven break-ins in motor vehicles have occurred this fall, already surpassing last spring's total of four. Most of this year's incidents have occurred without forcible entry.

"A lot of times, the cars were just left open or the people didn't know if they left open or not," said Public Safety Supervisor Kevin King. "If left open and someone is laying on the seat, even though it's a motor vehicle burglary, it's not really a break-in."

Most of the incidents have occurred during the day, at times when student traffic is highest in the parking lots. The incidents do not seem to be related and are not occurring in specific lots. Because of the large number of students moving to and from their cars during the day, public safety is unable to do anything except patrol and look for suspicious behavior.

"Agony struts, hookahunched over a car that's gonna be suspicious, but it's not usually that obvious," said King. "You cannot be suspicious of every person walking to a car in a parking lot because you don't know whose car they're going to or even if it's their car."

Items at risk include radio detectors, car stereos, and cellular phones. Keeping these items out of sight or in the trunk of your car is the best method to prevent theft of valuable items. Recording the serial numbers of your electronics is also a way to prevent permanent loss of stolen items. Without the serial numbers there is no way to claim stolen items that have been recovered by the police. Three weeks ago, student Danielle Kauper was the victim of a forced break-in, when a person used a slim jim or a coat hanger to gain access to her car. She had $250 in books and $250 in tapes stolen from her car. Aside from the theft, she also had problems with public safety.

"I had a rather rude conversation with them public safety and they hung upon me," said student Danielle Kauper. "So I talked with the head of public safety and they said all they can do is file a report."

There are no suspects and no arrests have been made in connection with any of the seven incidents.

Parking congestion during the day makes break-ins easier for burglars

Democratic party seeks student support

As the Illinois March 17, 1992 presidential and state primary draws on the political horizon, the Democratic Party of Illinois has launched its college and university outreach program with an appeal to students to participate in the 1992 election process.

"This is the time for college students to consider volunteering for either a presidential or state representative, state senate campaign," said Democratic Party of Illinois Chairman Gary J. LaPaille.

"The Democratic Party of Illinois will assist young college Democrats already in place or with the formation of new campus Democratic groups."

In addition, LaPaille pointed out, the state party is the liaison with the national campaigns of the announced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination and will be the liaison with college groups that already support a particular candidate. The current field of announced Democratic candidates includes: former Senator Paul Torgans of Mass., Governor L. Douglas Wilder of Virginia, Senator Tim Wicker of Iowa, Senator Bob Kerrey of Nebraska, former Governor Jerry Brown of California and Governor Bill Clinton of Arkansas.

"Participation in presidential campaign, state representative campaign or state senate campaign provides invaluable experience and insight into politics which complements classroom education," said LaPaille.

For further information to volunteer for a presidential, state representative or state senate campaign, contact David Ormsby at the Democratic Party of Illinois at 312-464-1900.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Galeski
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Karl Giesler
News Editor	Eric Jason
Features Editor
A & E Editor	Andy Leman
Sports Editor
Photo Editor	Phil Mapes
Copy Editors	Alina Chisholm and Linda De Luca
Layout Editor	Michael C. Why
Faculty Advisor	Suzanne Havlic

EDITORIAL

Government should make AIDS education a priority

Usually, people have a chance to learn from their mistakes. Usually is the key word here, because, in the case of Earvin "Magic" Johnson, it's just a matter of time before his HIV infection develops into AIDS.

Heterosexual activity is how Magic caught the virus, and maybe, if any good can come out of this unfortunate incident, it will be that people will finally realize that it is not only homosexuals that are susceptible to this plague.

This is exactly what AIDS is becoming, a plague. And if action isn't taken by George Bush's government soon, there will be more casualties than any war has given us. This action should include millions of dollars on research and an extremely informative educational program. If Bush doesn't take action he must have a loose screw. Well, does he?

Johnson will have to raise an incredible amount of money to help find a cure, but what he may be able to accomplish most of all is sending a message to people of all ages that they must abstain from sexual activity or at least protect themselves, or else. His optimism has been great, and hopefully people will finally take notice to this sign. People tried to convince themselves that this evil disease could never happen to them, but now that it struck someone who is regarded as a special person, at least for the time being people will stay on alert.

The Bush administration is considering naming Johnson to fill the vacant seat in the National Commission on AIDS. The seat is available due to the death from AIDS of Belinda Mason.

Before Magic's announcement that he was retiring from the NBA, he was already widely regarded as a hero for his accomplishments on and off the court. Johnson is one of the very few athletes or public figures to give something back to the community. The component that he showed during the conference and since then has been nothing less than fantastic. He has been stronger than most of the community surrounding him.

Why would this happen to someone so special and magical?

Why? Because he is human just like the rest of us. That's right, AIDS does not discriminate between the poor or the rich, the white or the black, male or female—it attacks with a passion those who are not careful!

Since 1983, heterosexual incidences of AIDS have increased from 3 percent to 10 percent today. In the other cases, people were infected by blood transfusions before the blood supply was screened for the virus, the sharing of needles or by homosexual activity.

For too long now the finger has been pointed at homosexuals, while steadily the number of heterosexual transmissions has been rising. The finger pointing should have ended long ago and this epidemic may not have gotten so out of hand. But, as usual, most Americans like to learn the hard way.

Staff

Bryan Balogun, Jenny Balow, Steven Berk, Elizabeth Camps, Jason Fennell, Lydia Fernandez, Christopher Garcia, Eric Giesler, Susan Hanks, Joe Palmer, Matt Perle, Jason Perle, Trisha Poush, Dave Rogers, Michael Saura, Karl Samsky, Todd C. Underwood, Matt Winkelman, Alexandra Youkharovich

COMMENTARY

Select faculty here just to collect paycheck

This week, I would like to bring attention to a rather alarming fact. I'm referring to a selection of the faculty who are here for the sole intention of collecting a paycheck.

I realize this is an harsh comment, however, I feel that desiring a strong vocabulary. This may cause a bit of anxiety among those whom I feel they may be one of these people, or why else would they be concerned? I cannot let that interfere with my ability to denounce these faculty members' actions. Do not misunderstand, this is not an attack on all of the faculty of Harper College. This is a veiled directed to those people who seem to have forgotten what we're all here for, and that is to receive an education.

This process usually more than a systematic predetermination of how many of each grade will be granted and the daily drone of a lecture. After all, what are grades but a system we, as a society, created to measure the so-called "progress" of the students, and a way to justify spending the obscene amount of money being spent on education each year. This system has also been questioned by such renowned universities as Stanford who discredited the I.Q. test and has often refuted the validity of grades as a measure of intelligence. So why then have some of our faculty and the faculty of other universities reduced "higher education" to be based almost solely on this method?

I, personally, would rather attend a university that costs much less (nothing at all) and who doesn't issue grades, so long as I was rewarded with whatever wealth of knowledge I accumulated through the teachings of professors who really taught. There are a select few of the faculty who still preserve the original intent of the higher education's purpose. I would like to commend those teachers now for having the courage to look beyond all the "bureaucratic ballz" and concentrating on giving students an opportunity to actually learn something. It seems odd that it should take a mere free-thinker like myself to bring what in my opinion should be a rather obvious point of view into light.

After a lot of thought, I realize there are no easy solutions to this problem. However, I can hope that if a person who is currently involved and enrolled here at the college felt strongly enough about this problem to speak or write on it. Maybe the people to whom this is directed to may re-evaluate their current methods and return to the educating principles on which the idea of a university were based.

Magic retires after contracting HIV virus, More proof that AIDS doesn't discriminate

This week I am not going to grieve or bemoan anything in particular. That will be next week. I would like to talk about a great man and a horrible illness.

Last week, one of the NBA's all time greats, Earvin "Magic" Johnson called a press conference and announced to the world that he had contracted the HIV virus, which leads to the deadly AIDS virus. Johnson does not have the AIDS virus as of yet. Doctors speculate that it could be anywhere from 5 to 15 years before Johnson may develop the AIDS symptoms. Basically, AIDS is where a person's immune system "shuts down," and the body is susceptible to all kinds of illnesses, such as influenza, which can lead to the person's death.

Perhaps in the next decade we can discover a cure to end this "modern plague." We can only hope that as we head into the 21st century, somewhere along the line we will find a cure so lives can be spared. When Johnson announced that he was retiring from professional basketball at the age of 32, I was upset. A great era was ending. I have always been a huge fan of basketball, and it was a joy to see 'ol #12 and the L.A. Lakers' magic on and off the court. *Second only to the Chicago Bulls, of course. *

Jason Feinstein

Media Watchdog

But you have to respect Johnson's candor. This way, the trash tags were cheated out of starting rumors and creating a scandal. As the old 60's song goes, "Do you believe in magic?" Yes, we do.

However, this is not so much a story about Magic Johnson as it is a story of AIDS. As the informed know, AIDS can only be transmitted through sexual contact, sharing intravenous drug needles, and passing body fluids to one another. I should now become crystal clear! ANYONE can get AIDS.

I'll admit that I once foolishly believed that only drug addicts and homosexuals got AIDS. WRONG! This deadly plague claims all kinds of people. More and more heterosexuals are being exposed to the deadly virus. The World Health Organization and the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Georgia, states that from now until the turn of the century, the mathematical breakdowns will be that 10,000 people A DAY will be exposed to AIDS. Guess what? That is only eight short years away.

Until we have a cure for AIDS, the only sure-fire protection is abstinence. But who are we kidding? There's nothing in it for us. That term is used quite loosely. I believe safe sex is when you know your partners and their sexual history firsthand. But this is not always possible. Cautionary sex is always using a condom. Granted, condoms feel unusual and sometimes uncomfortable, but consider the alternative.

Back in the 70's you only had to worry about venereal disease. It seems that VD is back, only new and improved, to paraphrase a joke in Eddie Murphy's comedy act. I don't mean to make light of things, but it is time to take responsibilities for your actions.

Casual sex is a crap shoot. It's also like playing Russian Roulette with a chamber full of bullets. Remember, AIDS IS NOT, I repeat, is not a punishment for gays! That is a falsehood. AIDS happens to us heterosexuals too. It can happen to me, and it can happen to you. Everyone is a potential victim. Use common sense.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Predictions and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Harper's man of all gadgets

LINA FERNANDEZ
Hortengay Staff Writer

Computers, calculators, and a gadget called "Caketype" can be found in Ron Sewell's possession. He seems to be the man of all gadgets at Harper College since fall.

Sewell, former student of DeVry, is interested in computer programming and repair and seems to have wide expertise in programmable goods.

His interest in this area began while taking electronics classes at Conant High School. Sewell was part of a class project that did actual repairs on computers.

"The I.C. chip was fried out in a matter of three weeks we had it up and running," he said.

All during high school his phases was music, but the band and the claret was left behind with his high school days. Computers have changed his direction for the future.

His job in the local department at Sears, is no doubt where he is exposed to the odd tricks he sometimes displays on his desk in class.

One such curious item is the "Caketype 5" and unusual look that could fit in the palm of your hand, sporting 5 integrating gadgets in one solar calculator, a 12-foot tape measure, a rotating level, a protractor, and a notepad, not to mention the neon colors.

During class he draws up graphs and makes rather speedy measurements of it. His state of the art equipment resembles none other calculator.

He kind of scientific calculator with 50 line programs, that can do graphs, derivatives, and derivatives, and integrals.

"The I.C. chip was fried out. In a matter of three weeks we had it up and running."

Ron Sewell

"This science computer has the capacity to be programmed by the owner," he said, showing me a Casio 7200EX. This is the one that can do graphs and holds 4k bytes of memory.

Sewell has programmed it for game, and uses it when completely "fried out of his skull." First he punches a few buttons to get in the proper mode. Then letters appear announcing the "guessing game." The computer picks a number from 0 to 1000 and the player must guess the number in as few tries as possible. If you choose a number that is at least 100 away, the message reads "distant." If you pick a number 25 away, the message is "very close."

If you get "on target," you are still 5 numbers away, either higher or lower. "Bullseye" means you've made it, followed with "Good Job!" if it's an less than 10 shots, and "Keep you long enough" in 30 or more. His best score was in three tries.

"This is a sample program, I've get others. Calculations for Oriental Amplifier two transistors, but are complicated for some people to understand," he said.

"I've got a different computer that folds up, with a smaller screen that has more memory for programming, it has a printer port where the printer card plugs in and can be hooked up to a special printer, if you want to print it out," said Sewell.

By now you may be wondering how you could recognize him on campus, he's wearing a Wilson Wizard, Action Sports watch with a musical alarm that you just can't miss. But even if you don't see him personally, Ron Sewell's name we may be seeing a lot of in the future.

FEATURES

The Harbinger, November 14, 1991 3

HealthCorner

FOR HEALTH THAT MATTERS

November is National Diabetes Month

Diabetes is a disease in which the body does not produce or properly use insulin, a hormone that is needed to convert sugar, starches, and other food into the energy needed for daily life. It often leads to serious complications such as heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and nerve damage. More than 11 million people in the United States have diabetes, however more than half of them don't even know that they have diabetes.

These are the symptoms of diabetes:

- Frequent urination
- Abnormal thirst
- Rapid weight loss/gain
- Extreme hunger
- Drowsiness
- General weakness
- Visual disturbances
- Skin infections/slow healing

These people are at high risk of diabetes:

- Over 40
- Overweight
- Blood relative of a diabetic
- A mother of a baby who weighed over nine pounds at birth

If you feel you may have these symptoms, or fit into any of the high risk categories, Health Services is available for evaluation and a free finger stick glucose screening.

Nursing information session, exam dates set

Each month Harper offers separate information sessions and entrance exams for individuals interested in the RN or LPN programs for LPNs interested in the completion program to prepare for RN licensure.

The information sessions are held on the third Wednesday of each month at 1:30 pm in Building E, room 106. The next session date is November 20.

For additional information contact the Nursing Program, extension 2533. To schedule a date for the entrance exam, contact the Testing Office at extension 2541.

A New Store Is Born!

Friday's is opening another great store in the Chicago area in BLOOMINGDALE

At Friday's you'll find complete evening, gown, tuxedo, double-breasted, and wedding morning wear in an environment that's fun and fun.

WE'RE NOW HIRING

Full and part time positions are available in a variety of areas.

Come join the fun! Interviews will be held Friday - 6:00pm Monday through Sunday (BEGINNING MONDAY NOVEMBER 19, 1991) at the Bloomington, IL, 61810. An equal opportunity employer.

EVERYONE LOOKS FORWARD TO FRIDAY'S

Metropolitan
Property and Casualty Insurance Company
and Affiliates

"Get Met, It Pays."
Insurance for your home, auto and boat.

Also,
Renters Insurance (Personal Belongings Insurance) for your apartment or condo.
Very competitive rates + coverages in the Harper Area.
Give me call for a quick competitive quote.

Joel Blanchette
Property and Casualty Specialist
(708) 303-0130 ext. 313

Gay/Lesbian club started on campus

Eric Jacob

Hortengay Staff Writer

Promoting awareness of alternative lifestyles is the main purpose of the gay and lesbian student club. The new club appeals to students who are looking for people with similar outlooks and who wish to come out of the closet.

"We would like to make a safe haven for people who are gay, give them a place to come out and talk to others like themselves," said club member Glen Nelson.

The club was started with the help of student activists and health services, and now has 12 members.

The club also addresses issues on A.I.D.S. and works very closely with the club Step A.I.D.S. Harper. It also is working to improve education with the Heterosexual community because the disease has moved away from being just a gay problem.

"Have personally found in the homosexual community that gay people have taken A.I.D.S. a little more seriously because, in the beginning it was a gay man's disease," said Nelson.

There have only been minor problems with the student negative reaction to the club. Anti-gay graffiti was placed on club flyers in A building.

In The Head of a man That knows Economics.

Michael Stearns, Harbinger Staff Writer

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

WQSL: Coming to a radio near you?

Under the Surface

All I can say is thank you for 94.7 FM for getting off the air. First they were WLS, then Z-95, then HELL, then Hot 94.7 FM, and now good ol' WLS radio again (minus the music). Now it's time for B-96 to die a painful, yet long-awaited death.

What happened to a concept of having an alternative-only radio station? There's WQRT (93.1 FM), but they also double as blues, classic rock and just plain rock as well; yet they consider themselves a progressive format. However, they do have two excellent programs: Club X on Friday nights (it airs at 11 p.m.) that provides alternative and techno remixes of alternative bands and Big Beat on Thursdays at 10 p.m. that specializes in new alternative music.

What about The Bear (WCBR)? This Arlington Heights radio station (92.7 FM) has maybe five or six good songs out of let's say, fifty and is also considered to have a progressive format.

WNJR (89.3 FM), from Northwestern University in Evanston, practically defines the word alternative. During the day, the likes of Sonic Youth, Nirvana, Chapterhouse and Neil's Atomic Thriller, along with many local and otherwise unknown bands that are pretty decent.

The Saturday night program Club Beat envelopes their listeners with industrial mayhem and funkiness from bands such as Die Warzone, Kraftwerk, Eon, Front Line Assembly and Bill Stairs among others. The only problem with this station is that the harder guitar-jangling music is played during the day, while the dance acts various are on Saturday nights. Unfortunately, WNJR has rap and house music on week nights. Oh well, they can't possibly please everyone.

I have an idea for a music station (which quite a few people have thought about at one time or another) that broadcasts alternative music ONLY. The call letters would be "WQSL" "QLS" stands for QL Sucks.

If you need information on what QL stands for, read my October 31 column or drop a line at The Harbinger office in room A-367 because I don't feel like explaining it again. Okay, okay... you dragged it out of me. QL stands for "Quasi Latent." Let's just say that any band B-96 plays (except for a few minor exceptions—i.e. Jesus Jones and EMP) that contains repetitious house rhythms and nauseating yacking in QL. Red Hot Drive, Marley Mark and The Funky Bunch, C+C Music Factory, and Boys II Men quickly enter my mind when pondering over QL, although they escape just as fast. I hate B-96 with all of my brightly intense. I'd personally like to blow them up, but a little help is needed. There is a secret office currently accepting applications for a few persons willing to risk their lives (and sanity) to rid the Chicago area of QL music. Let B-96 not be hell!

The Blaise, the Loop and WCKO aren't that hot either. However, these are for another story—another story that probably won't get published. This article is directed in total disrespect to B-96 and in respect to WQSL. How about starting an area-wide radio band until a station with superior music taste starts? Sure there's WNJR, WCBR and WNRT but we need more, more, more. Maybe if we petition those three stations to provide a more alternative format, we might start some action.

Twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, three hundred sixty-five days a year, WQSL would broadcast strictly alternative music. There would be different programs during the week to appeal to the different musical tastes: an industrial program to satisfy Nitzer Fabb, Front 242, and Skinny Puppy hangers; an acid-trip (on theory) program with Happy Mondays, Blue, Primal Scream and The Darksides; a techno program with all the dance bands—New Order, Xymox, Depeche Mode, and of course The Shamen; a hard-edged program for fans of Jane's Addiction, Red Hot Chili Peppers and Primus; and a free-form program which includes all of the above plus more.

If this sounds like something you'd like in a radio station, feel free to donate money... cash only, please. I only need a couple hundred grand. Sure, many of you disagree with me, but the supporters are more than enough. Music is music to some people, while one type is better than the other to the remaining. Sure, I don't like every alternative band around, but for the most part (get ready for some minor contradiction) alternative music rules!

Highlander 2 hits low

Concept changes sinks this sequel

Kurt Gessia
Harbinger Managing Editor

When making a sequel to a movie, it is usually advisable to actually watch the first before deciding to produce the second. Unfortunately, this advisory will come a bit too late to have any impact on the writers of Highlander 2: the Quick-killing.

In the first movie, Highlander, Connor MacLeod (Christopher Lambert) played an immortal who battled fellow power-grabbers from the 16th Century up through the present day.

Now, in Highlander 2, the immortals have miraculously become aliens, banished from the planet Earth (for participating in a rebellion against the evil General Katana [Michael Ironside]). Of course, the fact that they were aliens was never mentioned in Part One. I'm sure this was simply an oversight by the original author.

Highlander 2 opens in 1999 with MacLeod as a scientist, finishing up a shield to protect the Earth from our failed cosmic layer. Just as we see the project succeed in saving the planet, we are rushed 25 years into the future to see the shield fail. The new cosmic shield has changed the Earth's climate to a hot, humid wasteland where the temperature is a constant 95 degrees.

MacLeod, now a mortal after his victory in the first movie, starts aging normally, becoming a 75-year-old man.

Back on Earth, after 500 years, Katana somehow remembers his old enemy and sends two techno-punks to kill MacLeod. This, of course, fails, and MacLeod regains his lost powers of immortality (please do not ask why). Then, with a whimper, he summons his long dead companion Ramirez (Sean Connery), who subsequently appears in Scotland.

Ramirez's time in Scotland and trip back to America are perhaps the only enjoyable scenes in the entire movie. But seeing Sean Connery make pants shoot off his safety seat worth $6.50.

From here to the credits, the movie becomes a jumble of Blade Runner shots and special effects knowingly tied around a pile of dumplings, a shield that, according to environmental terrorists (Louise Linton [Virginia Madsen]), is no longer needed to protect the Earth because the cosmic layer has repaired itself.

Yes, somehow it takes jobs, says sorry, aliens to shut off the power.

In Highlander, the audience assumes that the eternal life of the immortals like Ramirez and MacLeod stem from their being minor deities. In Highlander 2, they are now aliens, so this excuse does not wash. So why, after being exiled to Earth, do they become immortal? Perhaps the writers have been reading too much of a certain D.C. comic, and the yellow sun bows their power. No, that would be far too cliché.

They would never do that.

Another topic for confusion is when MacLeod and the leader of the rebellion on Earth, Ramirez, are sentenced to life on Earth, they know each other. Yet in the first Highlander, not only does MacLeod not know Ramirez, but Ramirez is 2000 years older.

Questions like these, and a do-good, "save our planet" theme deny the sequel to its cash classic. Just about the only real fun the viewer gets to have is seeing Katana walk around annihilating L-trains and throwing yuppies off tall buildings with a single hair. I guess there just might be some underlying D.C. comic plot to this movie after all.

MovieReview

Rating: 1/2 out of five

Threepenny Opera coming But it is worth a whole lot more

Morgan Gossert and Robb Williams star in Harper's "Threepenny Opera" playing in 1941 this and next weekend. The play takes place in 1840's London and shows, through a mix of period and contemporary characters, how the poor try to survive.

"After a trip to the West coast last summer where I observed the numbers of homeless living on the streets, I realized that poverty and greed never go out of style," said Mary Jo Willis, the play's director.

"The play has a lot to say on a social and political level," said Bill Glynn of Arlington Heights, who will be playing the part of a gang member. "There's a tension between the humor and the serious messages."

The performances are Friday, November 15 and 22 at 8 p.m.; Saturday, November 16 and 23 at 8 p.m.; Sunday, November 17 and 24 at 2:30 p.m. A dinner theater package is available on Saturday. Nineteen 16th Dinner will be served from 6:45 to 10 p.m. in the dining hall.

Ticket prices are $6 for the general public and $4 for Harper students, faculty, staff, and senior citizens. The dinner theater packages cost $14.95 (for the general public) and $16.95 for Harper students, faculty, staff, and senior citizens. Call the Harper Box Office at (708) 997-8888, ext. 2447 for tickets and reservations.

Don't be an airhead, register early!

HARPER COLLEGE PRESENTS

Legendary Rock Drummer

BUDDY MILES

7:30 pm Tuesday, December 10

Tickets: Public $5
Harper students, faculty, staff and senior citizens $4

Legendary rock drummer Buddy Miles has been the least behind such rock greats as Jimi Hendrix, Carlos Santana, Eric Clapton, David Bowie, William Pickett, Steve Wonder and others. He was also the vocalist for the original Ohio Award-winning "Ohio" Ravens' TV commercial "I brought H. Through the Grapevine." For tickets and information, call the Harper College Box Office at 708/997-8888, ext. 2447.

William Rainey Harper College
1201 N. Lake Street
P.O. Box 1000
Pleasant Hill, IL 60076

FEDERAL RESERVE NOTE

OPPORTUNITIES AVAILABLE FOR BRIGHT, OUTGOING
AND ENERGETIC PEOPLE...

Work for the
Daily Herald

Field Sales Team
and earn up to $500.00 a week
part-time!

- Part time opportunities:
Monday-Friday 5:00 p.m. to
8:30 p.m. Saturdays too!
- Flexible hours to work around
YOUR schedule
- $12.00 an hour paid training
beginning immediately
- Transportation provided from
our office

Contact:

Kirk Bole - 870-3471 • Earl West - 870-3470

Between 12:00 - 5:00 p.m. Monday - Friday

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

Craven' to experience Idaho?

TAMIA PONCZE

Harbinger Staff Writer

If you know anything about My Own Private Idaho and The People Under the Stairs, you may wonder why these two movies are being combined. The first movie, My Own Private Idaho, is a drama about two homeless bisexual hustlers on the streets. The second, The People Under the Stairs, is a horror movie that centers on a black boy trapped in a house with crazy, white people. Pretty diverse subjects that are joined together because of their diversity.

Now, many people will go see the horror over the controversial drama, BUT WHY? People is a good flick, but so is Idaho.

The plot of these two movies could possibly clear up the confusion that is being created about why one is seen over the other. Idaho's main characters are Keanu Reeves, Scott, pulled from mediocrity in Poet Break, and River Phoenix. Mike, looking quite disheveled compared to his previous teen flicks, who play male prostitutes working the streets of Portland, Oregon.

Idaho explores many aspects of life, love, friendship and sexuality, both heterosexual and homosexual. (HOMOPHOBES BEWARE!) Mike and Scott's experiences show us the complexities of friendship and sexuality and how the two can be confused. However, director Gus Van Sant loses his audience half of the time with bizarre plot twists and complex characters. Idaho also delves into the hypocrisy of people in power using Scott's, the mayor's son, experiences and attitudes. There is quite heavy-handed symbolism at the beginning and end of the movie that emphasizes how much and how little Scott and Mike have changed.

This movie is one of the best since Rainy Day, but the homosexual material will probably scare people away.

The plot of People lends itself to more of a suburban crowd who's not really interested in controversy, but is just out for a good clean scare. There is a white 'couple' who is trying to find the perfect white child. Meanwhile, the 'lower' children who have committed either of the offences of speaking, hearing or seeing evil get dumped in the basement to starve, rot, and hunger human flesh. Sounds nice, right?

This is how Wes Craven, the creator of this movie and Nightmare on Elm Street, avoids the cheap, supernatural stuff that he has injected into his previous Freddie movies. Furthermore, there are actually racial, religious, and sexual aspects that take this horror from the depths of the most recent horror flicks, Freddie and Body Parts.

People is a good horror that many WILL see, but My Own Private Idaho is a fabulous, bizarre movie that more people SHOULD see. Why people would stay away from Idaho is obvious since it contains the taboo subjects of homosexual and poverty.

Seeing that Harper is the epitome of Homosexual America, this could be a problem. However, this fact makes it even more of a must-see. My advice is GO SEE BOTH OF THEM.

Friday night go downtown to see My Own Private Idaho at the Broadway and tell the Assistant Manager, TONYA, that Tasha sent you. Then, Saturday, night go to your neighborhood theater to see The People Under the Stairs, and you will have a wonderful visual weekend.

MovieReview

My Own Private Idaho
Rating: ★★☆☆☆ out of five
The People Under the Stairs
Rating: ★★☆☆☆ out of five

Moshing...it's the pits

Michael Cichy

Prometheus Unbound

The most recent Harbinger Editorial Board trip brought us to the Prometheus/Ubyssey concert last Thursday at the Rivers. The evening resulted in an expedition to the place where no preppy has gone before...the MOOSH PIT!! By the end of the evening, however, one of the members of our group had been kicked in the face by a flailing Doc Marten, and another wound up with a damaged jacket. Therefore, how do you survive in the mosh pit.

1) Wear lightweight clothing. Most people seem to forget that all these active bodies flying around generate heat. Therefore, Therm-a-Rest is better than Hell!

2) Don't wear expensive clothing. The pit is basically a frenzy, small scale riot, and things may get torn or lost. So rather than getting upset by the loss of some valued object, wear something that you don't mind if it gets ripped, torn or mutilated.

Also, don't wear things like hats. If you do, you are asking to have them. They seem to have this tendency of falling off a person, then growing wings and flying all around the pit. Eventually, the unfortunate hair owner sees his hat land on stage, at which point a band member throws it back to the crowd...on the opposite side that the owner is standing.

3) Be prepared to move! There always seems to be some idiot who stands in the middle of the pit and gets upset when the inertia of the crowd takes over. The pit is the pit, and those who don't want to move should stay out!

4) Don't get upset if someone shoves into you. This does happen, and you should expect it. Getting upset and starting a fight just starts a feeling of ill will. Besides, if you start a fight, just remember that you are outnumbered.

5) Keep your guard up. If you don't, you will get hurt. In that kind of chaos, you can't expect to avoid injury by the grace of luck. You have to look out for yourself!

6) Don't ride the crowd! You are not the star of the show, so don't try to grab the spotlight. It also ends, as it seems people don't like having other people land on their head. Anyway, once their idiot crowd-riding walls in to the stage, they find themselves attacked by the bouncers.

7) Watch out for pit scavengers. These are the insane people who crawl around the pit looking for dropped money, hats, shirts, etc. It seems that these people don't like being stepped on. The logical answer is not to crawl around with people stomping around above you, but who said these people were logical (actually, they're greedy).

Following these simple rules will make your moshing experience much more enjoyable. If I have forgotten anything important, you are welcome to write in and offer your advice.

So next time you go to a great concert, don't be shy, or stay out and enjoy the concert in a calm, sane manner.

Editor's note: Mosh chicks, the few brave women who venture into mosh pits, are best appreciated and not explained — at least in this bedouin's view.

This weeks picks for weekend pleasure

Theater

Fences

A Pulitzer Prize winning drama by August Wilson. Thursday through Saturday 8:30 p.m. and Sunday 2:30 and 7:30 p.m., 510-12, Illinois Theatre Center, 400A Lakewood, Park Forest, 708-481-3310

Jump for Joy

Includes eight Duke Ellington songs that have never before performed. Runs through Nov. 17, Wednesday to Saturday 8 p.m., Sunday 2 p.m., 516-19 50, Paganini Players Theatre, 1145 W. Wilson, 312-271-2638

Bumars

Neil Simon's comedic farce filled with mishaps. Open run, Tuesday through Friday 8 p.m., Saturday 6 and 9 p.m., Sunday 3 and 7 p.m., 515-2150, Candlelight's Forum Theatre, 5620 S. Harlem, Summit, 708-496-3000
Too Much Light Makes the Baby Go Blind
Delivers 30 plays in 60 minutes. Open run, Fridays and Saturdays 11:30 p.m., 53 plus the roll of a six-sided die, Live Rail Theatre, 3914 N. Clark, 312-275-5255

Museums

The Chicago Academy of Sciences
Encountering the Rainforest, displays and shows, through Nov. 17

The Chimpanzees of Gombe Street
Wildlife photographer Hugo van Lawick documents themes of Jane Goodall's research, through Jan. 4, 2801 N. Clark, 312-871-2668
Museum of Science and Industry
Swiss Jollyball, world's largest pinball machine, through Jan. 12, The World of Jim Henderson: Muppets, Monsters & Magic Runs through Jan. 5, 57th and Lake Shore, 312-684-1414

Chicagoland's Premier
Rock 'n Blues Band
The FABULOUS FISH HEADS featuring
MARK HANNON and STEVE FREUND

"These play mean blues in a range of rock, blues and rhythm and blues"
Pioneer Press

"Steve Freund shines brightly he sings to words, playing with a zinging guitar and a real creativity!"
Downbeat

Saturday, November 16th
9:30 - 1:30 AM

DURTY NELLIES

55 N. Bothwell, Palatine 350-9150

Free
Pregnancy
Testing
Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris
Pregnancy
Center

708-865-1776
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Harper College Presents

"Man's Relationship to the Global Ocean"

A lecture by Peter Burchell
of The Cousteau Society

Burchell will explore the topics of environmental terrorism, global warming, the Greenhouse Effect and their impact on the seas.

Tuesday, November 19, 1991

For more information, call the Harper College Box Office at 708/397-3000, extension 2547.

William Ranney Harper College
1200 West Higgins Road
Pleasanton, Illinois 60067-7348

7:30 pm
Building J Theatre
Tickets $4

COMICS

Hey! READ THESE COOL CARTOONS!

Discover the Comfortable Collection of

Ruffed Up
Rough-Wear from the Phillips' Attic

Featuring special opening prices on:

- crisp oxford bag shirts from Tommy Hilfiger
- pleated washed chinos from Woolrich
- popular sand blast work shirts
- jackets and coats perfect for fall's first frost

$4 OFF	any Tommy Hilfiger oxford shirt Choose brights, stripes & patterns	$20 OFF	any Ruff Hewn hand knit sweater Bulky cottons in today's updated patterns
15% OFF	any jacket Select from Woolrich, Ruff Hewn, and Tommy Hilfiger	$5 OFF	any EZ chinos washed down trousers Pleated and relaxed for your active lifestyle
FREE	Ruffed Up T-shirt with every purchase over $100	15% OFF	any active knit shirt, popover, rugby and crew styles in long sleeves

744 EUCLID AVENUE • REGENCY PLAZA • EUCLID AT QUENTIN • PALATINE • (216) 991-6550 • HOURS: MONDAY - FRIDAY 10:00 - 7:00, SATURDAY 9:00 - 5:00 • VISA • MASTERCARD • AMERICAN EXPRESS OWNED AND OPERATED BY PHILLIPS MEN'S WEAR, BARRINGTON

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger November 14, 1991

Help Wanted

Heat The Earth / Teach Others
Earn $100-2000 per month
For interview appointment call Jim at 956-0648

Marketing Students be paid while you learn, flexible hours, must have car. Special Marketing to a national company filling part time positions. Leave message for Mike at 1-800-562-2704

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS to students or student organizations promoting our Spring Break Packages. Good Pay & Fun. Call CMI. 1-800-423-9264

Talents for evenings or days start at $6.00 an hour. Inquire at 708 303-1130 ext. 317. Ask for Phil

MALE CHA'S for long-term, good case. Prospect Heights area. Call 392-2815. Alpha Christian Registry

Help Wanted

LOOKING FOR a Fraternity, Sorority, Student Organization, or exceptional individuals that would like to potentially make $1000.00 or more sponsoring QUALITY SKI and BEACH trips on campus. For further information Call Kim at 1-800-800-6090

Summer Marketing Management positions available. Earn $4,700 and gain great business experience. Call Triple "A" Student Painters today at 1-800-849-9246. Territories are filling fast!

Blimpie Subs & Salads
NEW Schaumburg location hiring for all shifts positions. Possible management positions available. Muns and teams OK. Cool place to work. Prior food service helpful/motivation & skill. Please call 708-612-5978 for info or apply at 816 W. Golf, Schaumburg

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services: Term papers, resumes, cover letters, etc. Low Rates! Laser Print. Call Lori @ 708-705-1673

Typing/Word Service
Resumes, Term Papers, Laser Print Quality. Time (708) 991-3108

Health Restoration
Restore your health with the natural use of Aloe Vera and Hypox. Various medical services provided. Home Bathy, Inc. BP checks, Licensed and certified professionals. 708-427-1809

The Search is Over...
Why are so many NFL Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any other in history. Call NOW! 708-658-5391

Services

Professional Word Processing
At rates you can afford. Reports, resumes, cover letters in print. FREE asseprint. FREE spot checks. FREE COVER PAGE! Call Today! Randy @ 708-595-4883

Need a Typist?
I HAVE OVER 15 YEARS EXPERIENCE in academic and resume typing. Computer and letter quality printer used. Call VITALE SECRETARIAL SERVICE (708) 213-5885

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs. Includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2808, evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60195

RESUMES/TERM PAPERS
professionally written and typed on laser printer. Fast turn around. Call Calina at (708) 934-7487

Roommates

Single Non-smoking female looking for same as roommates at the U-Boats. Champaign next fall. 1992 Oll campus apt. would like to meet with you. Please call Jenn 259 8644 after 6:30 pm

For Sale

Palatina Sublet for six months, large apt. 2 bedroom, wood water and gas incl. No pets. $600/mo. Dec 1 call 292-1477

For Sale

IBM Laptop computer
Call Larry after 6 pm at 708-638-7005

Interested in X-Rated novelty chocolate
Call 314-5189. After the beep enter phone number and hit # sign

STOP AIDS HARPER

Final Exam Schedule-Day Classes

Final Exam Period	Monday Dec. 16	Tuesday Dec. 17	Wednesday Dec. 18	Thursday Dec. 19	Friday Dec. 20
8:00-9:45	All Eng 101 & 102 Classes	All Acct & 103 Classes	All MTH102 & 103 Classes	T-R	Faculty
9:55-11:40	M-W-F	T-R	M-W-F	8:00-9:15	Grade
11:50-1:35	M-W-F	10:00-10:50	10:50-12:05	11:00-11:50	Processing
1:45-3:30	M-W-F	T-R	M-W	12:15-1:30	Time and
	12:00-12:50	1:40-2:55	1:00-2:15	3:40-5:25	Exams
	M-W	T-R	M-W-F		Exams
	3:45-5:00	3:05-4:20	2:25-3:45

Have Us Prepare Your Graduate RESUME

- Complete Resume
- Complete Resume Writing Services
- Editing of Resumes
- Cover Letters and Meetings
- College Planning
- Personalized Service of Your Work

Call Today For An Appointment And Our Special Student Rates
OFFICER/PALATINE
1200 W. Northbrook Highway
Palatine, IL 60067
768-934-1558

A member of WHCM
The Harbinger

YOUR DEGREE COULD BE CLOSER THAN YOU THINK.

Roosevelt University's Arlington Heights Campus requires fewer hours for graduation -- traveling hours, that is. Not only do those hours add up, but so does the money you save, because you can live at home. What's more, our accommodating mix of weekday, weekend and evening classes permits you to make money working part-time or even full-time. Each semester, more than 2,500 students enjoy these advantages while pursuing a degree at Roosevelt.

You can earn your bachelor's or master's degree entirely at our Albert A. Robin Campus in a variety of subject areas including Business Administration, Education, English, Public Administration, and History. So when you consider which four-year university to attend, remember you can go a long way further in your education when you don't have to go a long way to your campus.

A Roosevelt commuter will be on your campus Wednesday November 20 from 5:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. in the J Lounge.

Roosevelt University

A Pioneer in Chicago's Past - A Leader in Chicago's Future

Albert A. Robin Campus
2121 S. Cassin Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005 • (708) 437-8200
Downstate Campus • 430 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60605 • (312) 341-2000

Roosevelt University
Albert A. Robin Campus • 2121 S. Cassin Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005
Please send me further information and a schedule of classes. I am considering enrolling at Roosevelt in:
☐ Fall ☐ Spring ☐ Summer 19____

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____
DAYTIME PHONE _____

Announcements CLUB NOTES & OFFERINGS

Stop AIDS Harper Meeting
Nov. 20th Wed. 2p.m. in A 2488. Come and join us while planning for future fundraisers and group discussions. Don't forget World AIDS Day, Dec. 1st. Fight AIDS. Not people with AIDS.

The Phi Phi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa here at Harper will be hosting their annual initiation of new members on Nov. 15th at 7:00 p.m. in the school's cafeteria. To date, seventy-six new members will be participating in the candle lighting ceremony that will mark their entrance in the prestigious honor society. The speaker for the evening, Professor John, will be speaking on this year's topic, "The Paradox of Freedom: A Global Dilemma." Refreshments will be served following the program. For further information contact Dr. Kent at (708) 397-3000 extension 2783.

Ever dream of becoming an on-air personality for the hottest radio station in Palatine? Well now is your chance! WHCM - Palatine, and Management for the 1991 Spring semester. No experience is necessary, but enthusiasm is essential! Just stop by the WHCM offices in A399C and fill out an application. But hurry, space is limited and applications are taken on a first come, first serve basis. Any questions call 397-3000 ext. 2488 and ask for Rebecca Mandel, WHCM station manager.

HANDINGER SPORTS

■ 8 November 14, 1991

SPORTS FINAL

History repeats itself: Hawks lose to DuPage

Harper loses to DuPage 21-11 in Region IV Championship

Kurt Gossau
Hawthorne Morningstar

The theme "the more things change, the more they stay the same" might have been appropriate for last Saturday's Region IV Championship game, if things had actually changed. Instead, for the second consecutive season, the Hawks lost the championship title to the sixth-ranked College of DuPage (C.O.D.) Chaparrals, this time 21-11.

With the loss, Harper (9-2) is denied participation in the Midwest Bowl, which the 10-1 Chaparrals will host on November 23. Instead, the Hawks will travel to the UNI-Dome to play Northern Iowa Area Community College (NIACC) in the Royal Crown Cola Bowl.

"Coming into the game, the sophomore wanted the win ball," said wide receiver Kenny Taylor. "But late in the game, the guys on the sidelines were hanging their heads. This was not Harper football."

Even though Harper beat C.O.D. 19-14 in week 4, the Hawks did not feel they had any advantage from the win.

"It's hard to beat a good team twice in a season," said Head Coach John Elansk. "Give them all the credit."

Last year, Chaparrals running back Aaron Bailey a little extra.

Bailey's slugging style of running went unchecked by the Hawks. On 16 carries he ran for 231 yards. The Chaparrals rushing yards. Fullback Reggie Walls also blasted his way for 121 yards on 16 carries.

"They did a lot of things we didn't expect," said defensive back Mike Martinez. "We also were not giving Bailey enough respect."

Even with Bailey gaining respect as well as yardage, coach Elansk was still pleased with the defense.

Paul McAndrews led the 'D' with a tack and a fumble recovery. Other big contributors were: Shavez Hawkins, Tony White and Dave Gribzick.

Unfortunately, the Hawks' defense was simply overpowered by the Chaparrals' offensive line of Les Terry, Koyon Vinegar, Dave Melish, Keith Waga and Jeff Zanak.

They wore down Harper's defense unit through the scoreless first quarter, and paved the way for Running back Derrick Harris eludes defenders, scoring Harper's only touchdown of the championship game.

Bailey's 3-yard touchdown run with 9:21 remaining in the second.

Harper's offense remained stagnant until halfway through the third, when 3 runs by Derrick Harris (14 carries for 40 yards) brought the Hawks into scoring position.

The Hawks would come up empty when, on first and ten, a Steve Matthews' fumble was picked off by defensive back Vance Mayes.

On the very next play from scrimmage, Walls broke two tackles, then broke three, running 73 yards for the touchdown.

Chaparrals' quarterback Allen Cornett completed the two-point conversion pass to Bailey to put C.O.D. up 14-0 with 5:25 left in the third.

Statistically, Matthews' had his finest day in the Hawk's' careers, completing 24 of 43 passes for 254 yards.

A 35-yard field goal by Tim Newman closed the gap, but the Chaparrals would answer back on their next series.

A 44-yard touchdown pass from Cornett to Ken Chapman culminated a 5-play, 68-yard drive.

Down 21-3, the Hawks scored quickly in response to the Chaparrals' points when Harris caught a Matthews pass in the flat and danced 33 yards into the end zone. Matthews hooked up with Jason Calabrese for the two-point conversion.

With only fifteen minutes left in the season, Matthews took over. After two unsuccessful possessions, the Hawks started a 12-play, 77-yard drive keyed by Matthews' passing that brought them to the Chaparrals' yard line with only a minute on the clock.

On third and goal, Matthews downed the ball to stop the clock. This proved to be a mistake with season-ending repercussions.

Now left with only one opportunity to score, the snap was hobbled, ending the drive, the game and the season.

"It was a tactical mistake," Elansk said. "He should have thrown a quick pass instead of downing it, but he felt like we could score from the one-foot line."

The 14th-ranked Hawks next game is Sunday at 11 a.m. versus NIACC in Cedar Falls, Iowa participating in the Cola Bowl.

Fullback Duane Dornhaus smashes his way for 5 of his 26 yards.

Biscomb named Coach of the Year

Joan Biscomb
Springer from Springer

This year was special for the volleyball team and their coach.

The team had a school record-breaking 31 wins this season and Head Coach, Rene Biscomb was voted Volleyball Coach of the Year by her peers. In only her second year at Harper, Biscomb's delivery earned her the title.

"I played volleyball in high school and college, and when I applied at Harper, the position was open," said Biscomb.

At first Biscomb wasn't sure if she was ready, or even wanted to coach, but when the opportunity came up she felt she had to try.

This turned out to be a decision the Harvard girls, because she started time and time again how much she enjoys the job and how glad she is that she ever received it.

The North Central Community

College Conference is the body of coaches that selected her for this honor on the basis of team improvement, team success and watching the coach's methods of directing the team," she said. "If the girls get along and their personalities don't clash, with the amount of skill they have they'll play well together."

As each season progresses, Biscomb said she learns more and more. She knew the game only from the players' perspective, and at first it was hard to make the transition from player to coach.

But as time goes by, she's feeling more and more comfortable. Her strength is that she knows the game in and out, but still feels she has to learn more about coaching.

"This season was great fun," Biscomb said. Her enthusiasm spills over on and off the court. There is one thing Biscomb dislikes about coaching, and that's the fact that after the season ends she misses the coaching and her players.

No wonder she is such a successful coach, she cares.

As you can see by her accomplishments in just two years, the next question must be can she top this? Tune in next year and find out.

THE HAMPINGER

Albion County by Marjorie Collins

November 21, 1991

Vol. 1, No. 1

GREAT AMERICAN SMOKEOUT INSIDE

FEATURES

New Information Director Jim Ryan
Page 3

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Muppets exhibit of the Museum of Science Industry

SPORTS

The Hawks can't seem to get off the ground after suffering their second loss in as many games. The team was trampled 100-50 by the Kentucky Cavaliers.

Page 8

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Letters to the Editor	2
Features	3
Arts & Entertainment	4 & 5
Medusa review (Again?)	4
Concerts & Culture pics	4
Classifieds	6
Sports	7 & 8
Football	8

Awareness raised in Cousteau speech

Eric Jason
Hampinger News Editor

The major environmental problem facing the world was the theme of Cousteau Society member Peter Burchell's speech in Building 1 last Tuesday.

Burchell's presentation made use of slides and current environmental statistics that assessed progress being made on the fight against pollution.

One of the largest pollution problems has to do with shipwrecks. The huge supertankers that represent an increased threat to water eco-systems.

The ships can be as large as a quarter of a mile and carry millions of gallons of oil. Just one hole in the hull that is an inch thick, Burchell said.

The Exxon Valdez spill on the Alaska coast two years ago leaked 11 million gallons of oil and did considerable damage to the fragile coastal wildlife. The clean up took over a year and a half and employed 12,000 people. Many of whom cleaned the oil from the beaches with paper towels.

A majority of the workers were not qualified to handle a clean up such as this, Burchell said. "One of the richest corporations on Earth (Exxon) spent over three billion dollars and was unable to clean up a minor oil spill."

Environmental issues dominated Peter Burchell's speech in Building 1 last Tuesday.

Though the spill did damage to ... national parks on the coast of Alaska was not considered to be in the top 10 worst oil spills in the world.

Also getting attention at the speech were the issues of global warming and the exploitation of Antarctica. Over the next 50 years increased carbon dioxide pollution in the atmosphere could possibly raise the earth's average temperature by one degree. This temperature increase could possibly melt the polar ice caps which would raise the sea level world wide by three feet. Coastal cities could be adversely affected by the increased tides.

"New Orleans is 28 feet below sea level and could be greatly affected by a rise in sea level," said Burchell. "In a worst case scenario we could lose the city of New Orleans."

Presenting the exploitation of Antarctica's natural resources is also a concern of the Cousteau Society. Recent environmental treaties prevent development of natural resources for at least another 50 years. The society still expresses concern over possible man made environmental accidents in that area.

"An oil spill in Antarctica, even a small one would be virtually impossible to clean up (due to the below zero temperatures and high winds)," Burchell said.

According to Burchell, the overpopulation problem is perhaps the most significant contributor to the pollution issue. "The island nation of Haiti was used as an example on how overpopulation can affect the surrounding environment. The island has used up all its forests by cutting down trees for firewood, exhausted its supply of fresh water and has the highest birthrate in the western hemisphere."

"Haiti is an example of an ecosystem on the verge of total collapse," Burchell said. "Also it is a society on the verge of total chaos."

The environmental problems such as drought and food shortages can be indirectly responsible for the violence that exists within this country.

"Three or four weeks ago in Haiti you had a coup," Burchell said. "People were being killed in the streets and you can trace it all back to the population problem."

"You might lose your life trying to get water."

According to Burchell what is happening in Haiti could happen on a global scale if resources are not used wisely in the future.

Motorola Museum offers Harper Day

Mario R. Galvani
Hampinger Editor in Chief

The Motorola Museum of Electronics will hold Harper Day Wednesday, December 4 from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The museum is exclusively dedicated to electronics. Harper is the first school to be invited to the museum, which opened in September.

Harper Day came about through discussions between President Paul Thompson and Foundation Board Member Bruce A. Mueller, who is also the Vice President and Corporate Director of Personnel Administrative Management at Motorola. There are two major themes in the exhibit, one follows the history of Motorola, Inc., and its product lines. The other concentrates on contemporary electronics technology used by Motorola's businesses.

"The museum was set up to educate community members about what Motorola has done and also about early technology," said Patty Roberts, Media Relations Specialist.

ist. "It's like a live history lesson."

"Our industry has progressed in 63 years from the relatively simple radio business to high technology electronics. We feel the electronics revolution is a subject worthy of a major industrial museum," said Robert W. Galvani, chairman of the company's Executive Committee. "It will grow as an educational institution for generations, alongside the company and the industry it serves."

The museum exhibits are set up to provide a greater insight to what role Motorola has played in the electronics industry. The exhibit at the gallery shows how the evolution of electronics and Motorola have been accomplished hand in hand. There are hands-on exhibits that explore product applications and interactive computer workstations demonstrate how the technology works.

"If you've ever much like Epixot Center (Florida), there are walking tours and hands on technology,"

Roberts said. "It's a real useful source for the community."

On Harper Day, guided tours will be given hourly from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The tour guides are ex-Motorola employees, some are retirees, while others are spouses of ex-employees. Refreshments will also be served to the visitors.

The museum is connected to the Galvani Center for Continuing Education, which is the largest training facility operated by Motorola University. The Schaumburg museum is open to the public by appointment only.

The College vans will be used as a shuttle service, and will leave Harper from the front of Building A beginning at 9:30 a.m. and every hour until 2:30 p.m.

The vans will return from the Motorola Museum beginning at 1:45 a.m., with the last one returning at 4:45 p.m.

"We want visitors to leave the Motorola Museum of Electronics with fresh insight into the world around us, which relies so heavily on electronics, and with a heightened awareness of the necessity this new environment creates for lifetime education," said Sharon Darling, director of the museum.

"An important purpose is served by creating an institutional memory via this new museum."

Robert W. Galvani

"We plan to make this both a corporate resource, for Motorola employees, and a community resource serving school groups and other special audiences."

Anyone who is interested in attending Harper Day should contact Media Relations at extension 2279 for the proper arrangements can be made.

Visitors may also arrange for their own transportation.

Speech team places third in competition

Harper's speech team earned a third place win at Elgin Community College on November 15 and 16. Fourteen colleges and universities were in attendance including North, Duane, Northern Illinois, University and College of DuPage. Mary Cooke won in oral interpretation. Informative speaking and persuasive speaking was won by Cathy Machalski. Allison Lee won in prose interpretation and category in the reader's theatre category. Harper's speech team will host a Christmas open house December 7 at 3 pm.

Alexandra Youk harrish won in persuasive speaking. Pulling one point short in impromptu speaking was Jan Cunningham. "The Woods" directed by Nancy Maguire won a second place.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mario R. Galeski
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Kurt Gasker
News Editor	Eric Janen
Features Editor	Andy Leaman
A & E Editor
Sports Editor	Phil Mapes
Photo Editor	Alisa Chibchal and Linda DeLuz
Copy Editors	Michael Cuchy
Layout Editor	Susanne Harvie
Faculty Advisor

EDITORIAL

Elevators last inspected in 1988, isn't that dangerous?

In case anyone is planning on riding an elevator here at Harper, be warned, they were last inspected December 6, 1988. Under law an inspection is to be performed at least once every six months. Something doesn't add up.

The Cook County Department of Building and Zoning is responsible for the inspections, but one would think that if the school officials truly do care about the students, faculty and guests of Harper, who are all possible elevator riders, or victims, they just might be a little concerned about the lack of inspections. Don't you think?

Probably not, considering upon asking about the elevators, the general attitude was that those inspections costed a lot of money back in 1988. How much would an accidental death or paralysis grievance cost the school?

Or better yet, what kind of a fine has Harper incurred according to the law? The violator shall be punished for each offense by a fine of not more than $200 a day, and each day that a violation continues to exist shall constitute a separate offense. That works out to approximately $182,500 in fines come December 6. Try to figure out which cost President Paul Thompson would rather pay: the inspections, the fines or a court settlement?

Physical Plant, Administration Director Don DeBlase said it's the "responsibility of the inspector to come around and check them (the elevators)."

"According to my supervisor, Vern Manke, they apparently don't come around here anymore. We don't know why they don't or they never informed us," DeBlase said.

Do DeBlase and Manke even care?

"We, in the past have always had to pay them for the inspection. If they don't come, we don't pay," DeBlase said.

Elevator horror stories are commonplace both in the movies and in real life, it seems Harper is doing their best to localize the latter.

Staff

COMMENTARY

Letters To The Editor

Newspaper complimented on coverage of sports, Harper

Dear Editor,

I want to compliment The Harbinger on the sports coverage, but also on the coverage of other Harper events. It has drastically improved from last year's promotional pieces on W.W.F.

All Harper events need coverage and this didn't happen last year. It seems every album ever released around the world was critiqued, but what happened at Harper wasn't covered.

Thank you for the good coverage this year, especially since you are short staffed.

Lisa Smith

Gay Club adds to the decline of the human race

Dear Editor,

The decline of the human race in the past years is very disturbing. Your recent article on Harper's new Gay Club proves the point.

There have been many studies that suggests that being gay is an illness. I can't understand why people would want to live like that. Nobody chooses to be sick. Do they?

Anyway, the point is that we have no rules for life. For example, if you are a neo-teen and someone kills you, that's murder. But if you are still growing inside your mother and someone kills you by causing your skin to burn off, that's perfectly fine. Why?

Have we lost all concept of a good and decent life?

At this rate I wouldn't be surprised to see clubs such as traffic violators and burglars unlimited or the right to murder club.

Name withheld upon request.

Reader appreciates the 'lighter side' news of The Harbinger

Dear Editor,

At the beginning of the year, I read my first Harbinger issue and thought to myself, "Come on guys, let's address these issues seriously." Then I realized, through reading later issues and speaking with one of your staff that you are trying to also show the lighter side of things. I think you are doing a kick ass job, but how about some constructive criticism?

MadBoy is a show of great cartooning, but you also need to have a point to his hell-raising adventures. W.O.L.S. is a great idea and the Linker the Staffer reviews have been great, but lighten up and respect others' opinions as far as music goes. I dislike the Killer Bee too, but I don't have any right to tell them they can f--- off because their music sucks. The stepped-out opinions of the Media

Watchdog and the Prometheus Unbound are great and very mind opening.

Overall, I think you people are doing a great job. Please keep that educational, slaming, eye opening, lighter side of the issue on the edge paper that we all like to call the Har-Ranger, coming.

Scott Quigg

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A-10.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editors. Letters must be signed and include a return address, whether signature will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

For advertising rates and information, contact the Harbinger office in A-10. All ads are subject to editing.

FEATURES

The Hartinger, November 21, 1991 3 ■

Intramural director hired to organize activities

Ryan determined to build a successful program around the students

Mauro R. Gaudin
Hartinger Editor in Chief

Attention Harper students and faculty. Attention Harper students and faculty. Harper has an intramural program and it's new director Jim Ryan is looking for a few good men and women who want to relax, let loose and have some fun.

"I'm 100 percent devoted to getting a successful program going," Ryan said. "I'm devoting my full energies to responding to the needs of all the students here."

According to Ryan, one of the reasons he wanted to come to Harper so badly is because Tom Choe, interim Dean of Physical Education, Athletics and Recreation made a determination and a commitment to do everything possible to put together an outstanding intramural program.

"His full support and cooperation is what sold me on this program," Ryan said. "Coupled with a commitment from the administration and the outstanding facilities, it's a desirable atmosphere to be in."

At the present time, Ryan is still in the process of learning the ins and outs of his new position. But, he has a full program designed for second semester.

New Intramural Director Jim Ryan is set to take charge of the program.

Join a branch of the armed services and see the world, or become a teacher. What? Well, in the case of Ryan, he spent the past 16 years overseas in many different capacities.

ties at American schools.

It all began in 1971 when a roommate of his sold him on the idea of teaching overseas. In 1974, he accepted a coaching position at Jakarta International School in Jakarta, Indonesia. He explained that American children attend these schools because their parents work for an oil company that transferred them.

Ryan coached basketball, volleyball and was the Physical Education Department Chairman. He was at Jakarta for ten years and "loved it."

In 1984, he accepted the position of Director of Student Activities at the Saudi Arabia International School in Riyadh. This was one of the largest American schools with an enrollment of over 2000.

"Schools overseas are very dependent on each other and supportive," Ryan said. "They have great facilities, the companies provide for their employees very well. People also seemed to care a great deal more about their children's education and were more involved."

Ryan remained in Saudi Arabia until 1990, and felt it was time to come back to his homeland.

"I love the fall season, the changing of the seasons, the falling of the leaves, I'm just glad to be back," Ryan said. "I came back to get acclimated with my country and enjoy cable T.V. and junk food."

Ryan was a successful coach and plans to use his steps to success here at Harper in turning around the intramural program. Some of the success includes capturing the Far East Basketball Championship in 1984 and the men's Softball Championship in 1983.

Ryan's high school basketball team would also have chances to compete against other countries national or university teams, and would play them dead even.

"We were a good H.S. team and we played competitively against 27 and 28 year old men," Ryan said. "Basketball overseas is getting very good now, but it took a while before it caught on. A good relation to the U.S. would probably be soccer."

"I'm 100 percent devoted to getting a successful program going."

Jim Ryan

Ryan would like to take all of his experience and what he has learned from other countries and apply it to Harper's intramural program, but stresses he needs input from the students. He would like to meet people and just talk to them, if they have ideas that's even better.

"Most importantly, I want people to know I'm here and I'm going to respond to their needs," Ryan said. "The administration feels the same. We would like to see some faculty and student participation."

SPRING TERM BEGINS JANUARY 13

Only one Northwest suburban university has a long history of leadership behind it.

Roosevelt University distinguished careers in business, the arts, the sciences and government. At our comprehensive Arlington Heights campus, you can follow in their footsteps with 24 undergraduate and 21 graduate degree programs. We'll also equip you with advantages as an outstanding faculty (no teaching assistants), small classes, averaging 15 students, an Advising Center for program planning, and more.

We offer 24-hour, evening and weekend classes beginning January 13. Call (708) 437-9200 or mail in the coupon, to learn more about how affordable an outstanding private education can be.

Roosevelt University
A Force in Chicago's Past - A Leader in Chicago's Future

ALBERT A. NOCHI CAMPUS 2121 S. Greenfield Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60004 • (708) 437-9200
ROOSEVELT CAMPUS 440 S. Dearborn Street, Chicago, IL 60605 • (312) 367-2200

Fill in and mail to: Roosevelt University, Albert A. Nochi Campus, 2121 S. Greenfield Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60004

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Phone ( ) _____

Are you a graduate _____

Preferred campus _____

Preferred dates _____

Preferred degree _____

HealthCorner

FOR HEALTH THAT MATTERS

Great American Smokeout kicks butt

Next is Thanksgiving, it's the most famous Thursday in November. It's the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout, November 21. This is the opportunity for smokers to quit for 24 hours or to help someone who's trying to quit.

At least two-thirds of smokers have tried at one time or another to quit, and at least one-third try in any one year. Quitting smoking pays:

- Within 20 minutes after the last cigarette, blood pressure and pulse rate will decrease to the person's normal reading and rate, and body temperature of extremities will increase to person's normal.

- Within 8 hours, blood carbon monoxide level will decrease to normal and the blood will carry the person's normal amount of oxygen.

- Within 24 hours, chances of a heart attack will decrease.

- After 48 hours of non-smoking, nerve endings will start to grow back—things will smell better and taste better.

- After 72 hours, bronchial tubes will start to relax—breathing will be easier and lung capacity will increase.

- Within 1-9 months, cough, sinus congestion, fatigue and shortness of breath will all be reduced.

- Ten years after you quit, your death rate will be approximately the same as for those who have never smoked at all.

Health Services, A362, has smoking cessation information and support materials. Look for the special display table in the Cafeteria November 21.

SHOW YOUR TRUE COLORS.
THIS FALL, GIVE BLOOD.

To donate
call 312-308-7660 or 708-298-9660

1111 BY R 183

Remember:
Becoming The Caring Type Give Blood.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Revenge of the "Curse of the evil Gorgon!"

Under the Surface

Editors note: This column is in contrast to the October 17 review of Medusa. The first critique was done from an over-21 perspective; this is done from under-21.

Contrary to some of the Harbinger editor's beliefs, Medusa is no apocalyptic as one of the best under-21 dance clubs around. Located on the corner of Sheffield and School in Chicago, the non-dance building is one of mystery and intrigue. The long lines on Saturday nights add to the curiosity.

The first level welcomes you to the thundering bass via the numerous sub-woofers placed about the floor. There is a clever juke box on the left hand side as you enter and a juke is located on the back wall where people can show their moves. The intense strobing and ambient lighting adds to the novelty and night atmosphere. One time I was there, small chunks of the ceiling fell to the ground next to my feet. It only happened once, so I didn't list it as a horror item. If it hit me in the head, they'd have a lawsuit on their hands.

Climbing to the second floor, one sees the various outboard seating placed about (let your imagination run wild), the coat check (which costs $1) and the DJ booth encased within a wooden shell and chain-link fence.

If the courage is gained to venture to the third floor, there are three major rooms. First, there's the rock room where occasionally local bands play their material. Second is the art room. No big deal here; just a relaxing place to rest after a round in a pit from Nirvana's Smells Like Teen Spirit or a round of heavy dancing to My Life With The Thrill Kill Kid's Kooler Than Jesus. The video room is straight in front of the stairs through a hallway with an interesting sculpture and a small room with black lights.

This video room is the life of Medusa's. There are two huge video screens on opposite sides of each other and a small disco-style platform in the center. A juke bar also resides on this level. The people who roam upstairs are usually the same. Rarely do the muscled "downstairs" people find the courage to experience the incredible sound of the video room. Sub-woofers are aligned throughout and the music is usually the same style: alternative dance and industrial. Once in a great while, they play a cool song by Naughty By Nature's 10 P.P. (tanzam), or even worse, music by a band that doesn't need to be mentioned. When that happens, many of the people scramble to see if the first floor music is better than the top floor. Usually it isn't, so it's wise to stay upstairs and request some Shiny Poppy or William Ehh. However, don't forget So And Slow It Grows by War because when I did, the VJ on Saturday night grabbed it from the shelf, threw it to the ground and proceeded to jump on top of it, meanwhile spilling out every profanity he could—calling him psycho.

Sometimes much pits form to the harder music (for more info on pits, read the Prometheus Unbound column in the November 14 issue). Most often, pits at Medusa often result in sleeping around in a circle (sounds like fun, don't you think? No).

Many of the people upstairs are more radical than those downstairs, but looks can be deceiving. If all else fails, remember the old saying, "If you don't bother them, they won't bother you." It's not as bad as it sounds, however. Medusa is a place where many types of people congregate to enjoy good music (for the most part).

Friday nights are advertised as "wildly alternative" although they mix in hip house as well. Saturday night downstairs is primarily dance (some alternative, but mostly hip-house). On both Friday and Saturday nights the squares is very good, although the VJ's have different tastes on the hands they play, which adds to the variety.

The best night to experience the music, in my opinion, is Saturday night in the video room. The dance room on the first level is just not up to par. The costs may also be a factor in considering which night to venture out. Wednesday nights are for ages seventeen and over (with ID's) from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.; Fridays are also seventeen and over and costs $6. The club is open from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. and a college special is $3 before 11 p.m. Make sure you bring your college ID (preferably an LRC card since it looks more official). Saturday nights are all ages from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.—a word of warning: Don't go unless you like seeing twelve-year olds puffing and smoking to the rhythm of the music. The fun begins at 11 p.m. and continues until 3 a.m. The cost is higher at $7 but it's worth it if you stay until closing.

Can you tell me how to get to Sesame Street?

Andy Lissman

Andy Lissman
Harbinger A&E Editor

Nestled into a corner of the Museum of Science and Industry, a temporary exhibit features the lifetime work of Jim Henson—the creator of the Muppets.

Running through January 5, "The World of Jim Henson: Muppets, Monsters & Magic," shows the evolution of the Muppets from the studio to the screen. Starting with an interest in puppets in his teens, Henson got his first shot at television with the show "Sam and Friends" on a Washington, DC station.

The show ran for eight years and allowed Henson to work on his ideas on puppetry. Henson believed that puppet shows should be written for television and not adapted from stage to screen.

With the ability for close-ups on television, Henson designed the Muppets with faces and bodies that could be manipulated to show greater emotion than standard puppets or marionettes could show.

When he moved to film he took the development of the Muppets one step further. Henson often placed the whole body of the Muppets in the frame of the shot in his movies. To get the variety of movement and expression Henson wanted, multiple puppets had to be behind the Muppets for control.

The design and rehearsal of the "Firey" scene from Labyrinth was one of the many video presentations given, showing the team approach to Muppet control. In this scene, the Firey creatures danced wildly around, making traditional puppet control impossible.

Through the various video displays the exhibit shows faces of Henson's world that are usually not seen. The video showing scenes from the Muppet Show was interspersed with clips of people who work behind the scene.

The sound from the movie was muted and soft, leaving the viewer to struggle to hear what is said. Fortunately this does not detract from the quality of the exhibit as there is much else to see.

Other sections went much better. People had the opportunity to get under a stage and control Muppets, best of all it was open to both children and adults.

There was also a chance to see what went into some of the Muppets. Several of the larger of Henson's creations were shown with sections of 'skin' cut away to show how people could fit inside to operate the Muppets.

An insight into the evolution could also be gained from the displays. A wall-mounted pictorial documented the evolution of Miss Piggy from a plain extra in a chorus line to a glamorous leading lady.

Many of the smaller Muppets were also on display. Characters from the Muppet Show, Sesame Street, Fraggle Rock and Dinosaurs among others.

Admission to the exhibit is an additional $2 entrance fee, tacked onto the $5 regular admission to the rest of the museum.

Free
Pregnancy
Testing
Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Crisa
Pregnancy
Center

708/685-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schlaumberg, IL 60173

Rock-n-Bowl

Wednesday Nights
8 pm to Midnight
$10 per person
(includes shoe rental)

POPLAR CREEK BOWL

2354 W. Higgins Road
in Barrington Square Mall
310-9585

XXX

Harper College Presents

Legendary Rock Drummer

BUDDY MILES

7:30 pm Tuesday, December 10 Building J Theatre

Tickets: Public by
Harper students, faculty, staff and service officers $5

Legendary rock drummer Buddy Miles has been the heart behind such rock greats as Jimi Hendrix, Carlos Santana, Eric Clapton, David Bowie, Wilson Pickett, Steve Wonder and others. He was also the vocalist for the original Chic Award-winning "Dorothy" TV commercial ("I Heard It Through the Grapevine"). For tickets and information, call the Harper College Box Office at 708/697-3000, extension 3547.

William Rainey Harper College
P.O. Box 10000, Des Plaines, IL 60018-1000

Concert tix and culture pix

Concerts

Jethro Tull: Chicago Theater, Sunday November 24 and Monday November 25; currently on sale.

Paula Abdul: Rosemont Horizon, Tuesday November 26; currently on sale.

Jimmi Hendrix Tribute: Buddy Guy's Legends, video show, Band of Jimi's tribute band and Lolly Turt, Wednesday November 27; currently on sale.

Metallica: Rosemont Horizon, Saturday December 7; currently on sale.

Michael Ballou: Rosemont Horizon, Wednesday December 11; currently on sale.

Trip Shakespeare: The Cubby Bear, Thursday November 21 through Saturday November 23; currently on sale.

Tickets to the above mentioned concerts are available through Ticket Master; 312-559-1212.

Museum

American Police Center and Museum: Displays to promote greater understanding between civilians and police; 1007-1725 S. State St.; 312-431-0005.

Art Institute of Chicago: "Grave Goods from Ancient Cultures," Gallery 141, through Feb. 23; "The Invasive Eye: Photographs from the David C. and Suzanne Rutenberg Collection," photography galleries, through January 12.

Chicago Children's Museum: Interactive exhibits and programs designed to foster creativity, sensory learning and problem solving ability; 435 E. Illinois, Chicago; 312-527-1000.

Field Museum of Natural History: "Pacific Spirits: Life, Death and the Supernatural," ritual and art objects from the Pacific Islands, Lake Shore Drive at Roosevelt, Chicago; 312-992-9410; permanent exhibit Museum of Broadcast Communications: "Harold Washington: On the Air," broadcast exhibition of Washington, through November 27; River City, 800 S. Wells St.; 312-987-1500.

Theater

"Anything Goes": updated Cole Porter musical, Marriott's Lincolnshire Theater, Highway 21 and Midway Ave., Lincolnshire; 708-634-0200; through January 26.

"Christmas Carol": Tuesdays through Thursdays 7:30 p.m., Fridays 8 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays 2:30 and 8 p.m., The Goodman Theater, 200 S. Columbus, Chicago; 312-443-3800; through December 29.

"Theresa": a musical version of "A Christmas Carol" with a woman in the title role, Sundays 2:30 p.m., Children's Theatre at the Second City, 1616 N. Wells, Chicago; 312-929-6208; through December 22.

"Theatre": Friday and Saturday 8 p.m., Saturday and Sunday 4 p.m., Oak Park Village Players, 1010 Madison, Oak Park; 708-363-9829; through December 21.

"Hello, Dolly!": Intermittent version; Drury Lane Dinner Theater, 2500 W. 95th St., Evergreen Park; 708-422-0404; through December 31.

"Horton Hears a Who!": presented by Voad Where Prohibited; Players Workshop, 2636 N. Lincoln Ave., Chicago; through November 23.

"I Want Someone to Eat Cheese With": Jeff Garlin's solo show; Second E.T.C. Theater, 1608 N. Wells St.; 312-642-8189; open end.

"Monsters... Glimpses of Urban Lunacy": Explores the real and imagined monsters within us all, presented by the American Blues Theater; Lower Links 954 W. Newport Ave.; 312-929-1031; through December 15.

"Screwtape": C.S. Lewis' "The Screwtape Letters" as adapted by James Furey. Presented by Mary Archer Theater Co., Angel Island, 731 W. Sheridan; 312-871-0442; through December 8.

Is the opera an opera?

Lyons Pomeroy
Hortengier (left) Wilho

The Threepenny Opera is not an opera, in fact it does not fit into the category of musicals very well either. It compares to no other musicals with uplifting candy tones you may leave the theatre humming. Except for its most famous song, "Mac the Knife."

At first glance, the plot builds around the boy-meets-girl, person-persons-boy musical, but it quickly becomes apparent that there are many complex issues at hand. The basic theme deals with the sharp contrast of greed and poverty.

Bertolt Brecht adapted his version of the play from John Gay's popular English eighteenth century musical "The Beggar's Opera." He saw it as the perfect vehicle to express the need for social change. Brecht, along with composer Kurt Weill, shared the belief that theater should make a political statement.

"The Dreigroschenoper" made its debut in Berlin in 1928. It was a hit until the Nazis came to power.

In the 1930s Brecht attended medical school and served as a medic in World War I, but his playwriting and poetry took precedence. He was also a producer of Kurt Weill's "Das Kapital," and viewed Weill's compositions as morally bankrupt. These two experiences were fused in the writing of the ### Threepenny Opera.

Brecht became famous for his "anti-musician" technique, leading to a vocal performance by using subtle devices as a statement.

Director Mary Jo Willis has incorporated unexpected melodies throughout the nine scenes, in the truest sense of Brechtian style.

The play begins 15 minutes before the actual performance. A slide presentation projects scenes of an "American Millionaire in a Nation of Riches, a Permanent Underclass" poignantly contrasting wealth with poverty.

The action takes place in England but no one speaks with an English accent, although other mild accents are used. The 23 players portray the beggars, who are outfitted by the Peachum Proprietors of Beggars LTD. and thieves, with Mac the Knife as their leader and, of course, the whorem, all wearing costumes from mixed periods.

For the coronation, Victoria is hung above the stage, and a stained stage floor was cleverly designed by Mike Brown and his stage crew.

The Threepenny Opera is check-full of corruption themes on marriage, infidelity, seduction, parental control, friendship, legal and moral ethics, and sexual behavior.

Interested? Diagram? Inquired? Go and see if it activates you.

Mac the Knife

WEIRD IS RELATIVE

The Addams Family

THE ADDAMS FAMILY: RAUL JULIA, ANJELICA HUSTON, JOHN WOOD, CHRISTOPHER LLOYD

THE ADDAMS FAMILY: RAUL JULIA, ANJELICA HUSTON, JOHN WOOD, CHRISTOPHER LLOYD

NOVEMBER 22

When you party remember to... PARTY Smart

Don't get involved if you can't afford it or worse yet... let someone else do the drinking... a variety of products for the party... BY THE WAY... PARTY LIKE A PRO!

See the latest in Desktop Publishing Experience Electronic Music and MIDI!
Play the latest Games

Chicago Computerfest

- Thousands of dollars in Door prizes including a complete computer system
- Desktop Publishing Seminars
- Presentations and demos of the latest MIDI equipment and software
- Computer Game Contests (including the LYNN, Atari's newest game machine)
- Plus many more exciting demos and presentations

November 23rd and 24th
Ramada Hotel O'Hare
Rosemont, Illinois

ADMISSION: $6.00 at door
Children under six FREE with paid adult admission

Sponsored by ATARI

For more information
Please call 708-566-0642

Help Wanted

Head The Earth / Teach Others
Earn $100-2000 per month
For interview appointment call 30
at 850-5648

Marketing Students
be paid while you learn. No hour, must have car. Top Marketing is a national company Hiring part time positions. Leave message for info at 1-800-562-2704

Summer Marketing
Management positions available
Earn $4-7000 and gain great business experience
Call Today! Student Papers
today at 1-800-669-6546
Territories are filling fast.

FREE SPENDING BREAK TIPS
to students or student organizations provided by Spring Break Packages
Good Pay & Fun. Call CMH:
1-800-425-3594

MALE CHA'S
for long term paid case in Prospect Heights area
Call 302-2909
Alpha Christian Ministry

Help Wanted

LOOKING FOR
a Fraternity, Sorority,
Student Organization, or exceptional individuals
But would like to potentially make $1000.00 or more sponsoring QUALITY SKI
and BEACH trips on campus. For further information Call Kim at
Olsen Tours, Inc.
1-800-800-6050

Tutoring
Evenings or days. Hour at $6.00 an hour. Inquire at 708-303-0130
ext. 317. Ask for Phil

Part Time Hostess needed to work evenings at Spaw's Restaurant. For more information
call 529-3154

Part Time Restaurant / Bar
NOSE GIRL
for Friday & Saturday nights, 4 hours per night. Approx. $60 per night, 19 or older.
Call Mary Ann at 691-6653

Lava Attendant
Ewings & Woodlands. Apply in person at Polar Creek Road
2354 W. Higgins Road
(Barrington Square Mall)

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing
Services. Term papers,
resumes, cover
letters, etc.
Low Rates! Laser Print
Call Lori 438-4812

RESUMES/TERM PAPERS
professionally written and typed on laser printer. Fast turn around.
Call Colene at (708) 534-7457

Typing/MP Service
Resumes, Term Papers
Laser Print Quality
Time (708) 991-3198

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford.
Resumes, cover
letters, anything you need in print. FREE laser print, FREE spot
check, FREE COVER
PAGE! Call Today! Randy
@ 708-595-4883

Services

Need a Typist?
I HAVE OVER 15 YEARS EXPERIENCE in academic and resume typing. Computer and letter quality printer used. Call VITA ESECRITARIA
SERVICE (708) 213-5885

The Search is Over...
Why are so many HO, AHW, etc., MT's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Focused, growing, nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW!
708-658-5301

Health Restoration
Restore your health with the natural use of Aloe Vera and Hyaluronic Acid. Various medical services provided.
Home Bathing Inc.
BP checks, Licensed and certified professionals.
708-477-1909

American Cancer Society
Great American
SMOKEOUT
NOVEMBER 21, 1991

Roommates

Single Non-smoking female looking for same as roommates at the U-Urbane. Champaign next to 1992. Off campus apt. would like to meet with you. Please call Jenn 250-8644 after 6:30 pm

For Rent

Palatine Sublet
for six months, large
apt. 2 bedrooms, whirlpool, water and gas included. No pets. $600/mo. Dec. 1
call 202-1477

For Sale

FOR SALE $5 Renault
63K miles, PS, PB, AC, Auto,
Good Condition. $1,750
Call 982-3556

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY
FOCUS NO. 19137
(708) 658-5301

Fitness

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Breakfast products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight loss without drugs, dieting, or deprivation. 6-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formulation.
708-658-5301

Information

Standard Classified
Rates and Information
Commercial classifieds
are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.50 for
each additional line.
Deadline is Friday at
noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or
check. The Harbinger
will not be responsible
for typographical errors
in ads taken by phone.
Please call if you ad is misprinted. For more information, contact
The Harbinger in A367.
Call (708) 397-3000, ext.
2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708)
397-5210.

PLEASE JOIN US IN FEEDING THE NEEDY AND THE HOMELESS THANKSGIVING DINNER

Date: November 23, 1991
Time: 11:00 am to approximately 8:00 pm. Leave from Building A. Transportation will be provided.
Place: Upson Baptist Church (Downtown Chicago)
To sign up or to receive more information, call extension 2242. Sponsored by Student Activities

Scholarship for Math or Math Education Major

The Illinois Mathematics Association of Community Colleges
(IMACC) is offering $750 Scholarships for majors in Math or Math Education. Partial requirements include:
1. Must be a full time student at any Illinois college in Spring Semester, 1992, and
2. Must have at least a B average after taking at least 40 semester hours at any Illinois community college by February 1, 1992.
For more information, Contact Don Magno, (D-224) or Bill Schooley (D-221) in the Math Department. Due date for all materials is February 1, 1992.
Start the process now, as the process will take a few weeks.

Hey Mime,
did you read the Editorial
on Page 2 about the elevators?

THE HARPER ANTHOLOGY

WANTS: The BEST Student
Writing at Harper College.
Students! Want to see your name in print?
All work written for class is welcome:
Papers, Paragraphs, Lab Reports,
Journals, Essays, Research Projects,
Class Assignments. Any Length. Any Class.
Submission Deadline - Dec. 12, 1991.
WHEN: We honor your best work.
WHY: Ask your instructor to send your best for-class writing to:
WHERE: Harper Anthology Selection Committee
C/O Professor Jack Dodds, Lib Arts
Instructors please include:
25 word statement explaining the assignment.
25 word statement evaluating the entry.

For copies of the
HARPER ANTHOLOGY
see Jack Dodds, Eng. Dept., F313

Do You Like Sports? Are you interested in writing for Sports Illustrated? Cover The Harper Hawks for The Harbinger and gain valuable experience. Come fill out an application in A367 and talk to Mario Galenski or Kurt Gessler.

Discover the Comfortable Collection of

Ruffled Up™
Rough-Wear from the Phillips' Attic

Featuring special opening prices on:

- crisp oxford big shirts from Tommy Hilgner
- pleated washed chinos from Woolrich
- popular sand blast work shirts
- jackets and coats perfect for fall's first frost

$4 OFF	any Tommy Hilgner oxford shirt. Choose brights, stripes & patterns	$20 OFF	any Ruff Hewn hand knit sweater. Bulky contents in today's updated patterns
15% OFF	any jacket. Select from Woolrich, Ruff Hewn, and Tommy Hilgner	$5 OFF	any E2 chino washed-down trousers. Pleated and relaxed for your active lifestyle
FREE	Ruffled Up T-shirt with every purchase over $100	15% OFF	any active knit shirt, popovers, rugby and crew styles in long sleeves

744 ELLIOT AVENUE • REGENCY PLAZA • PUEBLA AT QUENTIN •
PALATINE • (708) 991-6599 • HOURS MONDAY - FRIDAY 10:00 - 7:00,
SATURDAY 9:00 - 5:00 • VISA • MASTERCARD • AMERICAN EXPRESS
OWNED AND OPERATED BY PHILLIPS MEN'S WEAR, BARRINGTON.

SPORTS

The Horbinger, November 21, 1991 7

19 Hawks named to N4C all-conference squad

Karl Giesse
Horbinger Managing Editor

The North Central Community College Conference (N4C) all-conference football team was announced on November 8.

Following their eighth consecutive N4C championship, the Hawks dominated the balloting for the second consecutive season. In 1990, Harper placed 21 players on the all-conference team, including three all-Americans (Lorenzo Butler, Vito Consequenza and John Remshaw).

Following this year's campaign, 19 Hawks were voted to the highly prestigious team.

The first team selections were NAC most valuable player running back Derrick Harris (1,331 yards rushing and 460 yards receiving), lineman Tom Reuter, tackle Joe Sartin, quarterback Steve Matthews (102 of 216 for 1,535 yards and 12 touchdowns and 12 interceptions), punter Mike Morrison (38 yards per punt average), kicker Tim Newman, defensive end Paul McAndrews, defensive tackle Dave Golicak, defensive back Shaver Hawkins, defensive back Mike Martinez and defensive back Mike Miller, who was also voted to the first team all-conference squad last season.

The second team honorees went to: tight end Rick Hungary (12 receptions for 243 yards), wide receiver Jason Calabrese (25 receptions for 515 yards), wide receiver Brent Norstrom and linebacker Thomas Jackson.

Honorable mention distinction was earned by center Rick Hurley, linebacker Mike McDowell, linebacker Demetri Dickerson and defensive back Brent Geiger.

Quarterback Steve Matthews mugged his way on to the N4C all-conference team with his strong arm. (McLaren)

Gym Shorts

The Intramural Program will conduct a three-point shooting contest in the gym on December 11 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The event is open to all students, faculty and staff, but excludes members of the Harper College basketball teams.

The contest is structured where the number of baskets from each three-point team will determine the winner. Registration for the competition can be done in Building 14 room 202a or on the Intramural board across from the gym doors. The deadline for the sign-up is December 9.

At season's end, respect begins

'91 Women's volleyball team is Harper's best

By Phyllis
Horbinger Staff Writer

Reflection time. The topic is the winningest volleyball team in school history.

Harper's women's volleyball team finished fourth in the Region IV tournament last weekend, compiling a 31-11-2 campaign. Season highlights included a second place finish in the team tournament in Michigan in September.

That was followed by an undefeated conference season and a double win of the North Central Community College Conference (N4C) opponents in the conference tournament.

"They were very skilled coming in," said Harper coach Renee Buccumb. "They also got along well and played together."

As expected, the Hawks were led by All-American candidate Amy Longmore. The sophomore closed her two-year campaign with first team honors on both all-conference and all-region teams.

"She was an impact player," Buccumb said. "Everyone who watched her knew she was a good player. She worked hard in the off-season and it showed."

Kari Baerz was a second team all-conference selection. She missed the all-region team by one vote.

"She was underrated," Buccumb said. "She needs a quicker setter to take advantage of her skills. Whatever she gets her, will be getting a diamond in the rough."

Freshman Erin Hanley made the all-region tournament team. She was an N4C honorable mention selection.

"She's a very mature player," Buccumb said. "She plays a lot taller and stronger than she is. I'm looking forward to having her back next year."

Christi Merena was an honorable mention selection. Merena's mid-season move to senior helped the team.

"She sacrificed what she did best," Buccumb said. "She was a defensive specialist. She never set before she came here, but she never complained about it."

Two freshman players also received some notice. Lynette Noy saw regular action.

"She improved every single game. She's one of the more focused players I've had. It's great to have her back next season."

Monica Peroni was the other freshman who contributed with her "incredible serve."

Part Time

YOU CAN TURN
MOONLIGHT
INTO MONEY!

Days, Weekends & Evenings

• If you're looking for a new career value, look to The Moonlight Group, where a part-time job can be your full-time future. We're the booming direct response marketing industry.

• We demand an excellent family income, we offer you the opportunity to grow as you learn new skills at our computerized, modern, sales-in-admission base. If you own the desire to succeed and enjoy working with people, you may qualify.

- Hourly salary well above minimum wage
- Increases your first year
- Comprehensive training
- Paid holidays
- Opportunity to move into management
- Generous Merit Pay/Ward discount
- No cold calling

TWO CONVENIENT SCHEDULES
Mon-Thurs. 10 am - 4 pm & Fri. 10 am - 3 pm, or Tues. 9:30 am - 10 pm & Sat. 10 am - 3 pm.

Call
(708) 268-0092

SIGNATURE

200 West 1st Street, Suite 100,
Arlington Heights, IL 60005

For the SKIN on WRINKLES and PREMATURE AGING!!!
REGAIN YOUR NATURAL YOUTHFUL BEAUTY
with MICELLE
Total Skin Care System
Joy Droll (708) 884-1664
"Your Personal Youth Consultant"

Have Us Prepare Your Graduate RESUME

For the Graduate Res. in the Business field, we offer a complete resume writing service that will help you stand out from the crowd. We will help you prepare a resume that is tailored to your specific field.
Call Today for an appointment
and let us help you prepare your resume. We will help you prepare a resume that is tailored to your specific field.
Call Today for an appointment
and let us help you prepare your resume. We will help you prepare a resume that is tailored to your specific field.

European
TanSpa
1020 S. Arlington Heights Rd.
Arlington Heights, IL 60005
1 Block South of Central 394-2440

$79 Unlimited Tan, 1 Month

20 Minute Session	30 Minute Session
(1) FOR $5.00	(1) FOR $7.00
(3) FOR $14.00	(3) FOR $18.00
(5) FOR $21.00	(5) FOR $25.00
(10) FOR $38.00	(10) FOR $48.00
(15) FOR $56.00	(15) FOR $68.00
(25) FOR $88.00	(25) FOR $107.00

Call for a complete list of services and prices.
We will help you prepare a resume that is tailored to your specific field.

HARBINGER SPORTS

■ 8 November ■ 1991

SPORTS FINAL

Harper basketball team bounced

100-50 loss to the Kankakee Cavaliers drops Hawks to 0-2 to begin 1991 campaign

Ken Gosses
Harbinger Managing Editor

Throughout most of last season, the Kankakee Cavaliers were ranked first in the nation among community college basketball teams. After a 100-50 loss to the Cav's at home last Tuesday, the Hawks have inside knowledge as to why.

The loss drops Harper to 0-2 after their opening day 77-61 loss to Morton College, while Kankakee keeps their record perfect at 5-0 at the Hawks expense.

"You have to give Kankakee all the credit, but I believe that our guys played well," said Head Coach Ron Cregar. "There was improvement over our first game. Our intensity was better and our guys never quit."

But at one point, it just seemed that way.

The Hawks got off to a 7-6 lead three minutes into the first half before the Kankakee juggernaut got into gear. A 19-0 run by the Cav's turned the improbable into the predictable. Going into halftime, the Cav's led 32-18.

In the second, Harper stayed closer to Kankakee, but the overall team depth of the Cav's allowed them to keep a comfortable lead. At 15:30, a alley-oop from Michael Simmons to Jon Taylor gave the Cav's a 57-22 advantage.

The Hawks answered with their only viable option, the outside shot. The strong interior defense of Josh Peters, Reggie Murphy, Mark Adams and Ron Green kept Harper on the perimeter, which suited players like Mike Young just fine. His three-pointer brought Harper to 29-68 with 10:10 left in regulation.

Steve Cernaak and Greg Dye also had a solid game despite the Kankakee defense. Cernaak finished the game with 10 points, while Dye chipped in with 9.

Against Morton, one of the Hawks' biggest problems was lack of support from their bench. But versus Kankakee, their reserves played surprisingly well. Chris Moore hit two late three-pointers that meant more to the Hawks pride than the outcome of the game.

Another facet that was missing from Harper's first game was leadership, but according to Cregar, Steve Descole might fill that role. He scored 11 points against the Cav's, but more importantly, he gave the young Hawks an added direction.

"There are some things that we still have to work on, like offensive rebounding," Cregar said. "Maybe we didn't press enough here, but you have to learn to walk before you can crawl."

Mike Young fights Biggs Murphy and Ron Green for position in the paint.

The Hawks' next contest is this Thursday in Sugar Grove against Waukegan.

Point Guard Greg Dye leads his team downcourt against the Trojans.

Harper at home in the dome

Hawks win first Royal Crown Cola title 20-9 over North Iowa Area Community College

Ken Gosses
Harbinger Managing Editor

The long and short of the Royal Crown Cola Bowl was simple: The Hawks drove a long way to make short work of Northern Iowa Area Community College (NIACC) Trojans.

With Harper's 20-9 victory in the UNI-Dome in Cedar Falls, Iowa, their record improves to 10-2, the second best in school history.

The win also marked the first time in five attempts that the Hawks have ever won a Royal Crown Cola title.

"They accomplished a lot this season," said Head Coach John Eliak. "We had 10 victories and won the RC Cola Bowl for the first time. I was also very pleased for the sophomores. They got to end the time at Harper on a up note."

Even though the win was especially gratifying for the second-year Hawks, the Cola Bowl title wrapped up a dream season for freshmen running back.

Against the Trojans (7-3), Harper rushed for 90 yards on 24 carries to give him total for 331 yards on the season. That single season total is the highest ever by a Harper freshman and surpassed overall career

Butler's 1746.

Harris also captured the national point title scoring 150 points in the '91 campaign which ties James Haywood's single-season Harper point record.

"Harris was a big factor in getting us where we went," Eliak said. Another perhaps even bigger factor was the Hawks' defense.

Again, Harper's defensive unit had a solid outing. Even though they allowed NIACC 317 yards of total offense, the big plays were when needed.

Tom Jackson led the play-makers with 2 sacks and Lawan Young had 1 while Mike Miller, Brent Ceyer and Jeff White each had interceptions.

But even the defense was not enough to stop the Trojans early in the first half. On only the third play from scrimmage, sophomore Shawn Kautle threw a 68-yard bomb to wide receiver Walter Williams to give the Trojans an early 7-0 lead with 13:46 left in the first quarter. Williams would lead all receivers with 6 catches for 176 yards.

After that bomb was dropped on the Hawks they spent the remainder of the half dodging bullets. Twice NIACC drove inside the Hawks' 10-yard line yet came up empty.

However, in the second quarter, the Hawks jumped in the drivers seat and ran the Trojans into the ground.

A 3-yard TD run by Harris capped off a 90-yard drive as the game. The go-ahead points were scored with 27 seconds left in the half when quarterback Steve Mathews (17-29 for 229 yards) hooked up with Jason Calabrese for a 30-yard touchdown strike.

NIACC narrowed the margin to 13-9 with a safety, the only scoring of the third quarter.

Ahead by only four points with only seven minutes left in the season, Matthews hit fullback Demetrius Hardrick for a 8-yard touchdown pass.

Later in the fourth, the Trojans started a drive that would take them to the Harper two-yard line with the help of three late hit calls against Harper. On fourth and two the Trojans went for it, and lineman Paul McAndrews let them have it, suffering running back Dan Smith for a two-yard loss.

"We did fight back, but the game was closer than it should have been," Eliak said. "There were a lot of mistakes and a couple of missed opportunities, but the coaches and players kept their minds on the task at hand."

Harbinger NCAA pre-season poll

1. Arkansas	16. Utah
2. Duke	17. Alabama
3. Indiana	18. Oklahoma St.
4. LSU	19. Iowa
5. Arizona	20. Syracuse
6. North Carolina	21. DePaul
7. Seton Hall	22. Villanova
8. St. John's	23. Louisville
9. Kentucky	24. Missouri
10. Ohio St.	25. Michigan
11. Georgetown	26. Penn St.
12. Kansas	27. Virginia
13. UCLA	28. Georgia Tech
14. Kentucky	29. Texas
15. Colorado	30. Illinois

THE HARBINGER

William Harvey Harper College

December 5, 1991

Volume XXIV, Number XV

Plagiarism obstructs Point of View

Winter Has Arrived

INSIDE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Bush settles on a safe bet with Rod the Jones.

Page 6

FEATURES

Lauryn Davis, student senate President who's always on the

Page 8

SPORTS

The Harp men's basketball team celebrated the Juddon Eagles 83-73 en route to their second victory of the season.

Page 12

CONTENTS

News	2
Editorial	3
Letters to the Editor	3 & 4
Carroll's Corner	4
Under the Surface	5
Arts & Entertainment	5-7
Features	8
Comics	9
Sports	11 & 12

Eric Jason
Harper News Editor

The 1990-91 Point of View magazine was pulled from circulation after the following was revealed: a student plagiarized material from the comedy duo Penn and Teller. The Point of View is a student-run publication of the liberal arts division. This semester's edition was removed from circulation due to the non-original content of two of the articles.

Student Scott Chaffee apparently copied stories appearing in Penn and Teller's Chad, Linda, and David.

The two stories titled "Snapshots of a Mommy" and "The Pan Addict" were re-written by Chaffee, and he took credit for their creation. Faculty Literary Advisor Frank Smith got a tip from an unidentified student who worked with Chaffee on the Point of View. After checking the facts, Smith filed a claim against Chaffee.

According to Smith, Chaffee thought it was something that got carried over.

He submitted one of the magazine and was then informed it wasn't published. Chaffee did not still know it was not his.

He had that as a member of the college had been approved of a college-wide student code of conduct and I was obligated to bring it forward," Smith said.

Smith and Student Activities Director Laurie Pankratz contacted Harper's attorney on a possible course of action, citing the plagiarism. The first issue was Chaffee's right to privacy in this matter.

"The attorney [for Harper] felt it was his legal opinion because he had plagiarized not in the classroom, but in a publication in that he had lost his right to privacy," Smith said.

Minimizing the damage, the college could face over a possible lawsuit for publishing the offending material was also a major concern. The publisher for the magazine is not pursuing Harper or Chaffee in the matter because the college was pressing charges against him, Smith said.

One of the things we considered is will Penn and Teller show up on David Letterman one night and say, 'We scanned Harper College,'" said Smith. "They might, that's what the book is about: scanning people for pleasure, pain, or money."

After dealing with the publisher, the matter was turned over to Vice President of Student Services Bonnie Henry. When the problem first was recognized, there were difficulties reaching Chaffee. The college sent several certified letters were sent to him without response. Leaving the possibilities of criminal actions being filed against Chaffee.

Chaffee eventually came in and accepted responsibility for the incident. A settlement was then reached between the college and Chaffee. The money for reprinting will be taken from the magazine budget and Chaffee will repay it at a later date, Smith said.

"Our intention right now is to try to represent the magazine without the offending material and replace the plagiarized material with legitimate work by other students," said Smith.

"As I understand it right now the college has agreed to bear the costs of reprinting."

The exact details of the arrangement between Harper and Chaffee were not disclosed.

Galenski unseated as Editor in Chief

Eric Jason
Harper News Editor

For the first time in recent history, the position of editor in chief is vacant on The Harbinger. The student publication board officially removed Maro Galenski on November 22 from the head editor position after it was discovered he no longer met the academic criteria for holding that post. Galenski dropped classes from his schedule, failing under the required six hours guideline set by the publication board. His academic status was discovered by a routine examination into his course load by board members.

"It was the choice of the publication board that he be notified of this," said Harbinger Faculty Advisor Suzanne Harvie. He had dropped all courses except for four hours."

Usually the editor in chief position is a contract position that an individual holds for the whole year. According to Galenski he never received a written job description. He was also told by Harvie and Student Activities Director Jeanne Pankratz that he only needed three credit hours to retain his position. Controversy has since arisen concerning the strictness of these academic criteria.

"In the past two years there were editors enrolled in one credit hour or with poor academic standing and they were not removed from their position," said Former Editor in Chief Maro Galenski.

Harvie still stands by the decision of the board on the matter.

"It sounds like," Harvie said. "It was one of the criteria for remaining editor in chief and as published in the packet that has the application. Everything is in there, and Maro received a copy of that," Harvie said.

The controversial nature of the packet may have also contributed to the decision of board to remove Galenski. Objections to the subject matter in the Harbinger by certain students and administration has led to a highly negative attitude toward the paper. This atmosphere could have made the decision a little easier to remove him from office according to Galenski.

"If you look at every issue since the beginning of the year we have attacked every problem or controversy going on in society and reported it from every angle," Galenski said. "This is their way of getting around the entire issue of censorship they couldn't attack it directly."

Former Editor in Chief of The Harbinger discusses his removal from the position.

By Mark

because it was a first amendment right. But by finding some sort of a small technicality, they got the little wedge they needed to push me on my way."

The Harbinger staff has also been accused of sexist policies on hiring editorial staff. With only two women on the editorial board, some members of the publications board stressed a more sexually balanced staff.

"The point that I have and that I would appreciate you consider adopting is to see about recruiting more women for The Harbinger," said Pankratz. "Use a common sense interpretation of affirmative action."

Beside expressing her concerns to the whole staff, she also had a closed meeting with Galenski.

"In this meeting I told them I wanted to include anybody who wanted to work on the paper. I didn't care who it was," Galenski said.

Aside from external criticism, members of a staff of interest exist with Harvie being The Harbinger advisor and head of the journalism department has not contributed to a successful working relationship between the two. In fact some of the staff feels she is trying to bring The Harbinger under control of the journalism department.

Harvie disagrees with the speculation.

"I don't see the connection between journalism, conflict of interest and Maro dropping classes," said Harvie.

Some members of The Harbinger staff have expressed concern over the possible effects of Galenski's removal from his position.

"I really don't believe that if an advisor cares for a newspaper that much, she would do something to disrupt it in the middle of a publication semester," said Managing Editor Kurt Geisler. "Removing the editor in chief is not going to help at all, so I question her [Harvie] speculating inuring about the whole newspaper."

The paper will continue without an editor and chief for the remaining two issues of the semester with managing editor Kurt Geisler serving as the senior editor.

Galenski though no longer eligible for the editor in chief position will retain a spot on the editorial board, as features editor.

The publications board will December 5 for a new editor in chief for next semester. The final selection for the open position will be decided during a publication board meeting today at 2 pm.

Harper's SnowStruck

NewsBriefs

COLLEGE NEWS UPDATE

Corporate America going casual?

NORTH READING, Mass. (CPS) If you're looking for a corporate job, you'll be glad to know the formal pretties suit is a thing of the past, according to a report by Converse Inc., the athletic shoe company.

Survey findings indicate the dress-for-success look is becoming less popular, with only 22 percent of 201 U.S. companies surveyed having a specific having a specific dress code. The same companies, by a margin of 8 to 1, report that their men and women executives are dressing less formally.

"The corporations still expect you to look sharp, but looking sharp is not necessarily a three-piece suit," said Jennifer Murray, a company spokeswoman.

Women executives are leading men in the move to more casual office styles, the report says. Some 65 percent of companies report that women are wearing less traditional styles, compared with 44 percent of the men.

Tuition: Not pocket change anymore

BOULDER, Colo. (CPS) Employees at the busier's office at the University of Colorado recently got a shock when a student pushed a wheelbarrow into the office filled to overflowing with quarters and pennies: $1,134 to be exact.

The money? One year's tuition. The wheelbarrow driver was in a definite I'm angry and I'm not going to take it anymore kind of mood.

"It's just not pocket change anymore," read a sign taped to the side of the wheelbarrow.

The angry student was William Roberts, a senior who said the stunt was symbolic gesture to inform the regents that tuition, which just rose 7 percent, is becoming a real problem for students.

Roberts said the money was wrapped in paper wrappers to allow for easy counting by the busier's office employees.

Students undeterred in pursuit of sex

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (CPS) According to a recent study by the Kinsey Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University, students these days are anything but starved for sex.

The study shows that most students on college campuses are having lots of sex these days.

A survey of 651 undergraduate men and women showed that 81 percent of the men and 75 percent of the women were not virgins; that the average age for both sexes' first sexual experience was 17, and that students spend an average of two nights a week with their sexual partners.

The study also showed that 50 percent of the men and 36 percent of the women had sex with someone they just met and that, on average, students had two one-night stands in 1990.

WHCM Staff and Management Positions

Ever dream of becoming an on-air personality for the hottest radio station in Palatine? Well now is your chance!

WHCM: Harper's campus station is looking for Disc Jockeys, News Personnel, and Management for the 1991 Spring semester. No experience is necessary, but enthusiasm is essential! Just stop by the WHCM Offices in A339c and fill out an application. But hurry, space is limited and applications are taken on a first come, first serve basis. Any questions call 397-3000 ext. 2418 and ask for Rebecca Mandel, WHCM Station Manager.

Rock-n-Bowl

Wednesday Nights

8 pm to Midnight

$10 per person

(includes shoe rental)

POPLAR CREEK BOWL

2354 W. Higgins Road

in Barrington Square Mall

310-9585

XXX

What's hot,
What's not,
weekly in...

ENTERTAINMENT

RAY COLLEGE OF DESIGN
RAY+VOGUE

ART DESIGN FASHION

Right courses, right faculty.
Right time to transfer!

Transfer up to 60 credits toward a Bachelor of Arts Degree in a specialized major, up to school of a two-college field and learn from professionals who are working in their creative fields. Strong, creative and logical. Phone or write for catalog in the right move for you!

Return coupon to either campus. No charge for catalog.

Please print: your name in hand in

Name ☐ Graphic Design
Address ☐ Interior Design
City ☐ Illustration
State ☐ Fashion Design
Phone ☐ Fashion Marketing & Management

RAY Chicago Campus 312/280-3600
401 N. Wabash Ave. Chicago IL 60611

RAY Woodfield Campus (708) 819-3450
1051 Remeter Dr. Schaumburg IL 60193

Discover the Comfortable Collection of

Ruffled Up™

Rough-Wear from the Phillips' Attic

Featuring special opening prices on:

- crisp oxford big shirts from Tommy Hilfiger
- pleated washed chinos from Woolrich
- popular sand blast work shirts
- jackets and coats perfect for fall's first frost

$4 OFF any Tommy Hilfiger oxford shirt. Choose brights, stripes & patterns.	$20 OFF any Ruffl' Up hand knit sweater. Bulky cottons in today's updated patterns.
15% OFF any jacket, select from Woolrich, Ruffl' Up, and Tommy Hilfiger.	$5 OFF any EZ chino washed-down trouser. Pleated and relaxed for your active lifestyle.
FREE Ruffl' Up T-shirt with every purchase over $100.	15% OFF any active knit shirt, pop-over, rugby and crew styles in long sleeves.

744 ELLIOT AVENUE • REGENCY PLAZA • ELLIOT AT QUENTIN •
PALATINE • (708) 991-6559 • HOURS: MONDAY - FRIDAY 10:00 - 7:00,
SATURDAY 9:00 - 5:00 • VISA • MASTERCARD • AMERICAN EXPRESS
OWNED AND OPERATED BY PHILLIPS MEN'S WEAR, BARRINGTON.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	3337333333333333
Business Manager	Gary A. Tacke
Managing Editor	Kurt Gessler
News Editor	Eric Jason
Features Editor	Mario R. Galenda
A & E Editor	Andy Leaman
Sports Editor	Phil Maves
Photo Editor	Alisa Chirhand and Linda De Luca
Copy Editors	Michael Cichy
Layout Editor	Susanne Havlic
Faculty Advisor

EDITORIAL

Board of Trustees change original plans, tax levy raised 4.9%

Many Americans have already accepted dirty politics as the norm. If anyone in the vicinity of Harper College hasn't accepted this as of yet, they might consider it after the Board of Trustees' actions at last Tuesday's meeting.

The Board of Trustees agreed to raise the tax levy by 4.9 percent, up to $24.11 million. That might not seem too dirty, but if you follow this sequence of events you'll be able to see it's the typical politician's scenario: lie to get elected, then raise the taxes.

In October, the Board of Trustees agreed to ask for $22.93 million, which would have actually lowered the levy request. Last year, the college collected $22.98 million in property tax revenues.

These moves give the trustees somewhat of a good-guy look, but beware, these actions took place before the election.

The election took place November 5, and now the trustees are secure in their positions once again.

So what happens at the November meeting? They go back on their initial proposal and move ahead to raise the tax levy.

Why? That answer is pretty easy. The Board of Trustees has a few members that Ebenezer Scrooge would be proud of.

Those members know how to generate and attract money, and their main philosophy is to save, save, save for that infamous rainy day.

With $40 million plus in surpluses, and many necessities needed for the college, isn't it about time to spend a little?

Staff

Jeanie Babin, Elizabeth Campy, Julie L. Carrasco, Jason Fennimore, Lydia Fernandez, Christopher Garcia, Susan J. Jank, Jason Peck, Tasha Poryzek, Michael Skorn, Karl Stampler, Ed Swanson, Todd C. Underwood, Matt Winkelman, Alessandra Yankemeh

Letters To The Editor

Student appalled by The Harbinger's unprofessionalism

Dear Editor,

I am a continuing education student here at Harper. At every college or university I have attended or visited, I have tried to read the school newspaper. When I first started here at Harper I was appalled by the unprofessionalism of The Harbinger and its staff. I have worked on a school newspaper before so I know how they are run. It seems to me that there is little or no supervision over The Harbinger especially because of the way it is presented. Examples of this are:

- 1) Cutting within articles
- 2) Lack of real news, such as news about the school
- 3) Too many opinion columns
- 4) Too many entertainment articles

I know that The Harbinger is trying to increase circulation, but printing just entertainment news is not the way. I think that students would like to know more about what is happening within the school. This to me seems the main purpose of a school newspaper, especially when it's printed weekly.

Name Withheld
Upon Request

Ex-columnist angry with newspaper advisor's lack of respect

Dear Editor, Acting editor or whoever:

As this semester is winding down, I thought there would be a good time to address a serious problem with The Harbinger.

If you remember correctly, earlier this semester I wrote a sports column for you. I may not have been professional, but I did have, deserve. I wrote what I felt was appropriate and what I thought was my best work. I would never do anything intentionally to make myself or the paper look bad. I had no problem taking criticism from my editors. I did have problems taking criticism from Susanne

Havlic, the so-called advisor.

After my very first article, she mentioned that my column stated nothing new and was an insult to my readers. Her harshness was not necessary. I took what I felt was a personal attack from Ms. Havlic and put up with it as long as I could, but finally I left because I had enough. She has a right to attack my work, but she does not have the right to attack me personally.

It is really hard for me to believe that Ms. Havlic is well educated in the area of sports. I would love to sit down and talk sports with her. I would put her to shame. If she, in fact, knows more about sports than I do I will retract this statement. That day will never come.

I really enjoyed writing for Mario Galenda (the ex-Editor in Chief). He truly is dedicated to his cause. Ms. Havlic can actually stand to learn a few things from him. He encouraged me to learn and build on his criticism. She encouraged me to quit. Now, even Mario is gone. How many people want to write for a club (remember, these are only clubs) with an advisor who makes you feel like a piece of garbage. I know I don't.

Tim McDowell
Student

EDITORS' NOTE:

The phrase "coming out of the closet" was used in the November 14 issue in a story about the new gay and lesbian club on campus. The phrase was found offensive to some of the members within the club and should not have been included in the context of the article.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administrators. The Harbinger office is located in A307.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved

AIDS: Fact not Fiction

From Rick Hudson to Ryan White and now Magic Johnson, AIDS has shown us all everyone is susceptible. It all begins with a cough, then flu like symptoms, all you are tested positive for the HIV virus.

What is being done? I don't see President Bush (and I use the word President lightly) making any effort to attempt to control it. I realize he can't control society but he can definitely stop playing golf and tell the people of today that this disease is more serious than it appears.

Why is the President making the same mistake that Reagan made? This disease is not a new development. AIDS has been here for over 10 years and I never once heard of Reagan doing anything about it. Maybe they believe its cheaper to let us die.

Over a billion dollars was accumulated during a fund raiser held in honor of Ryan White. I would think a billion dollars would certainly be an adequate amount of money to begin some kind of research, to find a cure for this horrible disease. But they did not get all of the money for research as a matter of fact they got less than a third of the proceeds.

AIDS has not only affected the homosexuals and the drug users but is equally as common with the heterosexuals. We are the last hope.

Our generation needs to step and think about what they're doing. A condom is not stupid, you are if you don't put one on or make your partner put one on. AIDS is not herpes, gonorrhea, or syphilis where one shot makes it all go away. You can die.

AIDS is no longer fiction but fact. This disease is not a controversial topic, it is a killer and must be discussed openly among people of all ages.

Nostradamus predicted a plague would sweep over the world and destroy all mankind. Let's not fulfill his prediction.

Carozzi's Corner

AIDS

Letters To The Editor

All people are equal, regardless of any label that exists

Dear Editor,

I am writing in regard to the letter to the editor titled "Decline of the Human Race" from the last edition of The Harbinger.

First of all, bigotry, murder, and actual killing may seem to be destructive to society. Homosexuality and bisexuality, however, are not in any way damaging; nor are they any less legal than heterosexuality.

However, after reading your previous, rather entertaining letter, I would personally like to have a more specific (and more focused) letter from you on how gay people have hurt you in the past or how you predict gay people will hurt you in the future. Please share it with all of us!

But more importantly, my message is not that "all gay people are just wonderful. Yippy Yay!" After my message, our message, is that all people are only created equal regardless of the person is gay, straight, bisexual, white, black, Hispanic, oriental, Indian, rich, middle class, poor, healthy, handicapped, naive, foreign, male, female, young, old or any other label that exists.

What we honestly need to do is take the effort to remember as many labels as we can, then make three times the effort to FORGET them.

As my sociologist will tell you, the decline of any society stems from the refusal or inability of it's people to work together. Only through communication can people learn to unite their differences so that they may help each other grow.

There may actually be a decline in the human race, but until all of the people of the world learn to be more understanding and more accepting of each person for whatever he/she may be, the decline will continue.

Glenn P. Nielson

Student

Homosexuality is not a mental/emotional illness

Dear Editor,

This letter is to the anonymous person who wrote letter about the alleged "Decline of the Human Race" appeared in the November 21, issue of The Harbinger.

Dear Name Withheld,

When I first read your letter I was really angry. How dare you presume to judge anyone's lifestyle or compare homosexuals to burglars and murderers? Are you perfect? What about the "students" you write about? Who wrote them? President Bush? Anna Bryson? Jesse Helms? Adolph Hitler?

Please write again and enlighten us. Just for your information, the American Psychiatric Association took homosexuality off the list of mental/emotional illnesses over twenty years ago!

I hope you, too, did not choose to be gay. Did you choose to be narrow-minded and prejudiced? I'm happy to say I am. Are you?

Other studies (real ones) give a low estimate that ten percent of the population is gay or lesbian. That's over 25 million people. That's over 25 million people you will never only get to be friends with or know as happy, healthy, normal human beings. I, for one, certainly wouldn't waste my time on someone so closed-minded as you!

Victor C. Branch

Student

The Harbinger

YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

KING & QUEEN TANNING

208 So. Roselle Road
Schaumburg
(NEXT TO WOMEN'S WORKOUT WORLD)
307-8055
WALK-INS WELCOME

INVITES ALL HARPER STUDENTS

STUDENT HOLIDAY TANNING PASS

Student Holiday Tanning 84 By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92	Student Holiday Tanning 84 By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92
Student Holiday Tanning 84 By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92	Student Holiday Tanning 84 By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92

BRUCE WILLIS DAMON WAYANS

They're two falling heroes up against the gambling syndicate in pro sports. Everyone had counted them out. But they're about to get back in the game.

THE LAST BOYSCOUT

The goal is to survive.

OPENS DECEMBER 13TH EVERYWHERE

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Gift guide for alternative music fans

Under the Surface

Are you looking for that special gift for an alternative music lover during this holiday season? Here is a roundup of some bands that are sure to please.

Primal Scream has a long-awaited album, SCREAMADELICA, that includes their smash hits Come Together, Loaded, Higher Than The Sun and Movin' On Up. DISCOGRAPHY: THE COMPLETE SINGLES COLLECTION from The Pet Shop Boys contains every single that has been released, plus two new ones: DI Culture and War Is Worth It. Machines of Loving Grace self-titled debut is a jazzy industrial-type dance album. Rise of Shiva is their current single, which is gaining airplay on WNR's Club Beat. The band from down under, Severed Heads scored new heights with CUSINE WITH PISCATORIAL — two albums in one! CUSINE is typical Severed Heads while PISCATORIAL is more experimental and completely instrumental.

A Split Second followed it's 1990 release, KISS OF FURY with FLESH & FIRE. 1991 REMIXES that includes remixed songs of their first album through their 1990 album. Talk Talk's first album in years was preceded by THE VERY BEST OF TALK TALK - NATURAL HISTORY and HISTORY REVISITED. THE REMIXES and is called LAUGHING STOCK.

By now, everyone has heard of Nirvana's Smell Like Teen Spirit. Their second album, which is currently number one on the college charts, NEVERMIND contains the single that is the new wave of alternative music.

Brainiac's CHORUS is somewhat promising with their current singles, Chorus and Love Is Hate. Wire (all pronounced the way it used to be — Wire) has THE FIRST LETTER. It's an excellent album with electronic, synth and drum machines afoot.

Red Hot Chili Peppers have gained much attention with BLOOD SUGAR SEX MAGIK and their single Give It Away.

Other new releases and recommendations include the bands: Curve, Blur, Nitzer Ebb, PINK, Candyland, Soft Cell, Marc Almond, M.C. 900 Ft. Jean (not with DJ Zero anymore), The Vines, Happy Mondays, New Fast Automatic, Buffalo, Doubling Tho- man (the Skynny Puppy instrumental project), Candyland, U2, The Warzone, The Shamen and Depeche Mode.

Yes, Depeche Mode has finally released a boxed set... or rather three boxed sets. For all you DM collectors they are a must have.

CD singles are aplenty with Book Of Love's Counting The Reverses (5 mixes) and Suave Dury (2 mixes) from their album released this past January, CANDY CARK. The Orb's new single, Little Fluffy Clouds is a slow, yet rhythmic song that gets the mind going off into the clouds... it's also available on their album THE ORB'S ADVENTURES BEYOND THE ULTRAWORLD.

Other new singles worth mentioning are, Feel Every Beat from Electronic, Goash from Mr. Teard by Miranda Sex.

Garden and a slew of others from the likes of Marc Almond, ABC, Industrial Arts, Fortran 5, Lords of Acid (an album is also out... it's about time!) and The Farm.

By far the most impressive single is Jesus Bait My Horned by the industrial monster Ministry. Guitarist ran rampant and heavy drumming is everywhere on this disc with the added TV Song as the b-side.

Typical AI (to avoid the possibility of manglepiling her name — i.e. Allen, Alan, et al.) fourgoers screaming vocals are everywhere. A humorous line in TV Song, "connect the goddamn dots" is yelled out a couple of times preceded by a ta-ta-ta-ta of drumsticks and then heavy guitar work. It is indeed a funny song. Jesus Bait My Horned is a good single (although lengthy) that isn't for the faint of heart.

Now don't quote me on this, but even heavy metal listeners may get a kick out of Ministry (starting with their 1988 album, THE LAND OF RAPE AND HONEY and moving to THE MIND IS A TERRIBLE THING TO TASTE). I really dislike heavy metal as much as you music, but Ministry (since they're not labeled as heavy metal) has a certain flair. They've changed tremendously using their 1983 album WITH SYMPATHY, which was a lot like Depeche Mode on enigma. Followed by TWITCH, their sound became more electronically industrial and dancy and then hard industrial with a bit of noise with THE LAND OF RAPE AND HONEY. This single is much more abrasive than anything else put out by the band.

A new album, which presumably will include Jesus Bait My Horned, is due out in January.

This year has been a relatively good year (better than 1990) as far as releases are concerned. This holiday season should be no trouble in finding the perfect alternative music gift.

Nevermind, Nirvana's newest release, is a safe gift for the alternative music fans

AS A SPECIAL MARKETING TENT, A MAJOR TRAVEL IS OFFERING EVERYONE WHO CALLS WITHIN 72 HOURS OF THIS PUBLICATION DATE

• FREE • FREE • FREE •
A DREAM VACATION TO HAWAII

As a special marketing tent, we will send to each person a vacation certificate valid for a fabulous vacation to Honolulu, Hawaii. This certificate entitles the user to receive 8 days and 7 nights of lodging for two people and one free airline ticket (travelers, baggage handling, and all taxes. You need pay for only one airline ticket at the regular ocean price.

There is no other product to purchase and there is no charge for this special certificate offer. We will however limit the number of certificates to be issued in the market to those that call within 72 hours of the publication of this ad. The reason for this special offer is that we wish to test the drawing power of the type of advertising and inform you of our special travel programs.

Call Now!
(510) 820-3733
10:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.

PACK 'N' MAIL

Huntington Plaza • 1566 W. Algonquin Rd.
Hoffman Estates, IL 60195

50¢ OFF

on UPS Shipping
EXPIRES 1/31/92

Packaging • Gift Wrapping • U.P.S. • FAX
Mail Box Rental • Federal Express, DHL • U.S. Mail
Lamination • Copying & More
(708) 934-6700 FAX (708) 934-6719

Northwestern Business College, for a lifetime of success.

Northwestern Business College offers an education that will increase your options and help you succeed in the business world of today and tomorrow. Northwestern Business College is a place where each student can make a difference. With a strong curriculum and one-on-one teaching, we encourage students to think, communicate and grow. Perhaps most important, you will be part of a community that has made a serious commitment to your hopes and your achievements.

NORTHWESTERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

For a lifetime of Success

If you would like to experience Northwestern Business College for yourself call for an appointment. Call us at either our city campus at 312-777-4220 or our Suburban Palos Hills campus at 708-430-0990.

Northwestern Business College -
Chicago's First Private Business College.
Established in 1902.

4820 North Lupton Avenue
Chicago, IL 60630
312-777-4220

58350 Roberts Road
Palos Hills, IL 60465
708-430-0990

Poetry Corner

a haiku entitled Spam

by George "Red" Killian
Spam Spam Spam Spam Spam
Spam Spam Spam Spam Spam
Spam Spam Spam Spam Spam

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results
• Test results while you wait
• All services confidential
• Convenient appointments
• 24 hour hotline
• Convenient Woodfield location

City Pregnancy Center

708-885-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

A message to Rush: Better luck next time!

Andy LAMAR
Horbanger A&E Editor

Could it be? Is it true? Has Rush finally produced a good album? One worthy of comparison with CARESS OF STEEL or 2112? No, that will probably never happen, but this one isn't as bad for the time being.

While ROLL THE BONES Rush has broken from the synth heavy side-track that brought some of the previous albums (ERASE, UNDER PRESSURE and POWER WINDOWS) far from their roots, their track is no quite complete.

Since the release of A WING OF HANDS, Rush has been attempting to move to a more hard rock sound. While their PRESTO, last album, failed in the charge of director ROLL THE BONES is distinctly a heavier album.

Unfortunately, they are letting their maturity get in the way of real rock music, and like the other members of the progressive-rock Gernid gang, Yes and Genesis.

As musicians age and mellow, so does the music; their hands produce. Maturity is not necessarily bad though, only when it detracts from the enjoyment of the music does it hurt. Mellowing maturity, like spontaneity, has its time and place anywhere but in rock music.

There are some good songs on the album though. The upper tempo ballad Bravado and Ghost of a Chance with its rich harmonies and lush choruses stick out from the rest. Both are apt candidates when choosing songs for car tape.

Roll the Bones, the title track, is an example of a song that attempts to deny the age of the band members. It has a groove that sits back through the verses and shifts to an up tempo rock beat for the choruses. Sneaking into a part of the tune, like many songs written lately, is a section where the lyrics are done in rap (by an uncredited rapper).

The lyrics of the album, as with the song Roll the Bones focus primarily on chance, fate and choices. All the verse was written by Neil Peart in his polished and metaphoric way and sung by Geddy Lee in a pitch that is uncharacteristically low. Peart's voice is going like that of Robert Plant, the original king of upwards rattling shrieks.

One song this does is hold any truth for it Where's My Thing, an instrumental. In this track maturity rears its aged head, it's not a flash job of instrumental who but a varied song with leads for the benefit of the tune and not the ego of the performers.

Submitted the "Gangster of Blues: Tricky Part IV, Where's My Thing" may be another attempt by Rush to prove the world that they have a sense of humor.

Unconsciously for amusement purposes it may signal future installments of the tune: The Fear prison (which was actually in three parts) started like Gangster, with the release the last part followed by the earlier installments.

Where's My Thing is also the weakest song of the album. It contains too few musical ideas for an instrumental and those present are repeated with foreboding abandon by Rush as if to kill time...to kill time...to kill space.

Although it's dangerous to predict the future, the latest albums by Rush and Metallica have taken the stripped down approach musically in comparison with their previous releases. They are using less musical ideas to build a song with and arranging the instruments more sparsely. Given the popularity and influence both bands have in the musical community (the latter may pick up on the 'minimalist' approach).

With this release Rush isn't going to score a big hit. It's another album best oriented to Rush fans with a passion for their newer material.

This record got two and a half stars. Two for the good songs and half a star as a reward for their music back to the style of music that made Rush so great.

Music Review

Rating: ★★ 1/2 out of five

THINKING OF COMPLETING A 4-YEAR DEGREE?

Take a look at

BARAT COLLEGE

in Lake Forest, Illinois

A coeducational liberal arts private college for resident and commuter students.

- 24 majors in 13 departments including: Education/Psychology, Management/Business, Performing Arts, and Studio Arts
- Day and Evening classes
- Child care services
- Part-time or full-time status

Join Barat's many students who have completed Associate degrees at community colleges.

For more information call Admissions Office
(708) 234-3000

The Women's Center

Confidential, Affordable
Health Care Services

- Birth Control Methods
- STD Testing & Treatment
- HIV Testing
- First Trimester Abortion
- Counseling

Female Practitioners
Evening & Weekend Hours
Available

The Women's Center
811 Dundee Avenue
Elgin, IL 60120
708-697-2323

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Ding-a-ding dang my dang-a-long ling-long

Michael Cichy

Mantheus Unbound
The Dylans
THE DYLAN
Beggars Banquet

From Sheffield, England, the town that gave us Def Leppard, Human League and ABC, comes The Dylans. They, too, devote their music to being respectful to the town's music scene.

They are yet another Manchester-infused regressive band, along the line of the Charlatans. Yuck, says UK. They absorb a strong New Order influence, in fact the song "You Can't Be Down" (a Mary Queen in Blue sounds like a New Order song, says Bernard Sumner.

Most of songs on the album are unremarkable and have an annoyingly dominating psychodelic organ sound. The album starts out with what could pass for a Charlatans song, and only after listening carefully, I still couldn't tell the difference.

Most other the other songs are annoyingly happy songs with no kick. The only two songs really worth mentioning (other than the New Order copy which isn't that bad) are "Planet Love" and "Sad Rush On Sunday." While these songs are not great, they are definitely the highlight of the album (actually, did they really say much...).

This album has all the bad qualities of the Manchester scene, and is even more unoriginal than most. Also, one must doubt the quality of a band that would send out a photo of themselves that looked like the one they did (see for yourself).

RATING: ★ of Five (The good) songs don't make up for the bad ones.)

Curve
FROZEN
Anxious Records (IMPORT)

Curve has been having moderate success on the UK indie charts and the US import charts. The FROZEN is one of the better imports now available, and hopefully their lip will soon be available.

They sound can be best described as a combination of Nirvana and the Ramones mixed with The Jesus and Mary Chain, with some Jack Brown on. This, however, is still inaccurate, the best description would be they sound like Curve that that's redundant to make it fit.

There are four songs on the CD. "Clear, The Colour Harry" (yes, they call Harry, Froze and Joe) and "Froze" are his far the best songs, and the other songs are also decent. The only drawback is a lack of diversity in the songs, almost to the point that a solitary listener will not realize the song changed. Given that an import CD cost about twice dollars, I wouldn't recommend this to everyone, but it is good and deserves to be listened to.

RATING: ★★ of five

Ministry
JEM'S BLUE MY HOT RUB (Single)
SIRE

While Ministry (as most will wait) and I do mean wait for Ministry's album to be released, Jesus Bull My Hot Rub will certainly appease them. The CD single contains a version of Jesus as well as TV Song.

Jesus sounds more like a 1,000 Heavy DJs (another of Al Jourgensen's many groups) song than that normally put out under Ministry's name, but the song still counts.

Gibby Haynes does the vocal on the song, which features the line "ding-a-ding dang my dang-a-long ling-long." A fierce drum beat and intense guitar and bass lines, a believe it or not a guitar solo (of sorts). This song is a true fire-ice way to start a rush.

The CD features the Redlined Wheelbase Version and the Short, Piss, Villainous. So, they can't fit more. Comments on The Redline Edition of Jesus and TV Song, which I mention his presence known on Chris Combs, who is rumored to have parted with Ministry as well as with the Revolving Cocks (another Jourgensen project) also take part on this one.

When this photo came to The Harbinger's office Mike Cichy vowed that if it would only run if their album was bad. As punishment to The Dylans here it is.

RATING: ★★ of five

WRITER'S NOTE: I would have spelled Def Leppard as Deaf Leppard, but I have been told that certain people aren't clever enough to figure out that it would be intentional. Translation: To all of you who were upset by me spelling the Black Crowes as Black Crows in a previous article, it was INTENTIONAL, so stop complaining! Anyway, people who actually buy the music I write about probably don't own or listen to the Black Crowes...oops, here I go again.

European TanSpa

1020 S. Arlington Heights Rd.
Arlington Heights, IL 60005
1 Block South of Central
394-2440

$79 Unlimited Tan, 1 Month

20 Minute Session	30 Minute Session
(1) FOR $5.00	(1) FOR $7.00
(3) FOR $14.00	(3) FOR $18.00
(5) FOR $21.00	(5) FOR $25.00
(10) FOR $38.00	(10) FOR $48.00
(15) FOR $56.00	(15) FOR $68.00
(25) FOR $88.00	(25) FOR $102.00

Gift Certificates Available for Any Package with Student ID

LEGENDARY ROCK DRUMMER

BUDDY MILES

7:30 pm Tuesday, December 10 (Building I) Theatre

Tickets: Public $5
Harper students, faculty, staff and senior citizens $3

Legendary rock drummer Buddy Miles has been the best behind such rock greats as Jimi Hendrix, Carlos Santana, Eric Clapton, David Bowie, Walter Pickett, Sirr, Wonder and others. He was also the vocalist for the original Clio Award-winning "Dance in Raven" TV commercial (I heard it through the grapevine). For tickets and information call the Harper College Box Office at 708/391-3000, extension 254.

William Rainey Harper College
1101 West Harrison Road
Deerfield, Illinois 60015-1141

The battle for peace has begun.

STAR TREK
THE UNDISCOVERED COUNTRY

OPENING DECEMBER 8 AT THEATRES EVERYWHERE

FEATURES

Worldly experience adds to student government

Student Senate President Laralyn Davis attempts to enhance intercultural awareness

Ron Gosses
Horbinger Managing Editor
Eric Jason
Horbinger News Editor

Most students' idea of traveling is at best a spring break trip to Florida. But Student Senate President Laralyn Davis is not your average student.

The daughter of non-denominational missionaries, Davis has lived in 26 different locations from Texas to the Marshall Islands. Being missionaries, her family was often forced to move to places where their services as educators could have the greatest impact.

While the proposition of over two-dozen moves would not appeal to most, Davis, 19, finds it has many advantages.

"You get to see so many different places and meet a lot of people," Davis explained. "It gives a different perspective towards life in general. The experience of living with other cultures is invaluable." Even though traveling can have advantages, there are drawbacks as well.

"You don't form the close attachments for life that you otherwise would," Davis said. "But there are a few people I do keep in contact with."

Living in 26 different locations has been an invaluable experience for Laralyn Davis.

Born in Florida, Davis made many of her moves in the first years of her life. When she was a year and a half old, her family moved to a Navaho reservation in Arizona. There she experienced the hardships of reservation life for four years.

"It's not a very comfortable environment," Davis reflects. "Everyone's murdered, you don't know your murdered friends."

her walking home and seeing black cats hanging from nooses."

After the difficult but lucrative years on the reservation, her and her family relocated several times before finally deciding to leave the continental United States in favor of the Marshall Islands. There, her parents found work teaching in the local school system. Even while contributing to her mother and father's work, she found it was still not enough. To remedy the lack of teachers, her father offered Davis, still out of high school at the time, a position teaching reading, writing and math through grades. She gladly accepted.

"They didn't have the kind of education to train the people that the United States does," Davis explained.

Even though most of the experiences at the islands were positive, there were also some dangerous moments. A dangerous man tried to kill her and her friend for apparently no reason. The man beat up her friend and then attempted to strangle Davis.

"I don't know if he thought I was someone else or if he was just crazy," Davis noted. "My parents came at just the right second."

Even with events like this, she still found her brief stay on the islands a pleasant one.

When she finally returned to the states, she went back to Texas, and then on to Illinois, where she currently resides.

"Since my parents were missionaries, things have happened to me that could never happen to anybody else," Davis said.

Her major here at Harper reflects the amount of traveling she has done: International Relations. Her first choice was International Business Administration, but when she found out that accounting was part of the curriculum, she decided a switch was in order.

Having been involved with a variety of people in her life, her position as president in the student senate was a logical step. Though many would assume that she is the stereotypical harcourtist, once you know her, you realize that this is far from the truth.

"I have never really thought of myself as being a politician," Davis clarified. "But I guess all politicians say that."

Another way her past has affected her outlook is on her proposal of several intercultural classes she would like to see at Harper. While she supports Harper's current intercultural program, she believes that the classes Russian and Intercultural Studies would enhance the world as awareness on campus.

Even with all the adventures she has participated in, she still remains eager to see more of our planet. After Harper, Davis hopes to pursue her degree at Georgetown and then return to the Marshall Islands and where ever else her whim may take her.

Taylor tells young actors how to get ahead

Avin Benbow
Chicago Press Service

Anthony Benbow is at Southern Illinois as they come on television, his quick, downy perfectly punctuated with a definite twang.

"Authentic," you bet. Designing Women's Moschak Taylor, sitting in an easy chair, talking off-camera, as he does, says with four beautiful bellies on the air.

As a native of the South—New Orleans—Taylor knows what it's like to go through life with a distinctive vocal characteristics. Although that didn't suit her career, early on it took as if something else might.

"They wouldn't let a black do a role because they said it didn't fit. Yet they let people with Southern accents read these English accent parts."

Moschak Taylor

The son of two professors, his mother in business and his father in academia, Taylor's education was. He grew up on the campus of Dillard University where his parents taught. After his family moved from New Orleans to Indianapolis, Taylor attended high school at an all-black school—nothing new for the early 1960's.

But, "I was getting involved in some Quaker camps during the summer," Taylor says. "Through that I decided I wanted a different experience in college. I thought that it would be good to go to a designated party. So in 1964, Taylor enrolled at Wilmington College, a Quaker affiliated school with less than 1,000 students.

With plans to pursue a career in acting, he switched his original major from prelaw to speech and drama. What he soon discovered in the school theater was that "I couldn't get anyone to work with me."

He also couldn't get parts in plays.

"It was [7], he says. "It was a little too much for me."

"We did Shakespeare, the classics," he says. "They wouldn't let a black do a role because they said it didn't fit. Yet they let people with with a smile. Because of his frustration, Taylor transferred to Florida A&M in Tallahassee after his freshman year. He graduated in 1969.

After working for a radio station in Indianapolis as a reporter immediately after graduation, Taylor went on to perform in several touring theater productions and earned small roles on some television shows—"M.A.S.H.," "The White Shadow" and "Barney Miller" to name a few.

His movie career that followed included roles in "Dansen—Onsen II," "Mannequin" and the sequel "Mannequin II: On the Move," in which he played a flamboyant and outrageous window dresser. He is known here, however, for his current role in "Designing Women."

Because of his own difficulties breaking into the business as a minority, Taylor offers advice to other minority students studying acting.

"This is a very difficult business for anyone to break into, but things are starting to change now (for minorities)," he says. "I think our salvation will be as producers of our own work."

He encourages students to learn more about the production end of the business and to "learn there are two (or three) ways to make a character be as perform as many characters as their white counterpart."

Rather than focusing on perfecting the characters that fit the black (Negro) or Asian stereotypes, Taylor advises that minorities "should be able to perform as many characters as their white counterpart."

A degree for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move. DeVry offers a degree in Business Administration for people on the move.

And now, Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture performed on the following instruments....

The Swingle Singers

A capella singing, scatting, bopping, and humming from a repertoire including Bach, Beatles, Mancini, Sondheim, Berlin, holiday music and more.

Friday, December 6 -- 8 PM

Schaumburg Prairie Center for the Arts

201 Schaumburg Ct., Schaumburg, IL

At the intersection of Schaumburg Rd. and Summit Rd.

1/4 mile east of Roselle Rd.

For tickets call weekdays 10AM-2PM
at (708) 894-3600

GRABBE CENTER FOR THE ARTS
Celebrating
5 Years

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

THE PERFECT PAGE
WP 5/5
Term papers, resumes,
letter printing & more!
Call Janet @ 540-1443
Low rates.

Summer Marketing/Management
positions available
Earn $4,700 and gain great business
experience.
Call Triple "A" Student
Permits today at 1800-869-9348
Territories are filling fast!

Meet The Earth
Teach Others
Earn $100-2000
per month.
For interview
appointment call Jo at 956-9848

Spring Break:
Cancun, Bahamas from $299.00 includes
roundtrip air, 7 nights
hotel, parties, free
admission, hotel taxes
and more! Organize a small group. Earn free trip. 1-800-BEACH-IT

Telemarketer
Evenings or days - start at $6.00 an hour. Inquire
at 708-262-0130
ext. 317 Ask for Phil

Help Wanted

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS
to students or student organizations
promoting our Spring
Break Packages.
Good Pay & Fun. Call
CMI 1-800-423-5264

COLLECTIONS
Telephone collection
work, part time, days
flexible hours. Call Joe Fincher after 11 am for an interview.
LAMAR AGENCY INC
884-4700

Need Money For College?
Scholarships, Grants
and Financial Aid are available to everyone.
All students qualify.
Guaranteed. Call or write for details.
Education For Everyone
5291 Meyer Dr.
Lisle, IL 60532
708-884-2388

FREE TRAVEL, CASH, AND EXCELLENT BUSINESS EXPERIENCE!!
Openings available for individuals or student organizations to promote the country's most successful SPRING
BREAK tours. Call
Inter-Campus Programs
1-800-327-8013

Services

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing
Services: Term papers,
resumes, cover
letters, etc.
Low Rates! Laser Print
Call Lori @ 439-4812

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford.
Resumes, resumes cover
letters, anything you need
in print. FREE laser print.
FREE spot checks. FREE
COVER PAGE! Call Today!
Randy @ 708-595-4883

Health Restoration:
Restore your health with
the natural use of Aloe
Vera and Myscop Herbs.
Various medical services provided. HomeBaths INC.
BP checks, licensed and
certified professionals.
708-427-1929

The Search Is Over.
Who are many NFL
Athletes, MD's
business professionals
and body builders joining in recent numbers?
Fastest growing
nutrition and fitness
company will create more millionaires than
any company in history.
CALL NOW! 708-658-
5391

Services

Typing WP Service
Resumes, Term Papers,
Laser Print Quality.
Tina @ 708-991-3198

RESUMES TERM PAPERS
professionally written and typed on laser printer. Fast turn around. Call Colina
at (708) 934-7487

Legal Services
FREE consultation for all
your legal needs.
includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-
2808 evening and
weekend appointments
available. Law Offices of Barker & Barker, 2300
Barrington Road, Suite
400, Hoffman Estates,
IL 60135

For Sale

8 pc sectional couch
brown, twin beds, dining table. Price is negotiable. Call 537-3936 or 832-8328 and ask for Peter Holmes

GOOD LUCK ON FINALS

Roommates

Single Non-smoking female looking for same as roommates at the U.
Urbana. Champaign next fall 1992. Off campus apt would like to meet with you. Please call Jenn 259-8844 after
6:30 pm

Transferring to SIU
in spring.
92 female roommate needed to share 2 bedroom apt. Furnished, AC, extremely close to campus & bars. $190/mo or best offer. Call Wendy at 818-526-
4473 and leave a message

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals,
herbs, and amino acids
can help improve performance? TRY
FOCUS NO PILLS! (708)
658-5391

Fitness

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Breakthrough products used
by trainers, athletes,
doctors. Weight Loss
without drugs, denial, or deprivation from 5-100
lbs. Lean muscle gains
with proven effective
non-steroidal formula.
tion. 708-668-5391

Information

Standard Classified Rate and Information
Commercial classifieds
are $4.50 for the first two lines, $0.55 for each additional line.
Deadline is Friday at
noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepared by cash or check. The Harbinger
will not be responsible
for typographical errors
in ads taken by phone.
Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger in 4367. Call
(708) 397-3000, ext.
2480 or send fax with cover sheet to
(708) 397-5218

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE DAY CLASSES

Final Exam Period	Monday December 16	Tuesday December 17	Wednesday December 18	Thursday December 19	Friday December 20
8:00-9:45	All English 101 & 102 Classes	All Accounting Classes	All MTH 102 & 103 Classes	T-R 8:00-9:15	Faculty Grade Processing
9:55-11:40	M-W-F 9:00-9:50	9:25-10:40	M-W-F 9:00-9:50	T-R 12:15-1:30	Time and Specialty Arranged Exams
11:50-1:35	M-W-F 10:00-10:50	10:50-12:05	11:00-11:50	M-W 12:00-12:50
1:45-3:30	M-W-F 12:00-12:50	1:40-2:55	M-W 1:00-2:15	M-W-F 1:00-2:15
3:40-5:25	M-W 3:45-5:00	3:05-4:20	2:25-3:45	Exams

EVENING CLASSES

- Classes beginning at 4:45 pm or after will follow the evening class schedule.
- Evening Classes will use the week of December 16 for final exams, to be held during regular class periods.

SATURDAY AND WEEKEND COLLEGE CLASSES

Final exams for Saturday and "Weekend College" classes will be given the week of December 14 during regular class periods.

Put the SKIDS on WRINKLES and PREMATURE AGING!!!
REGAIN YOUR NATURAL YOUTHFUL BEAUTY with MICELLE Total Skin Care System. Joy Dwell (708) 844-1854
"Your Personal Youth Consultant"

ZAP THOSE ZITS!!
CLEAN UP YOUR ACT!!
OVERCOME ACNE PROBLEMS by using MICELLE'S MILD CONDITIONING FACIAL WASH and TWO-PART EARTH MASK. SAVE $7

Looking For College Money?

The DC'S Systems Computers will provide virtually any student with 6 to 25 sources of financial aid for the higher education he or she wants and needs.

All aid sources will be matched to the needs, interests, and requirements of the individual student.

For free and complete information, send name and address to:

DC'S Systems
P.O. Box 7472
Dept. H
Buffalo Grove, IL
60089

Have Us Prepare Your Graduate RESUME

Real Service Realists
-CONSULTANTS AVAILABLE-
Complete Professional Writing Services
During all your class days.
Call today and we will prepare your resume.
Personal Service at your door.
Call Today For An Appointment
And Our Special Student Rates

OFFICER PALATINE
1230 N. Northwest Highway
Palatine, IL 60067
708-834-1958

A Member of
K&N Business Group

#3 OFF ANY TREE

WIDE VARIETY OF LONG & SHORT NEEDLE FRESH-CUT TREES

- A NOT-PROFIT ORGANIZATION
- LIMIT ONE COUPON PER TREE

PALATINE JAYCEES 32ND ANNUAL CHRISTMAS TREE SALE

• COMMUNITY PARK PARKING LOT
• NOVEMBER 30 - DECEMBER 15
• 5:30 PM - 9:30 PM, WEEKDAYS
9 AM - 1 PM SAT. & SUN.

#3 OFF ANY TREE

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT FOR MORE INFO CONTACT PAL. JAYCEES 202-0051

#3 OFF ANY TREE

Community on warpath over indian mascots

One of the most popular topics of discussion in sports nowadays is that of whether or not teams should stop using Indians as mascots.

The discussion has been gaining momentum since some Native Americans took offense to the mascots.

hawk chop used by the Atlanta Braves fans. The cheer consists of two repeated karate chop motions and a war chant, which was originated by Florida State Seminoles fans years ago.

Using Indians as mascots started as and continues to be a sign of respect. The antics of Braves fans and Seminoles are not meant to be insulting; they're just ways of showing support for their respective teams.

With the number of Native

the Miami Indian tribe in an effort to continue to portray them in a dignified manner and to secure tribe members that their heritage will be represented properly. The tribe also provides input on the warbirds and dances of the school's mascot, Chief Mami.

And once again it is unwarranted. Some schools and teams have succumbed to the pressure. Stanford University, Dartmouth, and the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse are among the schools that have changed their names.

The College of William and Mary pondered a name change from the "Tribe" and the Chief of the Nanamond Indians told them to keep the symbol and name. Most recently, at Eastern Michigan University, the name was changed from the "Warriors" to the "Eagles".

After the school changed the name, the Huron Native American tribe members informed officials that they were upset about the changes made.

There are always going to be people who view things differently, but it is a real shame to change tradition, especially when that tradition is to honor someone.

Once all of these names have been taken away, animal rights groups are going to be next in line. They will want to change team names to vegetables.

The Chicago Blackhawks will become the Chicago Cucumbers and the Harper Hawks will become the Harper Hotdogs.

Mario Galenski

The Bottom Line

Americans decreasing, this is one way to help carry on the memory of "real" Americans.

Florida State University is one of more than two dozen colleges that have a team name derived from a Native American culture. The school's mascot is Chief Osceola, named after the tribes' 19th-century leader. The Chief wears war paint and occupies the sideline on home-back during games, sometimes with a burning spear.

One would think if anyone would be offended, it would be the Seminole Indian tribe. But they are not. Recently two spokesmen for the tribe said many tribal members aren't offended by the fans' mist of the "semihawk chop" cheer.

The school keeps in touch with the tribe and works with them to ensure that nothing offensive is being done.

At other schools, Miami University of Ohio has the nickname of "Redskins." Since 1972, the University has rejected three treaties with

The fact that these schools and others keep in touch with representing tribes should be taught to show how important these symbols are to the teams. These nicknames were not chosen to mock Native Americans in any way and many tribes of Indians realize that.

When one hears or thinks about the American Indian, many thoughts come to mind such as pride and courage. These are the positive attributes that teams like to reflect and display. As far as professional sports is concerned, there are ways these teams could carry on the symbolism of the Indians and help Indian causes financially, like the Kansas City Chiefs are doing.

The Chiefs are marketing a poster of their defensive line in war paint and American Indian regalia. A member of the Winnebago nation helped paint the players' faces so they would be authentically represented. Money raised by the sales of the poster will go to the Heart of America Indian Center in Kansas City.

Like other sports teams, the Chiefs have come under fire by some Indian groups because of the poster.

SANDINE AUTOMOTIVE, INC

3321 ALGONQUIN ROAD
ROLLING MEADOWS, IL 60008
MOBIL STATION ACROSS THE STREET FROM THE HOLIDAY INN

We want you!

15% OFF FOR ALL HARPER
FACULTY, STUDENTS, AND STAFF

PLEASE SHOW YOUR I.D. CARD
GENERAL AUTO REPAIRS EXPERT TOWING ALL WORK GUARANTEED
WE USE MOBIL PRODUCTS AC DELCO CHAMPION
BENDIX BRAKES MOTORCRAFT INTERSTATE

ERIC AND DICK SANDINE

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN.

© 1991 Vivarin Corporation. All rights reserved. Vivarin is a registered trademark of Vivarin Corporation.

HARBINGER SPORTS

12 December 5, 1991

SPORTS FINAL

Hawks pluck Eagles, earn second win

Harper wins second in three games with win over Judson

By Kurt Gessle
Harpinger Managing Editor

Even with the Hawks and Judson Eagles JV squad combining for 17 foul, the outcome of last Tuesday's basketball game was still far a 81-73 Harper win.

Not only was this just the Hawks' second win of the young season to move them to 2-3, but this was perhaps the Hawks' best defensive performance.

"The defense is what wins big games," said Head Coach Ron Creger. "We were consistent, holding them to 35 in the first half and 38 in the second. Our bench also contributed."

Against the Eagles, the bench not only contributed, but it was the spark of the win. After Mike Cermak arrived late for the team shoot-around, Creger decided to give the start to Mike Canaselli over him at the center position. This only delayed the damage he was to inflict on the Eagles.

"The coach was concentrating on our rebounding," Cermak said. "When we were able to box out (Judson), that really helped me. If we can box out, we can own the inside."

Cermak's inspired play off the bench netted him a team-high 19 points and 12 rebounds along with 4 steals. Another big defensive player was guard Tony Furman. Along with scoring 10 points and handing out five assists, the last of his 5 steals was the play that put the game away for the Hawks.

"Our defense relies on initial ball pressure before you enter the front court," Creger said. "Tony provides that for us."

Even with the final score implying a easy victory for Harper, the game was hard fought throughout. A Mike Young three pointer put the Hawks up 26-15 with 8:57 left in the first, but this lead was narrowed to 40-35 Hawks' favor at the half.

The outlook worsened still when, after the intermission, John Hamann buried a shot from three-point range that tied the game at 58

Milwaukee Area Technical College out-puzzled the Hawks to capture the Harper Thanksgiving Tourney.

all Hamann led all scorers with 22 points, including sinking 4-7 three-pointers. Two free throws by Judson center Andy Carberry (6 points and 6 rebounds) gave the Eagles a narrow 64-58 lead; the last one they would have.

Following a Steve Driscoll (13 points and 5 rebounds) layup, point guard Greg Dye forced a turnover and passed ahead to Furman, who gave the Hawks a 67-64 lead with his uncontested shot.

With their tentative lead lost, the Eagles sewed this game was slipping away.

With only six minutes left to play, Furman, Cermak and Ashraf Darwish (16 points and 8 rebounds) counted the Hawks' second win with their consistent play.

Harper's next contest is this Thursday at Truman College in Chicago at 5:30 p.m.

Mark Pauer

Championship eludes women's b-ball team

The Harper women's basketball team fell short in their quest to capture the Thanksgiving Tournament.

After defeating Waukegan 65-54, the Hawks (1-4) fell to the College of Lake County (CLC) 57-45 in the championship game.

Amy Longmore led all scorers 17 points while Julie Craven finished with 8 and Deanna Lombardo chipped in with 4.

The Hawks next match is Tuesday, away against CLC.

Gym Shorts

Athletes honored

Former NFL running back Tim Lincecum and golf pro Jim Kamm were the keynote speakers at a banquet held to honor the fall athletes. Each of the four fall teams choose an player to pay tribute to as the Most Valuable Player of their respective sport.

Freshman running back Derrick Harris, who set the all-time freshman rushing record with 1,331, was named to represent the football squad and both Kelly's 8-3 singles men tied to her MVP accolades. For women's volleyball, ball, All-American candidate Amy Longmore earned MVP recognition and Marc Ishibashi was the MVP of the golf team.

Divers wanted

The Harper swim team is looking for divers to participate in the upcoming 1991-92 season. Anyone interested in the one or three meter events should come to the pool in Building M Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 2 and 4 p.m. For further information contact Donna O'Brien at extension 2422.

Intramural B-Ball

This year the Intramural Basketball Program will combine teams with the community recreation program to form an adult basketball league. Games will be scheduled during the community recreation times at 7 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

The starting date for the league is the last week of January. Students, faculty or staff interested should contact Jim Ryan, director of intramurals, at the Intramural Office in Building M. All applications should be accepted prior to the Christmas Holidays to insure a quick start second semester.

Wrestling begins

Practice has already begun for the upcoming wrestling season. Their first match will be away against North Central in Naperville on January 8. For additional information contact Norm Lovelace in the Physical Education and Recreation office.

Phil Morris

THE HARBINGER

December 12, 1991

Advertising Manager: Kathleen O'Brien

Advertising Editor: Kathleen O'Brien

Harbinger editorial staff quits

Dan But
Harbinger Staff Writer

Six editors of this semester's Harbinger staff quit their jobs as student editors of the publication Friday after the new Editor in Chief, Roger Mantel, was appointed.

"We did not quit because Roger was elected editor in chief," Kurt Gessler, former Harbinger managing editor and sports editor, said.

Others who quit the editorial staff are Mike Cichy, former layout editor; Mario Galinski, former editor in chief and features editor for the Dec. 5 issue; Eric Jaxon, former news editor; Andy Leman, former arts and entertainment editor; and Phil Mapes, former photo editor.

"I feel I've watched the freedom the students had over this paper disappear," Gessler said. "The paper was far too much under the control of the administration and the advisor," Gessler said. When asked why he quit, Gessler said the editors were led to and abused, and it was hardly worth the work.

Gessler was asked how the editors were led to and abused. "Many writers were abused in the advisor's 'redline,'" he said. Gessler also said he was not personally led to, but said the former editors were told the paper was in their control until the end of the semester.

Suzanne Havlic, associate professor, coordinator of the journalism program and Harbinger advisor, said, "I would hardly say they were abused. I think anyone reading my redline would hardly call it harshly critical. I did it with humor and good will. It's my job as advisor to critique the paper."

"I did encourage and invite them to say, 'I didn't want them to leave, it was their choice,'" Havlic said.

"The premise was made that the paper was mine until the end of the semester," Gessler said. By hiring a new editor, Gessler believed the school went against its word.

Jeanne Parkman, director of student activities, said the Student Publications Board Committee met Thursday, Dec. 5, to interview three candidates. The committee named the replacement, whose appointment was effective immediately on Friday.

The editor-in-chief post was open because Galinski made himself ineligible for the position.

Havlic said, "Mario was not removed from the position. He removed himself."

Havlic said Galinski dropped to four credit hours.

The editor-in-chief job specifications say the applicant must "successfully pursue a minimum of six credit hours."

The final confirmation that Galinski would no longer be the top editor was made by the Student Publications Board Committee, Havlic said. "I really didn't have anything to do with it," she said.

Kate Gianaro, chairperson of the student publications board committee, was contacted, but had no comment.

When asked why he walked out, Cichy said, "Because of Jeanne Parkman and her charges of sexism; her attitude and stance was [sic] personally insulting. I can't work

"Mario was not removed from the position. He removed himself."

Suzanne Havlic

Continued on Page 3

Publications board names Mantel to editor spot

Joe Paine
Harbinger Managing Editor

Starting this final issue and Spring semester, the Harbinger has a new editor in chief.

Roger Mantel, a sophomore at the College, replaces Mario Galinski as editor in chief.

Galinski was removed from the position because he lacked the six credit hours needed to be editor in chief.

During routine academic status checks, the student publications board found Galinski was short by two credit hours.

Mantel has hopes for next semester.

"I believe this paper has the potential to become a winning paper," Mantel said.

"With the tools and resources available, we can put out a good paper."

Mantel said the entire staff needs to be focused on the same goal and same vision.

Harbinger Editor in Chief Roger Mantel

He also wants to work with other clubs on the campus so the goals are met.

Mantel's strongest belief is the freedom of the press.

"I strongly believe in freedom of the press, but along with that freedom comes the responsibility to hold the staff and to our readers," Mantel said.

Mantel's journalism class instructor Suzanne Havlic said, "His [Roger's] work shows promise. Roger works as a part-time reporter for the Daily Herald."

Havlic mentioned, Mantel worked as a jet mechanic for General Electric for five years; he wrote a newsletter for GE called the Jetstream.

He has five years' experience in the real world," Havlic said.

"The staff worked very hard this year to give the Harbinger readers campus news, and I look for the continued improvement of the paper."

"I believe with the staff that stayed, and the enthusiasm with the newsmen, we'll do a great job," Mantel said.

Heroic employees give CPR, save man's life in Building M locker room

On December 15, a 52-year-old male was rescued by Officer John C. Hefley of Public Safety and Building M Evening Recreation Supervisor A.J. Collier when the individual went into cardiac arrest in the men's locker room.

A report was made by Hefley at 9:14 p.m., requesting paramedics from the Harding Meadows Fire Department. It was determined that the victim went into cardiac arrest and stopped breathing.

Hefley and Collier administered CPR and restored the victim's breathing.

"They kept his condition stable until the paramedics arrived."

Kevin King

They kept his condition stabilized until paramedics arrived with advanced life support equipment.

The victim was taken to Northwestern Community Hospital and later transferred to Lutheran General Hospital. He is currently recovering in the Cardiac Care Unit.

Public Safety Supervisor Kevin King credited the two Harper employees with saving the life of the victim. He said he'll recommend Hefley and Collier receive commendations from the college board of trustees.

support." Speech Team Director Marcia Lorentz said.

The speech team will attend its next tournament on February 7 at Highland Community College in Freeport.

variety of events ranging from public speaking to oral interpretation.

The audience was comprised of parents and faculty who critiqued the performances.

"I thought it went very well and I was glad to see the personal

ALEXANDRA YOUNGMAN
Harbinger Staff Writer

The Harper College Speech Team held its first annual holiday open house this past Saturday.

Team members performed, a

Pre-pharmacy students qualify to transfer into new College of Pharmacy

Students of Harper College who satisfactorily complete the prescribed pre-pharmacy curriculum will meet all pre-pharmacy course requirements for admission to the Chicago College of Pharmacy.

CCP is the newest college within the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine, Downers Grove.

Information from CCP indicates that the nation has a current shortage of 15,000 pharmacists and by the year 2010, the shortage will exceed 30,000.

Trained pharmacists work in hospitals, pharmaceutical companies and for a variety of departments within the federal government.

CCP will enroll its first class for the bachelor of science in pharmacy degree in Fall 1992.

Harper students who wish to transfer to CCP will enroll in a pre-pharmacy curriculum leading to an A.S. degree.

Courses will include: English composition, speech, biology, zoology, chemistry, physics and calculus along with electives in the social sciences and humanities.

Dean of Enrollment Services Steve Catlin, commented "Harper College looks forward to a mutually rewarding ongoing relationship with the Chicago College of Pharmacy, which will offer the only bachelor of science degree in pharmacy in Illinois."

"We are happy to be able to offer our students the opportunity for access to this program."

For additional information, contact Harper's academic advising and counseling offices in D142 or E117.

The phone number is 397-3000, ext. 2393, or ext. 2522.

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Roger Mantel
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Joe Palmer
News Editor	open
Features Editor	open
A & E Editor	open
Sports Editor	open
Photo Editor	open
Copy Editor	Alba Chisholm and Linda De Luca
Layout Editor	open
Faculty Advisor	Suzanne Harris

♦ EDITORIAL ♦

Do I have the right?

Each citizen of the U.S. is granted certain unalienable rights in the first amendment of the Constitution, one of which is the freedom of the press. But with that freedom comes responsibility—a responsibility not only to staff members and fellow workers, but also a responsibility to the readers. The readers have thoughts, ideas and opinions of their own. Because they have a different opinion or have taken a different stand on an issue, does not give a writer, or anyone else, the right to insult someone by calling them names or making slanderous accusations about them. Not only is this rude and unprofessional. It is unethical.

It is possible to disagree with someone and still treat them with decency and respect. People are individuals and entitled to their own ideas and opinions, even if they are not the same as what we believe they should be. Treat people with respect and as equals, and they will do the same for you.

Roger Mantel

Roger Mantel,
Editor in Chief

Staff

Dan Bui, Linda Fernandez, Alexandra Yoshimatsu, Elizabeth Camps, Christopher Garcia, Karl Samper, Sana Hanks, Mark Wankler, special thanks to Jerald Greene and Rhia Downer

Letters To The Editor

Alumnus confused about Harbinger's professionalism

Dear Editor

I am a 10-year Harper alumnus who recently, while visiting the campus, picked up and read the December's edition. My initial impression of The Harbinger is one of praise. You have continued to place excellence and ethics behind your publication. It is evident by the broad array of columns of interest areas ranging from your student senate activities, Arts and Entertainment, Comics, Sports, and open commentary, for example.

As I read the "Letters To The Editor" section, however, I found myself saddened and disappointed. I was saddened because of the evident disagreement to my own analysis of The Harbinger, as expressed to some degree, by the commentary of the person unwilling to associate their name with their letter. I was even more disappointed with Tim McDonald's letter. For example, McDonald states in reference to a Suzanne Harris, whom I have never met: "She has the right to attack my work, but not me personally." McDonald's letter then draws an attack on Harris's perceived lack of sports knowledge only to follow with McDonald's comments, "I will put her to shame."

With this in mind, please say all McDonald's earlier words, "I may not have been professional." It is my wonder that The Harbinger is with a vacancy for the assumed position previously held by McDonald?

Michael E. O'Toole
Harper Alumnus

Let's give the Stop AIDS Program credit where credit is due

Dear Editor

I am writing in regard to the article written by Julie Carraro on the December 5 issue of The Harbinger. The title of her article was AIDS: Fact or Fiction. I was happy that someone on The Harbinger staff decided to write an article about AIDS. Carraro's statements were clear and well written as well as straight forward. Yet she failed to mention that there is an organization here on campus that is dedicated to dealing with the AIDS crisis. The organization's name is STOP AIDS HARPER. And from the looks of it not to many people now about this organization. STOP AIDS HARPER has been an eight student, five faculty member-run organization for two semesters. This organization has appeared at countless fund raisers, health fairs and concerts. The organization has even had a dance in its honor.

The organization was started in hopes that students would be interested in talking about safe sex, proper use of condoms and information on a disease that does not discriminate. With my experience in the STOP AIDS, I have handed out hundreds of condoms in promoting the organization as well as promoting safe sex. Yet no one seems to really care. Our organizational meetings are held on the third Wednesday of each month and yesterday was the last meeting of the semester. Next semester our organization will depend greatly on the help of students regarding the quilt display in the middle of March. Please discover a little bit more of Harper as well as learn more about protecting yourself for the future.

Elizabeth M. Campa
President, Stop AIDS Harper

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Outsiders laud 2-year schools

Harper College's educational leadership, excellent academic programs and articulation practices have been commended by leaders at Northern Illinois University and former students for enabling students to succeed in their education.

"Students transferring from community colleges as juniors and/or coming with associate degrees have the highest graduation rates," said John E. LaTouraine, president, Northern Illinois University, in a letter to Harper President Paul Thompson.

A strong relationship has developed between community colleges and four-year colleges.

Since 1974, more than 4,300 transfer students from Harper continued their studies at Northern Illinois University. David Lawrence, Gilman, a psychology major, recently was named a Board of Regents Scholar.

Editors quit
Continued from page 1

under meeting on Monday, Nov. 25, Pankann encouraged the staff to work toward affirmative action. Pankann said the doesn't think it is the same as charging the Harbinger staff with racism.

"I see Student Activities and the adviser have too much of an input on the student publication," Jason said.

"Why should I work for a student-run publication when the journalism program takes it over. There's a conflict of interest," Jason said, referring to the Harbinger adviser also being the head of the journalism program.

"It's almost amusing to say that there is a conflict of interest between journalism and newspaper," Hays responded.

Harbinger Executive Secretary Steve Hays said, "I cried when they left. I was going to quit. When I met Roger, I decided it was worth staying, because I liked his attitude."

"We'll be taking applications for the following editor positions: Arts and Entertainment, Features, Layout, News, Photo and Sports."

"At the beginning of next semester, they will be filled by qualified personnel."

"I need people who are good writers and have a willingness to learn," Mantel said.

He received a $500 stipend. Gilman, a graduate of Schenck High School, graduated from Harper in 1989 with an A.A. in Business.

When asked about his education at Harper, he commented, "Harper started me out on the right track and it was a four-year school. I never would have left."

"My preparation for Northern was excellent. I liked all my professors and appreciated the small classes at Harper."

"I especially recommend the tutoring center."

"I spent a lot of time there working on finite math and I know the tutors helped me attain my G.P.A. of 3.4."

Gilman received the Regents scholarship for his high grade point average and for demonstrating outstanding leadership.

The faculty and administrators at four-year colleges and universities continue to encourage students to complete their degrees, or at least 60 hours, at community colleges.

Legal secretarial program students Kelly Shirley and Sheila Glass were awarded scholarships by the First Chicago Bank of Mount Prospect Business and the Chicago Legal Secretaries Association.

Legal secretary students receive scholarships

ALEXANDRA YOUNGHANNEH
Harbinger Staff Writer

Kelly Shirley and Sheila Glass were awarded the First Chicago Bank of Mount Prospect Business and the Chicago Legal Secretaries Association scholarships.

Chicago Legal Secretaries Association scholarships.

Both students are enrolled in the legal secretarial program.

Glass is the winner of the First Chicago Bank of Mount Prospect Business Scholarship.

Candidates must be full-time sophomores and submit an essay stating professional and educational goals.

Shirley is the recipient of the Chicago Legal Secretaries Association Scholarship, given annually to a student in the Chicago area.

The awards went into effect this fall and will cover tuition costs. Glass ultimately wants to work as a bilingual para-legal.

"In the future, I want to associate myself with a Hispanic law firm," she said.

After graduation, Shirley hopes to work in criminal law in Chicago while attending a university.

NewsBriefs

COLLEGE NEWS UPDATE

Telephone registration for enrolled students will be December 16 through 19, January 6 through 9, and 13 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on December 20 and January 10 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. New students should contact student development at F132 or call ext. 2206.

Students may now earn an International Marketing Certificate through Harper's Weekend College. Six courses toward the requirements for the certificate will be offered in the spring semester. These courses can also be applied toward requirements for an Associate of Science Degree. More than 75 classes will be offered this spring as a part of weekend college including science, math, social science and career program courses. A list of courses and times is available by calling ext. 2363.

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN.

Alternative music lover's 10 top picks

Steve Hu
Hottinger Guest Writer

I've never claimed to have heard every album released in any given year. That's why this "best-of" list will seem painfully lacking to a number of readers.

Where's TROMPE LE MONDE by Pixies? Where's SUPERSTITION by Sioxsie and the Banshees? And, for crying out loud, where's the heck is NEVERMIND by Nirvana?

I wouldn't dream of putting these records on a list when I haven't heard enough of them (although I can't imagine Nirvana being anywhere but the bottom of any list).

So what is my list of the best alternative albums of 1991? Well, since "best-of" lists are a matter of opinion, and this time the opinion happens to be mine, this list pretty much mirrors my lists for the last three years, also printed in the Hottinger.

Going back to my past

Have You Prepared Your Graduate RESUME

North Star Bungee Jumping
1320 W. Barrington H. Hwy
Barrington, IL 60010
708 934-1555
A member of
PA (Professional Association) of Bungee Jumpers

NORTH STAR BUNGEE JUMPING

Bungee

150 Feet
$85.00 (CASH)
Two Jumps
and Personal Video Saturday, Dec. 14th
9:00 am
Must call for reservation

934-5000

Location: 210 W. Higgins
S. Barrington, IL 60010

HUGGIN' ON HIGGINS

Jumping

Harbinger articles, I see that my number one album choices read as follows: In 1981 I chose BLIND by the Icicle Works. Oh, yeah, so where are they now?

1989's top choice was easy—DISINTEGRATION by the Cure. Last year my top pick was CHEMICALS by That Petrol Emulsion, still a vastly underrated album and band. As for 1991, let's start with number 10, shall we?

10 Front 242
TYRANNY >FOR YOU<
Epic/Sony Records

A largely disappointing release from the Belgian techno-terrorists, Front 242, TYRANNY >FOR YOU< saw them move from the independent Wax Trax label to mega-giant Sony without it having much of an effect on the music. In fact, this album is their darkest and most brooding ever.

09 Coil
LOVE'S SECRET DREAMS
Wax Trax Records

And speaking of Wax Trax releases, the latest from Coil seems upon first listening to be a meandering collection of unusual instrumentals, with occasional vocals. It's only when you've heard the album a few times that you can start to pick out the themes that run from start to finish, and the album takes on a whole new life.

08 Nymox

PHOENIX
Wing/Mercury Records

I know I'll probably be the only critic in the world who puts this album on a "best" list. All I've ever heard is scathing condemnations from former fans of the band who were appalled at the band's change in direction. All they really need to do is give the album another chance and discover the true masterpieces found here, like Believe Me Sometimes and The Shore Down Under, while skipping the filler like Phoenix of My Heart.

07 Manufacture
VOICE OF WORLD CONTROL
Newnet/IRS Records

Another album that disappointed a lot of people but was really quite good was VOICE OF WORLD CONTROL, the second release from Manufacture. It has its own share of post tracks, but the techno-industrial sound gives decent treatment on songs like Mary Macbeth and Drug Squad.

06 Wit
THE FIRST LETTER
Mute/Elektra Records

Yeah, Robert Goudbell left the band Wit, and in order to prevent him from receiving residuals for future albums, the band dropped the "e" from their name. It's still Wit, and it deserves a look from those fans of the band who lost interest over the last few albums because it's really reminiscent of early Wit in many respects. Colin Newman doesn't sing enough, though.

05 This Mortal Coil
BLOOD
4AD Records (IMPORT ONLY)

Yeah, Robert Goudbell left the band Wit, and in order to prevent him from receiving residuals for future albums, the band dropped the "e" from their name. It's still Wit, and it deserves a look from those fans of the band who lost interest over the last few albums because it's really reminiscent of early Wit in many respects. Colin Newman doesn't sing enough, though.

02 The Legendary Pink Dots
THE MARIA DIMENSION
Play It Again Sam Records

Free Pregnancy Testing
Immediate Results
• Test results while you wait
• All services confidential
• Convenient appointments
• 24 hour hotline
• Convenient Woodfield location

Cris Pregnancy Center

708 985-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Third and final album from producer Ivo's pet project. This Mortal Coil is a slightly inferior but worthy successor to the brilliant HLIGREE and SHADOW albums of 1987. My biggest complaint is the fact that Dominic Appletton only sings on one track even if he is supplanted by vocalists like Caroline Crawley, Kim Deal and the breathtaking Dierdre Rutkowski. An exquisite yet often beautifully simple album.

04 Jesus Jones
DOUBT
SPK Records

I hate to say "I told you so," but I told you so. From one of my November 1990 Harbinger articles: "...alternative bands destined to shape music in the 90s: Nine Inch Nails, My Life With the Thrill Kill Kult, Young Gods, the whole AI [Jourgensen] conglomerate, and Jesus Jones." I didn't expect them to go top 40 with anything, let alone to number one, but their music is good enough that they deserve it, although it is a pity that Right Here, Right Now is probably the weakest song on the album.

03 The Wolfgang Press
QUEER
4AD Records (IMPORT ONLY)

Like Nymox, the Wolfgang Press is another 4AD band that alienated a great deal of people with a style change. It's too bad, because with the exception of one or two tracks, this album is excellent. It doesn't have the sinister undercurrent of their 1989 album BIRDWOOD CAGE. In fact, it seems as though the band decided instead to emphasize their unusual sense of humor.

02 The Legendary Pink Dots
THE MARIA DIMENSION
Play It Again Sam Records

Free Pregnancy Testing
Immediate Results
• Test results while you wait
• All services confidential
• Convenient appointments
• 24 hour hotline
• Convenient Woodfield location

05 This Mortal Coil
BLOOD
4AD Records (IMPORT ONLY)

06 Wit
THE FIRST LETTER
Mute/Elektra Records

08 Nymox

09 Coil
LOVE'S SECRET DREAMS
Wax Trax Records

10 Front 242
TYRANNY >FOR YOU<
Epic/Sony Records

USA/Caroline
A great deal more repetitious and chorus-ridden than other Pink Dots albums, THE MARIA DIMENSION is nonetheless a beautiful, frightening, and simply superb collection of brilliant stories read by master storyteller Edward Ka-Spel. The Legendary Pink Dots are not a band but a religion and Ka-Spel is the prophet.

01 Nitzer Ebb
EBBHEAD
Mute/Geffen Records

Nothing could have prepared me for the power and energy that these boys put into their latest album. Even though THAT TOTAL AGE is probably far more aggressive, the songs on EBBHEAD pour out overwhelming waves of raw emotion. I'm still amazed at how good this album is. Get it now.

Of course there are always others worth mentioning. The latest offering from My Bloody Valentine is said to be outstanding although I have yet to hear it. The Mute Records compilation TYRANNY OF THE BEAT is a well-thought-out collection of classics from bands like NPK, Throbbing Gristle, Cabaret Voltaire, Einstürzende Neubauten, Can, and Daube.

The new Peggyon album isn't too bad; I can't say I've heard enough of the latest release by the Shamen, and the same goes for the new Red Hot Chili Peppers. My vote for best gifts of the year are the recent Capitol Records boxed set of Cocoteau Twins CD singles and EPs and the wonderful Legendary Pink Dots re-releases.

It all comes down to the fact that 1991 was a relatively tame year for music. Next year we'll see albums from New Order, Ministry, the Cure, and more... maybe next year's list will be a bit more interesting.

PACK 'N' MAIL

Huntington Plaza • 1566 W. Algonquin Rd.
Hoffman Estates, IL 60195

50¢ OFF

on UPS Shipping
EXPIRES 1/31/92

Packaging • Gift Wrapping • U.P.S. • FAX
Mail Box Rental • Federal Express, DHL • U.S. Mail
Lamination • Copying & More
(708) 934-6700 FAX (708) 934-6719

LYDIA FERNANDEZ
Loringer Staff Writer

Yet society continues to portray these people as objects with some manifestation of a disabling condition. Rather, many people with disabilities have struggled to take an active role in society by overcoming their incapacities and achieved their goals.

People who are blind or have vision impairments use canes or seeing-eye dogs. But many other disabling conditions are invisible: hearing impairments, learning disabilities, heart or respiratory conditions.

Of the 2,700 students with health conditions enrolled at the college annually, 450 are identified

Harper's Center for Students with Disabilities serves students who have visual and hearing impairments, physical immobility and learning disabilities.

The center has 25 staff members who give academic support and guidance, and try to make the services of the college more accessible. This staff is comprised of instructional specialists, vocational transitional specialists, linguistic specialists, a supervisor of support services, a lead

"They make the choices," said Tom Thompson, coordinator of the center for students with disabilities.

During the 11 years Thompson has been at the college, he has tried to bring greater awareness to faculty and student body. In the faculty newsletter, "Bulletin Board" the "Dear Jake" column is written by the center's staff members.

One class, in English as a Second Language, designed for deaf students. ESL is taught by both Susan Cusack and Kim Gibson-Harmon, using a team-teaching method.

"It started as a pilot program in the fall semester of 1985, and it proved to be successful," Cusack said.

She teaches English. Harmon translates, by signing, the information Cunaik presents in the class.

"ASL (American Sign Language) is not signed English. It's a visual language. I explain in their own language, a showing concept, in contrasting two separate languages," Harmon said.

ASL is different from the written English, especially in word order. The language does not utilize the words "a" and "the." Even though it expresses the same meanings, it does so without the use of passive voice.

When students complete the third level of the program, they are placed in the last level combining other hearing foreign-language students.

"It is not remediation that these students need. They need instruction of the language itself. For example if you were learning French, you wouldn't start in remedial French where you would be expected to understand the language already," Cusack said.

For Harper student, Seth Rosenmertz, the English language was not a problem. As a child he learned the oral method, which utilizes speech. He also reads lips. It wasn't until attending high school that he decided he should learn to sign, because he wanted to socialize with other students who were also deaf. Signing was taught to him by his friends.

Rosenmertz also took the ESL program at Harper though he was comfortable with the language.

In January, Rosenmertz will attend the Culinary Institute of America in New York. One of his interests is French cuisine, and he said he would like to learn to speak French.

Blimpie
مطعم الوجبات السريعة في الشرق الأوسط وشمال أفريقيا
OFFERS GREAT SAVINGS FOR OPENERS

Discover the Comfortable Collection of

Ruffed Grouse

Featuring special opening prices on

- crisp oxford big shirts from Tommy Hilfiger
- pleated washed chinos from Woolrich
- popular sand blast work shirts
- jackets and coats perfect for fall's first frost

any Tommy Hilfiger cool and smart. Choose brighter stripes & patterns.

any Hulf Hewn hand knit sweater
Bulky cottons in any jacket. Select from Wewatch

Ruff Hewn
and Tommy Hilgert

any EZ chino shed-down trousers
leated and relaxed

Rollback T-shirt with every purchase
over $100

any active knit shirt, popover,
and new styles
in long sleeves.

744 EUCLID AVENUE • REGENCY PLAZA • EUCLID AT QUENTIN •
PALATINE • (708) 991-6559 • HOURS: MONDAY - FRIDAY 10:00 - 7:00
SATURDAY 9:00 - 5:00 • VISA • MASTERCARD • AMERICAN EXPRESS
OWNED AND OPERATED BY PHILIP'S MEN'S WEAR, BARRINGTON

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

Meet The Earth / Teach Others
Earn $100-2000 per month
For interview appointment call Jo at 938-0648

Telemarketer
Evenings or days / start at $6.00 an hour
Inquire at 708-303-9130 ext. 317 Ask for Phil

Spring Break
Cancun, Bahamas from $295.00 includes roundtrip air / 7 night hotel, parties, linen admission, hotel taxes and more! Organize a small group. Earn trip trip. 1-800-BEACH-IT

Blimpie Subs & Salads
NEW Schaumburg location hiring for all shifts/positions. Moms and teens A OK. Cool place to work. Prior lead service helpful. Motivation & spirit. Please call 708-612-5978 for info or apply at 816 W. Golf. Schaumburg

Summer Marketing Management
positions available. Earn $4,700 and gain great business experience.
Call Triple "A" Student Publishers today at 1-800-869-9346. Territories are filling fast!

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY FOCUS NO PILLS! (708) 658-5391

Finance

Tired of Computer Programming, Accounting?
Spring Semester Investment Management / Financial Planning
BFC 200/MGT 170
Mondays 6:30-9:15
No Prerequisite

Clubs

Environmental Club isn't DEAD!
Call 259-1520 for get together over Christmas

Fitness

The Search is Over
Why are so many NFL Athletes MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history.
CALL NOW! 708-658-6391

Services

Need Money For College?
Scholarships, Grants and Financial Aid are available to everyone. All students qualify. Guaranteed. Call or write for details.
Education For Everyone
$291 Meyer Dr.
Lisle, IL 60532
708-964-2369

Health Restoration
Restore your health with the natural use of Aloe Vera and Hypocistis Herbs. Various medical services provided. HomeBath/INC BP checks, Licensed and certified professionals.
708-427-1988

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford. Reports, resumes, cover letters anything you need in print. FREE user print. FREE spell checks, FREE COVER PAGE! Call Today! Randy @ 708-580-4883

Services

Typing WP Service
Resumes Term Papers
Lower Print Quality
Tina (708) 981-3198

WORDPRO, ETC
Word Processing Services
Term papers, resumes, cover letters, etc.
Low Rates! Low Print!
Call Lori 436-4812

RESUMES TERM PAPERS
professionally written and typed on laser printer. Fast turn around. Call Celina at (708) 934-7487

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2868. evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker 2300 Barrington Road Suite 400 Hoffman Estates, IL 60135

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP SVS.
Term papers, resumes, laser printing & more!
Call Janet @ 540-1443
Low rates

Roommates

Single Non-smoking female looking for roommates at the U of Urbana. Champaign just fall - 1992. Office campus apt would like to meet with you. Please call Jenn 259-8644 after 6:30 pm

Transferring to SIU
In spring '92 female roommate needed to share 2 bedroom apt. Furnished AC extremely close to campus & bars. $150/mo or best offer. Call Wendy at 618-529-4473 and leave a message

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Breakthrough products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight loss without drugs, denial, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formulation.
708-658-5391

For Sale

8 pc. sectional couch brown, tufted, dining table. Price is negotiable. Call 537-3838 or 632-8326 and ask for Peter Holmes

For Rent

Room For Rent
in 4 Bedroom Home in Barrington. Share with Low Graduate. Studying for Bar. $380 / month. Call Dan 830-1459

STUDY HARD!!

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE DAY CLASSES

Final Exam Period	Monday December 16	Tuesday December 17	Wednesday December 18	Thursday December 19	Friday December 20
8:00-9:45	All English 101 & 102 Classes	All Accounting & 103 Classes	All MTH 102 & 103 Classes	T-R	Faculty Grade
9:55-11:40	M-W-F	T-R	M-W-F	T-R	Processing Time and Specialty Arranged Exams
11:50-1:35	9:00-9:50	9:25-10:40	8:00-8:50	8:00-9:15
1:45-3:30	M-W-F	T-R	M-W-F	Specialty Arranged Exams
3:40-5:25	10:00-10:50	10:50-12:05	11:00-11:50	12:15-1:30
	M-W-F	T-R	M-W	Arranged Exams
	12:00-12:50	1:40-2:55	1:40-2:15	Exams
	M-W	T-R	M-W-F
	3:45-5:00	3:05-4:20

EVENING CLASSES
1. Classes beginning at 4:45 pm or after will follow the evening class schedule.
2. Evening Classes will use the week of December 16 for final exams, to be held during regular class periods.

SATURDAY AND "WEEKEND COLLEGE" CLASSES

Final exams for Saturday and "Weekend College" classes will be given the week of December 14 during regular class periods.

KING & QUEEN TANNING

208 So. Roselle Road
Schaumburg
(NEXT TO WOMEN'S WOMEN'S WORLD)
307-8055
WALK-INS WELCOME

INVITES ALL HARPER STUDENTS

STUDENT HOLIDAY TANNING PASS

Student Holiday Tanning $4
By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92

Student Holiday Tanning $4
By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92

Student Holiday Tanning $4
By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92

Student Holiday Tanning $4
By Appointment Only with Student I.D. expires 1-15-92

SANDINE AUTOMOTIVE, INC

3321 ALGONQUIN ROAD
ROLLING MEADOWS, IL 60008
MOBIL STATION ACROSS THE STREET FROM THE HOLIDAY INN

We want you!

15% OFF FOR ALL HARPER FACULTY, STUDENTS, AND STAFF

PLEASE SHOW YOUR I.D. CARD
GENERAL AUTO REPAIRS EXPERT TOWING ALL WORK GUARANTEED
WE USE MOBIL PRODUCTS, AC DELCO CHAMPION, BENDIX BRAKES, MOTORCRAFT, INTERSTATE

ERIC AND DICK SANDINE

The Harbinger is looking for a few good men and women!

The Harbinger is accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists and editors. Apply in Room A36-7 or call Roger Mantel at 397-3000 ext 2461

Basketball team responds to challenge

The new coach has been around 13 years at Schaumburg High School, but he's still learning.

Ron Creger's initial college coaching experience has had a few bumps.

Harper lost six first four games and some of the games weren't close. It was time for a discussion.

"We had a long talk the other day," Creger said.

"I think I took some things for granted."

I thought because these kids were 18, 19 and 20 years old, they would know how to get ready for a game. No way. They still need discipline and direction."

Harper (2-6) responded to the challenge with a second place finish at the Harper Thanksgiving tourney and a win on Tuesday over Hudson's junior varsity.

The team is still not out of the woods as the 79-49 defeat at Waukegan Tech on Wednesday night proved.

"We are finding a whole new team here," Creger said. "Craig (Dye), Steve (Dissell) and Andre (Dawson) were spot people last year. And to say we have played some tough competition is an understatement."

Harper's early season schedule included games with highly ranked Kankakee, Waukegan and Oakton. Dawson, a sophomore, has emerged as a steady force for Creger's team.

The 6-6 junior graduate is averaging double figures in points and rebounds.

"He's played the way we thought he could play," Creger said. Another 6-8 player is beginning to get some notice. Freshman Mike Cismak (Schaumburg Christian) had 21 points and 16 rebounds in the win over Hudson on Tuesday.

Tony Ferman (Palatine) has impressed Creger with his defense. Harper returns to the court action on Thursday at Truman College.

Tate takes the 8

Randy Tate took the Fall 8-Ball Tournament from a determined Jim Tobak in a five-game final. With the match knifed at two games each, the fifth game produced a winner-take-all atmosphere.

Tobak was the first to clear the table, but could not get a clear shot at the eighth ball.

After a failed safe shot Tate put away the remaining three balls for the victory.

In the Quarter Finals, she held off the top eight players produced some interesting play. The tough lower bracket saw Tate hold off a skilled Darrel Scarff in the best of three games while Tim O'Doherty recorded a walk over Lee Sartin.

The upper bracket saw Tobak besting Karman Song 2-1. Nick Pense took the measure of Jason Murray 2-0 to move into the Final Four.

The semi-finals had two great matches. Tate trailed O'Doherty 2-1 in games in the best of five games, but rallied with great shooting to post a 3-2 victory.

Tobak posted an easier 3-1 victory over Pense to move into the Finals.

Second Semester Intramural Program

February Planned Events

Indoor Soccer

3 on 3 Basketball League

9-Ball Billiards Tournament

1 on 1 Basketball Tournament

Straight Pool 50 Ball Tournament

3 on 3 Volleyball Tournament

Wallyball Tournament

Sign Up sheets are located on the Intramural Bulletin near the women's dressing on the ground level. For further information contact Jim Ryan, Director of Intramurals, Ext. 2963.

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

NOW The Outlet Boutique OPEN

at Huntington Plaza

1580 W. Algonquin Rd.
Hoffman Estates, IL 60173

MEET CHICAGO BEARS

KEITH & JIM

VAN HORNE & THORNTON

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 15th

2:00 P.M. TO 5:00 P.M.

The Outlet Boutique

(708) 776-7600

Boutique Fashions • Outlet Prices!

THE HARBINGER

December 12, 1991

Is Ebenezer Scrooge alive and well right here?

Steve Marchion
Special Guest writer

"What ever happened to the spirit of Christmas?" I feel as though the true meaning of Christmas has been lost over the years due to greedy commercialism, anxiety, and too much stress.

"It is the season to be 'Scrooged.'" Walking through Woodfield Mall, I squeeze through the anxious shoppers on my way to Sears.

"Hey, watch it!" shouts a bitterly impatient man as he bumps me and hurries past to get to the store before it closes.

We stress ourselves out to the point where we have excruciating headaches and feel tired and miserable. Is this what Christmas is supposed to be about?

Christmas technically means mass of Christ in celebration of his birth. It is suggested that Christ was born in April or May, and that the Pagans decided to celebrate his birth on December 25 for their own reasons.

Christmas is much more than this, however.

Christmas is sharing out of the kindness of your heart. Sometimes it involves sacrificing to help those in need.

Christmas is not playing special extra effort to love those that we do not get along with. Simple gift giving is thoughtful, but spending a large amount of money on someone does not make you any more thoughtful.

Christmas is bringing family and friends closer together to reminisce and share and celebrate life.

Christmas is joyful music, shimmering lights, beautiful decorations, and television specials that warm the heart.

Christmas is not playing seasonal music and putting up decorations just to push the holiday and commercially promote.

Christmas is also being more careful not to take bitterness and stress out on others.

My parents are about the only people I know that have the true spirit of Christmas. I'm sure that others do exist, but they are few and far between.

I remember last year's mall excursions around this season. People just let stress, bitter feelings, and greed get the best of them. The competition for parking spots was similar to a group of children for a swing.

I felt sorry for the senior citizens that played Russian roulette with their lives as they crossed the icy parking lot threatened by those death machines we call automobiles.

Once inside the mall I felt like I was in an amusement park. Retailers used carolers and mobile figurines as gimmicks for business.

Money was on people's minds—whether it was making it or spending it. Is Christmas supposed to be about "money," the root of all evil?

This Christmas season (1991) is already on the wrong track. The season seems to be forced to start just a little earlier every year so that stores and businesses can fill their greedy little pockets.

A friend of mine has seen Santa Claus. Children have learned to spill every greedy want and need they can think of on Santa. Well, keep in mind, that if you mix up the letters in the word "Santa," it can also spell "SATAN."

People in general use Christmas to fall back on for the well being of the economy. Retailers bring in about half their profit during this season. Buying availability is greater due to credit.

People have more spending power and feel that they have more needs. There are more specialty stores with more interesting products than ever before.

Is this Christmas?

I feel that people who celebrate Christmas need to see that it is not only the celebration of the birth of Christ, but also a celebration of love, letting go of stressful anxieties, and not letting the power of money take over—whether it is spending it, or making it.

Have a Merry Christmas.

Work, love, family and friends highlight holidays

Mark J. Barati

Mark Barati is a full time student at Harper pursuing a degree in Business Law. Barati says he will be spending the winter break seeking employment with an electronics/appliance store such as Highland or Fretter. Barati wants to work full time to earn some extra money to prepare for returning to Harper in the spring.

Gagliardi and Quick

Caroline Gagliardi and Chuck Quick will be spending the winter break getting pre-engaged to be married. The couple will also be going to see Kenny Rogers in concert with their family's. Gagliardi is also scheduled to have end surgery during her vacation period. Good luck to the happy couple.

Michelle Wisniewski

Michelle Wisniewski will be spending winter break with her family and friends who will be having a Christmas Dinner Wisniewski's home on Christmas Eve. Christmas day the family and friends will meet at Wisniewski's Aunt's house for another full Christmas meal. She is also looking forward to a New Year's Eve party.

Edyta Michalska

Edyta Michalska will be spending the winter break with close friends because her family is living in Poland. She plans to work a little over the break to earn some extra money to pay for the local skiing she plans to do on the weekends. Michalska will also be helping with the open registration for the spring session here at Harper.

THE HARBINGER

William Rainey Harper College

January 23, 1992

Volume XXXI Number XXXI

Russian journalist stresses new responsibilities

Ross Maim
Harbinger Editor in Chief

A Russian journalist from Moscow visited Harper College on Friday January 18, and spoke to, among other groups in campus, a group of journalism students and faculty on the "Ethics of Soviet Journalism."

She looked the typical stereotype of a Russian woman, not too tall but a very sturdy build and the spoke broken English with a heavy accent. "I apologize for my broken English," Adel I. Baskina said.

"I only wish you to understand most of what I say."

Baskina, a graduate of Moscow University and a journalist for the Information Agency "News", was invited to tour the United States and speak at 16 Universities, including George Washington University in Washington D.C., Pace University in New York, Northwestern here in Illinois, and several others. Among topics she covered were ethics in Soviet journalism and American images/ reality.

As a Russian journalist, Baskina covers social problems, such as fam-

Russian Journalist Adel I. Baskina and Editor in Chief Roger Maim talk about the differences of Russian Journalism compared to Journalism in the United States ily, educational and women's problem's and issues.

"In January, 1991, I was selected to serve on the Soviet Delegation of Women. At that time we were called Soviet. I don't know what we are called now," Baskina laughed.

Baskina shared a story about where she was and what she was doing at the time of the military coup that took place August 19, 1991.

"I was running a little late, so I didn't listen to the radio on the way to work. I was supposed to meet my boss for a meeting at 9 a.m. and I was late," Baskina said.

"When I arrived, I saw tanks surrounding the building and I joined at one. I thought I am guilty. I am not so guilty to be punished like this."

She said that with the elimination of censorship came a new and unexpected responsibility for journalists.

They feel that they now have a new responsibility to the people of the Soviet Union. "We now have to be censors of ourselves," she said.

"What is freedom," Baskina said. "For 70 years we had censorship in Soviet Union newspapers. During these three days we understand what freedom means."

With the new-found freedom and responsibility, Baskina and her colleagues feel compelled more than ever to keep the trust and support of their readers through new ethical guidelines.

She said that reporters on her staff have their work edited and checked by one of a staff of nearly 60 people.

They are also required to get the signature of anyone they quote and obtain information from to verify accuracy.

Baskina also shared her concern about young new journalists coming on the scene and not having any regard for ethical standards.

"We now have many new newspapers with stupid nonsense being published," Baskina said.

The questions now are how much freedom will the Russian media really have before the issue of censorship re-appears and how will it be handled?

Slow progression of glaucoma may go undetected by victim

Health Services encourage eye exam

An estimated 3 million Americans have glaucoma, and half of them don't know it.

But a simple painless test can help people learn if they have this sight-threatening disease.

Glaucoma is caused by a buildup of fluid pressure inside the eye.

As a result of improper fluid drainage, nerve cells in the eye are damaged over time.

Acute glaucoma has these known physical effects on the eyes.

Dilation of branches of the anterior ciliary artery, may also show some conjunctival vessel dilatation. Vessels around the iris may become violet or rose colored.

Glaucoma victims don't realize that the condition progresses slowly while even though there are noticeable symptoms.

People don't realize they are gradually losing their vision, first around the sides and then more of their central vision.

In its later stages, glaucoma may leave victims with a field of vision that's like looking down a soda straw. It finally deteriorates into total blindness.

Because the eye's nerve tissue cannot heal itself, sight lost to glaucoma cannot be restored.

People who are higher than normal risk of glaucoma include the following: those who have glaucoma

Drawing of Ophthalmoscopy and slit lamp examination show cupping of the optic disk characteristic of chronic glaucoma in their families or who are over 40, are black or very near sighted, have diabetes, regularly take steroid medications or have had eye injuries or eye surgery.

Early detection and treatment provide the best defense.

Glaucoma tests can be done in the doctor's office.

Effective medical treatment can prevent vision loss.

Treatments include oral medications, eye drops, laser treatment or surgery.

People at increased risk should get thorough eye exams at least every two years.

Only regular eye exams can detect glaucoma.

Early detection and treatment provide the best defense

Next time I'll try early registration

Chaos and confusion are all a part of open registration.

Ross Maim
Harbinger Editor in Chief

Determined students not hampered by record cold.

Despite sub-zero temperatures and hazardous road conditions, a large number of students still made it for open registration last Wednesday and Thursday.

Even with temperatures dropping to 15 degrees below zero and wind chills below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, students and faculty crowded converted A Building to their schedules or to see if they might be added to an already overcrowded class.

The desperation was very visible.

Many were turned away in disappointment and could be heard mumbling as they began to scribble information into their note pads and headed back to the class schedules posted on the wall.

It made me glad I had registered early.

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Roger Mantel
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Joe Palmer
News Editor	Julie Carrozzini
A & E Editor	Laura Ashby
Photo Editor	Marty Mia
Copy Editor	Alisa Chisland and Linda De Luca
Faculty Advisor	Suzanne Havlic

EDITORIAL

Is Hollywood getting the message this time?

The motion picture industry was in a slump for most of the year 1991. The assumed big moneymakers such as Predator II, Hamlet, Backdraft, Highlander II, Terminator II, and several others were not so big at the box office.

One surprise, though, was the smash hit Home Alone. It was one of the top money-making movies of the year.

This movie offered no heinous murders, depraving white crime, senseless killings or anything.

No unbearably beautiful women who run off with handsome leading males. (Hollywood's latest obsession.)

No over-the-top, out-of-control violence.

The movie was a surprise, and it was a surprise for a reason. It was a movie that was needed in 1991.

Not until Christmas did we see a glimpse of hope for the future.

The release of two more family-oriented movies, Hook, and Beauty and the Beast, brought families out in record numbers over the holidays and filled theaters to capacity all over the country.

Again, these movies had no fantasy sex scenes, or nudity. No un-dead ghouls killing everybody for no apparent reason.

Just some good clean family entertainment everyone could enjoy.

And the families that rushed out to see these movies are sending a message to the Hollywood filmmakers. Open your eyes and look outside of your shell once in a while to see what the public really wants.

The attendance at these movies speaks for itself. Family values are still important to most people. If you portray them in your films, families will support them.

If you don't, you're on your own.

Roger Mantel

ROGER MANTEL
EDITOR IN CHIEF

Staff

Letters to The Editor

Heart attack victim praises Harper's life savers

Dear Editor:

On December 5, 1991, my three sons and I were playing racquetball at Building M. After racquetball about 9:15 p.m. in the locker room, I experienced a heart attack. I went into cardiac arrest and stopped breathing. Two employees of Harper College, Officer John C. Heffley and

A.J. Collier, administered CPR until the paramedics arrived. In effect they saved my life.

My doctors told me later that whoever did the CPR on me saved my life because of their quickness and awareness. I came out of this with no damage to the heart and am doing fine and recuperating rapidly. Soon I hope to be back at playing racquetball with my sons again.

I, my wife, five children and two grand-children want to say thank you to Officer Heffley and Collier for caring enough to save a life. We thank God that they were there.

Peter Ducato

Dear Harper Students:

The start of the spring semester has already proven to be hectic for my staff and me here at The Harbinger. We are busy, but enjoying everything that comes our way.

I would like to let you know that I am excited about the opportunity that I have to be the Editor in Chief of the school publication. To this student-run publication, your opinions and ideas are important to my staff and me.

We have an open-door policy at The Harbinger and invite you to stop in with any questions or comments you have regarding the paper. Our office hours are posted outside the door at the Harbinger office in building A, 367.

Also feel free to write a Letter to the Editor if something that is printed in the Harbinger catches your attention.

I would also like to invite any of you who may have an interest in writing for or working with the staff of The Harbinger to please come to see me or give me a call at ext. 2460.

I look forward to serving the student body of Harper College to the best of my ability and hope you will get involved with The Harbinger.

Ever Get A Pal Smashed?

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS DRIVE DRUNK

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, January 23, 1992 3

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Breathable products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight Loss without drugs, dieting, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formula. 708-658-5391

Services

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all legal needs, includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2606. Evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60115

Services

Need Money for College?
Scholarships, Grants, and Financial Aid are available to everyone. All students qualify. Guaranteed. Call or write for details. Education For Everyone, 5291 Mayfair Drive, Lisle, IL 60532 708-964-2369

Services

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Finder, M. Knappell-Dapt, HC, 5 Elm Creek Dr. #305, Elmhurst, IL 60126

Services

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford. Reports, resumes, cover letters. Anything you need in print. FREE laser print. FREE spell checks. FREE COVER PAGE! Call Today! Ready @ 708-595-4883

Fitness

Wanted Immediately
One Student Office Assistant and three student telemarketers. Part time in Arlington Heights Area. 10-20 hrs. hours a week. organized, self starters, great hourly pay & bonuses. Call Bill 818-8617.

Nutrition For The Brain

Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY FOCUS. NO PILLS! (708) 658-5391

THE PERFECT PAGE

WP 8.5
Term papers, resumes, laser printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1463. Low rates

HEART DISEASE

where Making a Difference

American Heart Association

NEED SOME TIME TO UNWIND???

We've got pool tables, Arcade games, TV, Dances, FREE videos, and more!
Student Activities 3rd Floor, Building A

FREE SPRING BREAK VACATION

Organize a group and earn commissions! Free vacation. Call 800-825-8000

Wanted

Young people with computer skills. Call 708-595-4883

Fitness

The Search is Over.
Why are so many NFL Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW! 708-658-5391

The Harbinger is looking for a few good men and women! Earn Money while you're at Harper by selling ad space for The Harbinger. You can earn extra spending money with only working a few hours a week. Stop in A367 and talk to Gary or call us at 397-3000, ext. 2460. Also, The Harbinger is accepting applications for staff writers, photographers, artists, cartoonists, columnists, and editors. Apply in Room A367 or call Roger at 397-3000, ext. 2461.

WELCOME BACK!

CONSIDER MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY

Bachelor of Science in Medical Technology

Requirements for entrance are two years of college with completion of a specific prehealth curriculum. The degree from Rush is a generalist's degree and can be the basis for further study and specialization. A two year program.

Categorical Certification in Medical Technology

A new program for individuals with a baccalaureate degree in biology or chemistry who wish to become certified categorical technologists in hematology, clinical chemistry, immunology or microbiology. A nine month program.

Students get clinical experience with Practitioner Teachers on the campus of Rush Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center, one of the country's major health care, research, and teaching institutions. Students in Medical Technology get clinical experience in laboratories that comprise one of the major reference and research centers in the Midwest.

Classes begin September 14, 1992. For further information and an application packet, call 708-595-4883.

Emergency: 708-595-4883. Fax: 708-595-4883. Email: 708-595-4883

RUSH UNIVERSITY

Medical College College of Nursing College of Health Sciences School of Arts and Sciences

Northwestern Business College, for a lifetime of success.

Northwestern Business College offers an education that will increase your options and help you succeed in the business world of today and tomorrow. Northwestern Business College is a place where each student can make a difference. With a strong curriculum and one-on-one teaching, we encourage students to think, communicate and grow. Perhaps most important, you will be part of a community that has made a serious commitment to your hopes and your achievements.

NORTHWESTERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

For a lifetime of Success

If you would like to experience Northwestern Business College for yourself, call for an appointment. Call us at either our city campus at 312-777-4230 or our Suburban Palms Hills campus at 708-430-0990.

Northwestern Business College - Chicago's First Private Business College. Established in 1902.

4829 North LaSalle Avenue Chicago, IL 60640 312-777-4230

8050 Roberts Road Palms Hills, IL 60463 708-430-0990

C.B.A. 1992

A Drake Transfer Student Scholarship Will Pay Off Now... And Later.

APPLY NOW!

If you're an outstanding community college student who is considering Drake University, apply now for Drake's Presidential Community College Scholarship for transfer students. It could pay off now in a $4,500 scholarship, and your Drake degree will pay off later when you're ready to start your career! Applicants must be completing a two-year program at a community college, have a cumulative GPA of 3.25 or above, be a full-time student entering Drake University, and have demonstrated leadership potential.

Call the Office of Admission today at 515-271-3181 or 1-800-44-DRAKE for your application and more information.

Drake UNIVERSITY

2507 University Avenue Des Moines, Iowa 50311

PSI Club experiences U.N. workings in model setting

Jennifer Sharma
Guest Writer

The Harper Political Science Club attended the American Model United Nations of Chicago Nov. 21-24, 1991. Eight members of the club represented the Country of Mexico. The Mexican delegation stayed at the Congress Hotel where the conference was held. Schools representing 48 countries attended, doubling the size of the conference from last year. This simulation had six committees as well as the international court of justice. These are the same committees as the actual United Nations in New York. In addition, the AMUN had the international press delegation, which published daily newsletters.

Harper had delegates in all but two committees as well as two judges in the ICJ. Lisa Smith and Joe Garcia were delegates in the economic and social committee. They were pleased with how the four days of debate to finally resolutions went. Joanne Wheeler felt her committee, the special political, was the best. She was recognized by other delegates from other schools as "very entertaining." Adam Sericov in the first committee had an overall positive feeling about the simulation. Larina Buten and Belem Vilana in third committee had a wonderful time. Dean Sprake Jones and Jennifer Sharma felt the ICJ was the best simulation to be on at the AMUN. The court, consisting of 15 judges heard four controversial cases: Iraq v. U.S., U.K. v U.S., U.K. v Iraq, Jordan v Israel, and Saudi Arabia v Iraq. The judges debated on the cases and passed judgement by writing court opinions.

It took a long time to prepare, and we put a lot of effort, but the members feel that we got back as much as we put forth. The political science club plans to attend a similar conference this spring. We are always looking for interested students.

Program board gets outstanding award

The Harper College Program Board, the student and faculty group responsible for all social programs on campus, won the "Outstanding Program of the year 1991" award for the Chinese Youth Folk Sports Program.

The award was presented by the National Association of Campus Activities (NACA) at their Fall Indiana Conference.

Harper College competed with a field of approximately 50 community and four-year colleges.

The Chinese Youth Folk Sports Program was co-sponsored by the Program Board and the Chinese School of Palatine.

The event made over $1,400 for the American Red Cross for flood relief in eastern China.

CPR training saves a life

What may have seemed like a strange requirement for a football team may not seem so strange any longer to Rick Hegarty, a Harper sophomore student and member of the football team.

Coach John Ehsanik has his CPR to his football team each year. Hegarty is glad he was there when the coach gave the instructional class.

The day before Thanksgiving, Hegarty witnessed an auto accident on Route 12 while on his way to work.

"I looked into the car and I saw the woman driver was unconscious," Hegarty said. "She was pinned in the car. I saw the little kid who was on the passenger side. He was blue in the face. I pulled him out of the car. His heart was beating but he wasn't breathing."

Hegarty immediately put Ehsanik CPR training into action.

"I looked into his mouth and saw that fluorescent Extra gum," Hegarty continued. "I took out the gum, wiped away some blood, and gave him CPR for about three minutes. He coughed and then his eyes opened."

He wasn't in the best shape, but he was conscious."

You may never need to use the training, but Rick Hegarty will be the first to tell you, CPR saves lives.

Volunteers needed for Project Aids Quilt display

The Harper College Program Board will be hosting a display of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt Friday, March 14, from 12 to 8 p.m. and Saturday, March 15, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Building M.

Help and support are needed by individuals who wish to volunteer as greeters, monitors and relief workers.

Many people are needed and a special two-hour training session and kickoff reception are being held for volunteers Friday, Feb. 21, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. in J143. Contact Health Services, ext. 2288, or Student Activities, ext. 2242.

Free Pregnancy Testing Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris Pregnancy Center

708-855-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Metropolitan
Property and Casualty Insurance Company
and Affiliates

"Get Met. It Pays."

Insurance for your home, auto and boat.

Also,
Renters Insurance (Personal Belongings Insurance) for your apartment or condo.
Very competitive rates + coverages in the Harper Area.

Give me call for a quick competitive quote.

Joel Blanchette
Property and Casualty Specialist
(708) 303-0130 ext. 313

Finally, a business degree program that treats you like an adult.

Put your career on a faster track. Complete your Bachelors Degree in business management through the Adult Studies Program at Olivet Nazarene University.

Small, dynamic, study groups solve contemporary case studies. You'll learn from fully qualified faculty who put evening classes to work in business. In just 18 months of weekly classes you can have your Bachelors Degree.

Requirements include an associate degree or 60 semester credits.

Olivet Nazarene University
School of Graduate and Adult Studies
Preferred by Adults

Classes forming now for Chicago/Land sites.
Call
1-800-7-OLIVET

Kankakee (815) 624-6992
Education with a Christian Purpose

A degree for people on the move.

It's time to move on with your education. DeVry is the right move right now. Because DeVry's program is portable, you can take your education and your career with you. And you learn from instructors with real world experience.

DeVry programs are on the move. DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands.

A DeVry education prepares you for your choice of careers. You can get anywhere you want to go. DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands.

Managing today's technology based business. That's what DeVry is all about. DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands.

DeVry offers Bachelor's degree programs in electronics, computer science, and business. DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands.

DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands. DeVry's open book is open in your hands.

For more information, contact DeVry.

DeVry We're serious about success!

U.S. DeVry institutions are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Name _____ Age _____

Address _____ City _____ State _____ Zip _____ Phone _____

CHICAGO CAMPUS: 3308 N. Campbell • Chicago, IL 60641 (312) 928-6550

DUPAGE CAMPUS: 2800 E. Peoria Rd. • Lombard, IL 60148 (708) 953-2000

THE HARBINGER

January 30, 1992

Student Senate says no to homosexuals

Ronan Marm
Harbinger Editor in Chief

The Student Senate rejected the application of the Gay and Lesbian Club to become an official campus club at the senate meeting on Friday.

The four-to-three vote was taken after a long, and sometimes heated, debate over what would be in the best interest of Harper College. Matt Eisenman, Senator representing Life Sciences and Human Services, said this is the first time in the history of the College Student Senate has denied a club's petition to become an official campus club.

Eisenman said some of the senators felt that a club of this nature would not be in the best interest of the college, and would not be an appropriate representative of the campus.

"I voted that I think homosexuals should have a place on campus. I just don't think that they should be allowed to have a club promoting their sexual preferences," Eisenman said.

Eisenman also said he feels a vote of inevitability that the decision will be overturned in the appeal process. "In the long run the club will win out. But I didn't let that sway my decision."

Joel Novak, Vice President of Student Senate representing the TMPS division, agreed with Eisenman.

"I cannot support something that may promote things that may be unhealthy for people emotionally and physically."

Joel Novak

"I agreed with every point Matt made at the meeting. Allowing this club to be admitted would be like supporting a smokers' club, knowing the possible damage that could be done. I can't support something that may promote things that may be unhealthy for people emotionally and physically," Novak said.

Novak also said if the decision is overturned, it will point out how insignificant Student Senate really is on campus.

"We're like a high school senate with no power or authority," he said.

Novak said he was told by his peers that his vote would have no impact on the final outcome of the situation, but said he chose to stick with what he believes is the right decision.

According to Novak, the senators who voted not to admit the Gay and Lesbian club are not "psychobots" or "homophobes," and he said they do not hate gay people.

"We just don't agree with the lifestyle and the reputation that goes along with it."

Jeanne Pankam, student senate adviser, said that she also felt that the no votes were not a reflection of fears or a hatred for gay people. She said it just seemed like a concern for the welfare and best interest of Harper College.

"I am confident that in the long run we will see the club get the recognition it deserves," Pankam said. "Harper is just a little more conservative than other schools."

Pankam said the club met all the requirements for senate recognition of a student club. She also said there is an appeal process that the club can make to the vice president of student affairs. The club has Club, said that he was appalled by the decision of the senators who voted no on the club's admission.

"The best reason that they could give me for their decisions were that they felt a deep in their hearts," Nehlsen said.

Nehlsen feels there were no viable reasons for the rejection of the club's senate recognition. He said one of the senators commented during the meeting about the possible problems and negative image the club may bring Harper if incidents should arise.

The club would not necessarily be positive or negative, according to Nehlsen.

"We would just be another special interest group on campus," he said.

Nehlsen said the club's lawyer looking into laws concerning the rights they may have.

He also said if the conflict is not resolved at the meeting with Henry, they are prepared to do what must be done for "justice to be served."

"We won't let this die," he said.

"We'll fight it all the way."

"We won't let this die. We'll fight it all the way."

Glen Nehlsen

began the appeal process.

The appeal has already been approved by the Vice President, Bonnie Henry, and will be addressed at the student government meeting on Feb. 7, Pankam said.

Glen Nehlsen, the founder and president of the Gay and Lesbian

More students does not mean less parking

Joe Pauer
Harbinger Managing Editor

Student enrollment is up, but parking is OK. Kevin King, public safety supervisor and Steven Catlin, dean of enrollment services, said.

The first week in the spring semester has shown an overall student enrollment increase of 7.1 percent from last Spring. For traffic purposes, however, Public Safety utilizes enrollment using a fall-to-spring comparison. King said those figures are not inflated yet.

King said there seem to be less students on campus this spring than fall.

According to Catlin, the daytime and evening schedules are full, while the 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. schedule could use some growth.

While there may be more students on campus this term, the parking

It's a long hike from the parking lot to a building.

situation has changed.

King said last semester, students would park in the grass surrounding the parking lots; this caused too much congestion for people trying to find a parking space.

"We haven't had that happen this semester," King said.

"This semester, there may not be parking where you want it to be,

but there are 12 parking lots on campus," King said.

Catlin agreed, saying there are enough parking spaces to handle the enrollment load. Harper students do agree there is enough parking space, but the distance from the lots to the campus buildings is too far.

"My observation concerning the campus and parking lots is that it's aesthetically pleasing," Patricia Fere, a full-time student, said.

"Concerning the location of parking lots and access to each building, I believe the distance could have been shortened and improved, especially for the handicapped," Fere said.

Another problem students face is the extreme cold winter temperatures as they walk across the lots.

Peter Grossman, a part-time student said, "When it 36 degrees below zero, I don't like walking the distance from an Building A parking lot to Building J."

A friend of mine said Harper College is a California campus in a windy city," Brenda Tolson, a full-time student, said.

INSIDE
COMEDY

U.S. vs Japan Conflict

INSIDE
FEATURES

Shelter from the cold

INSIDE
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Buddy Miles Rocks Harper

INSIDE
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Comics... Corner

INSIDE
BRIEF

Harper Happenings

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Roger Mantel
Business Manager	Garry A. Tuck
Managing Editor	Joe Palmer
A & E Editor	Leana Ashley
Photo Editor	Mary Ma
Copy Editor	Alisa Chisholm
Faculty Advisor	Suzanne Havlic

EDITORIAL

Space, the Final Frontier?

The Space Shuttle Discovery blasted off for another mission last week. And what great service are they doing for man-kind this time?

They are studying the effect of weightlessness on insects and small bugs. Billions of the tax payers dollars are being put into this and other space projects to study things that we could very easily study, control, and learn in other ways. Chambers have been constructed at NASA for that very purpose.

President Bush said in a press conference last week, he plans to put even more money into the space program.

Why?

Bush feels that it is important for the United States to be at the forefront of space exploration. He said we have to be "first" in order to be the best.

The best at what? Spending frivolously? Neglecting our own people?

We are sending men to play around in space while American workers are losing their jobs.

The unemployment rate is growing by leaps and bounds.

What do unemployed American workers have to do with the space program?

For starters, Japan does not have a billion-dollar space program. They are not wasting time, energy or money on tests and studies that are of little or no use.

They spend their money on improving production technology and quality of the products that they ship and sell to the U.S.

If the U.S. would invest money in their own work force instead of trying to be "first," our technology and quality would surpass that of any country in the world.

We have the ability and the resources. We even sometimes have the ambition. But the choice has to be made, and soon. Are we ready and willing to pay the price.

Roger Mantel
Roger Mantel
Editor in Chief

Staff

Jason Feinstein, Cass Perdue, Alessandra Tuck-Auerbach

COMMENTARY

Wake up America, Japan's here

Well, I just want to welcome all faithful and faithful readers. Yes, I am still around. I didn't get arrested at that anti-fur rally during winter break.

First, let me give a big congrats to the Washington Redskins. Hey, they are not the NY Giants. We all can't be perfect. OK, OK. What's the topic this week, you ask? Patience. I'm madder than David Duke with a steam-iron burn on his favorite skirt.

What's wrong you ask? It is those comments, so, make that back-slapping insults, those darn Japanese has made in recent weeks. It has me totally disgusted. Their attitudes and actions make me sick. To paraphrase, the Japanese said something to the effect that American workers are down-right lazy and their workmanship is shoddy. They rambled on so say they, the Japanese, need to help America work out her economic "problems."

If they really want to help, they can take all their "products" and get out.

They implied they were superior. I haven't heard so much BS since the Carter administration. However, I must applaud two warriors in the war of our economic independence.

First, the officials in Los Angeles County for their efforts. Last Wednesday officials in LA announced a $122 million contract with a Japanese firm. The firm was to build rail cars for the region's new mass transit system. Instead they chose to consider a higher offer by an American company to keep jobs locally. And they say La La Land is a selfish place.

I also heard of a business owner of tire store. I believe in Ohio, who has refused to work on any Japanese car, whether assembled in Japan or in the states. The businessman said

I would venture to guess for every one American dealership there are at least triple the amount of Japanese dealerships. The Japanese advertise freely in the United States, but the United States is not free to advertise in Japan. Fair? I think not. Let's talk about quality shall we? I'll put up my AMERICAN MADE 1985 Harley-Davidson Fat Boy against any w-s-n-a-b-e cycle from Japan. No one beats a Harley. No one. There are people who say that Japan is taking over.

Rockefeller Center is now Mitsubishi Plaza and Chicago's own, Sears' tower is owned by a Japanese corporation. But we must realize that the Japanese are not 100% responsible. We, Americans have allowed it to happen. By purchasing Japanese products, we are taking money out of American products and putting yen in Japan's pocket. Also, we have to step up the quality on American goods. I believe that there should be an embargo on all Japanese goods and so we only buy American.

We have to force the Japanese out and put America first where the belongs.

I feel that the Japanese are hypocrites. The Land of the Rising Sun has only been open to foreigners for the last 150 years. They were worried the foreigners would corrupt their race and make it impure. They called the Germans racist. Well, at least this is more subtle than Pearl Harbor. Whether you like it or not, learn to love it.

Jason Feinstein
Whole Loto NOISE

newman said that he will lose approximately $120,000 a year. He went on to state that until Japan trades fairly we should all boycott EVERY Japanese product. I couldn't agree more. I hope these acts start a chain reaction and set a foundation for future economic policy. Some of people would consider this Japan-bashing. Heavens no. First and foremost we should put America first.

Take a look around.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

FEATURES

Hope for the young adult homeless, runaway

LAURA ASHLEY
A&E Editor

You see them, the lonely evening vagabonds, between the ages of 16 and 24. They wander suburban as well as city streets until it's time for them to return home. They are not hitchhikers, although they usually carry a backpack filled with everything they might need for their walk. They aren't looking for a hand-out. They don't want sympathy either. They just want to be alone. Some have laughed, jeered and shouted obscenities at them from their cars. They believe themselves to be better. Sure, they all have homes and friends

Why do they wander? Is it confusion, psychosis or some kind of pride? At home, there are people waiting for them. Evening runaways may be so fed up with existence that their bodies crave the glass window that illuminates the darkness and prays to die. These wanderers of the night are not at all uncommon. They could be anyone. If you or someone you several services to help those who are willing to seek it: United Way of Palatine-Inverness-Rolling Meadows 200 E. Wood 358-8666

Evening shelter for men, women, families and youth 818-1916 Harbor Runaway Ages 12 to 21 355 NE River Rd. 297-8540 Lifespan All Ages 824-0382 Community Information and Referral Service United Way Crusade of Mercy 560 W. Lake 1-800-564-5733 Self Help Center 1600 Dodge, Evanston 328-0470 Talkline 228-6400 Seda Northwest 392-2332 Information Referral for Suburban Cook County 1-312-876-0010

Street person waiting for the sun to set and for the cold night to embrace him. Photo by Mary Kay freedom. One of them, right now, is standing outside a church looking up at the stained know is a runaway or homeless with no where to go these agencies who offer

Shelter Inc. 255-8060 PADS 7 p.m. to 7 a.m.

HELP YOUR HEART RECIPES

American Heart Association

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall heart-healthy eating plan that would not include more than 30 percent of daily calories from fat.

Flounder Fillets in Foil

This is a fabulous meal for fish fans!
4-5 ounce flounder fillets 1 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice
1 Tbsp. acceptable margarine* 1 Tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
1 Tbsp. chopped shrimps or green onions 1 Tbsp. Vegetable oil spray**
1/2 lb. mushrooms, chopped 1/2 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
3 Tbsp. dry white wine
Rinse fish and pat dry. Set aside.
To make a mushroom sauce: begin by lightly spraying a nonstick sauté pan with vegetable oil. Place over medium-high heat. Add mushrooms and cook 5 minutes. Stir in wine, lemon juice and parsley and cook until most of the liquid evaporates.
Preheat oven to 400° F. Lightly spray four pieces of heavy-duty foil with vegetable oil. Place a fillet on each piece of foil, season with pepper. Spoon mushroom sauce evenly over each piece of fish. Draw edges of foil together and seal. Bake 20 minutes, or until fish flakes. Serve in foil.
Makes 4 servings.

Select margarine that has 20% less fat than regular margarine. *Select a low-fat margarine. **Select a low-fat vegetable oil.

Vegetables: 1/2 cup of vegetables per day is recommended. Use frozen or canned vegetables if fresh are not available.

• Select margarine that has 20% less fat than regular margarine. • Select a low-fat margarine. • Select a low-fat vegetable oil.

Nutritional Analysis per Serving

150	60 mg	1 gm
26 mg	182 mg	1 gm
2 gm	1 gm	2 gm

*Percent Daily Values are based on a diet of other people's secrets.

© 1992 American Heart Association, Inc. All rights reserved.

STILL number ONE

As most as many Americans die from heart and blood vessel diseases as from all other causes of death combined. Cardiovascular diseases kill nearly 44 percent of the over two million Americans who die each year. Cancer follows, taking 20 percent, and all other causes of death combined kill 30 percent.

Although medical research is constantly seeking to reduce early death and disability from heart attack and stroke, more than 60 million Americans have some form of cardiovascular disease, ranging from congenital heart defects to high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries.

As a result, Americans will pay an estimated $108 billion in 1992 for medical costs and disability.

Especially costly to American business are the deaths of skilled employees between the ages of 20 and 64, and the loss of management and production skills and the cost of training replacement personnel are enormous.

The American Heart Association is fighting to reduce early death and disability from heart disease

Leading Causes of Death in the United States, 1989 Estimates

Source: National Center for Health Statistics and the American Heart Association and stroke by sponsoring research, professional and public education and community service programs. Join us in the fight for your life. You can help by donating your time as a volunteer and by donating a contribution to your local American Heart Association.

American Heart Association

MILES FROM PAGE 4

"Things were different for me after I got started in the 60s," Miles said.

"I dedicate this evening to Michael," and, without further delay, the living legend came to life with "Bad, Bad, Mo'." By the second song, "Fannie May," the audience was dancing in the staircase isles and Buddy wouldn't let them sit down.

"Get your butts back up, what did you sit down for?" screamed Miles, now huffing and puffing.

"You don't come to a Buddy Miles concert to sit down, get your butts back up and move closer!"

"Everybody get up!" C'mon, get up!" shouted Miles as the crowd maniacally cheered from the back of the hall.

"You make me so excited, I can't help myself!"

Buddy then went on to announce his plans.

Not the musicians in the band, but the recent inductees to the Smithsonian Institution.

Let's see... there's Sherry Rauson, Seth Rauson, Sly Rauson, and of course, Buddy Rauson, and "what do they do?" They raise hell!"

I'm really not fond of doing this because it dates me and makes me feel... well, old. The truth is I've seen Buddy Miles when he was about 20 pounds lighter, around the late 60s and early 70s. Like many of the musicians who have survived the 60s and 70s, Miles is as good as, if not better than, he was 20 years ago.

One of my musician friends, cage name Rufus Kering, explained it this way: "Ya' know, a man that sure has to have a lot of energy just to move that amount of weight around and ya' gotta know that when he gets on stage he's gonna' be a dynamo."

Rufus is right: Buddy Miles is a dynamo.

Do you want to write for

The Arts

Culture Quest
Local Theatre
Play Reviews
Museums
Foreign Films

Stop in the Harbinger office A367 and come join a super team.

What's hot,
What's not,
weekly in...

ENTERTAINMENT

Villa Olivia Winter Carnival

Saturday Feb. 1st

&

Sunday Feb. 2nd

ARE YOU READY FOR A GOOD TIME?

February 1st, Sunday night live from Villa Olivia.

For starters:

- Our annual Winter Carnival will be launched with a tooth light parade in front of the ski lodge.
- FREE NASTAR racing, + Awards
- FREE Downhill ski games for every guy and gal's amusement. Prizes for the winners!
- Costume/hallroom gals in our gracious ski lodge. Good food and drink aplenty and dancing until the wee hours.

SUNDAY IS THE BIG EVENT!

In the grand tradition of Mardi Gras, you can party till you drop!

- Silly slalom races for laugh-lovin' silly skiers.
- For the more serious gas-banging bamboo baskers, electronically timed COCA-COLA JUNIOR NASTAR and BUD CHALLENGE races. Prizes for the winners!
- Prizes for the WINTER CARNIVAL'S most elaborate, original and funniest ski costumes for both ladies and men.
- WINTER CARNIVAL King and Queen will be crowned. Variety of prizes and gifts during the evening of dancing, games and levity.

Everyone who arrives in a funny ski costume will receive a discount on their lift ticket.

• Chef Charles Tonyman is stoking up his "Orleans" style outdoor BBQ pits and smoking succulent meats "guaranteed" to satisfy your appetite.

• For gourmet entrees, our famous "Sunday Brunch" will be presented at its scrumptious best.

• Mike, our fun-loving barkeep will have a variety of spicy warm winter spirits and traditional beverages brewing for the celebration. Sunday, FREE Hot Chocolate

THAT'S A PARTY!!!

WINTER CARNIVAL "good times" start at dusk on Saturday February 1st and won't wind down until Sunday's closing time.

Villa Olivia Ski Area

U.S. Hwy 20 & Naperville Road
Bartlett, IL 60103
708-289-5200

NEWS BRIEFS

Career Transition Center opens at Harper Northeast

Students, staff and other interested people are invited to the opening of the Career Transition Center from 4 to 7 p.m. on February 13 in room 209 at the Harper Northeast Center.

The center is a result of a partnership between Harper and the Private Industry Council of Northern Cook County. Counselors at the center will provide assistance to those who need career guidance. The center will be open to all persons wishing help in career assessment and options, resume preparation, job search strategies, interviewing techniques and career counseling.

In addition to job training assistance, individuals who wish to start their own businesses may take advantage of the Center's small business resources. Entrepreneurs can work on their business plans and get help marketing their businesses.

The center will also offer seminars and workshops for those entering the job market for the first time, for those changing careers and for those who have been affected by layoffs or downsizing.

Employers who need to improve a reduction in their labor force also may get help. Counseling and out-placement services can be provided to individuals or groups at the Center or at the business site.

The Northeast Center is located at 1375 South Wolf Road, Prospect Heights, Illinois.

Call the Career Transition Center at 459-8233.

Poetry deadline approaching fast

The English department of Columbia College in Chicago is sponsoring a poetry contest for junior and community college students.

First prize is a full-tuition scholarship to Columbia College for the 1992-93 academic year. Second prize is one semester's tuition, and third prize is one-half of one semester's tuition. Tuition at Columbia is currently $6196 per year.

"The college realizes that there is a great deal of poetic talent in Illinois, that there are voices that have not as yet been expressed, and that many of these voices are to be found in community colleges," Dr. Philip Khakoff, Columbia English department chair, said.

"The poetry contest is one way that the talents and voices of community college students can receive public and academic recognition."

The contest is open to all junior and community college students who maintain a 2.5 cumulative grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) and who will have completed 30 credit hours at a junior or community college by the end of the 1991-92 academic year. Applicants may submit up to three original, previously unpublished poems.

Deadline for entering is March 2.

Rules and applications are available through Harper's English department, transfer coordinator or financial aid office.

Students may write Columbia College's English department, 625 S. Wabash Ave., Room 700, Chicago, Ill., or call (312) 663-1600, Ext. 250.

We need YOU as a News Writer.

If you like action, adventure and have a knack for news, stop in at The Harbinger A367 or dial EXT 2460 and come write for a suspension.

The Harbinger

YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

"LAST YEAR I EARNED A 3.5 AND $10,000."

"My G.P.A. went up last year, but I guess that figures. A major university study showed that students who work 15 to 20 hours a week do better academically. It's true for me. And I've got UTS to thank for it."

"I know students who work for UTS do better financially. I'm working part-time and making about $10,000 a year. The hours are good too. I only work about four hours per day, so I still have time for classes and study. Chances are you'll be offered a position in Operations. But you could wind up working in Accounting, Industrial Engineering, IS, or Customer Service."

"Think of it—great pay, flexible hours and maybe even better grades. There isn't another outfit anywhere with a better deal than that. That's a lot better than average."

Openings exist at UTS Palatine, 2100 Hicks Road (corner of Rand and Hicks). Interviews conducted Monday's 3pm to 5pm and Wednesday's 9am to 11am. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Call 715-6125 for more information.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US.
UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, January 30, 1992 7

Help Wanted

* EXTRA INCOME ***
Earn $300-$500 weekly
mailing 1992 travel
brochures. For more information send a self addressed stamped envelope to J.R.
Travel, P.O. Box
812281, Miami, FL
33161.

Summer Marketing/Management
positions available
in your hometown.
Average 1991 earnings $5000-7000. Join the more than 5000 students that are in our program nationwide.
(82% success rate) Call
Triple "A" Student
Painters at 1-800-888-9348
TODAY!

Models/Dancers/Actresses
needed for the music industry. No experience necessary. For more information call Rockstar Photo at 708-843-1855.
Ask for Brian

Help Wanted

FREE SPRING BREAK VACATION
Organize a group, earn Commissions & Free
Travel Call
1-800-826-9100

Wanted

Young Christian
Childless Couple
desperately seeking to adopt a baby. Contact
Roger at The Harbinger
for more information
387-3900 ext 2481

Travel

Hawes Spring Break Blowout!
Cancun from $306 with
airfare. Also, South
Padre starting at $139.
Need more information,
contact Dave at 960-7404 or Mike at 260-7457.

Services

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes
DUI, personal injury,
divorce, real estate.
Phone 517-2606 evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Bacher & Becker, 2300
Barrington Road, Suite
400, Hoffman Estates, IL
60195

Need Money for

College?
Scholarships, Grants,
and Financial Aid are
available to everyone.
All students qualify.
Guaranteed. Call or write for details.
Educative For Everyone,
5291 Meyer Drive,
Lisle, IL 60532
708-964-2390

Professional Word Processing
at rates you can afford.
Reports, resumes, cover
letters, anything you need
in print. FREE laser print,
FREE spell checks, FREE
COVER PAGE! Call Today!
Randy @ 708-595-4883

Services

Are you pregnant,
single, scared?
Open Arms can help you
with counseling and support. Call Jill or Roseann at 312-794-
8500, Monday-Friday
9 to 5

Nutrition For The

Brain
Did you know that the right combination of
vitamins, minerals,
herbs, and amino acids
can help improve performance? TRY
FOCUS: NO PILLS!
(708) 656-5361

$5 MONEY FOR

COLLEGE
Every student is eligible
for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE
information.
Scholarship Plus, Flinders
M. Knueggel—Dept. HCL
5 Elm Creek Dr. #206
Einhurst, IL 60126

WP Service
Term papers, resumes
etc. $1.50 per page. Will pick up. Term: 708-392-0626

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE
WP SVS.
Term papers, resumes, letter printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low rates.

For Sale

1985 Toyota
Celica GT
Hatchback, Sunroof,
A/C, Stick shift, New Stereos, 78 K. $1500
b.b. Call
708-625-0647

GOVERNMENT SEIZED

Vehicles from $100
Ford, Mercedes,
Cadillac, Chevy
Surplus. Buyers Guide
1-800-962-8000 Ext.
8-1053

LOSE FAT-GAIN

MUSCLE
Breathro products used
by trainers, athletes,
doctors. Weight loss
without drugs, denial, or depression. From 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gained
with proven effective
non-steroidal
formulation.
708-626-5391

Fitness

The Search is Over...
Why are so many NFL
Athletes, MD's
business professionals
and body builders joining
in record numbers?
Fastest growing
nutrition and fitness
company will create
more millionaires than
any company in history.
CALL NOW!
708-658-5391

Information

Standard Classified Rates
and information.
Commercial classifieds
are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.35 for
each additional line.
Deadline is Friday noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper.
All ads must be prepaid.
The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. For more information, contact The Harbinger in A367. Call (708) 397-
3000, ext. 2480
FAX 397-3210

RITA WRITE

Beginning in February, the Harbinger will be featuring an advice column with adviser Rita Write.
Rita will answer questions you have concerning love, money, school, relationships, anything you want to ask. Rita will delicately tell it like it is.
Send your questions to:
Rita Write c/o The Harbinger
1200 W. Algonquin
Palatine, Illinois 60067-7398

Valentine's Day

Send that special person in your life a Valentine in The Harbinger! The cost is $2.00 for the first 6 lines, additional lines are .25 each. This Special Pull-out section will be on the stands February 13. All submissions are due by Friday, February 7, 5:00 p.m. Payment is due when at the time the ad is submitted.

Say I LOVE YOU this year in THE HARBINGER.

Bring this completed form to The Harbinger office, A 367.

NAME
ADDRESS
CITY
STATE
ZIP
PHONE
DATE

Name _____

Amount Due _____

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results
• Test results while you wait
• All services confidential
• Convenient appointments
• 24 hour hotline
• Convenient
Woodfield location

Cris
Pregnancy
Center

708-865-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

DAYTONA BEACH

• High quality beachfront accommodations for 2/3/4/5/6 nights.
• Awarding the national master coach
• Free pool deck parties, activities, & promotions
• Inter-Campus Programs 10 Discount card
• Orientation staff for complete assistance
• All taxes, tips, & service charges included

$119 $204

CALL:
SARAH at 398-6438

EXERCISE

Does Your Heart Good
American Heart Association

Jewel Shop & Share to Stop AIDS Harper

Jewel will donate 5% of your purchase to Stop AIDS Harper when you bring in this Shop & Share Identification Slip on February 3, 4, and 5.

SHOP & SHARE IDENTIFICATION SLIP

0113042

STOP AIDS HARPER

YOUR SHOP & SHARE DATE: FEBRUARY 3, 4, 5, 1992

SIGNATURE _____

THINGS TO REMEMBER: PLEASE SIGN THIS SLIP AND TUCK IT IN YOUR CHECKER WHEN YOU SHOP

AMOUNT OF PURCHASE: DOLLARS _____ CENTS _____

SHOP & SHARE PARTICIPANTS CAN MAKE PURCHASES AT ANY JEWEL SHOP FROM CH. THE DATE SHOWN ABOVE. A CERTIFICATION SLIP ARE NOT TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN FRONT OF ANY JEWEL STORE. ©2000 (Rev. 15/90)

Final call for student literature, art

The Harper College student literary-art magazine Point of View is accepting final contributions for publication in this year's issue.

Any member of the Harper community—full and part time students, staff, faculty and administrators—is eligible to submit work to the competition.

Student literary and art editors will convene panels of student judges to select the work and then produce the magazine, which is published June 1 and distributed next fall.

Literary work can include poetry, fiction, drama and creative essays.

Art work can include 2 and 3 dimensional art and photography. Work must be submitted with a completed Materials Release Form.

Submit literary work to F-313 and art work to P-209 by Friday, February 21, 1992.

For more highlights and information call Dr. Frank Smith at F-548B, ext. 2777.

Volunteers Needed!

If you would like to volunteer to help when the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt is displayed on campus Friday, March 13 (from 12 Noon to 8 pm) and Saturday, March 14 (from 10 am to 5 pm), please contact Health Services at extension 2268. We need Quilt monitors, Greeters, and others. If you need more information, please call the Student Activities Office at extension 2242.

Thank You!

Announcements

CLUB NOTES & OFFERINGS

Evening Success Seminar Schedule Spring 1992

Tuesday February 4 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Assessing Your Chances of Success	Memory Techniques February 25 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Too Little Time ... Too Much To Do, Time Management	7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Tips for Test Taking Wednesday March 18 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. How To Concentrate Wednesday March 25 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Can't Remember ... Find Out Why.	TO REGISTER FOR SEMINARS: CONTACT THE LEARNING ASSISTANCE CENTER, 397-3000, EXT. 2210 ALL SEMINARS MEET IN BUILDING F-304 AND ARE FREE OF CHARGE
Tuesday February 11 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Tips For Test Taking	Tuesday March 3 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. Curbing Test Anxiety	Wednesday March 11 Memory Techniques

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

Spring 1992 Success Seminar Schedule

Monday February 3 2:25 - 3:25 Tips to Test Taking	February 18 2:45 - 3:45 How to Become Motivated	1:45 February 24 2:25 - 3:25 Curbing Test Anxiety	Tuesday March 10 1:45 - 2:45 Strategies for Concentration
Tuesday February 4 1:45 - 2:45 Tips to Test Taking	Monday February 25 2:45 - 3:45 Curbing Test Anxiety	Monday March 16 2:25 - 3:25 Can't Remember ... Find Out Why, Memory Techniques	Monday March 17 1:45 - 2:45 Can't Remember ... Find Out Why, Memory Techniques
Monday February 10 2:25 - 3:25 Assessing Your Chances of Success	Monday March 2 3:25 - 4:25 Too Little Time	Monday March 23 2:25 - 3:25 Curbing Test Anxiety	Monday March 24 1:45 - 2:45 Curbing Test Anxiety
Tuesday February 11 1:45 - 2:45 Assessing Your Chances of Success	Tuesday March 3 1:45 - 2:45 Too Little Time	Tuesday March 24 1:45 - 2:45 Curbing Test Anxiety	Monday April 6 2:25 - 3:25 Tips 10
Thursday February 13 1:45 - 2:45 Can't Remember ... Find Out Why	March 3 1:45 - 2:45 Too Little Time	Test Taking Tuesday April 7 1:45 - 2:45 Tips 10	TO REGISTER FOR SEMINARS: CALL 397-3000 EXTENSION 2210
Memory Techniques Monday February 17 2:25 - 3:25 How to Become Motivated	Management Monday March 9 2:25 - 3:25 Strategies for Concentration	ALL SEMINARS MEET IN BUILDING F-342 AND ARE FREE OF CHARGE

Do you like sports?, we need YOU to write for

Come over to The Harbinger in A 367 or call EXT 2460 to write for a super team.

Sports that make a difference!

The Harbinger

THE HARBINGER

William Rainey Harper College

February 6, 1992

Volume XXVI Number VII

Publications and Communications Services to get new building

Gina Piccolo
Harbinger Staff Writer

Plans for the new book store have been well publicized, but the construction of the new building for the Publications and Communications Services of Harper College is a new idea to the campus.

Joan Young, the manager of publications and communications services, proposed the project for the Leaders Program this year, as the nominee from Harper.

The Leaders Program provides an opportunity for colleges to nominate women of their staff, administration and faculty to propose a project that better their school and also benefits other institutions involved with the program.

The National Institute for Leadership Development, reviews and accepts the nominees' project and once accepted, the nominees attend a week-long conference, with a registration fee of $795. This year the conference began Feb. 22. They then have one year to follow through with their projects.

Publications and communications services at Harper consist of six departments (editorial, typesetters, graphics, photography, word processor, mail center and print shop). They are located in different buildings. The first part of Young's project is to organize the departments into the new building, which was already a set project for the school.

Proposed changes to Harper's campus

"Once the new building is created, the departments will operate closer and the mailings, classroom materials and other items printed will be distributed faster," Young said.

When construction is complete, the second part of her project will begin. That will be a booklet to help visitors find departments and buildings. The new building, yet to be named, will be constructed between Buildings M and T. The completion date has not been announced.

"A lot of the administrative activities involved with the mailings ought to be helpful to me in learning some new skills," Young said.

This will be Young's 15th year with publications and communications services and she is excited about how she is contributing to her "anniversary."

It's almost time to vote

Flanked by Chicago Bears quarterback Jim Harbaugh (right) and a group of business, community, labor and student leaders, Cook County Clerk David D. Orr (left) recently announced a major countywide voter registration program. Orr's program includes a 10-point plan to increase voter registration that will include television and radio public service announcements featuring Harbaugh. The plan also includes voter registration at Chicago's Danmark and Jewel stores on February 13 and voter registration drives at schools throughout the county.

Get the shaft on the elevator?

ALEXANDRA YOUNGMAN
Harbinger Staff Writer

Despite a recent inspection that certified the college elevators as safe, students and staff remain unconvinced and concerned about what they say are too frequent breakdowns.

Last semester, Ruth Haasen, a freshman who suffers from severe orthostatic hypotension, was forced to use the stairs because the elevator Building F was inoperable.

"Sundling" causes me to lose blood pressure; and that day I fell down a couple of stairs because I blacked out," Haasen said.

Haasen said that Public Safety had to call health services to assist her. She missed class.

"I paid for these classes and I shouldn't miss them because of faulty elevators," Haasen said.

Haasen is not the only one. Sophomore Gerry Walsh, who suffers from congenital anemopathy, also ended up missing his class due to a malfunctioning elevator in H building.

"I had to interrupt an other class and ask the teacher to call public safety and I'm firm that the elevator was not working," Walsh said.

The elevators, however, were just recently inspected this past November.

Physical Plant Director Don DeBruise said the college received a $240 inspection bill from the Cook County Department of Building and Zoning and as soon as the College received payment, the department will send new inspection certificates.

"I anticipate we will get them in a month or two," DeBruise said.

This does not exclude, however, problems that occurred last semester and continue to occur.

Mailroom employees have to use the elevator in Building F two to five times daily. If the elevator is broken, they have to use the stairs.

"We are responsible for getting the mail to all the departments and if the elevators are broken we have to carry it up and it's heavy," mailroom employee Scott Tennels said.

Audio-Visual employees also have encountered problems.

A.V. Technician Leon Hunsman said he was delivering equipment in H building and the elevator stalled during operation.

"I was up there for about three

Davidson

Continued on page 6

INSIDE

COMMENTARY

Gay/Lesbian Club Rejected
Editorial Page 2

INSIDE

FEATURES

Critical Literacy
Page 3
Adoption Page 6

INSIDE

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

Movie Review: Hard Promise
Music Review: The Lupins
Page 4

INSIDE

COMICS

Comics
Page 5

INSIDE

EXTRAS

Photo Opinion Question of the Week
page 8

THE HARBINGER

Editor in Chief
Business Manager
Managing Editor
A & T Editor
Photo Editor
Copy Editor
Faculty Advisor

Roger Mantel
Cory A. Tisdale
Joe Palmer
Laura Ashley
Marty Ma
Alisa C. Harland
Suzanne H. Lurie

EDITORIAL

Senate flexes its powerless muscles

The Harper College Student Senate recently rejected the request of Gays and Lesbians to have an official campus club. The reasons given from the senators who voted no were they felt it was not in the best interest of Harper to have a club of this nature representing the school.

One of the senators said Harper has the reputation of being a family-oriented school and to have a club of gay and lesbian students could cause some long-term problems for the school.

An appeals hearing is to be held on Friday, February 7, in which Bonnie Henry, vice president of Student Affairs, will listen to both sides of the argument and try to help come to an agreement on the issue. If this does not happen Henry will make a decision based on the information she has.

What this means is that the senate is going to have to reverse their decision and fold to the pressure of upper management and faculty or Henry will do it for them. Student senate made their decision, and should be commended for sticking to it.

Senators were voted into the positions that they hold, like it or not, by the students of this school. They act as representatives of the student body.

Many students did not vote in the school elections and in doing so made their choices.

It seems these choices are not all that important any way. If this decision is overturned, it will send a message to all the students. Student Senate has no real power or function, so why should anyone vote in these elections?

Or better still, why would anyone want to be a member of the senate if this is the way its work and decisions are made?

Roger Mantel
Roger Mantel
Editor in Chief

Staff

Jacques Fontaine, Cara Placida, Pamela Harbinger

COMMENTARY

Letters to The Editor

Student feels Gay and Lesbian Club is discriminatory

Dear Editor

This letter is in response to the January 30 article concerning the rejection of the gay/lesbian club as an official club at Harper College. I wish to express my support in this decision. I believe that a club based on sexual performance is unacceptable, and that's the bottom line. I wouldn't expect Harper to support a club for homosexuals either. I am not a prejudiced person. I believe that homosexuality is sick, but I would not condemn a person for it. If these people want to continue this club on their own, more power to them, but they should not be supported by Harper College.

Susan Haake
Student

We want to hear your views, so Write us a Letter To The Editor

The Fold of the Century!

A Thought For Today...

Each individual carries two bags with them through life. One bag is kept in front of us at all times, the other is strapped to our back.

In the front bag we keep all the mistakes that everyone else has made. In the bag on our back, we keep the mistakes that we ourselves have made.

Each time we open our eyes we see the mistakes that others have made and are quick to point those out. But we never see our own mistakes. We keep those hidden behind us.

Nick Nicolakos,
Harper Custodian

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A-117.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editors. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved.

Critical challenges to bring in variety of new methods by Harper faculty

Faculty members are challenging the tried-and-true teaching methods they learned in college. The favorite method, the lecture, is quickly becoming just one of a variety of teaching methods used at Harper and throughout all levels of the education system in the U.S.

Critical thinking has always been valued by teachers. But experts say it is a challenge to integrate the skills effectively in the classroom. Three faculty members who attended a National Conference on Critical Literacy, sponsored by Oakton Community College in 1990 were so excited about the possibilities they applied for a grant from the Harper College Educational Foundation to provide full-time faculty members the opportunity to examine how critical thinking can be used in the curriculum.

Called the critical literacy project it's now in its second year. The goal is to aid faculty in working critical literacy, critical reading, writing and thinking into courses. The object is to give faculty with the necessary skills to teach students how to think critically.

Teachers involved in this project first identify the thinking skills that need to be learned for their subject and then employ the teaching strategies to achieve the skills.

Most teachers were taught primarily through the lecture method. By itself the lecture method is said to promote passivity.

Not only does exclusive use of the lecture method promote active learning. It may not be very effective. Studies show that 90 days after the end of the semester, students have forgotten much of what they knew on the last day of class.

On the other hand, in a critical literacy classroom, the teacher acts as a facilitator of learning, using multiple strategies to involve students in their own learning process. This is not to say that the lecture method is dead. It is sometimes the best way to present new information, but there are ways to involve the students.

For example: After a topic is introduced, students are asked to write down everything they know about the topic, then a list of things they want to know. As the material is presented, there are writing and reflecting pauses. These are times for students to digest what has been presented, think about it, and jot down questions or reactions.

This is just one of many techniques used in a critical literacy classroom. Active learners become critical thinkers who know what to look for, where to find information and how to evaluate what is found. This valuable learning is then carried by each student throughout the lifelong learning process.

Faculty involved in the program here meet weekly. They interact with other teachers and create critical literacy lesson plans for their classes.

Program Board to show movies on Black History

From Frederick Douglass to Martin Luther King to Jesse Jackson, black history is rich with successes and failures, all which have been sadly neglected in the history books. February is Black History Month, and Program Board is showing four films that deal with different aspects of black culture and history. The first film was "Gloria" which was shown this week.

Next week's film is "Boyz in the hood" featuring Cuba Gooding, Ice T, and Larry Fishburne, which deals with three boys living in the rough hood of South Central L.A. How they deal with the horrors of gang violence and the everyday pressures of growing older are what Director John Singleton shows in this exciting film.

"Boyz," one of the year's best films, will be showing Tuesday at 4:30, Wednesday and Thursday at

IGNORE CHEST PAIN AND IT'LL GO AWAY.

If you have chest pain, get medical help immediately. Otherwise, when the pain stops, your life could too. To learn more, contact your nearest American Heart Association. You can help prevent heart disease and stroke. We can tell you how.

American Heart Association

Northwestern Business College, for a lifetime of success.

Northwestern Business College offers an education that will increase your options and help you succeed in the business world of today and tomorrow. Northwestern Business College is a place where each student can make a difference. With a strong curriculum and one-on-one teaching, we encourage students to think, communicate and grow. Perhaps most important, you will be part of a community that has made a serious commitment to your hopes and your achievements.

NORTHWESTERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

For a lifetime of Success

If you would like to experience Northwestern Business College for yourself, call for an appointment. Call us at either our city campus at 312-777-4220 or our Suburban Palos Hills campus at 708-430-0990.

Northwestern Business College - Chicago's First Private Business College. Established in 1902.

6829 North LaSalle Avenue
Chicago, IL 60630
312-777-4220

80799 Roberts Road
Palos Hills, IL 60465
708-430-0990

The Harbinger

Health Corner
for Health That Matters
in Features

SEXUAL AWARENESS WEEK

Monday, February 17, 1992
2:30 p.m. to 3:45 p.m. Board Room A315
HIV Infection: Practicing What We Preach
Nancy Pincus, M.A. on Ed Power, M.A.
The goals of this work shop are to present the latest HIV transmission and prevention information, to facilitate commitment to behavior, to lower the risk of HIV transmission, to affirm personal self-worth and to empower individuals to effectively practice safe sex. Participants will have an opportunity to articulate their own feelings and experiences and ask questions.

Tuesday, February 18, 1992

Physicals and more

The Cook County Department of Public Health's Hillside Health Clinic, the Wellness in Wheels (WOW) van, is coming to the Popular Creek Substation, 54 Popular Creek Drive Apartment E in Hoffman Estates, on Tuesday, February 25, 1992 from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. To make an appointment for a free health check-up call (708) 865-6125. When you call to set an appointment you will be screened for financial eligibility.

12 p.m. to 1 p.m. A242 a and b
Contraception and disease prevention
Barbara Mitchell, Contraceptals Health Care Center

Abstinence, condoms, the pill, STD's, syphilis, etc. - this presentation will discuss the relevance of each solely for you, your health and your relationships.

Wednesday, February 19, 1992
12 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. A241 a and b

Sex, Lies and Videotapes: Loving in the 90's Domenec Glen, M.A., Pam Leacock, Ph.D.
Colleen Moore, Psy.D., Shan Partridge, M.A.

What Lies do men and women tell each other about sex. How do you get what you want out of a date? This workshop will explore the changing sexual nature of the 90's through group activity and a video presentation.

1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. A241 a and b
Chlamydia: Self Defense for Women

Kicks, strikes, yell—any woman can use the techniques to protect herself in a variety of situations. In addition to basic self defense, the program will include a discussion of attacker behaviors. It is open to men and women and will be led by a staff member of the Chlamydia Educational Foundation.

February is Healthy Heart Month

Special healthy foods free sampling in the Cafeteria on Thursday, February 13 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. sponsored by Dietary Technician students. Learn your blood pressure and heart risk by computer analysis (Heart Check) free of charge and done by Human Performance Laboratory and Health Service. Cholesterol screening available for a two dollar fee.

Lupins thrive on high energy

C.B. SHAMEN
Guest Reviewer

WILL EXCESSIVE FORCE CONQUER YOUR WORLD?
by Christopher R. Garcia

Excessive Force
CONQUER YOUR WORLD
Wax Trax

The Chicago music label Wax Trax is most known for starting bands like Ministry and Front 242. Other well known Wax Trax artists include We 11 with The Thrill Kill Kult. Revolving Cocks, KMFDM, and Front Line Assembly. Well, a new band has emerged. Excessive Force is the collective efforts of Sasha Konietzko (from KMFDM) and Buzz McCoy (keyboards) and bass player in My Life With The Thrill Kill Kult. Their first album, CONQUER YOUR WORLD is built to please fans of both bands.

When first listening to the CD, I could detect influences from the old Thrill Kill Kult. Forget their recent album, SEXPLORATION; they made a turn for the worse. Instead, look towards their 1989 debut, I SEE GOOD SPIRITS. I SEE BAD SPIRITS and 1990's CONFESSIONS OF A KNIFE. The Thrill Kill Kult (TKK) is most known for underground dance hits. The Devil Does Drugs, A Girl Doesn't Get Killed By A Make Believe Lover "Ca ti i shot (be the side of A Dirty Clean) Satan/The Days Of Swine And Roses, and their most popular Koolha Than Zeus. KMFDM's influence is prevailing, however. The technological power rhythms are quite distinct to their style. KMFDM have some underground hits to their credit as well. Split, Godlike Virus, Don't Blow Your Top, and Naive, among others. CONQUER YOUR WORLD is a fine track album covering just shy of 45 minutes. In a way, this band may be just a little concerned because in a number of tracks, the words "excessive forces" are repeated. However, it doesn't spoil the album.

The album opens with Conquer Your House II, and the female vocals "Uhhhhhhhhhh" and distorted vocals from Sasha are quite reminiscent of KMFDM while the pulsating bass line via McCoy is typical of TKK.

The best song on the album is Finger On The Trigger. The wild electronic drums are supplied from En Esch (also of KMFDM). The fantastic distorted vocals and awesome guitars make for an excellent moshing adventure.

Worship Me is also a good moshing tune and deals with religion and makes a parody of it. This album is not one giant moshing adventure, but one can make it to be just that. Good normal dancing songs are Rule The World and We Like War. The guitars are just right and the drum beat just enough to make one's foot tap and force you to join the party, even if the songs are a bit repetitious.

These guys need to experiment a little more in melody and drift away from the monotony of some songs. That is where, if anywhere at all, they fail. Excessive Force is no Front 242 or Ministry, but CONQUER YOUR WORLD has the background to prove that they can put forth a semi-decent album. After all, KMFDM and TKK haven't recovered the status they have for nothing (take it or leave it what you will). They didn't exactly conquer my world but who knows, they may conquer yours.

RATING: *** out of 5

At one point during their hour-long set at Shubun, The Lupins' lead singer apologized. "No, I mean that little guy from F.I.F. sorry."

But stage banter is not The Lupins' strong point. Instead, this unsung quartet relies on the strength of their guitar-driven, rock and high-energy performances.

Filling the gap left when the House Martins dissolved — but with a touch of angst — they encouraged the audience to dance to their quirky originals. Few of the bar's patrons heeded the call.

There were a half-dozen dancers, though, during "Jello Mold of Love." Unfortunately, most of the lyrics of this song and most of the others were incomprehensible over the drone of the two guitars.

The crowd cheered with approval when they incorporated the theme from "Cheers" into one of their original songs.

Luckily, the chorus of "We She" was understandable. "She says she'll never be domestic (as she puts my lunch upon the table)."

The highlight of the show was their punked-up cover of Dexy's Midnight Runners' "Come On Line." The lead singer flung him self all over and almost off the stage, finally lying down wailing. "That dress! That dress!"

The set ended with The Lupins' fairly straight cover of Nick Lowe's "Crash to Be Kind," followed by a tongue-in-cheek version of the Everly Brothers' "(All I Have to Do Is) Dream," with the drummer singing lead and walking among the tables, picking out ladies to sing to.

Despite the quality of their covers, it is their originals that made the show a success. And it is on the strength of their song writing that The Lupins will increase their following and hopefully get them signed to a record label.

RATING: **** out of 5

Hard Promises make no promises

MovieReview

Hard Promises
Rating: ** out of 5

Alexa Candelario
Harbinger Copy Editor

Hard Promises tries to capitalize on the age-old formula — boy meets girl, boy marries girl, boy loses girl, boy tries to win her back.

Few William Petersen's wandering cowboy, is more interested in pursuing his dreams than tending to his wife's needs. Chris (Sissy Spacek), his long-suffering wife, files for divorce after 12 years of absenteeism. ("He used our home like a motel.")

During mail call, a ranch in the west, Joey receives an invitation to his wife's wedding. He has one day to rush home and stop the nuptials.

Unlike the early formula films of the '50s, Hard Promises doesn't deliver. It's not clever, funny or entertaining. The cast is full of the classic characters you love to hate: the money neighbor, the no-nonsense best friend, the local pool hall buddies and the crazy wedding guest.

Director Martin Davidson

misses his mark. We've seen it all before, and this time it doesn't work. The actors are wasted in nonsensical roles with nothing intelligent to say, especially Sissy Spacek. She spends a lot of time hiding and whining. Sure, William Petersen is sexy in tight pants and T-shirts, but his act becomes annoying after the first half hour. He becomes the Sutor That Wouldn't Leave.

Personally, I wish the entire indecisive cast would have left and found a better movie. Do yourself a favor and sit this one out.

By Daniel Beyer

By Laura Ashley

Down

- 1 foul plotting, fraudulent
- 2 law, roll, vessel, duty, gold
- 3 languid, listless

Across

- 2 repel, recoil, disapprove
- 3 tag
- 4 soul
- 5 timber
- 6 rink
- 7 iron, pasta, sack, slasher
- 8 donkey
- 9 hiss, rattle, sound

Answers

next week

20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
FEBRUARY

"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

7
BROKEN ARROW

Neil Young Music

8
"Female Rockers back from L.A."
SURRENDUR DOROTHY
plus MCR

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM

Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage.
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied.
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS
Call the club for details.

COLLEGE NIGHT
LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt
GETS IN FREE

! During Band Nights With This Coupon

BALLOON DROP
WITH CASH PRIZES

Every Week During Band Night!

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS

5.30 to 8pm and 8.30 to 11pm Mon. Thru Thurs.
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY - 5.30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room

3 Pool Tables, Electronic Parts

MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50

TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50

THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

Harper College Presents

MIKE FARRELL

speaking on, "Life Since M*A*S*H: An Exchange of Ideas"

7:30 pm

Tuesday, February 11

Building J Theatre

Sponsored by Student Activities

Tickets: Harper Students, faculty and staff and senior citizens $3
Other students (high school, etc.) $4.50
General public $6

Mike Farrell is instantly recognizable as B.J. Hunnicutt in one of television's most popular series, "M*A*S*H." But apart from success as an actor, producer and director, Farrell is an outspoken champion of such causes as the homeless, abused children, environmental issues, health issues and international peace. Histalk will focus on the importance of volunteerism and how an individual can make a difference.

FEATURES

The rough road to adoption

RoseMunn
Editor in Chief

The search began eighteen months ago. A search that a lot of people have heard about and may know a little from what they have seen on T.V. But very few really know the struggle and heartache that is involved in this quest.

Susan Shless, a nursing student at Harper College, made a decision with her husband, Stuart, that it was time for them to start the wheels rolling on the road to adopting a baby.

Four years ago Shless had an operation due to an illness and had her uterus removed which makes it impossible for her to have children of her own.

"We didn't start looking for a baby until six months after we were married because we didn't think it would be that difficult," Shless said.

"I found out that I needed to have a home study done and that we needed to get licensed," she continued. "Our neighbors were even interviewed and asked to give information about us."

Shless said she and her husband paid $1000 for the home study and licensing and also for the requirement of being fingerprinted.

Shless said that she and her husband were new to this kind of thing and really had no idea how the system worked.

"I later found out that you can be fingerprinted for free and that you really don't have to have a home study or even a license."

Once they had all that completed, the organization they filed with to help them with their search informed them it was now up to them as a couple to find a child to adopt.

"After we got our license she told me, 'well don't count on us, it's up to you now.' I thought that's why we went to her," Shless said.

"I guess we were wrong." A few months later they got their first lead. Shless' sister found a woman that was pregnant with a child that was not from her husband.

"She was carrying a child that was going to be partly black because of an affair with a black man. The young girl said she didn't want anyone to know," Shless said.

Everything was going according to schedule and it looked as though they were going to have their baby.

She flew to North Carolina two days before the child was born. Four days after the baby boy was born, Shless was prepared to take her new son home. Then came the devastating blow. The mother of the child had changed her mind and decided to keep her son.

"Besides the fact that I had purchased round trip tickets for me and the baby, I hired a lawyer here and a lawyer in North Carolina to make sure everything was done right," she said.

Shless had spent all that money and still had no baby. Over the past year she said she has experienced that same drama several times.

"It's like a roller coaster ride with your emotions and it's getting harder every time."

The financial struggles, emotional heartache and negative experiences have not slowed down the Shless' determination to find a baby. A baby that they can love and cherish and call their own.

I know there is a child out there that needs two loving, Christian parents that will give the love, care and security it needs. We won't give up until we find one."

ELEVATORS

from page 1

minutes, because it had just stopped for no reason," Harrison said.

Ann Nigg, A.V. student aide, said she was going to the third floor in Building F and upon opening, the elevator was about 12 inches above the floor.

The administration continues to defend the safety of the elevators. Vice President Vern Markie said the college has contracted with a private company to come and inspect elevators regularly and in cases of emergency.

"The fact remains that these elevators are inspected on a regular basis and these inspections far exceed the Cook County regulations," Markie said.

The college is attempting to bring the elevators into compliance with the handicap codes.

"We're going out for bids to install items such as telephones, braille markings and handrails," DeBusch said.

A degree for people on the move.

It's time to move on with your education. Drake is the right move, right now. Because at Drake, you learn to move, using the same equipment and techniques today's employers use. And you learn from instructors with real-world experience.

Drake graduates are on the move. Last year, over 90% were employed in good-paying positions, in the fields for which they were educated. — within 120 days of graduation.

A Drake student presents the day's results of research. (Top) Drake students work on computers. (Middle) Robert F. Clark, member, Packard 1989 Drake Graduate.

Managing today's technology demands teamwork. That's what we're all about at Drake. Now in making the leap here at Drake, Nancy Krichner '89, PhD, Drake Graduate.

For serious study, look at the leading edge of Business Communications. Moving Drake on the move with its biggest asset. — Drake University, Drake Graduate.

Drake offers Bachelor's degree programs in electronics, computer information systems, and technology-related disciplines. Day and evening classes are available. Make it your move.

For more information, contact Drake.

DeVRY We're serious about success!

U.S. Military Institute are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Name _____ Age _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____ Phone _____

CHICAGO CAMPUS 3300 N. Campbell • Chicago, IL 60618 (312) 929-6550

DUPAGE CAMPUS 2801 S. Folsom Rd. • Lombard, IL 60148 (708) 953-2000

The Harbinger needs writers in all fields, news, sports, features, arts and entertainment! Stop in A347 to find out how you can gain valuable experience, have fun and get your work published so that everyone can see your name. See us TODAY or call ext 2460 for more info.

A Drake Transfer Student Scholarship Will Pay Off Now... And Later.

APPLY NOW!
Applications Due March 5, 1992.

If you're an outstanding community college student who is considering Drake University, apply now for Drake's Presidential Community College Scholarship for transfer students. It could pay off now in a $4,500 scholarship, and your Drake degree will pay off later when you're ready to start your career!

Applicants must be completing a two-year program at a community college, have a cumulative GPA of 3.25 or above, be a full-time student entering Drake University, and have demonstrated leadership potential.

Call the Office of Admission today at 515-271-3181 or 1-800-44-DRAKE for your application and more information.

Drake
DRAKE UNIVERSITY

2507 University Avenue Des Moines, Iowa 50311

Free Pregnancy Testing Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Crisis Pregnancy Center

708/965-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Make a contribution to life after death.

THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION MEMORIAL PROGRAM

1-800-242-8721

American Heart Association

This source provided as a public service. © 1992 American Heart Association

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, February 6, 1992 7

Help Wanted

MALE CNA'S
for long-term quid case
Prospect Heights area
Call 592-2909 Alpha
Christian Registry

* EXTRA INCOME ***
Earn $200-$500 weekly
mailing 1992 travel
brochures. For more information send a self addressed stamped envelope to J.R.
Travel, P.O. Box
612291, Miami, FL
33181

Summer Marketing
Management positions available in your hometown. Average
1991 earnings $5000-7000. Join the more than 5000 students that are in our program nationally (92% success rate). Call
Triple "A" Student
Pointers at 1-800-888-
9346 TODAY!

Models/Dancers/Actresses
needed for the music industry. No experience necessary. For more information call
Rockland Phone at 708-663-1655. Ask for Brian

Marketing Assistant
Evenings or days. Start
at $8.00 an hour. Inquire at 708-303-9170 ext.
317. Ask for Phil

Travel

Spend Your
"Spring Break"
having FUN in the SUN
at Daytona Beach.
Beachfront accommodations for 7 fun filled nights. Pool deck parties. Round trip motor coach. All taxes
- tips included $114 w/out trans $199 w/trans. Call Trish at 881-0651

Hawke Spring Break Bikes!
Concun from $389 with
airfare. Also, South
Padre starting at $139.
Need more information,
contact Dave at 540-7404 or Mike at 298-7457

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know that the right
combination of vitamins,
minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? Try
FOCUS NO PILLS! (708)
658-5391

Help Wanted

GOVERNMENT SEIZED
Fords, Mercedes
Corvettes, Chevy's
Surgis, Burger's Guide
(71) 805-962-6000
ext. 5-1053

Services

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs. Includes
DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608. Evening and weekend appointments
available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300
Barrington Road, Suite
400, Hoffman Estates, IL
60195

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every student is eligible
for Financial Aid. Write
today for FREE
information.
Scholarship Plus Funders
M. Knapp—Digi. HCL
5 Elm Creek Dr. #305
Elmhurst, IL 60126

Professional Ward Processing

at rates you can afford.
Reports, resumes, cover
letters, anything you need
in print. FREE laser print.
FREE spot checks. FREE
COVER PAGE! Call Tony
Randy @ 708-595-4883

Need Money for College?

Scholarships, Grants
and Financial Aid are available to everyone.
All students qualify.
Guaranteed. Call or write for details.
Education For Everyone,
3291 Meyer Drive
Lisle, IL 60532 708-
664-2369

Services

WP Service
Term papers, resumes
etc. $1.50 per page. Will pick up. Term 708-392-0628

Resume Service
Term Papers Typed
Quality work at reasonable prices. Make a lasting impression.
Call Specialized Office
Service 708-894-6477

THE PERFECT PAGE

WP SVS
Term papers, resumes,
letter printing & more!
Call Janet @ 540-1443.
Low rates

Are you pregnant, alone, scared?
Open Arms can help you
with counseling and support. Call Jill or Roseanne at 312-784-
6500. Monday-Friday,
9 to 5

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN
MUSCLE
Breakthru products used
by trainers, athletes,
doctors. Weight Loss
without drugs, denial or deprivation from 5-100
lbs. Lose muscle gone
with proven effective
non-steroidal formulation. 708-658-5391

Fitness

The Search Is Over...
Why are so many NFL
Athletes, MD's,
business professionals
and body builders jyming
in record numbers?
Fastest growing
nutrition and fitness
company will create
more millionaires than
any company in history.
CALL NOW!
708-658-5391

Lost & Found

Found - One bracelet,
February 3, 92
in front of
Building A.
Please call 708-453-0250
or 708-453-0362.

Don't Forget
To Vote

Roommates

Single Female
looking for roommate for
2 bedroom condo in Schaumburg $300 per month plus 1/2 utilities.
Female, non-smoker. Call
Vicki at 885-8845

Harbinger
Student Sponsor
to cover
Harper
Sports. If you are a Sports
Nut and want to be part of a super team, Call The Harbinger, ext. 2464.

SPRING BREAK
DAYTONA BEACH

- High quality beachfront accommodations for 7 exciting nights.
- Round trip chartered motor coach.
- Free pool deck games, activities &
entertainment.
- Free Campus Programs 10-Discussion
and
- Discussion staff for computer assistance.
- All taxes, tips & service charges included!

$119 $204

CALL:
SARAH at 398-6438

Not Sponsored by Harper College

"LAST YEAR I EARNED A 3.5 AND $10,000."

"My G.P.A. went up last year, but I guess that figures. A major university study showed that students who work 15 to 20 hours a week do better academically. It's true for me. And I've got UTS to thank for it."

"I know students who work for UTS do better financially. I'm working part-time and making about $10,000 a year. The hours are good too. I only work about four hours per day, so I still have time for classes and study. Chances are you'll be offered a position in Operations. But you could wind up working in Accounting, Industrial Engineering, IS or Customer Service."

"Think of it—great pay, flexible hours and maybe even better grades. There isn't another outfit anywhere with a better deal than that. That's a lot better than average."

Openings exist at UTS Palatine, 2100 Hicks Road (corner of Rand and Hicks). Interviews conducted Monday's 3pm to 5pm and Wednesday's 9am to 11am. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Call 705-6425 for more information.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US. UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

OPINIONS/SPORTS EXTRAS

Recession said to be eye opener

Laura Ashley
Able Editor

Recently, other countries have accused us of being fat and lazy. At first we were angry; now it is time to think. Are we really fat and lazy? Think hard; you may not like your answer. What we see around us are failing and struggling industries, which were once strong and healthy.

We must ask ourselves why these large companies are now in trouble. Did they try to keep up with the times? Did they ignore the consumer?

Let's take a look at the auto industry, back in the '70's during the oil crisis.

Our U.S. manufacturers continued to produce large gas-guzzling cars. Thinking back, the automakers only began to produce economical and smaller cars after another country came in cornered the market.

Going into the 80's we see Detroit creating the same cars mechanically with slightly different styling. The average American automobile takes 10 years to have major mechanical changes. On the other hand, foreign countries are able to make changes within three years.

We have allowed ourselves to forget about the future.

Who would of thought foreign companies would be so powerful?

We should have.

Our companies must learn to protect themselves by reinventing and strengthening companies. The time has come for us to be the innovative leaders we know we can be.

In my opinion this recession has been the eye-opener we needed to divert us from our path of deterioration.

Wrestling team going for the win

Chris Seitz
Guest Sports Writer

The Harper Wrestling team traveled to Dowagiac, Michigan this past weekend where they saw action in the Chris Taylor Memorial tournament at Southwest Michigan College.

As a team, the wrestlers placed first in a field of seven, 33 points ahead of second placed Triton College.

Four champions were from Harper: Martin Sanchez at 118, Larry LeGrande at 134, Bob Mitchell at 142 and Bret Giejer at 158.

The first place finish was the second in a row for Sanchez and the first of the season for both Mitchell and Giejer.

LeGrande's performance earned him honors as Outstanding Wrestler of the Tournament.

The tournament was the first of the season for LeGrande and he came out swinging, pinning his opponent in the finals.

"We've taken some ordinary athletes and done some extraordinary things," Head Coach Norm Lovelace said of his team.

"The team has really surged over these past few tournaments."

The team placed second a week ago at a tournament at Maranatha Baptist College in Watertown Wisconsin, and won their own Harper invite a week before that.

Phil March placed first at Harper, earning the Most Valuable award.

"Coach works us like field horses, but it all pays off when we win tournaments like at Harper and Michigan," said Sanchez.

The Hawks are in the tenth position this week in the national rankings, two up from last week's twelve spot.

The team goes to College of DuPage this weekend where they will face COD and Belleville Area College.

"We've got our work cut out this weekend," Coach Dan Lopriano said of the upcoming weekend.

"It's going to be tough," he added, "but not as tough as quadratic equations."

PhotoPinion

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION:

Do you feel the Gay and Lesbian Club should be allowed on campus?

Tonya Ward

"We should let them have their club. It's their business. I'm not saying I'm all for gays. I know some gay people and they're nice. That's their business and they can do what they want to do. It would be discrimination not to allow their club on campus."

Miles Cotillier

"It's really their decision. If they have the club, there might be sides of things that people don't like, or there might be good. It might give the school some recognition as being liberal and understanding and representing everyone."

Khanh Nguyen

"They were born that way. I believe they just want to be treated normal just like us. I think we should respect them as long as what they do is safe. I have nothing against them."

Pam Barbour

"They should be allowed to have their club on campus. Discreetly. It is their right. I don't think anyone has the right to intrude on that. By the same token, they should not be encouraging people who they don't know to come and join unless these people approach them."

THE HARBLINGER

February 13, 1992

Gay and Lesbian club receives tentative recognition

Advisory referendum to help decide formal recognition

Joi Palmer
Hartberg Managing Editor

The Gay and Lesbian Club received tentative recognition last Friday when Laralyn Davis, president of Student Senate, vetoed the Senate's earlier decision to deny its recognition.

It was decided that a student referendum would be held to determine how groups should go about achieving recognition.

On January 24, Student Senate voted 4 to 3 against the recognition of the Gay and Lesbian Club.

Before the vote, Renne Henry, vice president of Student Affairs, spoke to the senate about cases involving homosexual clubs on other campuses.

Quitting from Harper's mission statement, Henry spoke about cultural diversity and said homosexuality also is part of that diversity.

A person's rights to freedom of speech and personal liberty under the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution were also discussed.

During this discussion, Josh Novak, vice president of senate, asked "what does this have to do with the issue?"

After lengthy discussion the senate meeting was called into

It was decided the referendum would be advisory.

Novak will hold the committee to draw up the referendum.

"Their decision could've been more fact based."
Glenn Nehlsen

Novak said he would like the club's name appear on the referendum.

It is anyone's guess as to how the referendum will be written, said

"I don't think they will try to hurt anyone" (in the group).

Student Senate did not change its views at this meeting. Instead, the decision to deny the club recognition was vetoed, and the gay and lesbian group now has tentative recognition.

"I think their decisions could've been more fact based," Glenn Nehlsen, president of the Gay and Lesbian Club, said.

"I had originally wanted the club to go through because I think it is their right to meet on campus"
Laralyn Davis

"Overall I'm happy with our appeal, but we were going to have to see with formal recognition," Nehlsen said.

Davis said that she has to make difficult decisions on issues like the Gay and Lesbian Club.

"I had originally wanted the club to go through because I think it is their right to meet on campus," Davis said.

"I do think that the gay and lesbian students should be able to meet on campus.

In the event they were not permitted to meet on campus, it would be a violation of their First and Fourteenth Amendments, and basically, Harper could be in legal troubles, she added.

"In the best interest of Harper College, they should be permitted. The special interest groups on campus have the right to be here. Hindu clubs, ski clubs."

"Everything is divided into special interest groups so really it is no different than any other group."

"It is different in the reason they are meeting, but it still is a special interest group," Davis said.

AIDS quilt shown around the country an eye-opener

Pam Barlow
Hartberg Staff

The AIDS quilt was begun by a man named Cleve Jones in 1987 when he met with six other people in an empty San Francisco storefront. Each person told stories of friends or loved ones who had died from AIDS. By threading a few needles and using scraps of fabric, they began what is known today as the AIDS quilt. As awareness of the quilt grew, so did participation. For the first time, the NAMES Project displayed the quilt at the Capitol Mall, Washington, D.C., on Oct. 11, 1987. The quilt covered a space just larger than two football fields. It was composed of 1920 panels. A half million people viewed the quilt that weekend. This led to a four-month 28-city national tour in the spring of 1988. This raised about one-half million dollars. The quilt was shown for a second time in Washington, D.C., in October 1988. The quilt had grown to 8,206 panels from 1,920 panels previously. It is nominated for a Nobel Peace Prize in 1988.

In 1989, the quilt was seen in an additional 19 cities as well as 20 countries prior to that in both North America and Canada. It was then displayed for a third time in its entirety in Washington, D.C. That same year (1989) the movie "Common Threads: Stories from the Quilt" won an Academy Award for best feature documentary.

In 1990, nearly 280 displays were held worldwide and a live-city display was held in October. The NAMES Project has hosted more than 500 displays of the quilt. The goal of NAMES is to illustrate the enormity of the AIDS epidemic, provide a positive and creative means of expression and raise funds and encourage support. AIDS victims represented on the quilt account for 12 percent of all U.S. AIDS deaths and 70 percent of AIDS deaths worldwide.

"I have never understood AIDS or the people who have it. You have shown me that people with AIDS are the same as you and me. Thank you for opening my eyes."
High-school student
Rhode Island

The NAMES Project quilt are to increase financial resources for AIDS service organizations and congregations, increase volunteerism, display the quilt worldwide, help others deal with their grief and store and maintain the quilt.

One high school student from Rhode Island was quoted as saying, "I have never understood AIDS or the people who have it. You have shown me that people with AIDS are the same as you and me. Thank you for opening my eyes."

A volunteer from Atlanta, Ga. says, "I learned there is that week end that I have in years."

President George Bush is quoted as saying, "These amazing people prove that no one is a statistic. Every life has its own fabric, its own colors, its own soul."

Displays for the AIDS quilt at Harper College are Friday, March 13, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday, March 14, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be an opening ceremony beginning in Building A. It will compose of unfolding a 12 foot x 12 foot panel and all will proceed to Building M. There will be four guest speakers, including AIDS victims.

The quilt is now 14,780 panels, each being 3 feet x 6 feet and roughly representing the length of one grasshopper. The quilt weighs 16 tons and is the length of 96 football fields. There is a quilting bee Saturday, Feb. 22, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in H114. Panels made at the quilting bee will join the other panels in the AIDS Memorial Quilt for the International Quilt Display in October 1992 in Washington, D.C.

Volunteers are needed. Greeters, monitors, actors and supporters are needed. A training session will be held Feb. 21. If you cannot attend the training session, videotapes will be available. The National Quilt Display will be October 9 to 11.

Call: Student Activities, ext. 2242 or Health Services, ext. 2268.

INSIDE

Commentary

Letters to the Editor

Page 2

INSIDE

Commentary

Feinstein's
Whole lot Noise

Page 3

INSIDE

Arts and Entertainment

Classical Music
Field Museum

Page 4

INSIDE

Arts and Entertainment

Clouds Breath Corner

Page 5

INSIDE

Sports

Football coverage
Winter Sports

Page 8

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Roger Mangel
Business Manager	Gary A. Tickle
Managing Editor	Joe Palmer
A & E Editor	Laura Ashley
Photo Editor	Mary Ma
Sports Editor	Mam Tivak
Copy Editor	Alma Chisholm
Faculty Advisor	Susanne Havlic

EDITORIAL

Where's help when you need it?

As you might have noticed, the Harbinger has been looking for writers. There are approximately 20,000 students on campus. Our staff is represented by a mere 0.055 percent of those 20,000 students. Think of a pie, and then think of The Harbinger staff as a mere atom, a small speck of that pie.

What's happened to school spirit? What has happened to the days when students were genuinely interested in helping and giving time to other activities? Nowadays most people are so busy with their personal lives that giving time to other activities is out of the question.

There is an easy solution to this. Although it may not work for all, it can work if people really set their minds to it.

The solution takes a few parts: One, don't get caught in a situation where you have too many projects you can't handle. Two, think about how you can better yourself while still helping others (Good example - work as a reporter for The Harbinger. You will gain writing experience and at the same time you'd help us out). Three, don't be afraid to say "no". In all aspects of our lives we are faced with having to make tough decisions.

In many situations, we're not going to like those decisions. By the same token, one doesn't have to put up with every difficult decision in life.

When you realize there is a simple solution to your problem, act on it; don't procrastinate. Get done what you have to get done today, so tomorrow can be a better day.

Joe Palmer

Joe Palmer
Managing Editor

Staff

Pam Barbour, David Beyer, Jason Peterson, Cybil Kaufman, Gina Perdue, Michael Skura, Alexandra Young-Harvey

COMMENTARY

Letters to The Editor

Support for Gay and Lesbian Club

Dear Editor

This letter is in response to the headline story in the January 30 issue of The Harbinger. "Student Senate says no to homosexuals." As counterpoints on this campus, we feel it is important to express our diversity concerning the vote by the Student Senate to turn down the application of the Gay and Lesbian Club.

We urge students, staff and faculty on this campus to remember that promoting and valuing cultural diversity on this campus also includes sexual orientation and preference. We understand and acknowledge that it is not possible, nor is it desirable for all people to have the same beliefs or values. However, along with the reality that this diversity brings, comes the importance of tolerance and accepting that someone may make choices or have an identity that is different from one's own.

Labeling this campus as conservative is inaccurate. Additionally, there are many conservative people who would support the right of any and all groups to assemble. We support the formation of the Gay and Lesbian Club at Harper College.

signed by,

Shari Pergrich

Colene Moore
John Pagandrea
Janet Fried Westley
Frances F. Brantley
Joan Kindle
Anna Crawley
Denesce Hufalin
Linda Francis
Chris Panick
Barbara Olson
Joyce Nolan
Diane Perlath Trickey
Stephanie Burrell
Audrey Jobody
Shaun Finkelschtein
Laure Gunning
Chris Staath
Joan Powell

Student Development

Dear Editor

This is pertaining to your article on "Student Senate says no to homosexuals" dated January 30, 1992.

First concerning Mr. Novak's quote of, "I cannot support something that may promote things that may be unhealthy for people emotionally and physically." Mr. Novak's quote lacks intelligence of a man who lives in the day and age of AIDS.

I have news for him (Mr. Novak) that even homosexual relationships have a chance of being unhealthy. AIDS does not discriminate Mr. Novak. These public service announcements on television are not just for the homosexual community.

Mr. Ensmann's statement that the club is promoting a sexual preference also bewilders me.

I have not been exposed to the promotion of homosexuality on campus, but gatherings such as the Gay and Lesbian parade in Chicago, which is strongly supported by the mayor of the great City of Chicago, do exist. Are Harper students isolated from the Chicago club area and the rest of the free world?

If homosexuals can have a club on campus, where should their place be?

I have not met Mr. Ensmann or Mr. Novak, but at least we all agree on one thing, we are not "gay busters" or "homophobic." Personally I go with what the Bible states in Leviticus 18:22.

On the other hand, I do believe in the inalienable rights of individuals. I am honestly discharged from the U. S. Army. These rights are what I protected and fought for.

Agreeing with sexual preference or not, these individuals should have a club on campus.

Steven E. Lutz
Student

Dear Editor

When I read about the Student Senate's recent decision to deny club status to the gay and lesbian students at Harper, I was appalled.

The reasoning behind the decision was discriminatory and based solely on the sexual orientation of the interested members. University campuses across the country have established clubs for its homosexual students. Because an unrepresentative few are so disillusioned as to discriminate against a group because it takes a different focus than the other clubs here at Harper, all of the students here are getting media attention as closed-minded, stereotypical and unaccepting.

I was shocked and embarrassed after reading the article in the Daily Herald. I think the students who are supposed to be representing Harper need to re-examine their roles on the scene.

If they are doing their job correctly, they must represent all students at Harper regardless of race, sex or sexual orientation.

Because one person's lifestyle is different from your own, it does not make it wrong; it only makes it different and that is what this country is based on - allowance and recognition of difference.

Lauren Provantano
Student

Dear Editor

This letter is in response to the January 30 article on the gay and lesbian rejection. I feel as a student at Harper College that the gay and lesbian club should be allowed in Harper. Just because they (gay/lesbian) have a different sexual preference than most people, who are we to judge if it is right or wrong? Rejecting them would be like rejecting a group of religious students who would like to meet just because most of us don't agree with their choice of religion. On a different subject, I do agree, though, the Student Senate should have the power they deserve. They were voted by the students of Harper College and represent them, and their decision is the decision of the student body. If we didn't think they could do the job, we wouldn't have elected them.

Kelly Waterman
Student

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administrators. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorial. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1992 The Harbinger, all rights reserved.

Letters To The Editor

Let's kill all the clubs

Dear Editor

All student organizations at Harper should be abolished immediately. Let me tell you why.

First, let me thank that Student Senate for waking me up to the terrible danger of student organizations. The senate voted not to recognize a gay and lesbian organization. Their logic was fairly strong, but as any logic student knows, you also need to have good premises of the senate's argument. There seem to be three:

- 1) homosexuality is dangerous
- 2) a student organization of homosexuals will promote their lifestyle, and
- 3) an organization that promotes something dangerous should not be recognized.

Now these premises are truly scary, and I now see that I have been too lenient toward students. For I now see clearly that heterosexuality is dangerous. It can easily lead to pregnancy, disease and even AIDS. That is, unless responsible sex is possible. But the senate has alerted me to question this.

Furthermore I now see that any student organization will promote its activity. If you have a bridge club, you will get more bridge players. If there is a literature club, there will be more people interested in literature. Apparently the club will cause more people to enjoy the activity. (Although I am not clear why people would want to join a bridge club if they were not bridge players in the first place, nor why people would want to join an organization for gays, unless they were already gay.)

Can you imagine a college campus that allows organizations of people of opposite sexes to mingle and enjoy themselves? The argument seems impeccable. Since heterosexuality is dangerous, and since a student organization of heterosexuals will promote heterosexuality, such an organization will promote something dangerous. As a next step, since a school should protect students from danger, all student activities should be banned immediately. Down with all clubs!

I give you one more argument. Either I am taking the argument I just made seriously or else I am joking fun at the Student Senate's argument. There is an implicit promise and an implicit conclusion to this argument. I will let you figure them out.

Jerome A. Stone
Professor of Philosophy

More support for Gay and Lesbian Club

Dear Editor

This letter is in response to the January 30 article concerning the rejection of the Gay and Lesbian Club as an official club at Harper College. Let me first say that I am appalled by the Student Senate's naivete and bigotry. It's nice to know that homophobia is alive and well on Harper's campus.

In response to Matt Eneman's (senior representing Life Sciences and Human Services) quote, "It's not that I think homosexuals shouldn't have a place on campus. I just don't think that they should be allowed to have a club promoting their sexual preference." I would like to point out that by voting against the formation of the club you have indeed stated that gays and lesbians should not have a place on campus. Your remark and your actions bring to light the fact that you are a hypocrite. Every individual has the right to express his or her preference whether you think so or not.

If the Student Senate is so concerned about the repercussions that such a club would have upon Harper's reputation, it should be pressed on all admissions applications, "HOMOSEXUALS NEED NOT APPLY."

As long as Harper College continues to admit and accept tuition money from homosexuals they have every right to have their own club.

In response to Josh Novak's

(vice president of the Student Senate) comment, "I agreed with every point Matt made at the meeting. Allowing this club to be admitted would be like supporting a smoker's club, knowing the possible damage that could be done. I cannot support something that may promote things that may be unhealthy for people emotionally and physically."

I ask where do you get your facts from to say that homosexuality may be unhealthy for people emotionally or any other way?

Who are you to pass judgment upon others?

As far as Josh Novak's concern that if the decision is overturned it will point out how insignificant Student Senate really is on campus, I wish to point out that as members of the Student Senate you are to represent the entire student body not just a few select prejudices.

Last, as far as Josh Novak's comment, "We just don't agree with the lifestyles and the reputation that goes along with it." I say it does not matter if you agree with the lifestyle or not, but you must acknowledge the presence of gays and lesbians on campus and their right to form their own club.

Debbie Rusten
Student

Jason Feinstein A whole lotta Noise

Well hello again, conflict fans. Yes I am back. It was nothing serious, just a mild fever that I'll be alright. I am sorry to disappoint you, but I'll live. This week I'll bring you up to date on the Senate/Gay and Lesbian club conflict. This is a topic that I really did not want to write about. Although I like an orderly topic, this topic may offend everyone involved.

As we should know, the club was permitted. Well let's take a look at the two main parties involved, shall we?

But before we do, I had better make something crystal clear. This is an opinion column, pure commentary. I am not saying who is right and who is wrong. I am saying who I THINK is right and who is wrong. Capiche? Good. Now back to the matter at hand. As I was saying, we have two parties involved. The first being the Student Senate. I spoke with the Senate President, Laralyn Davis. Although I do not agree with the Senate's position whatsoever, I was indeed impressed with President Davis's candor and her openness. I want to express my thanks to her for talking with me.

Now understanding these good wishes, I feel compelled to comment on the Senate's actions in dealing with the Gay and Lesbian club. I am not siding with Glen Nobleson, the president of said club either. I can see both sides of the issue.

On one hand, I definitely and positively do not condone homosexuality in any way. I believe it to be a deviant lifestyle. To me, it seems unnatural. Also, perhaps if it weren't for the homosexuals, AIDS would not be an out of control as it is. But that is an other column.

Before you start frothing at the mouth, let me make my point. It's reasonable to assume that a percent of Harper students, large or small, may have a need for a gay club. I say fine, let them have their club.

That is where I find that the Senate was wrong. By denying them their club, they are literally burying their heads in the sand. Whether the club was approved makes no matter. The homosexuals will still be there whether the club is "official" or not.

Nobleson made an interesting comment on the January 30 issue of the Harbinger. Mr. Nobleson said, "... they are prepared to do what must be done for justice to be served." Justice? Justice for who?

Did the Senate pass the club because it wanted to or did they pass it due to public pressure? I do not know. I am not "gay-bashing." I simply do not approve of that lifestyle, and that is my prerogative. Each of us has to make up his own mind and decide what is right for that individual.

Some last thoughts. What if a club for men were established? Or let's say a club for whites only. In all likelihood, the club would be considered racist. My parents belong to a country club that only elects "a certain type of member." Any club that has a membership based on the "exclusive principle" is never good news. It is just asking for trouble. But keeping people out can cause anger. This is one reason I don't play golf at that country club anymore. It is really worth it!

Think about your answer.

Classical music can relieve stress

By Lisa Kaufman
staff writer

"DA DA DA DUH!" Doesn't that stir something in you? Hilarious! It's the guide to the Galaxy, Douglas Adams. Okay, let me paint the scenario for you. It's Monday afternoon, 4:30 p.m., you're sitting in your car in the longest line of traffic you have ever encountered first-hand, and the radio stations are tuning their commercials to all as in exactly the same tone. Not one to give up your sanity quite so easily, you pop a tape into the cassette deck, crank up the volume and get ready to release your aggression to the thunderous sounds of Bach pumping through the speakers.

What? Did she say Bach?? Surely you jest!! Come now, don't avert your eyes from this article just yet. Okay, maybe the first few notes of Beethoven's 9th which started this story don't exactly turn you on. But, I pose this question to you: When was the last time you actually listened to some classical music without being coerced into it by those older and duller than you? In a time when stress is the natural part of life, classical music can have a positive influence on your life.

No one, not even those who are crossing their eyes and making gagging noises about my last sentence, can deny the lasting qualities of such music. It never directly occurred to most of us that the reason classical music has been around for several centuries is that the stuff is actually GOOD. Certainly all the good movie themes are classical in nature, and think of how dull those elevator rides would be. Seriously folks, classical music seems to have

"I don't expect to convert the tens of you reading this into Tchaikovsky worshippers"

Edie Kaufman

taken a bad rap among today's younger generation, despite its graceful composure and dynamic variance of themes. It is music that can be soothing at times and also emotionally grabbing. It's great music to relax to when you get stressed out, and it is wonderful for people that are sick of the mainstream and are looking for music that's a little different. For those on a college budget, it is also advantageous. For less than $5, listeners can find " sampler " CDs or tapes that contain movements from certain well-known symphonies.

Although I wasn't partial to classical music originally, I had long appreciated the talent involved in producing such music. My first inspiration into actually enjoying the stuff happened entirely by mistake. (Sorry, but no, it wasn't music appreciation class!) I was in a local record store when I noticed they were selling the soundtrack to "A Clockwork Orange" on CD. Being a fan of the movie, I forked out the money for this unusual collection of music. For those of you unfamiliar with the movie, it contains many abridged versions of Beethoven's Ninth, and the William Tell Overture, among other pieces. It was then that something snapped inside of me.

Not only was I listening to Beethoven, I was actually enjoying it!

I don't expect to convert the tens of you reading this into Tchaikovsky worshippers. I merely wish to assist in you readers a respect for the emotions, the style, and the amazing talent that have utilized their minds and souls to create such music.

I urge you try it out again. Classical music is nothing, yet something enough to expose a wide range of emotions and thrill the listener by encompassing a wide range of styles.

Field Museum events

The Field Museum will have several special exhibits for the month of March.

Every Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday in February they will celebrate cultural diversity with music, dance and theater performances during the month of February. Visitors will enjoy performances featuring Elizabeth Ncube, a traditional Zimbabwe praise poet, and the Pocomana Caribbean Dance Company to celebrate African and Afro-Caribbean heritage. In addition, there will be performances by Nigerian folk dancers, the Chinese Puppet Show, Theater, the Maxwell Street Klermer Band, Chinese American Service League, Polish National Alliance, Irish folk music can Jamie O'Reilly and more. All performances are free with regular Museum admission.

The museum also offers a family overnights! That's right. You and your family or friends can stay overnight at the museum. What would it be like to spend the night with wild animals and mummies? A variety of participatory activities, flashlight tours, an evening snack, a performance and a moon-and-shine breakfast are part of the program. Overnights are $30 per adult and $25 per child. They are scheduled throughout the year. The next one will be March 14. For details, call the education department at the Field Museum (312) 922-8851.

CASH AWARDS FOR POINT OF VIEW WINNERS STILL TIME TO ENTER WRITING AND ART

The good news is that three cash prizes of $100 each have been confirmed for this year's Point of View winners.

The better news is that there is still time for students to enter their poetry, fiction, photography and two and three dimensional art.

This year's Point of View, as it has in the past, will award $100 prizes for each of the following awards: THE VIVIAN STEWART AWARD FOR WRITING-$100; THE POINT OF VIEW AWARD FOR WRITING-$100; THE RAY MILLS AWARD FOR ART-$100.

The final submission date is February 21, 1992.

Literary Editor Jody Shipka and Art Editor Amy Reichert are putting together teams of judges to select work for publication. They expect to begin production of the magazine in March.

For additional information about submissions contact Dr. Frank Smith in the Liberal Arts Division office F-313 or ext. 2777.

The Harbinger
YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

Blues & Rock Nightclub
20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
FEBRUARY
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

14 "Pink Floyd: Genesis"
ECLIPSE
Great Light Show!

15 "Formerly Street Kids"
KID SLAM
plus SWIFT KICK

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage.
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied.
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS.
Call the club for details.

COLLEGE NIGHT LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt
GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With This Coupon

BALLOON DROP WITH CASH PRIZES
Every Week During Band Night!

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS
5:30 to 9pm and 9:30 to 11pm Mon. thru Thurs.
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY - 5:30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room
3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

Who will entertain us ?

Ernie Kauffman

staff writer

Mark your calendars. Harper College is planning a concert for May first, the performers of which have not yet been named.

The concert will be either a musical or comedy event, and is one of the two big concerts allowed per semester by the Harper Program Board. The AID's Quik, which will be appearing at Harper shortly, has a high enough budget to be considered as one of the two allowed concerts. The two concerts are funded via student activity fees and any admission charged for the event.

The head of the Harper Program Board, which plans these events for the students, is Scott Quigg, the concert chairman. He states the reason for reserving the May 1st date without having a guaranteed performer is due to the high demand of building M, where the concert is scheduled to take place.

Quigg is in charge of deciding who to consider as a performer for such events. He does so by asking students on the program board, as well as students in his classes what they think about the kinds of acts they are considering.

Michael Neuman, who is the Student Activities Coordinator and also serves as advisor to the Program Board. Neuman is responsible for contacting agents and getting information on the proposed groups or shows. He also is in charge of booking the act, if it seems to be what the students want and if they are available on the date provided.

It is often difficult to find quality entertainment that will still accommodate Harper's budget. Quigg had mentioned that at one point the board wanted to book the alternative group, Narvana, but with the success of their new album, their prices exceeded Harper's budget by about $10,000.

Harper is often out-bid by other more profitable schools. Last year, they tried to get L.L. Cool J to perform, but as they almost had the contract signed, the University of Illinois in Chicago offered $5,000 in addition to Harper's original offer. The amount allowed by Harper for these big concert events is $5,000, but they often book bigger name acts and supplement the extra cost through charging the students admission. Any extra money generated by an event is put back in the Program Board for future event funding.

At this time, the act that the Board is trying to arrange for May 1st cannot be disclosed in print. The Program Board requested that the act they are trying to book remain anonymous in case of complications with arranging the entertainment.

However, readers can expect a funny surprise if things work out as they are planned at this writing.

When asked what happens if the Program Board should fail to book ANY entertainment for May 1st, both Quigg and Neuman had the same resounding answer, "We will!"

CLODSBREATH'S CORNER

By Daniel Beyer

HealthCorner

FOR HEALTH THAT MATTERS

Drug awareness week schedule

Monday

February 24th

9:00am-1:00pm

BACCHUS'S BARK 'weekdays'

A Student Center

1:00pm

"DRUGS AND THE LAW"

Drug enforcement agency

E 107

8:00pm

ALANON meeting

info ext 2626

Tuesday

February 25th

9:00am-1:00pm

BACCHUS'S Natural high wall

A Student Center

7:30pm

ACOA meeting

info ext 2626

Wednesday

February 26th

9:00am-1:00pm

BACCHUS'S Natural high wall

Wednesday cont.

2:00pm

"DECEPTION/Contemporary comedy"

J 143 Theater

admission is free

Thursday

February 27th

7:30pm

AA meeting

info ext 2626

You'll laugh. You'll cry. You'll hug!

WAYNE'S WORLD

PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS A LORNE MICHAELS PRODUCTION A PENelope SPIEGLER FILM WAYNE'S WORLD MIKE MYERS DANA CARVEY AND ROB LOWE MUSIC BY HOWARD W. KOSHA JR. COSTUME DESIGNER MIKE MYERS EDITOR MIKE MYERS AND BONNIE TURNER EXECUTIVE PRODUCERS LORNE MICHAELS AND PENelope SPIEGLER PRODUCED BY LORNE MICHAELS AND PENelope SPIEGLER WRITTEN BY LORNE MICHAELS AND PENelope SPIEGLER DIRECTED BY PENelope SPIEGLER

Opens February 14 At Theatres Everywhere

The Arts

Culture Quest
Local Theatre
Play Reviews
Museums
Foreign Films

PhotoPinion

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Photos by Malvyn Ma

What does Valentine's Day mean to you ?

Dan Steinkeller
Valentine's day means to me a chance when I can get with my love ones, my girl friend and family to have a happy night together."

Masood Bokhari
"Valentine's Day means to me a way of expressing your friendship or love toward your love ones or your friends."

Laura Mertes
Valentine's is a time to share with love ones and it's also a time to receive flowers and spend the day with someone that you love."

P.T. Watkins
"Valentine's day to me means being with as many women as possible in one single day."

NewsBriefs

COLLEGE NEWS UPDATE

Faculty Senate Student Scholarship Application

A scholarship will be awarded by a faculty committee to full-time or part-time Harper students who have demonstrated academic achievement, some consideration will be given to financial need. The intent of the scholarship is to assist each student selected in paying tuition for up to, but not exceeding, fifteen (15) credit hours in the current academic semester. (The amount is based on current in-district tuition rates, not to exceed $450.)

The applicant must have twelve (12) hours of 100 (or above) level courses at Harper, have a 3.0 G.P.A. or better, not be a recipient of another scholarship, fellowship, or grant that covers full tuition or its equivalent. Applicant must currently be taking 6 credit hours, obtain and attach, by due date, recommendations by two Harper faculty members, at least one must be from a current Faculty Senate Union member. Applicant must attach a typewritten statement of no more than one page concerning future educational and career plans and goals. Applicant must submit the application by Monday March 9, to the Financial Aid Office, A-364. Contact the Financial Aid Office at ext. 2248 for more information.

Career Advice For AAS Graduates

Credits from your Associates of Applied Science (A.A.S.) degree receive proper recognition at Olivet Nazarene University. A significant number of your credit hours may transfer. By applying today for a bachelor's degree, you could enhance your career opportunities in two years.

Olivet. Noted for academic excellence.

Olivet
Nazarene University
School of Graduate and Adult Studies
Preferred by Adults

Classes forming now... close to work and home. Call today to attend an informational seminar.

815-939-5186 or 1-800-7-OLIVET
P.O. Box 502
Kankakee, Illinois 60801-0502

Education with a Christian Purpose

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris Pregnancy Center

708/985-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

WE'LL HELP YOU EARN $25,200 FOR COLLEGE.

Now the Army can help you earn more than ever before for college, if you qualify... up to $25,200 with the Montgomery GI Bill Plus the Army College Fund.

This could be the perfect opportunity to earn the money you need for college and develop the qualities that will help you succeed once you get there. For more information, call your local Army Recruiter.

(815) 455-5000

ARMY
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger, February 13, 1992 7

Help Wanted

EXTRA INCOME • Earn $200-$500 weekly selling 1992 travel brochures. For more information send a self-addressed stamped envelope to J.R. Travel, P.O. Box 812259, Miami, FL 33161.

Attention!! Need Part Time Work?

We have all types 8-1, 9-3, 12-5, 4-8 Perm P/T or temporary Great Pay • Clerical/Cust serv • neat/ncap • IT industrial Call Today! Snelling Personnel 520-7867

MALE CHA'S for long-term quad case Prospect Heights area Call 392-2955 Alpha Christian Registry.

Models/Dancers/Actresses needed for the music industry. No experience necessary. For more information call Rockland Photo at 708-843-1655 Ask for Brian.

Help Wanted

Summer Marketing/Management positions available in your hometown. Average 1991 earnings: $5000-7000. Join the more than 5000 students that are in our program nationwide (82% success rate). Call Triple 'A' Student Painters at 1-800-849-8346 TQ-DAY!

ASSEMBLERS: Excellent income to assemble products from your home. Info 504-846-1700 DEPT P3796

Marketing Assistant! Evenings or days. Start at $6.00 an hour. Inquire at 708-323-0190 ext 317 Ask for Phil

Fitness

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE Breakthrough products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight loss without drugs, dieting, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formula. 708-858-5391

Services

Legal Service FREE consultation for all your legal needs. Includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608 evening, and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60135

Secretarial Service Word processing, spreadsheets, graphs, graphics. Lower Quality. Call Lori at 785-5531

The Search is Over... Why are so many NFL Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW! 708-858-5391

Resume Service/ Term Papers Typed Quality work at reasonable prices. Make a lasting impression. Call Specialized Office Service 708-894-6477

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP 5.5 Term papers, resumes, letter printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443 Low rates

Are you pregnant, alone, scared? Open Arms can help you with counseling and support. Call Jill or Roseann at 312-784-8500 Monday - Friday, 8-10-5

IS MONEY FOR COLLEGE Every student is eligible for financial aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Finders M. Knueppel—Dept HC1 5 Elm Creek Dr #305 Elmhurst, IL 60120

Professional Word Processing or text, you can afford. Reports, resumes, cover letters, anything you need in print. FREE test print. FREE spell checks. FREE COVER PAGE! Call Today! Randy @ 708-595-4883

Signature
Nikos

For Sale

84 Mustang SVT 4 cyl. Turbo Yellow Special Edition. All power, alarm, 5 speed, excellent condition. Moving soon. Must sell! $4800 or best offer. Before 5 pm 708-593-1627 After 5pm 708-640-1662

Waterbed Floorlamp/table Queen size liquidon zip in mattress. Chroma 3 elm lamp to match table. Best offer 382-1141

GOVERNMENT SEIZED Vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyer's Guide (1) 803-982-6000 ext 5-1053

Nutrition For The Brain Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY FOCUS NO PILLS! (708) 458-5281

Travel

Spent Your "Spring Break" having FUN in the SUN at Daytona Beach. Beachfront accommodations for 7 fun filled nights. Pool deck parties. Round trip motor coach. All taxes. • tips included $114 w/out trans. $198 w/trans. Call Trish at 981-0811

SPRING BREAK '92 PANAMA CITY BEACH • "SELL THE MIRACLE MILE RESORT" • "THE MOST POPULAR BEACH LOCATION" • "NEXT TO THE WORLD'S LARGEST CLUBS" • "EARN THE MOST MONEY" • "EARN FREE TRIPS" • "CALL KIM 1-800-558-3062"

Roommates

Single Female looking for roommate for 2 bedroom condo in Schaumburg $300 per month plus 1-2 utilities. Female non-smoker. Call Vicki at 885-8845

Sexual Awareness Week

Monday February 17
"HIV Infection: Practicing What We Preach"
2:30 - 3:45 pm, Board Room, A315

Tuesday February 18
"Contraception and Disease Prevention"
12 noon - 1:30 pm, A242

Wednesday February 19
"Sex, Lies and Videotape: Living in the 90's"
12 noon - 1:30 pm, A241

"LAST YEAR I EARNED A 3.5 AND $10,000."

"My GPA went up last year but I guess that figures. A major university study showed that students who work 15 to 20 hours a week do better academically. It's true for me. And I've got UTS to thank for it."

"I know students who work for UTS do better financially. I'm working part-time and making about $10,000 a year. The hours are good too. I only work about four hours per day, so I still have time for classes and study. Chances are you'll be offered a position in Operations. But you could work up working in Accounting, Industrial Engineering, IS or Customer Service."

"Think of it—great pay, flexible hours and maybe even better grades. There isn't another outfit anywhere with a better deal than that. That's a lot better than average."

Openings exist at UTS Palatine, 2100 Hicks Road (corner of Rand and Hicks). Interviews conducted Monday's 3pm to 5pm and Wednesday's 11am to 1pm. We are an equal opportunity employer.

Call 705-6025 for more information.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US. UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

SPRING BREAK DAYTONA BEACH

- High quality beachfront accommodations for 7 fun filled nights
- Round trip chartered motor coach
- Free pool deck parties, activities & promotions
- Free Campus Programs 10% Discount card
- On location staff for complete assistance
- All taxes, tips & service charges included

$119 $204

CALL: SARAH at 398-6438

Not Sponsored by Harper College

SUPPORT RESEARCH

IS RESEARCH EQUIPMENT

American Heart Association

HARDINGER SPORTS

Holy Toledo! What a Turnaround

Harper Press Release

Harper football player Thomas Jackson is only 20 years old, but he has already seen quite a bit of life. Both bad and good.

The bad came right after his 19th birthday celebration. That was when Jackson was stabbed five times by a knife-wielding assailant. The good will come this fall when the Toledo graduate will sign a letter of intent for a full football scholarship to Toledo University in Toledo, Ohio.

In between all of this, Jackson made a stop at Harper. "My high school coach told us not to get in a fight," Jackson said. "He said that was the worst thing you could possibly do. Going to Harper was the best thing I could have ever done."

Jackson played only one year at Harper, but managed to earn second team all-NAC honors as a linebacker and a college recruiter.

"The Toledo recruiter watched our title game with Duquesne Nov. 9. He was there to look at Reggie Walls, the fullback at Duquesne. I had a good game and caught his attention. He called me one night. Toledo plays the same defense Harper uses. The coaches there seemed really enthused and I felt attached to them."

Harper Football

players right away."

Toledo: want Jackson to play either outside linebacker or strong safety. "They expect me to start," Jackson had high hopes when he graduated from Zoro Benson. In his senior year, Jackson scored four touchdowns in a game, three on offense and one on defense. Still, as a 6'0", 185 defensive tackle, Jackson felt he was playing out of his position. So did the college recruiters. With a lack of scholarship offers, he decided to walk on at Western Illinois.

After an ankle injury slowed him down, Jackson found himself in a money crunch. "I really needed to get a scholarship there," he said. "I felt like the wind had been knocked out of me."

Jackson took the advice he called a number of community colleges before settling on Harper.

A lot of kids know about coach (John) Thak. So I came and talked with him and I liked him. The plan was to come to Harper in the fall of 1990 and play football. That was before Sunday, August 5th.

Jackson's senior year began peacefully enough. A visit to a roller rink

FULL RIDE FOOTBALL SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

Paul Andrews	Defensive End
Mike Martinez	Outside Linebacker
Shawn Hawkins	Defensive Back
Jason Calabrese	Wide Receiver
Thomas Jackson	Linebacker
Mike Miller	Defensive Back
Tom Reuter	Outside Linebacker
Brian Gortals	Linebacker
Joe Pepunak	Defensive Linebacker
Dave Grubbs	Outside Linebacker
Joe Sartin	Quarterback
Steve Matthews

and a club. He then ran into a former high school classmate who may have been on drugs.

"There was a fight and I tried to break it up. It started over, so I turned and walked away. He came back with a bat and a knife. I jumped away from my friend's car. Then I felt like the wind had been knocked out of me."

Jackson's friend had also been wounded and was bleeding. Jackson was escorted about his buddy and said he hoped the victim would have buddies. Only then did Jackson look down at his own wounds. One wound cut into his intestines. There were two punctures of his liver and he had a punctured left lung.

Jackson recovered enough to be discharged from the hospital on August 13. He recovered at home in the fall and enrolled at Harper in the spring of 1991.

"I recommend going to Harper very highly. It's like coming out of high school again. I'll have three more years to play, plus I already have a year of college experience."

Jackson has an aunt in the Toledo area.

"I visited her my senior year in high school and we went riding around the Toledo campus. I never thought that one day I'd be coming here. Despite a few bumps in the road, it has worked out for Thomas Jackson."

Sports Notes

Track & Field

Looking for sprinters and throwers for both men and women. Practice begins February 3. Paperwork (physicals, etc.) due July 31 or prior to practice. See Renee Zeller, Track Coach, M228, ext. 2464.

Intermittent Sports

The 50 Point Sprint Pool Tournament has been rescheduled to Friday, February 21 at 2:00 PM. The sign up deadline is Wednesday, February 19th. Sign up at the Intramural Office room 202A in Building M. For more information call Jim Ryan at ext. 2963.

3 Point Shooting Contest

Three man teams will compete in a 3 point shooting contest at 12:00 PM on February 26 in the gym in Building M. Teamwork sign up on the spot for this event.

Intramural Basketball

Feb. 28th Thursday 7:10 Triumph vs. Iron Squad 8:10 The Titans vs. Bulls 9:10 SW Ward Hawks vs. Hawk Squad

All American turns Coach

Press Release

"T.R." has arrived and is ready to go. Harper has hired Tina Reimer as its new softball coach. She is a 1991 graduate of Dana College in Blair, Nebraska. "She was one of the best outfielders we've ever had here," said Dana softball coach Steve Kinsel. "She was always early for Kinsel." She was always early for Kinsel. "Reimer is a two time honorable mention All American at Dana. In her four years as the team's center fielder, her team lost only two conference games. "Two people who used to coach at Rock Valley told me about the Harper position," Reimer said. "I have high hopes. I want our team to be aggressive on the bases. Also, hustling, stealing and using the hit and run." Reimer currently employed by Marco Publishing Company of Rockford, "T.R." expects a lot from her players. Kinsel said "She won't settle for anything but the best." Harper's new coach begins practice Feb. 17.

En Turner practices her hitting technique as Coach Renee Zeller looks on.

REMAINING SCHEDULES FOR WINTER SPORTS

ATHLETE DIRECTOR: ROGER BEHTOLD
ASSISTANT ATHLETE DIRECTOR: MURIEL L. BOLT

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Head Coach: Tom Teschner

Feb. 18 Tuesday South Suburban

22 Saturday Section Playoffs

29 Tue. Sat. Region Tourney

National Tourney

Marquette Valley Palis Hills 5:00pm

TBA South Holland TBA

TBA TBA TBA

TBA TBA TBA

TBA TBA TBA

MEN'S & WOMEN'S SWIMMING

Head Coach: Norm Lovelace

Feb. 15-16 Sat. Sun. Region IV

Championships

College of DuPage NCAA Nationals

Mar. 4-7 Wed. Sat. Oklahoma City, OK

Assistant Coach: Dan Lopano Glen Ellyn 8:00am

Region IV Glen Ellyn

Championships

College of DuPage

NCAA Nationals

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Head Coach: Ron Oringer

Feb. 18 Tuesday

22 Saturday

25 Tuesday

27 Thursday

29 Saturday

Mar. 5-8 Thurs. Sat.

College of DuPage

National Div. II

Bay City, MI TBA

Assistant Coach: Duane Sell

Marquette Valley Palis Hills 7:00pm

South Suburban South Holland 7:00pm

Playoffs Region IV TBA 7:00pm

Playoffs Region IV TBA 7:00pm

Playoffs Region IV TBA 7:00pm

Region IV Finals Glen Ellyn TBA

National Div. II Bay City, MI TBA

National Div. II Bay City, MI TBA

WRESTLING

Head Coach: Gordon Ackerman

Feb. 15 Saturday

22 Saturday

Mar. 1-3 Mon. Tues.

Nationals

Assistant Coach: Dennis O'Brien

Lake County Home 12:00pm

Region IV Home 9:00am

Nationals Burnsville, ND TBA

THE HARBINGER

William Ransley Harper College

February 20, 1992

Volume XXVIII Number XXV

LSD: 'God in a pill' usage on the rise

No reported LSD usage on Harper campus

College Press Service

LSD's kaleidoscope colors, shapes and designs, as well as its darker sides are revealing themselves again to college students in the 1990s.

Although many thought the controversial drug died with the hippie culture of the 1960s, LSD is far from gone.

"How did LSD creep out of Bohemia into an upper middle class fancy? It is advertising," said Dr. Daniel X. Freedman, professor of psychiatry and psychology at UCLA, who has researched the effects of LSD on the brain since the late 1950s. "I saw LSD discovered 17 times in the popular press between 1960 and 1965. Part of it is the allure of this odd experience. There is definitely some renewed interest. I can tell you that from my telephone."

Known as one of the nation's experts on the drug, Freedman said that although LSD never went away, it is certainly back in vogue among drug users, scientists, the media, drug counselors and enforcement agents.

One user who asked to remain anonymous agreed, "LSD has definitely gone more mainstream," he said. "People are seeing the light."

On campus, Health Service and Public Safety said there are no known cases of LSD use or distribution.

"If a person was caught using, or selling LSD, they would face arrest and prosecution and they could face dismissal from school under the student conduct rules," said King.

At a recent national conference in San Francisco that addressed the renewed popularity of the drug, Robert Bonner of the Drug Enforcement Agency offered his reason for the upsurge.

"Kids today really have no knowledge of the adverse effects of LSD. And I'm afraid it's been said those who don't know history are doomed to repeat it," Bonner said.

Since 1938, when Dr. Albert Hofmann synthesized lysergic acid diethylamide in Switzerland, the drug has been called everything from "God in a pill" to the ultimate illusion of hell. Opinions toward the drug in still divided.

Social psychologist Lloyd Johnson, principal investigator of a University of Michigan Institute for Social Research annual study that documents drug use among college students, said LSD was "one of the earliest drugs to fall from popularity because of concern about adverse effects, such as flashbacks, bad trips, and possible neurological and chromosomal damage. However, these were concerns of an earlier generation."

There is a generation in the line now concerned about the growing trend of use, especially by college students, even though the increase in and overall use of LSD is certainly nowhere near epidemic proportions.

According to the most recent data released by the Michigan Institute, LSD use among college students has risen from 3.4 percent in 1989 to 5.1 percent in 1991, one of the few drugs with an increase in reported use.

The percentage of all young people who even tried the drug has dipped since 1975, the year the annual study began. In 1975, 11.3 percent reported trying LSD. That figure dropped steadily to 7.2 percent in 1986, but has slowly rebounded since, with 8.8 percent reporting experimentation in 1991.

LSD is known to be a great way to escape reality. Freedman said "most want to change their psychic skin and enhance new visions, new learning and new beliefs."

Cafeteria has a selection of salad toppings and cold-cuts to make your lunch taste good.

Photo by Mar. M.

Word Perfect 5.1 course opening in Spring semester

College Press Service

Registration is now taking place for a new section of Advanced Features for Word Perfect 5.1 that has been added to the Spring schedule. Section CSEC 240-0495 will meet weekly on Wednesday nights starting March 4 until April 29 from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. The tuition for the course is $30 plus a $20 lab fee. The prerequisite for this course is SEC 133 or the consent of the instructor. For more information, call Robert Zakowski at ext. 2555.

INSIDE

Commentary

Check out the Letter to the Editor

Page 2

INSIDE

Features

Interview with Mike Farrell

Page 3

INSIDE

Arts and Entertainment

Music Review - -
Buddy Guy

Page 4

INSIDE

Photo Spread

Virginia Slims
Tennis Tournament

Page 7

INSIDE

Sports

Hawks basketball highlights

Page 8

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Managing Editor
Business Manager
A & E Editor
Photo Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Faculty Advisor

Joe Palmer
Gary A. Tucker
Laura Ashley
Marty Mui
Marty Swak
Alisa Chisholm
Suzanne Hawke

EDITORIAL

Tune in, turn on, drop out: NOT!

Today's society is filled with many obstacles. One obstacle that's hitting America hard is the drug war. Drugs have been around for a real long time. It's only since the 1960's when we have knowledge of the nasty effects pot, cocaine, even cigarettes and alcohol have on the human body and mind.

One drug that was made popular in the 60's was LSD. Commonly referred to as acid, or "God in a Pill," LSD does some pretty strange things to the mind. It can radically distort all sense of perception and reality. It makes people go into "trips." These trips are when the mind is at its worst state or under the influence of the drug. People on LSD tune out of reality and create their own distorted one. Finally, there were studies done, and it was shown that LSD could make a person have flash-backs. Word of the study got around and people got scared. LSD virtually became more and more unpopular.

Now, enter the 80's, the drug problem escalates. Drugs get expensive. Bang, here comes LSD. It's cheap and now it's considered "safe" by its distributors.

People, especially teens, get curious, they find a cheap high, and all of a sudden LSD starts gaining popularity.

Here's a drug that's less expensive and safe too, they tell their friends. NOT! there is no known drug that is safe. But what a sales pitch to someone looking for a cheap way out of life's problems.

This country is never going to win the war on drugs. It seems we're getting into a nasty habit of bringing bad things from our past into today. If this is the case, what's next? Are we going to tune in to the problems of our society or are we following Timothy Leary's "tune in, turn on, and drop out" theory?

Joseph Palmer
Joseph Palmer
Managing Editor

Staff

Pam Barker, Daniel Boyer, Jason Fenneman, Ender Kordman, Gina Perillo, Michael Skott, Alexandra Youshkanov, John Pisk

COMMENTARY

Letters To The Editor

Everyone has freedom but how about rights?

Dear Editor

I would like to tell you what I feel this country is based on, ideals. Ideal's that give us hope, ideals that give us goals, our ideals give us strength. Without them we would be unable to imagine a better world and work for it. And one of our most cherished ideals is freedom. This country was founded by individuals that believed in freedom of the body, mind, and soul, and they fought to insure these freedoms. They also realized that which was most important was to protect the freedom of each individual, because only when every member of society is free are we all truly free. Thus, rules were set up to protect this great ideal of individual freedom in a not so ideal world. So while drugs, poverty, ignorance, violence, and a host of other ills may impede our freedom the ideal of freedom for all still shines through.

It is obvious that there would have been no question or debate about the gay and lesbian group unless the rights of others were involved. And that is what this whole debate boils down to, individual rights and freedoms. Harper College as an individual entity has the right to decide what clubs and organizations represent it. Student Senate as an individual entity has the right, and duty, to support clubs which it feels are not only representative but positive for the campus. The gay and lesbian student group also has the right and freedom to petition Senate to become an active club at Harper, which means they would represent Harper, use Harper facilities, use Harper student funds, and use Harper equipment.

Each one of these groups expressed their individual rights. The gay and lesbian group expressed their rights by petitioning Student Senate. Student Senate, as an entity, decided that a gay and lesbian club would not represent Harper well, would not be in the best interest of the students, and would not be in the best interest of the community. Harper College, through Bonnie Henry (a representative of the administration), expressed their feelings that the club should be at the school. And finally the Student Senate president, Laralyn Davis, expressed her individual rights by overturning Student Senate's decision, effectively granting the group tentative recognition.

No ones rights were stepped on. No injustices were done. Each individual expressed their freedoms, followed the rules, and came to a solution.

You see, freedom is not proven when everyone agrees; the true test of freedom comes when individuals with different beliefs can come together, respect one another, work together, and come to a fair just decision.

Josh Novak
Vice President, Student Senate

COURTROOM DRAMA PRESENTS:

We want to hear your views, so Write us a Letter To The Editor

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1992, The Harbinger, all rights reserved.

One man can make a difference: Mike Farrell

ALAN COMULO
Harbinger Staff Writer

Millions of Americans recognize Mike Farrell as the wisecracking surgeon, B.J. Hummick, on MDA's MASH. However, long before MDA's MASH became a phenomenon, Farrell was fighting another war—the war for human rights.

Farrell's impetus for activism stems from his belief that being a responsible citizen means striving to change society's injustices.

"What came to an understanding of what ought to be ours by birthright, it seemed to me to be an automatic," Farrell said. "We practice one thing and preach another. So, I've just tried to learn and beguile my servants to the point where I am today."

His civic contributions as a spokesman, narrator, actor, producer and director have helped increase public awareness about issues such as battered women, child abuse, human rights, handgun control, drug and alcohol abuse, suicide prevention, refugee aid, environmental problems, unethical animal treatment and the death penalty.

Farrell places his activist project above any other professional role. "I would sooner my being involved in the business than my being involved in the world," Farrell said. "Actually, my wife (Shelley Fabares) and I have a standing joke. She's an activist news anchor. That's been very successful. So as a result, she's been very successful. We joke about the possibility of my returning to become an itinerant human rights activist and letting her support me for the rest of my days. But so far, it's still a joke."

Mike Farrell

Farrell is still acting, but he devotes most of his time to fighting injustice. His hope is to open the public's eyes to some of the atrocities taking place in the world. In some way, MDA's MASH has helped him to deliver the message.

Suddenly because I was a member of a secular organization, people started to pray what I was saying rather than just ignoring it, like they had in the past," Farrell said.

He is also addressing the public via his "Life Since MDA's MASH: An Exchange of Ideas" lecture tour. Farrell's appearance at Harper last week brought MDA's MASH fans and fellow activists to J141.

Through his work with CON-CERN, an international refugee-aid organization, Farrell saw people who were brutalized by oppressors. "I saw and talked to people who had been tortured and seen their families slaughtered," Farrell said. "I discovered that people had, justifiably, rationalized and forgiven, and comforted or whatever, for these things to happen. We're not responsible in a direct sense. Although I think an argument can be made for the secret bombing of Cambodia, the dehumanization of that country makes us directly responsible. It doesn't seem, I understand that people can say 'I didn't do it.' It doesn't, in my view, make us free of responsibility."

When I was an El Salvador in 1983, one of the political prisoners we talked to was a man who opened his shirt to show us where acid had been poured on his chest to get him to talk about his fellow subversives," Farrell said.

Farrell said "And who was he? He was the president of the Teacher's Union, and his fellow subversives were teachers. They were accused of planting subversive ideas in the minds of their colleagues and their students."

Farrell said people are being shuddered from the truth. "People are confused by the fact that they are told one thing and shown another," Farrell said.

"They want to believe in their president, vice president, Congress, Senate, mayor and city council. But they are continually being given examples of their moral ineptitude, their moral turpitude and their will to ignore to shake ethical principles to get ahead, to get power and to get wealth. I think people are tremendously confused by what America truly stands for. And as a result of that, they pull at, become frightened, personally focused and what we call apathetic."

Farrell said people should take responsibility for society's actions. "If I stand in front of the White House with a sign that says, 'President Bush, you're a great guy. You're doing a great job. Everybody says what a patriotic fellow I am.'"

"If I stand across the street from the White House with a sign that says, 'President Bush, your war in the Middle East was unnecessary. You killed 30,000 Iraqis without need. Something is wrong. People say 'Do you think actors should be involved in politics?'"

"So the question really is, do actors have the right to disagree? I think the answer is fairly straightforward."

Regardless of his role, Farrell illustrates that one person can make a difference.

LEMON . . . Aid Anyone?

JIM JACOBSON
Harbinger Guest Writer

For most people, the purchase of an automobile will be their largest purchase. Unfortunately, the quality of the auto may be less than expected. Terrible knocking, constant stalling or dying, numerous engine overhauls... What can a consumer do when their purchase becomes a lemon?

Remember that the contract you sign to purchase the car is not written for your benefit. There will no doubt be a paragraph which states "the dealer discloses all warranties including warranty of merchantability." Yet, all is not lost because you still have rights, most of them against the manufacturer.

There are several state and federal laws that protect a new car purchaser (a used car purchaser also has remedies, but they are limited).

The most significant law that most car buyers have heard of is the New Car Buyers Protection Act (Lemon Law). This state law kicks in when you bring your car back to the seller 4 or more times for the same problem. However, there are several steps you must take before being entitled to a new auto or refund. First, you must notify the manufacturer directly and give them one or more chances to correct the problem. Then you must go through an arbitration process. If you are not satisfied with the results then you can file a lawsuit. However, the lawsuit must be filed within 18 months from the date you purchased the vehicle. There are several types of vehicles which this law specifically excludes, such as RVs or trucks, but sport utility vehicles may be covered.

Other laws which may offer protection to the new car buyer are implied contracts and warranty remedies. For example, if you receive your car from the dealer with a defect (engine knocks), they promise to fix the problem and they cannot fix the problem, you may revoke your acceptance of the automobile within a reasonable time period and receive your full refund. Or, if your car begins to have problems within the warranty period and the seller cannot fix the problems, then you are entitled to several types of remedies. Finally, the Federal Magnuson-Moss law creates warranties if the seller makes a warranty in writing. The court has held that when the dealer promises to do any repairs that are warranted by the manufacturer this creates a warranty by the dealer, even if the dealer disclaims all warranties.

ARE YOU READY TO START A NEW LIFE?

DIVORCE MAY BE THE ANSWER

CALL THE
LAW OFFICES OF
JACOBSON AND JACOBSON
(312) 346-9733
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 1410
CHICAGO, IL 60606

"LEARN TO PRACTICE IN ALL AREAS OF LAW"
"ALL FOR YOUR FIRST INITIAL CONSULTATION"

WHICH SCHOOL

TO SWITCH TO?

Explore the possibilities at Roosevelt University's TRANSFER DAY Wednesday, Feb. 26, 2-6 p.m.

Join us for informal, personal counseling in such areas as:

- Transfer credits
- Choosing a major
- Financial Aid

We'll help you decide if Roosevelt is right for you—and, if it is, how to go about transferring! For more information, call 708/437-9200.

Roosevelt University
430 North Dearborn Street • 1000 North Dearborn Street
ALBERT A. ROBIN CAMPUS
2121 S. Garfield Road
Arlington Heights, IL 60005

CAN YOUR TRASH

Eric Kaufman
Harbinger Staff Writer

Damn right, Buddy's got the blues

MUSIC REVIEW—Buddy Guy's Damn Right I've Got The Blues. When I first was asked to do this music review, I knew right away I wanted to something a little different from the typical pop album reviews. It was then that it hit me: what would be a better article for Chicago than to review a blues album. With that in mind, I focused on Buddy Guy's new album, "Damn Right I've Got The Blues." His first album in 12 years, Buddy Guy is finally going national, with a little help from his record company. It also occurred to me that if I was going to review this album, I had best get some information on the artist involved. Who better to talk about Buddy Guy than the guitar legend himself. After identifying myself as a reporter for the Harbinger, Buddy Guy's management arranged for me an interview with the man himself. (And you thought being a Harbinger writer didn't carry any clout!)

You may recognize the name Buddy Guy even if you aren't a blues fan, especially if you were at Harper last November when he appeared here in concert. He is one of the leading innovators in blues music, which has been increasing drastically in popularity, particularly among college students. He has played with some of the greatest guitarists around, including Eric Clapton and Jeff Beck, both of whom play on his album. Mark Knopfler of Dire Straits and Ritchie Haywood, the drummer from Little Feat, are also on the album.

Born a sharecropper, son on a plantation in Louisiana, Buddy Guy grew up with blues in his soul. When he was young, he used to make music by "tying rubber bands to old wash basins." He was seventeen when he got his first real guitar, and traveled to Chicago when he turned twenty-one, where he jammed with "some of the best musicians around." A self taught guitarist, he states, "You can't learn much with the guitar in the case." (A great quote for all you fellow guitarists out there!)

However, we are doing a music review here, so on with it. We got "Damn Right, I've Got The Blues," as an album not only for the blues lover, but a must-have for any guitar himself, this is a great mellow song to lose yourself in. The playing is first rate. Instead of clattering your mind with a million notes at once, this song is demonstrative of the flowing style used among blues guitarists. The guitar "cries out" with emotion. Preferring style over noise, this cut was by far the best song on the album.

Most of the songs on this album are not originals. Buddy claims, "I'm not famous enough yet." To have an all-original album, this CD reflects that, containing a version of the song, "Mustang Sally," a version of which was recently featured in the movie, "The Commitments." Let me

"Love You Baby," is a Willie Dixon tune, another great bluesman who sadly just passed away. Both of these songs are rockers, with an upbeat tempo and some great playing. Rock helps out on "Mustang," and these songs both have potential to receive radio airplay, a goal Buddy would like to achieve. Although he didn't change his style for this album, the record company is trying to mass produce it and achieve national recognition. These songs, along with the draw from more well-known artists that performed on the album, should give him the success he's looking for.

The song, "Early in the Morning," features Beck and Eric Clapton. It's the shortest song on the album, only three minutes, and it has an upbeat, bluesy feel to it. Despite the help of these musicians, this song is just mediocre. "Where Is The Next One Coming From," which features Mark Knopfler, is a better song, in my opinion. Buddy Guy's raspy voice sets his music apart from the racking tunes aforementioned, but the racking tunes aforementioned are definitely worth noting.

Those of you looking for the typical blues ballad on this album need look no further. Something On Your Mind, will make blues fans love their minds. Play this song.

Guy continued on page 5

Ensemble Ouabache, (left to right): Thomas Gerber, harpsichord; Christopher Verrette, violin; Barbara Kallner, flute; John Mark Rosendahl, cello.

Harper presents baroque music

Harper Press Presents

Ensemble Ouabache will be in concert, Thursday, February 20, at 12:15 pm, in P205.

The quartet will play chamber music of Bach, Handel, Haydn and other 17th and 18th century composers on period instruments. The concert is free and open to the public. For more information, call the box office ext. 2547.

What's hot,
What's not,
weekly in...

ENTERTAINMENT

Blues & Rock Nightclub
20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
FEBRUARY
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

21
"Great Dance Rock"
TOO MANY CROOKS

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage. Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied. JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS. Call the club for details.

22
"In Concert, Journey, Boston"
INFINITI
plus BABY IN BLACK

LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With The Coupon

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS
5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon, Thru Thurs
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY. 5:30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room - 3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

COLLEGE NIGHT on BAND NIGHT
$1.00 off cover, must present or show College I.D.

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

EXTRA INCOME
Earn $200-$500 weekly
mailing 1992 travel brochures. For more information and a self-addressed stamped envelope to J.R. Travel, P.O. Box 612291 Miami, FL 33161

Model's Daughters
Actresses needed for the music industry. No experience necessary. For more information call Rockland Photo at 708-843-1655. Ask for Bruce.

Summer Marketing
Management positions available in your hometown. Average 1991 earnings $5000-7000. Join the more than 5000 students that are in our program nationwide! 92% success rate! Call Trish at 1-800-869-9346 TODAY!

Michael's Professional Tanning Salon
Part Time Help Wanted
Front desk AM Hours
Apply in person
1741 W. Argonne Rd.
Mt. Prospect

Help Wanted

Attention!!
Read Part Time Work?
We have all types of 1-9
3-12.5 & 8 P.m. 9-11
or temporary Great Pay
Call 1-800-869-9346
next 1800-11 industrial
Call Today! Shelling
Personal 520 7367

SPRING BREAK '92
PANAMA CITY BEACH
"SELL THE MUSCLE MILE RESORT"
"EXCLUSIVE OPPORTUNITY"
"THE MOST POPULAR BEACH LOCATION"
"NEXT TO THE WORLD'S LARGEST CLUBS"
"EARN THE MOST MONEY"
"EARN FREE TRIPS"
"CALL N.W. 1-800-358-3002"

Travel
Spend Your Spring Break having FUN in the SUN at Daytona Beach. Beachfront accommodations for 7 fun hired nights. Pool deck parties. Round trip motor coach. All fares + tips included $114 w/out trans $198 w/trans.
Call Trish at 981-0811

Services

GOVERNMENT SEIZED
Vehicles from $ 100
Ford, Mercedes, Corvairs
Chevy Surplus
Buyer's Guide 111 805
962-8000 ext. 5, 1553

LOSE FAT-GAIN
MUSCLE
Breakthrough products used by trainers, athletes, doctors.
Weight loss without drugs, denial or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal
formulation. 708-658-5387

Services

Secretarial Service
Word processing, spreadsheets, graphs, graphics.
Lower Quality. Call Louie
708-5531

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible for financial aid.
Write today for FREE
information.
Scholarship Finders
M. Knusper—Dept. HCI
5 Elm Creek Dr. #105
Elmhurst, IL 60126

Services

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all
your legal needs includes:
DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517 2608 evening and
weekend appointments available. Low Offices of Becker & Becker 2300
Barrington Road, Suite
400, Hoffman Estates, IL
60195

Resume Service
Term Papers Typed
Quality work at reasonable prices. Make a lasting impression. Call Special ized Office Service 708-894-6477

THE PERFECT PAGE
WP 5.5
Term papers, resumes,
letter writing & more!
Call Janet @ 540-1443
Low rates

Are you pregnant,
alone, scared?
Open Arms can help you
with counseling and support.
Call Jill or Roseann at 312-734-6500, Monday-
Friday 9 to 5

Roommates

Single Female
looking for roommate for
2 bedroom condo in Schaumburg $300 per month plus 1/2 utilities.
Female non-smoker. Call vicki at 885-8845

Wanted

Young Christian
Childless Couple
desperately anabing to adopt a baby. Contact
Roger at The Harbinger
for more information
397-3000 ext 2461

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know that the right
combination of vitamins,
minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help you improve performance? TRY
FOCUS NO PILLS! (708)
658-5381

Have you ever looked in the mirror in the morning and said who is in there and what is in there? Do you like what you are doing?
Just a thought. NN

Fitness

The Search is Over.
Why are so many NFL athletes,
MD's, business professionals and body builders joining a record number of Fastest growing nutrition and fitness companies will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL
NOW! 708-658-5391

Information

Standard Classified
Rates
and Information
Commercial classifications are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misplaced for more information, contact The Harbinger at 337-3000. Call (708) 397-3000 ext 2460, or send fax with cover letter to (708) 397-5210.

HARPER HAPPENINGS

BREAKFAST at HARPER EMPLOYEES RECOGNITION PROGRAM
Employee recognition is an important component for the quality movement. The February Breakfast at Harper will feature a panel discussing formal and informal recognition programs and various applicable for any size or type of business or not for profit organization.
Presenters include Marcia Carey, Vice President and Director of Personnel, Corporate Department for Motorola, Jan Huber, Manager of Employee Relations, Zurich American Insurance Group, and Jacqueline Moore, Manager, Sales and Marketing, the Chicago Midwest Credit Management Association.
Find out how recognition can be another very valuable quality in your organization on Wednesday, February 26, 1992, at the Breakfast at Harper from 7:30-9:00 am in Building A Dining Room at Harper College. Cost is $30. Call 708-337-5420 for further information or to register.

HARPER COLLEGE PROVIDES LISTENING POST FOR COLLEGE COMMUNITY
One day each week at some location on campus, two to three hours of time will be set aside for individual administrators, staff and occasional Board members, to listen to students, faculty, staff, or other administrators who wish to speak to them about issues and concerns, successes, or offer input, or ask questions.
The "Listening Post" will be a communications opportunity, not a decision-making arena. It is hoped this channel will provide insights into ways problems may be solved or suggestions about how critical issues might be addressed.
The format will allow the time, date and location to change weekly so that a wide spectrum of students and staff members can have the opportunity to participate. The "Listening Post" schedule, meeting times, place and personnel will be published each week in the Harbinger.
LISTENING POST
The next Listening Post is scheduled for Date: Tuesday, February 25, 1992
Time: 2:00-4:00 pm Location: H-221 Persons: President Paul Thompson, 2:00-2:45 Dean Joan Kandler 2:45-3:15 Dean Elizabeth McKay 3:15-4:00 We welcome your questions. Please come and join us!

CLUB MEETING
Honors Society
The Honors Society will be meeting Monday, February 24th from 2:30-3:30 in Building A, room 241b

MOVE INTO HEALTH CARE WITH THE ARMY RESERVE.
It may be easier than you think to get started in the health care profession.
The Army Reserve's new Specialized Training for Army Readiness (STAR) program pays for your tuition, books and fees at a local, Army-approved, civilian school of your choice.
Choose a rewarding career as a:
■ Medical Laboratory Specialist ■ Emergency Medical Technician (Paramedic) ■ Practical Nurse ■ Operating Room Specialist
■ X-Ray Specialist ■ Pharmacy Specialist ■ Respiratory Specialist
■ Laboratory Specialist
To see if you qualify and to learn more, call
(815) 455-5000
BE ALL YOU CAN BE: ARMY RESERVE

Free Pregnancy Testing
Immediate Results
• Test results while you wait
• All services confidential
• Convenient appointments
• 24 hour hotline
• Convenient Woodfield location
Chris Pregnancy Center
708/665-1778
709 E. Golf Road Schaumburg, IL 60173

Elmhurst College
TRANSFER STUDENT INFORMATION DAY
Saturdays, February 22, 1992
9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon
College Union
• MEET FACULTY AND CURRENT STUDENTS
• LEARN MORE ABOUT AVAILABLE MAJORS
• RECEIVE ADMISSION AND FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION
For additional information or to make a reservation, call
Office of Enrollment Development
(708) 617-3400
ELMHURST COLLEGE
190 Prospect Avenue Elmhurst, IL 60126-3296

Michael's Professional TANNING Salons, Inc.
Crystal Court Shopping Center
1741 W. Argonne Rd.
Mt. Prospect
BY APPOINTMENT ONLY
640-TANS
2 FREE SESSIONS
"18" VALUE!
Free Informational Customer without obligation. No sales pressure.
Call to the phone now and dial
640-TANS!
FREE 12 TANS
CALL: SARAH at 398-6438
Not Sponsored by Harper College

VIRGINIA SLIMS OF CHICAGO TOURNAMENT

The Harbinger, February 20, 1992 7 ■

Navratilova, 35, proved that experience and finesse could defeat 23 year-old Novotna's youth and power.

Ace in the court

Stories and Photos By Marti Mita

Martina Navratilova won her 158th singles championship Sunday in a hard-fought victory over Jana Novotna in the twelfth Virginia Slims of Chicago Tournament.

Navratilova won in three sets 7-6, 4-6, and 7-5.

Navratilova became the winningest singles champion ever, surpassing retired Chris Evert's previous record of 157 titles.

Novotna, who upset top-seed Steffi Graf in the semi-finals, was unable to upset Navratilova, who proved she could keep coming back to win when necessary.

Novotna, known for her powerful serves, had ten 'aces' in the three matches, one of them being clocked at 107 m.p.h. In game 10 of the third set, Novotna needed two serves to win the match, but a couple of unfavorable calls kept her from finishing off a determined Navratilova, who battled back to take the next two games, and subsequently, the set and match.

HARBINGER SPORTS

February 20, 1992

Record broken During Loss

Marty Siwak
Harbinger Sports Editor

The Hawks' 75-88 loss to the Illinois Valley Apaches was a personal gain for Abdul Darwish as he broke the record in rebounds on Thursday. Darwish's 28 rebounds broke a 1970 record of 26 set by Scott Siberon.

The first half of the game ended in a little confusion as points were not counted for a basket shot after a foul occurred.

Both teams raced towards the Apache basket where a fight broke out, causing Mike Cannelli, as well as the rivaling Apache Sean Cooper, to sit out the rest of the game.

The second half of the game was a string of fouls, two against the Hawks and one against the Apaches.

Photo By Marty Siwak

The first half ended with a 40-43 lead by the Apaches.

The second half proved profitable for Mike Cannelli as he dunked for the third time with a total of 18 points for the game.

Greg Dye also showed good skills with the Hawk high of 20 points while Darwish shot 17. The Hawks now stand at 5-21 as they head into their last game of the season against South Suburban in South Holland at 7 p.m. on Feb. 22.

HOT SHOT

Photo By Marty Siwak

Wrestlers Disappointed Again

Wrestler Photo Siwak

These are strange times for Harper's wrestling team. The Hawks have dropped two close dual meets in a row. That hasn't happened in a long time. This past weekend, the Hawks pretty much tripped themselves. Two wrestlers weighed in too heavy and caused the team some points. That was the difference as Harper fell to NAC rival DuPage 25-24.

"That shows a lack of discipline when they don't make weight," said a disappointed Norm Lovelace, Harper's head coach. Harper did have wins from Chris Schuler (126) on a technical fall, Eugene Browning (150) on a pin, Phil March (167) with a decision, and Sean Kavanagh (197) with a 16-3 victory. Larry LeGrande (154) earned a forfeit.

The losing streak began three weekends before when Belleville snapped the Hawks' 24-12. Harper still managed to beat Forest Park of Missouri 47-6.

"The whole weekend was a nightmare," Lovelace said. "Even our hotel was a nightmare. We lost every close match with Belleville."

Examples of their close losses came at 126 when Schuler dropped a 3-2 decision, at 154 when LeGrande was tripped 5-4 and at 190 when Kavanagh fell 5-3 to his opponent.

March, Jan D'Ambrasio (142) and Martin Sanchez (118) were also victims.

Brett Greer at 158 sustained a knee injury and may be lost for the rest of the season.

Call the shots by Marty Siwak

Mike Tyson's going to jail. Most of us have heard this, but there's something that just doesn't sit right with me. I read the article in Sports Illustrated, as well as many newspaper articles. There are two things I feel compelled to mention.

First, part of Tyson's defense was based on the fact that the 33-year-old heavy contender, a consenting partner, knew that Tyson was an easily sexually aroused man who couldn't control himself. She should have known what she was getting into.

We're not in the age of "if she says NO, she means YES" anymore. NO means NO, and to include these kinds of remarks is a scandal.

In last week's edition we erroneously juxtaposed the Wrestling Coaches with the Swimming Coaches. The Wrestling Coach is Norm Lovelace, Assistant Coach is Dan Lepore. The Men's & Women's Swimming Coach is Gordon Anderson and the Assistant Coach is Donna O'Brien. We regret this error and hope that it did not cause any inconvenience.

like a confession rather than a defense.

Second, now that this is big news, where does it leave all the Tyson fans, especially the young ones?

Tyson had the reputation of being a streaked and a tough fighter. He was brought into the ring from the streets and became the youngest heavy weight champ at age 20. Now all the people who have admired him have seen him as a sports hero and a rebel. Unfortunately, he's had a bad history with women, and this fight episode goes to show that not all sports figures make good role models.

As if the situation wasn't bad enough, there's controversy over whether he'll fight again. Some say that the crime was so heinous, there's no one who will ever sign him. Others say that they will, and I agree. Rape is a horrible thing, but with all of the publicity it's had in the past few years it's become common. By the time Tyson is out of jail, which is estimated five to eight years, the crime he committed will be old news.

If he chooses to fight again it would bring a lot of publicity, some good but mostly bad. Personally, I hope he doesn't choose to fight because once again he will reach young sports fans. The actions that he has shown will not be signs that there are no heroes, especially children and young adults.

To make the matter worse, Donald Trump has signed his opinions in a press conference. He had the audacity to say that Tyson should fight rather than go to jail, give his earnings to rape victims. I'm sure Trump had society's best interests in mind, especially since Tyson was scheduled to fight at one of his casinos. I'm sure that Tyson also had the interest of any other future Tyson victims at heart. But that's purely speculation.

This idea of Trump's, to keep Tyson fighting, would really "punish" Tyson, especially since he has more money than he knows what to do with. After all, he did pay his lawyer $5000 a day. He can afford to give away a few million.

However, that's not going to happen.

Trump must be desperate to actually say something like that in public, considering that his reputation has been diminishing in the business world, as well as his personal life.

At least, the whole terrible ordeal has proved that money can't buy everything.

Sports Notes

WOMEN'S BASKET BALL

The women's basketball team won their game last Thursday against the Illinois Valley Apaches, 61-56. The high scorer for the game was Kerry Oliver with 18 points, followed closely by Jennifer Geu with 15 and Amy Longmore with 13. Their last regular season game will be against South Suburban in South Holland on Feb. 22 at 5:00 pm.

OLYMPICS

One of the highlights of the Olympics games in Albertville came when Bonnie Blair won the gold medal in the 500 meter speed skating event. Not only did Blair win in the first gold for the U.S., but she also won one in the 1000 meter event.

Donna Weinrecht also captured a gold for the U.S. in freestyle skiing. Silver medals were won by Hilary Lindh in downhill skiing and Paul Wylie in mens figure skating.

Photo By Marty Siwak

The Jack White trick shot exhibition

Jack White shows his stuff to Harper's very own pool players.

THE HARPRINGER

William Ralphy Harper College

February 27, 1992

Volume XXV Number XX

Law in effect for disabled

Joan Frae
Harpringer News Writer

Part of the new Americans with Disabilities Act (A.D.A.) went into effect as of January 26. The A.D.A. is a federal law that was passed in July of 1990 which extends the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make it illegal to discriminate against people with disabilities. According to the law, an individual with a disability is defined as a person who has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limited one or more major life activities.

There are 42 million people with disabilities in the United States that are covered by the law. "About one in six people is considered to have a disability," explains Tom Thompson, coordinator of Harper's Center for Students with Disabilities. "That's always a startling figure to people who hear it in a large group. People start looking around, thinking, 'One in eight, huh?'" O.K., who's the disabled person? But many disabilities are invisible and not all disabilities require accommodations.

For instance, a person can have diabetes without it being visible to others. There are 14 million people that have some degree of hearing impairment, yet only two million of them are deaf with hardly any functional hearing, he explained.

The Center for Students with Disabilities is an office on campus designed to help students by providing support and accessibility for students with disabilities. "When you think 'accessibility,' you're probably thinking 'people in wheelchairs' or 'people on crutches,' but you also have to think about people who are deaf or blind," Thompson said. "That's an information access issue." To give them that access, the center offers interpreters and note-takers for the hearing impaired, and

"If you can't make the physical part of the place accessible, then you have to make the service accessible."

Tom Thompson - Coordinator of Harper's Center for Students with Disabilities

audio or braille material for the visually impaired.

The A.D.A. prohibits discriminating against persons with disabilities in employment, transportation, public services or public accommodations. There are four major parts of the law. "Title I of the act deals with employment," said Thompson. "Any company that has 25 or more employees cannot discriminate against a current or prospective employee on the basis of disability." Starting July 1992, the law says the company must also make reasonable accommodations so that the person is able to do the job effectively, such as interpretation for a hearing impaired person, or modifications to a computer so that a visually impaired person could use it, he added.

Some of these modifications can get costly, but many are relatively simple and inexpensive. Docks can be raised on blocks and a paper-cup dispenser at the drinking fountain can help bring an office into compliance with some parts of the law for a person in a wheelchair.

However, a multi-story building might need an elevator to be brought into compliance with the law as long as it would not constitute an "undue hardship" on the employer. "Undue hardship" is based on the nature and cost of the modifications compared with the financial resources of the company.

Title II of the act prohibits discrimination by state and local governments and requires accessibility to public transportation. Federal agencies and federally funded organizations were already prohibited from discrimination against persons with disabilities by sections 501 and 504 of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act. Since the A.D.A. extends the Civil Rights Act of 1963 to cover persons with disabilities, there are now more powerful remedies available to the victims of discrimination.

"Under A.D.A. a person now has a private right to file a lawsuit and seek punitive damages against an employer or an organization," Thompson said. Section 514 limited penalties to the federal government withholding federal funds from the organization until the problem was resolved.

Since Harper College receives federal funds, it has been in compliance with the 1973 Act, so title II of the A.D.A. won't have a major impact on the college, said Thompson.

Title III of the act, which went into effect on January 26, "generally forbids discrimination on the basis of disability in the full and equal enjoyment of goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages and accommodations of any place of public accommodations," according to the law. Public accommodations include lodging, eating, drinking, entertainment, day-care services and recreation establishments. Any buildings enter newly constructed or renovated must meet physical accessibility requirements.

The law says that businesses must take such steps that may be necessary to insure that no one with a disability is excluded, denied services, segregated or otherwise treated differently because of the absence of auxiliary aids or services. "Auxiliary aids or services" can be personal assistance that enables the disabled to receive the same services as anyone else. "If you can't make the physical part of the place accessible, then you have to make the service accessible," said Thompson.

Photo by Mary Ma

Harper Student Bonnie Everhart doesn't believe in the words "I can't."

In supermarkets, it would be unfeasible to make all the shelves low enough to be reached by someone in a wheelchair. "A sign saying, 'If you need assistance in shopping, then please ask at the service desk and someone will assist you' is considered to be an ok accommodation," said Thompson.

Title IV of the A.D.A. says that there must be a telephone relay service for a hearing impaired user of a Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (T.D.D.) to communicate with a T.D.D. user by July 26, 1993. A relay operator with a T.D.D. would be available at any time to translate phone calls to and from people with T.D.D.s; at the same rates equivalent unassisted calls would cost.

Also included under Title IV is the mandatory closed-captioning of all televised public service announcements that receive any federal government funds.

Harper to celebrate Women's History Week

Joan Frae

Harper College will celebrate Women's History Week from March 1 through March 13 on campus.

The four day event will begin on the evening of March 9 with a dinner followed by keynote speaker Barbara Gardner Preiner. More than 200 reservations have already been made for this opening event.

Mrs. Preiner is the Chief Executive Officer, Founder, President, and Creative Director for Preiner and Gardner Advertising Inc. Her success as a business woman has been noted in such magazines as Business Week and Dollars and Sense, and she was referred to by former President Reagan as one of the "heros of the eighties" in his 1984 State of the Union Address. Mrs. Preiner will deliver her speech entitled "There's One Born Every Minute."

The remaining days will then be devoted to a particular theme. Tuesday, March 10 will focus on "Women, Cultural Diversity and Community." Wednesday will follow with "How We Got the Vote: What We've Done With It," and "Women: School Belles of the Nation." Thursday will complete the week's events with "Women in the Arts: Quilting and Music."

The events of each day will include films, panel discussions, performances and presentations.

The thirteenth observance of Women's History Week at Harper College has been funded by local companies, organizations, and Harper's Foundation. Glenda Mills, a member of the Foundation, stated that the Foundation financially supports this and other events based on "what the community needs the most."

Registration for Women's History Week can be made through the Women's Program office by calling 397-3000, ext. 2560 or 2272.

HARPER COLLEGE SPEECH TEAM WINS TROPHIES

The Harper College Speech Team attended their first tournament of the spring semester at Highland Community College in Freeport, Illinois. The team competed against 25 area colleges and universities. Team member Alexandra Youkhanovich, Arlington Heights, won a third place trophy in persuasive speaking. Mary Cooke, Hoffman Estates, ranked first in her oral interpretation program. Megan Hayes, Arlington Heights, performed well in impromptu speaking.

The Speech Team also attended a tournament at North Central College, Naperville, Sunday, Feb. 23. Harper's team fared well with Mary Cooke winning in both events. Oral Interpretation and Prose Interpretation. Her Oral Interpretation program is a compilation script with the theme of "Mother Love." She concluded with the theme with the Prose Interpretation of "My Wild Irish Mother" by Joan Kerr. Steve Mueller is a new member of Speech Team that won with his Informative Speech on "Positive Discipline." Other members of the team that added to the team points were Michelle Berg, Allison Lee and Alexandra Youkhanovich.

The next competition will be State Competition, March 6-7 at Illinois Central College in Peoria. For further information about Harper's speech team, please contact Marcia Litrens, advisor, at 708/397-3000, extension 2944.

Listening Post

The next Listening Post is scheduled for:
Date: Thursday, March 5, 1992
Time: 5:00 - 7:00 p.m.
Location: 1-121
Persons: Vice President Vern Munko 5:00 - 5:30
President Paul Thompson 5:30 - 6:15
Dean Thomas Johnson 6:15 - 7:00
We welcome your questions. Please come and join us!

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor: Matti Siwak
Business Manager: Gary A. Tickle
A & E Editor: Laura Ashby
Photo Editor: Marty Mia
Copy Editor: Alisa Chisland
Faculty Advisor: Susanne Havlic

EDITORIAL

Whats Going On?

Is there a majority anymore? Are people so concerned with their own special interest group, that they don't consider society as a whole anymore. Do we truly live in a world of every man for himself?

There are approximately forty clubs here at Harper. They range from the Hindu Students Association and the Muslim Students Association to the Brothers and Sisters in Christ and the Harper's Bizarre Fashion Club to the Association of Legal Students. Most students at Harper haven't even heard of some of these clubs. However, most students have heard of the Gay and Lesbian Club. Is it right to allow one special interest group to exist, and not another? Is it right to ignore the presence of other groups, or their rights?

It seems as though some people are devoted to their own interests, but when the interests of others are involved there's a tendency to try and push standards or persuade preferences on the different group. Then, there are so many different groups that arguments develop, not only between those involved with the issue, but also between anyone who has a preference in dealing with it.

I'm not saying that special interest groups are wrong. They make us individual, but they should not rule our lives. There are times when we need to rise above our special interests and unite in society.

If we don't take a step back and look at ourselves and our goals, especially in relation to others, we may run into problems in the future. Now is the time. We are the future, so instead of arguing and name calling, lets try and find a peaceable solution.

Matti Siwak

Matti Siwak
Acting Editor in Chief

Staff

Pam Barbato, Steve Bels, Dan Beyer, Eydie Kaufman, Jason Feinstein, John Fitch, Christopher Garcia, David Paster, Gabe Piccola, Michael Stora, Alessandra Youshanovich

What are those yellow lines for anyway?

Is it ignorance or just incompetence? No, I'm not talking about George Bush, or even Patrick Buchanan. I am talking about the parking situation here at good ol' Harper. The parking is just plain horrible. Let's get real it stinks big time. But who is really and truly to blame? Let's examine this problem, shall we?

First we have a minority of selfish and inconsiderate students. While the majority of students park in the right spaces and are basically courteous to others, there are an obnoxious few who make parking on campus a pain.

These dooty park in the aisles, park in two spaces, or make their own spaces. The worst offense is unauthorized parking in handicapped spots. If I had my way, these people would be drawn and quartered. But there are just a few of the dooties. I could go on.

Students are not the only offenders. Some faculty think they have a license to park wherever they please. I don't want to name any names, but on countless occasions I have seen a certain professor from the liberal arts department park in the visitor spots for more than the two-hour limit on several different days. I know it's a far walk, but hey, we law-abiding people have to do it, so get with it! I thought that everyone had to obey all rules! Is the faculty above all these rules? Yeah, that's fair. But all these things can be considered trivial.

Jason Feinstein A Whole Lot of Noise

I have only one real gripe. It's these people who park in the aisles. If you are coming out of a parking space and you get ready to turn, and someone is parked in the aisle, you cannot see if traffic is coming. Talk about an accident waiting to happen. I won't even mention the speeding that goes on in these lots. But the main problems don't lie with the students or even the faculty. I put the blame with Public Safety. I don't mean to pick on them, but what is their job? Aren't they supposed to enforce traffic laws? Sure, once in a while they direct traffic. But hey, what about giving tickets for speeders and these idiots who park like they are the only ones here. These people are not just carelessly parking, they are putting innocent people in a possible dangerous situation. So you on Public Safety get with it! Start ticketing and get the Denver beat it need be. It may be harsh, but people are getting away with murder.

I'll make a challenge to you—the parking problems, or at least attempt to fix them. If you do I'll write a favorable article. I would be willing to make a bet that if I went on a round with one of your officers for one week, I could write more rickety than any of your officers did in any given month.

Anybody who reads this, and has an opinion one way or the other write in and protest, protest and protest some more. No one gets things done. If you're fed up and don't want to take it anymore, write and complain. Law, the public safety director, Kevin King, accused me of being on a personal crusade. Perhaps I am sick of the way the parking situation is. We students should demand a change. We pay tuition and fees. We are entitled to decent parking!

The Harbinger is now accepting applications for Editor in Chief. Deadline for applications is March 6, 1992. To get an application and requirements for this position, please pick up an application in A367 (The Harbinger Office) or from Susanne Havlic (Journalism Office, A380).

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger. All rights reserved.

Above and Beyond

LAURA ASHLEY
A&E Editor

Polished apples and civility have long been out of date. Hallmark has a card for every imaginable holiday: "Grandparents", "Secretary's" and even St. Patrick's Day. It seems almost sacrilegious not to dedicate a special day to honor our educators. Teachers are America's backbone, without them Americans would be a nation of illiterates. Harper has some of the best teachers on staff of any community college in the nation today. In how many schools will teachers give you their home phone numbers to call them if you need help? Teachers add so much to our lives. They give us the tools to succeed, the hope to accomplish a dream and the freedom to imagine.

Do you have a teacher that goes "Above and Beyond"? We would love to honor them in The Harbinger. So please write a short essay (150 words or less) about how your instructor motivates and helps you. Submit it to The Harbinger, A367, as soon as possible.

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Chris
Pregnancy
Center

708/985-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Michael's

Professional TANNING
Salons, Inc.

1741 W. Algonquin Rd.
Mt. Prospect

BY APPOINTMENT ONLY

640-TANS

2 FREE SESSIONS
$18<sup>00</sup> VALUE!

Now On Promotions Callers Need Not Wait! Visit Our Web Site!
Reservations Only - No Walk-Ins!

Go to the phone now and dial
640-TANS!
'FREE' 2 TANS!

Loyola University

will visit

Harper Community College on March 2 from 9:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

Our admission counselor will discuss transfer credit policy and admission procedures.
Flexible scheduling is available.

Call (773) 515-5100 for full range information or (773) 515-5102 for part-time information.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY
CHICAGO

Loyola University Chicago is an equal opportunity institution and employer.

To fear the unsung lullaby

Alex Cusano
Hortenger Staff Writer

Do you know who's watching your children? She looks like Mary Poppins but may be the nanny from hell. She's a vengeful woman who annihilates the enemy by selling her children into chewing her instead of their own parents.

It's Fatal Attraction. But two women battle over a baby instead of a movie. The battleground is the nursery, the victor gains domination of the household. It's the ultimate woman's nightmare. It's the fear of some mothers; it's about to become reality for Claire Bartel (Anabella Sciorra) in the thriller, The Hand That Rocks The Cradle.

Initially, life as the Bartel house is ideal. Claire leads a perfect life married to a perfect researcher husband (Matt McCoy). She has a perfect 5-year-old daughter (Madeline Zima) and is about to give birth to a perfect baby. She lives in a perfect house in the Seattle suburbs.

Her perfect life is about to change due to a foolish mistake. She chooses the wrong gynecologist. Her exam resembles molestation rather than a physical. Claire files a complaint (She did not file formal charges. Other women did. Yet, Claire is the only one identified by the media.) The doctor subsequently commits suicide.

His widow, Peyton Flanders (Rebecca De Mornay) is on a mission of revenge. She blames Claire for her husband's death, as well as her miscarriage, hysterectomy and the loss of her house and extravagant lifestyle. She wants the life Claire has.

Meanwhile, Claire's life is almost complete. All she wants is time to build a greenhouse in her back yard. All she needs is a mother's help to take care of her infant son and lighten her workload. In walks Peyton, who is hired without a background check. She's young, beautiful, caring, friendly and immediately establishes rapport with the family.

Claire's friend Marlene (Julianne Moore) advises her, "Never, ever let an attractive woman take a position in your house." Claire doesn't heed her warning. Peyton manages to turn Claire's daughter, Emma, against her. She makes Claire think her husband is having an affair with Marlene. She even frames a helpless handyman, Solomon (Ernie Hudson), as a child molester when he can't get on to her evil ways. The worst offenses when Peyton encroaches on Claire's maternal territory by breast-feeding the baby.

Screenwriter Amanda Silver created an intriguing story. Director Curtis Hanson did his best to play out the nanny's powerful position in the household. But, the film was less predictable for me. Peyton's actions are so easy to account

The Hand That Rocks The Cradle preys on parental fears. Without a background check, a young couple may have the nanny from hell. The movie seems to reinforce the woman's place in the home.

Perhaps if Claire had spent more time tending to her children instead of the greenhouse, her family would have been safe. But then again, how many mothers here live in helps to care for their children while they build greenhouses? The situation is unrealistic. However, the message is clear: Be careful who you trust with your children.

★★★ out of 5 stars

Melrose Place stars Michael Douglas in Twentieth Century Fox's romantic adventure "SHINING THROUGH"

A Shining Performance

B. KAHN
Hortenger Staff Writer

Based on a novel by Susan Isaac, Shining Through is a romantic adventure set in the 1940s during World War II. Not only did men and women have to struggle with the fear and uncertainty of the future after a World War, but also the fight to love another with the risk of losing them forever.

A doctor suspected Weiskopf in his Germany at war with itself and the rest of the world, a group of people risked their lives for peace, and millions had to remain alive. Turnout regains at every corner and fear is larger than life.

The audience is overwhelmed by the struggle they see; they are captivated by it. The movie ends and there is silence through the theater. The audience is drained from the fight they themselves just went through, the emotions they experienced during the movie were overwhelming.

Melanie Griffith and Michael Douglas are captivating. They keep their audience in their seats with excellent acting.

The audience sees the beauty of Germany and the devastation of World War II in the city itself.

Shining Through is a captivating movie that I would recommend over and over again, not only for the subject, but also for the superb acting.

★★★★ out of 5 stars

Schwiiling!

Erin Kauffman
Hortenger Staff Writer

It's Wayne's World review! Excellent! Party time!! Yes, if it is not already evident, I am reviewing the hit new release by Paramount. It stars Mike Meyers as Wayne, the goofy Dave Letterman wannabe who broadcasts a talk show out of his basement, and his faithful sidekick Garth, played by Dana Carvey, one of Saturday Night Live fame. (Yes, the former church lady. Awwww... isn't that special?) The movie was entertaining, but I have to give it a mixed review.

Let's start at the beginning. The movie starts out with Wayne and Garth broadcasting their own talk show... you guessed it, Wayne's World from Wayne's basement. I thought this was the funniest part of the movie. Dana Carvey does a great job of making the scene by playing the slow-witted and easily oppressed Garth. The scene concludes with Wayne and his friends taking a drive through town. During this part of the movie, the viewer definitely gets the feeling of watching the Northwest suburbs version of Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure. The trouble with which they portray the suburban nightmare is really humorously funny.

From the very strong start, the movie seemed to slowly progress downhill from there. It got many good reviews, and everyone seems to have enjoyed it more than I, but something about the humor starts to get old towards the end of the film. When Wayne gets interested in the eternal lead singer of a local band, they try to piece together a plot around their unrequited passion. This is where the movie lost it for me. The scene started boring, and it was evidently obvious where the action was going. Bob Lowe was effective in his role as the scheming businessman who tries to scam the duo, as well as steal Wayne's girl. I know it's hard to imagine Bob Lowe playing the part of an asshole, (haha ha!) but he does his part well without being overly showy. The thing that annoyed me the most is that it doesn't take itself seriously, and Wayne and Garth constantly emphasize this fact by talking directly to the camera.

I would have enjoyed this movie much more had it not been for the ending. They end the movie, then they change the ending and they change the ending again... etc. This probably would have been more amusing if the humor hadn't started wearing thin by that point. Towards the end, they tried to hard to get a laugh just from Wayne's looking at the camera and smiling. At first, it's amusing to see his goofy look but later on it turns to overkill. The humor at the end also struck me as being similar to the Airplane!/Naked Gun type of humor that has been used again and again, and again. (Yawn!) It seemed that every time the movie really got rolling, they switched to a new scene and the momentum fizzled itself out. I also disliked Wayne's girlfriend, who seemed to change her feelings as often as Harry's students park illegally.

★★★ out of 5 stars

Here's How You Can Shape Up (in more than 1 way)

This year, get your finances and yourself in good shape with a company that really shapes up... UPS!

As a part-time PACKAGE HANDLER

at United Parcel Service, you'll enjoy the benefit of a good workout with lots of on the job exercise. And while you stay in shape you'll make $8-$9 an hour!

And look at these benefits: medical, prescription, vision and dental coverage, paid vacations and holidays. UPS also offers student loans and great work experience.

This year, get yourself in great shape, with a part time opportunity at UPS.

Applications taken at the UPS Employment Office

Revere and Neenah, Wis.

Monday - Thursday, 1 PM - 4 PM

or

Contact your school's placement office for on campus dates and times.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US
UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

UPS is an Equal Opportunity Employer

M-F 9-5

The Lightning Seeds

CAROLINE GARCIA
Horninger Staff Writer

Ian Broadie, (ex) producer (?) of Echo And The Bunnymen has finished his second album, SENSE. Technically speaking, The Lightning Seeds are basically a one-man band with additional musicians for the non-electronic instruments (i.e. harmonica, accordion and trumpet). "What," you ask "Don't panic, they don't dominate the album; they're only used as reinforcements to the melody. In fact, it's refreshing that he's withdrawn from the overuse of the electronic sound of his debut.

Broadie's first album, CLOUDCLUCKKOO-LAND is a bit on the fluffy side of the alternative music spectrum. SENSE shows that he's been working harder to expand his sound techniques, although it is still mellow by comparison—but not as mellow. Broadie plays guitar and keyboards and the use of the drum machine replaces the need for a real drummer.

The opening song, Sense has a catchy melody and to the clincher for the rest of the album. In other words, if the first song is to your liking, the rest probably will also. The Life Of Riley is a more upbeat song to raise spirits in a glam situation, while Single Temple may sink the spirits one already had.

As to what The Lightning Seeds can be compared to is a difficult task. I know of no band that has the lyrical composition and the musical content similar to them—that's not to say that one doesn't exist, however. The lyrics speak of the simultaneous aspects of love. They're not of the typical pop nature of "I love you" and "please be mine," but rather they tell a story about love instead of love itself. Wait a minute, how about The Beloved meets The Smiths?

All that can be said is that SENSE is a very good album. It is best listening to when in a sad emotional state. I can almost guarantee that if one's severed a relationship with someone recently or just generally depressed, SENSE will force one to think about the circumstances surrounding the predicament. It may even reinforce the idea of getting back together with that person or having a more positive attitude on things.

★★★★ out of 5 stars

Greg Jacobus and Beth Gungley rehearsing for "Broadway Bound"

Broadway bound is coming soon

The departmental production of Neil Simon's "Broadway Bound" is coming soon.

Current time for performances are:

Friday, March 20	8 p.m.
Saturday, March 21	8 p.m.
Sunday, March 22	2:30 p.m.
Friday, March 27	8 p.m.
Saturday, March 28	8 p.m.

The Saturday, March 21 performance offers a choice of a dinner-theater package or the performance only. The dinner package is $18.95 for the general public and $16.95 for Harper students and staff. Dinner will be at 6 p.m. in the Harper cafeteria. All other admission only performances are $6 for the general public and $4 for Harper students and staff.

"Broadway Bound" will be held at the Harper College Theater, J 143. The Box Office hours are Mondays through Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., Fridays, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and one hour before curtain times. For further details, please call ext 2547 or ext 2552 for the phone information hotline.

If you want to have an enjoyable time, this is your ticket, "Broadway Bound."

Blues & Rock Nightclub

20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
FEBRUARY
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

28
"Stevie Ray Vaughn Tribute"
TEXAS FLOOD

29
"Dance Rock"
BLIND ZONE

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage.
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS!
Call the club for details.

LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt
GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With This Coupon

BALLOON DROP
WITH CASH PRIZES
Every Week During Band Night!

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS
5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon. Thru Thurs
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY 5:30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room - 3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50
Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

COLLEGE NIGHT on BAND NIGHT
$1.00 off cover, must present or show College I.D.

Fifties time capsule

TAMARA HONIG
Horninger Guest Writer

Well, Campers! It's time to open the fifties time capsule and go back to the time when Elvis was being captured by flying saucers.

At the seal of the capsule is broken we find ourselves witnessing the remains of: poodle skirts, saddle shoes, hobbie socks, loafers, penny loafers, scarves, white collars, cigarettes rolled up in sleeves, Elvis, 57 Chevy, drag races, greased back hair, juke boxes, drive in, hobbie pun, wackhops, The T-wad, Chubby Checker, jeans rolled up, Sea Cruise, Run Around Sue, The Wanderers, Love Me Tender, Jailhouse Rock, Runaway, Blue Suede Shoes, Hound Dog, Johnny Angel, Teen Angel, Leader of the Pack, Blue Moon, All I

Have To Do Dream, Da Doo Run Run, It's My Party, Wipe Out, Tequila, Rock N Roll is Here To Stay, Ramalama Ding-Dong, Pretty Sue, Lollipop, Shazam, In The Cheeto, A White Sport Coat and A Pink Camisole, Silhouette, Yellow Polka Dot Bikini, Flying Purple People Eater, Blueberry Hill, Rock Around the Clock, Jeopards Creepers, Thats All Right, Heart Break Hotel, Don't Be Cruel, I Want You Beend You'll Love You, Teddy Bear, Too Much, Hard Headed Woman, A Fool Such As I, Bye Bye Love, Bird Dog, Till I Kissed You, I'm In Love Again, Roll Over Beethoven, Love Is Strange, Young Love, Long Tall Sally, See You Later Alligator, Johnny B. Goode, Summer Time Blues, Five O'Clock High, It's Only Make Believe, Good Golly Miss Molly, Tears On My Pillow, Yakety Yak, Splish Splash, Sweet Little Sixteen, To Know Him Is To Love Him

ARE YOU READY TO START A NEW LIFE?

DIVORCE MAY BE THE ANSWER.

CALL THE
LAW OFFICES OF

JACOBSON AND JACOBSON
(312) 346-9733
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 1410
CHICAGO, IL 60606

*DESIGNED TO PREPARE YOU FOR ALL AREAS OF LAW
**$115.00 FOR YOUR FREE INITIAL CONSULTATION**

By Daniel Beyer

by Peter G. Snow

ACROSS
1 Droops
5 Shore birds
10 Where Greek met Greek 14 Swag
15 Painting style
16 Branch part
17 Reciprocally
19 Bitty or Peta
20 Norwegian
seaport
21 Dupont abber
22 "Deutschland — Allies"
23 Married
25 Watery sweetening
27 Troubled
32 Small animal 35 Seat
36 Safe
38 Finale
39 Gossip
40 Transported
41 Carpet type

42 Opposite of raw

46	Mora hutie
44	Boat part
45	Swids	8	Cheese
47	Commands	7	Blascher
43	Macaroni e.g.		sounds
51	Hawaiian dish	8	Mountain ridge
52	State show	9	Hedge
54	Bus, abate	10	Plays a banjo
56	Compensate	11	Double
57	Ad a criminal	12	Sea tributary
62	Creeching	13	Ripening agent
64	Title for	16	Mora recent
	Mussolini	24	Breed of cattle
85	Actor Bruce
86	Yaira	26	Consume
87	Suit for old or young	27	Yield
88	Shabby	28	White or dogged
68		29	Isyng, Isyl

DOWN	30 — up (angry)
1 Delusively	31 Ventured
not a natty	33 Silly
dresser	34 Rums
2 First class	37 Take apart
3 One on the	40 Bulwarka
move	41 Recruit a
4 Party type	sort
5 Unorthodox	43 Thoroughfare:
	abbar.

44 Rigid	55 Gossie's
46 White House	milieu
name	17 Old fashioned
48 With diaphragm	one
50 "Tomorrow"	58 Certain
singer	59 Intend
52 Crazy	60 Recipe abdr.
53 Admon	63 Guided

Contributed by Training Media Services
By Anthony Rubino, Jr.

"When I was a boy of 14, my father was so ignorant... But when I got to be 21 I was astonished at how much he had learned in 7 years."—Mark Twain—

[illegible]

The—Don't Let Mom Hear—Dad

STANLEY

Hey how'd that date go last night? Muh? Muh! ? Did she put out? Muh hah hah, yea I was young once too ya know! Oh jeez don't let your mother hear me for cryin' out loud!

Turn that Damn music down!
Don't make me come over there!
You'll do it, and you'll like it!
Don't talk to your mother like that!
What do I look like? A bank?
Oh God, please just take me now!!
Wipe that smirk off your face!
Go give me an aspirin.
Never mind what I do, just do what I say!
Tell mommy to fix me a little drink.
This is going to hurt me a lot more than it's going to hurt you

Spencer Green

Wolfbane

Next Week

Ashraf Darwish

SPRING BREAK
DAYTONA BEACH
 High quality beachfront accommodations for 7 relaxing nights.
 • Round trip chartered motor coach
 • Airfare plus taxes, games, activities & gratuities
 • In-Campus Programs 1-D Ocean camp
 • On-Location staff for campus assistance
 • All taxes, tips & service charges included

$119 $204

CALL:
SARAH at 398-6438

The Harbinger does not warrant

Not Sponsored by Harper College

Longmore: Female Athlete of the Year

AUSA CHEUNG
Harbinger Staff Writer

What's in a name? If the name is Amy Longmore — success. "She has a great attitude," Renee Biscomb women's volleyball coach said. "She works hard. She's dedicated. She's a team player, not an individual player. She'll do anything. She'll play any position I ask her to." Her dedication and versatility have paid off. In 1991, she was named MVP and female athlete of the year. She recently became the first volleyball player at Harper College to be named an NCAA All-American. Longmore was initially shocked by the announcement. "Our team coach didn't make it so natural," Longmore said. "I didn't even think I was a contender. Then Renee showed me an envelope with red, white and blue stripes. I was speechless."

Biscomb attributes Longmore's success on the court to her talent as a player. "She's an all-around player," Biscomb said. "Her forte is her hitting ability. She's a powerful hitter and a very smart hitter. "What made her an All-American is the fact that she can play defense, she can serve and she's a strong blocker. She really doesn't have a weakness."

Her strength helped the Hawks maintain a .500 record and a 31-11-2 record on the court. The team plays a much better game because of her. She doesn't think she's better. She's just any player to coach.

It's luck that earned Longmore as an athlete. The Hoffman Estates High School graduate had originally planned to attend college in Florida. However, she felt uncomfortable about the housing situation and opted for Harper.

The college was convenient. She could stay at home and watch her sister's high school volleyball and basketball games. And she did have two other nice, Her brother, Tom, was MVP of the Hawks' basketball team two years ago and her mother, Judy, is a secretary in the Learning Assistance Center. So it was logical for Longmore to come to Harper.

She quickly became the volleyball team's middle hitter and also joined the basketball team as a center because she had friends on the squad.

Longmore also is an all-around champion in basketball. She believes her greatest strength is her height. "I'm tall and a lot of people can't shoot over me," she said. "Basketball is not as much fun as volleyball," Longmore said. "I don't like the physical one-on-one contact with the other players. I prefer more contact sports like volleyball. Volleyball is a finesse game. You outsmart your opponent to win. In basketball, whoever shoots better wins."

Biscomb said Longmore is a skilled player. "She is a great practice player," Biscomb said. "Her teammates like and respect her. She is a class act on the court. The team plays a much better game because of her. She doesn't think she's better. She's just any player to coach."

Team spirit is important to

Photo by Mike Wu

Amy Longmore recently became the first volleyball player of Harper to be named an NCAA All-American.

Longmore. "I enjoy being part of a team," Longmore said. "We work as a team, not as individuals. Whether we win or lose, we have the same goal."

Volleyball is over, and basketball is ending. Longmore said she will continue athletics with soccer, she put or discuss.

After graduation, Longmore plans to play volleyball at Lewis University. "I want to finish physical education and coach volleyball," Longmore said.

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

Summer Marketing Management positions available in your home town. Average 1991 earnings $3500-7000. Join the more than 5000 students that are in our program nationwide. (82% success rate). Call Triple "A" Student Partners at 1-800-845-9346 TODAY!

SANDWICH MAKERS approximate hours 1:30pm-2pm, Monday-Friday. $5.50 per hour. Cousins Subs 600 E. Algonquin Rd. 892-0055

Help Wanted Need a fast girl to sell roses in nightclub. 1 weeknight per week & either Fri. or Sat. night. Earn $10-15 per hr. Call 691-5953. Must leave message.

Hawaii Spring Break Blowout Cancels from $359 with airfare. Also South Padre starting at $138. Need more information, contact Dave at 340-7404 or Mike at 299-7457.

Help Wanted

Spend Your "Spring Break" having FUN in the Sun at Daytona Beach Beachfront accommodations for 7 fun filled nights. • Past deck parties • Round trip motor coach. All taxes & tips included $114 w/out trans. $199 w/trans. Call Trish at 981-0871.

SPRING BREAK '92 PANAMA CITY BEACH "SELL THE MIRACLE MILE RESORT" "EXCLUSIVE OPPORTUNITY" "THE MOST POPULAR BEACH LOCATION" "NEXT TO THE WORLD'S LARGEST CLUBS" "EARN THE MOST MONEY" "EARN FREE TRIPS" "CALL KIM 1-800-558-3002"

"EXTRA INCOME" Earn $200-$500 weekly mailing 1992 travel brochures. For more information send a self addressed stamped envelope to J.R. Travel, P.O. Box 812281, Miami, FL 33181.

Services

Legal Services FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2409, evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices at Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60135.

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE Every student's eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Fundraiser M. Knueppel-Dept. HCL 5 Elm Creek Dr. #105 Elmhurst, IL 60120.

Are you pregnant, alone, scared? Open Arms can help you with counseling and support. Call Jill or Roseann at 312-784-6800, Monday - Friday, 9 to 5.

Statistical Services Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphs, graphics. Later. Quality. Call Levi at 705-6531.

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP 5.5S Term papers, resumes, laser printing & more. Call Janet at 540-1443. Low rates.

Resume Service Term Papers Typed. Quality work at reasonable prices. Make a lasting impression. Call Specialized Office Service 708-894-6677.

Roommates

Single Female Looking for roommates for 2 bedroom condo in Schaumburg $300 per month plus utilities. Female non smoker. Call Vicki at 885-8845.

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE Breakthrough products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight Loss without drugs, denial or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal formula. 708-658-6381.

For Sale

GOVERNMENT SEIZED Vehicles from $ 100. Ford, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevy, Surplus Buyer's Guide. (1-800-882-8000 ext. 5-1093).

IBM clone, hard drive color monitor, warranty Great condition. Call Gary at 708-577-9777.

Nutrition For The Brain Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY FOCUS. NO PILLS! (708) 658-5391.

To My Friend Paul Tsongas, Good Luck on becoming the next President. Your buddy for life, Jason. Paid for by The President Foundation.

Fitness

The Search Is Over Why are so many NFL Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in "tactical numbers"? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW: 708-658-5391.

Information

Standard Classified Rates and information. Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is missing. For more information, contact The Harbinger in A387, call (708) 387-3000, ext. 2480.

HARBINGER SPORTS

■ 4 February 1992

Wrestling team wins a trip to nationals

Chris Schulte

Bob Mitchell

Mike Newingham

Jim D'Ambrosio

DAVID PELLER
Harbinger Sports Writer

The Harper Wrestling Team entered the Regional meet in very good standing. They only dropped one meet all year and had not finished lower than 4th in the Regionals in 20 years. The team is also consistently ranked in the top 10 in the nation. Currently, Harper is ranked in ninth place, but expects to move up after a stellar performance on Sat. Feb. 22.

The victories came quickly and sometimes easily for the Hawks, who won the meet with a total of 90.25 points. At one point, it looked as though all of the Harper wrestlers would move on to the finals. This did not happen. Harper won a total of four regional championships and three second places, an enormous accomplishment considering Belleville was the favorite coming into the tournament. The top three finishers from each weight class move to the nationals in Bismarck, North Dakota, this Friday and Saturday.

At the 118 lb. weight class, Martin Sanchez dominated his opponent from the beginning. He scored an impressive 11 points in the first period alone. Sanchez at one point scored a nearfall, almost pinning his opponent. He ended up with an 18-6 victory and commented later that he did not expect the match to be that easy. "Last time I wrestled Erik, it was a close match." Obviously, this time Martin was ready.

In the 126 lb. weight class, Chris Schulte, of Harper, lost the championship to Davi Davis 4-3. Looking at the score it would appear to have been a close match. The final point was awarded to Davis when Schulte was called for stalling. In any event, Schulte received a second place spot and a trip to the nationals.

At 134 lbs., Larry Legrande coasted through a match where he fought a 6-2 victory over his opponent. In an earlier match, Legrande was headbutted but the official called nothing. Legrande was able to keep his composure and win his match.

In the 142 lb. weight class, Bob Mitchell held his own against strong opposition and scored a 4-2 win.

In the 150 lb. weight class, Mike Newingham pinned all of his opponents up to the title match where he lost 9-4. With his second place finish, Newingham also moves on to the nationals.

At 158 lbs., Eugene Browning pinned his first opponent and won a close decision 11-10 in his second match. However, he was pinned at :58 in the title match. He will also attend the nationals.

Phil March, at 167, and Lee Sartun, at 177, both wrestled very well and were in place to take the third spot in the upcoming Nationals. However, neither one was able to gain the momentum to capture it.

At 190 lbs., Jim D'Ambrosio showed some real guts. D'Ambrosio, throughout the year had been wrestling at 142 and 150. Coming into the regionals, he was put in with the 190-pounders. He gained a shot at the third place spot and almost pulled off the miracle. Coming from such a low weight and being able to compete, not just show up, is incredible.

Finally, Sean Kavanaugh, of Harper took the title at 275 lbs. He pinned his opponent at 2:43. Kavanaugh's first round victory was also by a pin.

Coch. Loveland said, "In our (wrestling) room, you get tough or you go home." After the performance I witnessed this weekend, I believe his philosophy is working.

Photos by Gary Riccio

Larry Legrande

Bob Mitchell

Mike Newingham

Jim D'Ambrosio

COMMENTARY

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor.....	Marti Siwak
Business Manager.....	Gary A. Tickle
A & E Editor.....	Laura Ashley
Photo Editor.....	Mary Mia
Copy Editor.....	Alisa Chinlund
Faculty Adviser.....	Susanne Havis

EDITORIAL

It seems even at the college level there are bullies on the playground. The bullies think by using strength and intimidation they can get what they want.

A former editor of The Harbinger, was recently forced to resign after being harassed and intimidated by some Harper students.

College is a forum to which people come to broaden their knowledge and learn to function harmoniously within society. Obviously, not everyone on this campus is learning this valuable lesson.

If people cannot learn to function within the college community, how can they be expected to function properly in the real world. There are more pressing matters and more severe problems than who is running the school paper.

Assault on college campuses is on the rise, along with rape and theft. How can students learn in an environment where they can not even feel safe.

This kind of abuse and conduct must be stopped at this level if we expect to see it improved within society as a whole.

The first step is to expose the tyrants and make them accountable for their actions. Then maybe we can get on with what we are here for. Education.

Harbinger Management

Staff

Patricia Barlow, Steve Berk, Dan Beyer, Sydney Kaufman, Janet Fenneman, John Pisk, Christopher Garcia, David Foster, Cara Petros, Michael Stuart, Alexander's Youthcenter

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I think the Field Museum information is great! I love cultural events, and the Field Museum happens to be one of my favorite places to visit. I had no idea I could have the opportunity to spend the night and go on a flashlight tour! I discussed the article with a few of my friends, and they think it's a fun idea.

With all the negative things I read everyday, it's refreshing to read about something that is actually nice! I appreciate the article and hope you will continue to print things like this in the future.

Rae Nestles-Blackwell

Dear Editor,

I am really disappointed with the negative reactions to this whole Gay and Lesbian Club issue. I had no idea how many ignorant and unfeeling people there are on this campus. I guess I have just been naive about this whole thing.

I don't feel there is anything wrong with these people wanting to have a club. They are people too, aren't they? Just because they have a different sexual preference than some people does not mean that they should have their legal rights infringed upon. There are a lot of other special interest groups on campus at Harper I do not see any reason why this one should be denied. Isn't the United States of America supposed to be a free country? Wain (the Bill of Rights made to protect our rights as individuals). Doesn't the First Amendment tell us that we have freedom of speech and the freedom to assemble?

I think if Harper wants to avoid a lawsuit (which is definitely a right of the people involved in this group) then it should open its eyes to the fact that more people are "coming out of the closet" and they have just as many rights as any other person in this country has.

Tara Spiet

Student

Dear Editor:

Last semester I was sorry to be forced to leave the Harbinger, and I've managed to keep my mouth shut on the new issues under your direction until now. In your February 13th issue, you and your staff committed three major errors that anyone taking a NM 130 class could have avoided. The first one, and perhaps the most serious, was on the front page. The issue of a Student writing the Gay and Lesbian club story is questionable.

One would think your paper would call for more objective opinion on a subject as touchy as that. Judging from the top story in the Northwest section of the Chicago Tribune of February 11, 1992, it's a major conflict of interest.

Secondly, in your letters to the editor section, five of your letters published seemed to be pro-gay club and one seemed to be neutral. Isn't that kind of one-sided? Traditionally, two should be for, two against, and one neutral.

Those two factors together make the Harbinger look sympathetic toward those troubled people. Is that the case? If so, your unbiasedness goes out the window.

Third, the managing editor should use the editorial space for an advertisement for the paper.

Otherwise, I think you're doing an O.K. job, considering what the paper's been through.

Phil Mapes

Student

Harper Happenings

Listening Posts

The next listening posts are scheduled for:

Date: Thursday, March 5, 1992
Time: 5-7 p.m.
Location: 1121
Persons: Vice President
Vern Manke 5-530
President Paul Thompson
5:30-6:15
Dean Thomas Johnson
6:15-7

There will be a fund-raising rally for California Governor Jerry Brown's 1992 presidential campaign at 5 p.m. on March 8 at East Street in Glenview. Contributors must be 21 years old to attend.

Alternative rock bands Advocate and Fakale, the pop rock band Greens Hills of Anywhere, acoustic guitarist James Henley, stand-up comics and Brown are scheduled.

Tickets are $10 in advance and $15 at the door. Contact Illinois Citizens for Brown, 9002 Senate Drive, Suite 2F, Des Plaines, IL 60016-5030. Make checks payable to "Brown for President." For information, phone 299-8417.

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a social security number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved

Tell Us What You Think

Please assist us in conducting a student survey for a future Harbinger article by answering the following questions as honestly and accurately as possible. All replies are kept anonymous, so you need not sign your name. Thank you for your cooperation.

What is your age? _____

Are you full or part time at Harper? _____

What is your intended major? _____

Which classes did you find to be the best and/or most important to your goals? _____

What do you find is the best activity/club sponsored by Harper? _____

What do you feel to be the worst club/activity at Harper? _____

What is the best sports team on Harper's campus? _____

What is the best place to study at Harper? _____

What is the worst place to study at Harper? _____

In your opinion, what is the best thing about Harper? _____

What is the worst thing about Harper? _____

Which classes did you feel were a waste of time and money? _____

Please rate your overall satisfaction with the following:

(Circle One) 1 = very satisfied through 10 = very bad

Harper's administration? 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Harper's staff/teachers? 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Your overall value here? 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Please submit completed form as soon as possible to the Harbinger office.

NAME: _____
PHONE: _____

How does Harper do with financial aid? Good Bad Don't know (Circle One)

How effective are Harper's resources? (i.e. library, health services, etc.) _____

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Beatty is Back

Vico Tamm
Harbinger Guest Writer

Ever since "Tahar" dropped a bomb at theaters everywhere several years ago, I've been skeptical about Warren Beatty's future in film. Okay, I admit "Dick Tracy" had its moments with the vivid comic-strip-like sets and co-star Al Pacino to bolster the total effect. Yet Beatty left me cold afterwards I longed for earlier screen portrayals that made him a big star in the early stages. Remember "Splendor in the Grass," "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone," and "Bonnie and Clyde"? You say you've never seen any of these films? Never fear! Beatty is back and packing a punch (literally) in Barry Levinson's new film "Beverly Hills Cop."

Beatty portrays infamous Ben (Bugsy) Siegel, fast talking, womanizing hot man for the mob. It's early 1940s wartime America. Still the glamour era in Hollywood, Siegel heads west to the land of dreams to broaden business interests and meet up with movie star buddy Joe Morosini. On a movie set for one of Morosini's films, Beatty meets and falls hard for nightclub singer Virginia Hill (Annette Bening). Beatty's Siegel laments for Bugsy, red-headed Beatty has a ball and chain around his leg in the form of wife and two pugilist daughters back east.

For a while, we're charmed as Beatty juggles females from wife to daughter to mistress. This violent gangster who can pull a trigger without remorse when comes to disloyal factions, ducks spilled blood, slaps in the face and leery eyed daughters without flinching so much as a finger in rebuke.

This weakness (when comes to women) is what inevitably will undo the very existence of underworld dynamo Siegel. First however, Siegel will envision a paradise casino in the barren wasteland of Nevada. With the financial backing of childhood crones Lucky Meyer (brilliantly portrayed by Ben Kingsley) and Mickey Cohen (Harvey Keitel) Siegel builds the Flamingo Hotel making girlfriend Hill a business partner. At you might expect Virginia Hill goes from bad girl to good girl so bad girl. Yes, it's paradise business venture gone awry and I won't give it all away by telling you how or why. I will tell you the settings are great if you like nostalgic authenticity in your films and the supporting cast couldn't be finer. The background vocals are vintage forties and even Elliot Gould appears briefly as a wandering lord of a soul pigeon in one scene.

Finally, Beatty gives a performance we haven't seen the likes of since his film "Bonnie and Clyde" twenty-five years ago.

★★★★ out of 5 stars

Improv Group will leave you laughing

ALEXANDRA YOURNASH
Harbinger Staff Writer

You can't begin to understand the meaning of comedy until you have seen the improvisational comedy company "Laughing Out Loud." They appeared at Dury's Ballroom in Palatine on February 11 and performed some of their crazy, yet hilarious acts. The show began with the piano playing while the performers took their positions on stage. From start to finish, the audience participated with ideas for scenes and locations for the company to improvise.

This group had everything working in their favor. Their ability to manipulate words and phrases put "Three's Company" to shame. Their quick thinking, no-hesitation performance not only impressed, but amused the audience. In one instance they improvised a bus stop scene. Now if you think a bus stop cannot possibly elicit humor you'll have to see this group.

And they have a memory that does not die. In one scene, the company re-created an audience member's day. The man quickly noted off what he had done. The group remembered every detail to the last morsel of food this man consumed. They re-made his day as if they practiced the scene for hours. And speaking of memory, they took back previous scenes with ones that followed almost 30 minutes later! They kept me laughing the whole night.

It did not, however, stop here! Later in the evening, the group had a "name that producer" session. From Steven Spielberg to Martin Scorsese, they managed to manipulate scenes by using the styles of various producers.

★★★★ out of 5 stars

Michael's
Professional TANNING
Salons, Inc.
Crystal Coast Shopping Center
1741 W. Algonquin Rd.
1st. Floor
BY APPOINTMENT ONLY
640-TANS
2 FREE SESSIONS
$18<sup>99</sup> VALUE!
New Or Previous Customers Welcome
Last Visit With Before 3/1/92
Reservations Apply Expires 3/1/92
Go to the phone now and dial
640-TANS!
*FREE! 2 TANS!

Metropolitan
Property and Casualty Insurance Company
and Affiliates

"Get Met. It Pays."

Insurance for your home, auto and boat.
Also,

Renters Insurance (Personal Belongings
Insurance) for your apartment or condo.

Very competitive rates + coverages in the Harper Area.

Give me call for a quick competitive quote.

Joel Blanchette
Property and Casualty Specialist
(708) 303-0130 ext 313

My Way!

SUBWAY	SUBWAY	SUBWAY	SUBWAY
BUY ONE GET ONE	FOOTLONG SANDWICH OR SALAD	FOOTLONG OR SALAD	COLD CUT COMBO MEAL DEAL
FREE	FOR 99¢	$1.00 OFF	$2.99
Buy any footlong sandwich or large salad and get one of equal or lesser value for FREE with the purchase of two 22 oz. soft drinks.	Buy any footlong sandwich or large salad and get one of equal or lesser value for FREE with the purchase of two 22 oz. soft drinks.	Buy a footlong sandwich and get $1.00 OFF with the purchase of a 22 oz. soft drink.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cold Cut combo footlong sandwich</li> <li>16 oz. soft drink</li> <li>Freshed baked chocolate chip cookie.</li> </ul>
2226 Algonquin Rd. Rolling Meadows, IL 60008 (708) 398-0059	2226 Algonquin Rd. Rolling Meadows, IL 60008 (708) 398-0059	2226 Algonquin Rd. Rolling Meadows, IL 60008 (708) 398-0059	2226 Algonquin Rd. Rolling Meadows, IL 60008 (708) 398-0059

Ever Get Somebody Totally Wasted?

Let The Drs
Call & Call
Let A Star

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS DRIVE DRUNK

© 1991 American Heart Association

ONLINE DRIVING PREVENTION CAMPAIGN
NEWSPAPER AD NO. DD-86-178-3 COL. #525
Volunteer Agency: Wells, Rich, Greene, Inc.

IMPROVE YOUR LOOKS, HEALTH AND POPULARITY.

QUIT SMOKING.

American Heart Association
1000 Avenue of Heart Rehabilitation

SPRING BREAK
DAYTONA BEACH

- High quality beachfront accommodations for 7 exciting nights.
- Round trip chartered motor coach.
- Free pool deck parties, activities, & promotions.
- Free Campus Programs I.D./Discount card.
- On location staff for complete assistance.
- All taxes, tips, & service charges included.

$119 $204

CALL:
SARAH at 398-6438

Not Sponsored by Harper College

Harper College

PLAYLIST
March 2, 1992 to
March 8, 1992

MUSIC DIRECTOR

ARTIST

1. SHANICE
2. JOHN MELLENCAMP
3. MICHAEL JACKSON
4. OZZY OSBOURNE
5. RUSH
6. AMY GRANT
7. U2
8. RIGHT SAID FRED
9. GENESIS
10. MICHAEL BOLTON
11. UGLY KID JOE
12. NIRVANA
13. PAULA ABDEL
14. VANESSA WILLIAMS
15. MARIAH CAREY
16. VAN HALEN
17. TOM PETTY & THE HEARTBREAKERS
18. BOYZ II MEN
19. U2
20. LA GUNS
21. PM DAWN
22. METALLICA
23. RICHARD MARK
24. AARON NEVILLE
25. VAN HALEN
26. NIRVANA
27. CHRIS CUEVAS
28. SCORPIONS
29. BRYAN ADAMS
30. METALLICA
31. GENESIS
32. MARIAH CAREY
33. RICHARD MARK
34. RONETTE
35. CECE PENISTON

TITLE

- 1. Love Your Smile
- 2. Again Tonight
- 3. Remember The Time
- 4. Mama I'm coming Home
- 5. Ghost Of A Chance
- 6. Good For Me A & M
- 7. Until The End Of The World
- 8. I'm Too Sexy
- 9. I Can't Dance
- 10. Missing You Now
- 11. Everything About You
- 12. Come As You Are
- 13. Vibeology
- 14. Save The Best For Last
- 15. Can't Let Go
- 16. The Dream Is Over
- 17. King's Highway
- 18. Uh-h Ahh
- 19. Mysterious Ways
- 20. I'm Over Now
- 21. Paper Dolls
- 22. Nothing Else Matters
- 23. Harard (The River)
- 24. Someone's Somebody
- 25. Right Now
- 26. Smells Like Teen Spirit
- 27. You Are The One
- 28. Hit Between The Eyes
- 29. Thought I Died & Gone To Heaven
- 30. The Unforgiven
- 31. Jesus He Knows Me
- 32. Make It Happen
- 33. Keep Coming Back
- 34. Church Of Your Heart
- 35. We Got A Love Thang

LABEL

- 1. Motown
- 2. Mercury
- 3. Epic
- 4. Epic Assoc.
- 5. Atlantic
- 6. Island/PLG
- 7. Chrysalis
- 8. Atlantic
- 9. Columbia
- 10. Salsoul/Mercury
- 11. DGC
- 12. Capitol/Virgin
- 13. Wing/Mercury
- 14. Columbia
- 15. Warner Bros.
- 16. MCA
- 17. Motown
- 18. Island/PLG
- 19. Polygram/PLG
- 20. Salsoul
- 21. Elektra
- 22. Capitol
- 23. A & M
- 24. Warner Bros.
- 25. DGC
- 26. Atlantic
- 27. Mercury
- 28. A & M
- 29. Elektra
- 30. Columbia
- 31. Capitol
- 32. EM/ERG
- 33. A & M

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

ALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT - fisheries
Earn $5,000+ month
Free transportation!
Room & Board! Male or Female. For employment program call 1-206-
545-4155 ext. 1545

* EARN EXTRA INCOME ***
Earn $200 - $300
weekly mailing travel brochures. For information send a stamped addressed envelope to ATW Travel, P.O. Box
430786, South Miami,
FL 33143

For Sale

IBM clone, hard drive color monitor, warranty Great condition. Call Gary
at 708-577-6777

Fitness

The Search is Over...
Why are so many NFL
Athletes, MD's,
business professionals
and body builders joining
in record numbers?
Fastest growing
nutrition and fitness
company will create
more millionaires than
any company in history.
CALL NOW
708-658-5391

Services

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible
for Financial Aid. Write
today for FREE
information.
Scholarship Plus Finders
M Knappell-Dept HCL
S Elm Creek Dr #305
Einhurst, IL 60126

Secretarial Service
Word processing,
spreadsheets, graphs,
graphics. Laser Quality.
Call Lori at 705-5531.

Spring Break is almost here!

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE
WP SVS
Term papers, resumes,
letter printing & more!
Call Janet @ 540-1443
Low rates

Are you pragmatic, savvy, scared?
Open times can help you
with counseling and support. Call Jill or Bessie at 312-784-
6500. Monday - Friday,
9 to 5

Typing,
Professional
Results.
WP & Laser Print quality. All types of reports. Call Deag at 708-885-0088

Services

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all
your legal needs includes
DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2808 evening and weekend appointments
available. Low Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300
Barrington Road, Suite
400, Hoffman Estates, IL
60185

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know that the right combination of
vitamins, minerals,
herbs, and amino acids
can help improve performance? TRY
FOCUS: NO PILLS! (708)
658-5391

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN
MUSCLE
Breakthru products used
by trainers, athletes,
doctors. Weight loss
without drugs, dieting, or deprivation from 5-100
lbs. Lean muscle gains
with proven effective
non-steroidal formulation. 708-858-5391

Happy Birthday
Remix
from German 201

HARPER SPORTS

March 5, 1992

Darwish's season ends on high strings

DUANE HART
Harper Staff Writer

What does it take to be a success? Ashraf Darwish, forward for the Harper basketball team, said it takes hard work, practice and discipline.

Darwish has been in the limelight recently due to some very remarkable feats. He broke a record at the last home game of the season against Illinois Valley for the most rebounds in a game. At Illinois Valley he broke the record for the most rebounds in a season. His most memorable moment was being a member of Illinois Valley's team at Harper's Thanksgiving tournament and winning the Mid-state Christmas tournament.

Darwish, a sophomore, is in his second year at Harper. He has been playing basketball for three years. This season he has most certainly set a lot of records. He averaged three to four minutes a game. Now he plays most of the game and averages 18 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Off season he practices in Chicago. "That's what made me better, playing with all the brothers in the city," Darwish said. He plays three to four hours a day and said he enjoys "just playing with the guys."

Darwish is majoring in business and intends to go to school for next year. Many schools, such as Northern Illinois University, Auburn, North Carolina and Kent State have been calling him coach recently. "The only question now is whether I will go to one of them. When asked he would like to play professionally in the future. (Darwish smiled and laughed.) "Whatever happens happens. I don't think I would find it a big adjustment to go and play in the future."

"This season has been good for me for the Hawks. Darwish said. "Even though it's been a bad season, we're still having fun out there. I've enjoyed we played, we've played enough."

Darwish was named the All-Conference player in the last game of the season.

Track Time

BO KASER
Harper Staff Writer

Spring is in the air and as the temperatures rise, so do the hopes for the 1992 Harper Track Team.

The Hawks are led by 18-year coaching veteran Renee Zeller. She is beginning her second term as both men's and women's head coach and 12th year at Harper. Zeller is assisted by John Nilsson in the men's sports and camps. Ray McChesin in women's and men's camps. Larry Burrows is the men's manager.

"You play as you train," says Zeller. "You practice it, that's how. The coaching is to help you get the most out of your training. It's not just to win, it's to be a champion."

During the fall are training camps. One of the training camps was in the state capital, Springfield. Magda Tarnas, a 1989 state specialist who competed in last year's nationals. The teams hope are also riding on newcomers "Fast Freddy" Unbe and "Korn" Smith. Smith, who was also known as the "Tarnate Freshman," should play a role in the Hawks quest for a championship this season.

See the team at the first meet on March 28, at the Wheaton Open.

Call the Shots

It's time to play ball again, baseball that is. Spring training is here, and it looks like the Chicago teams are going to win this year. Both the Cubs and the White Sox should rank high in their divisions, with the Sox in reach of the pennant.

Due to the rivalry between the fans of both teams, and to keep from making enemies, I'll give the highlights of each. Although I am a Cub's fan, I'm going to mention the White Sox first because they've had a couple of great seasons, and they have a good chance of winning the American League Western Division Title.

The Sox will be playing under a new manager this year, Gene Lamont, but veterans Bo Jackson, Frank Thomas, and Robin Ventura will return.

Jackson should have a good season if his hip holds out, although his batting average for last year was only .225.

Thomas, one of the best power hitters in baseball, showed impressive stats last year with a batting average of .318, 32 home runs, and 109 RBIs. The Sox need another power hitter of his strength to be sure that they get the runs they need to win.

The pitching staff is relatively young, with the exception of Charlie Hough, 44. Jack McDowell is the planned pitcher for the opening game with leading left hander Greg Hibbard and Wilton Alvarez, as well as rookie Roberto Hernandez.

backing him up.

Robin Ventura, a third-base Gold Glove winner, leads a strong infield along with Ozzy Guillen. If the players stay healthy, this year could give Chicago a winning team.

The Cubs, who haven't won a pennant since 1945, are looking better. Second baseman Ryne Sandberg, the newest six-million-dollar man, has won nine Gold Glove Awards. He has finally worked out a contract, ending all talk of trade.

Andre Dawson, who led the team with 31 home runs, will turn this year, even though he has knee problems.

The pitching staff is led by Mike Morgan and Greg Maddux. Morgan had a record of 14-10 with the Los Angeles Dodgers last season, and signed with the Cubs as a free agent. Maddux, on the other hand, is returning, with a record of 15-11, from last year.

Newcomer George Bell, coming from Toronto, also had impressive stats from last year with 25 home runs and 96 RBIs. On the other hand, his field skills were lacking with ten errors.

The management consists of Jim Lefebvre, along with Larry Himes and Lou Gribble.

If the Cubs can get past a lot of little obstacles, they also have a chance to win.

I'm looking forward to a great season for baseball, as well as some warm weather. It's time to sit back and enjoy the games.

Softball Season Starts

Softball Coach Tina Reimer is accepting applications for all who wish to join the team. Practices are Monday through Friday 3 to 5 p.m. Coach Reimer can be reached from 2 to 6 p.m. in M202a, or during practice hours in the gym.

Any one who wants to be part of the team should be full-time students, get an eligibility form from Reimer, and have a recent physical.

Intramurals: just to play

DAVID PELLER
Harper Staff Writer

Imagine the perfect sporting facility: soccer, basketball, volleyball, and more. All of these are at your disposal with little or no cost. Facilities such as a gym, volleyball courts and softball fields are included. There are no long practices, coaches, or traveling. Everything is right in your fingertips.

Sounds too good to be true, doesn't it? Well, it's not. Intramurals is its name and sports is its game.

This month, Jim Ryan, director of intramurals at Harper, offers soccer, full-side basketball, four-on-four volleyball, 9-ball billiards, spot-shooting basketball and possibly a bridge tournament.

Intramurals have been offered since November. Ryan points out that intramurals have started out slowly but they will expand to a great extent.

Students have shown some strong interest in basketball. In the first week of the league, the Young Guns won a close game over the Old Dogs 47-45. John Oltman's 26-point performance led the way for the Young Guns.

Craig Holder contributed 12 points to balance the attack. On the other side Brent Neumann kept the game close with a 26-point performance for the Old Dogs.

In the second game, the Hoop Squad defeated the Bulls, (not the Chicago Bulls), 75-32.

Chris Moore and Darin Holden contributed 25 and 20 points respectively.

Finally the 5th Ward Hawks defeated The Players 56-40. Larry Dennis, Derrick Harris and Steve Matthews provided good playing for the Hawks.

In the last two weeks, the 5th Ward Hawks ran their combined record to 3-0. The Players won two straight games.

The Bulls and the Hoop Squad took one each. The Young Guns, after posting a win in their first game, dropped two straight. Unfortunately, the Old Dogs remained in the dog house with a winless record after three weeks of action.

All the teams will be in action on March 10, A17:10 p.m. The Players will take the floor against the Old Dogs.

At 8:10 p.m. the Hoop Squad will battle the Young Guns. The Young Guns need a victory to offset their two losses.

In the final game of the evening, the undefeated 5th Ward Hawks will play the Bulls.

All three games should prove to be exciting contests.

Another successful event was the 50-point straight pool tournament. Randy Tate ran 42 straight balls in the final.

He finished with a 50-0 victory. Tate will be the favorite going into the 9-ball tournament this month. It should be an exciting tournament.

How to sign-up for the intramurals? It's very simple. Building M 202a is Jim Ryan's office, where you sign up.

For any individual contests such as spot shooting basketball you can register at the door.

THE HARBINGER

William Davidson High School, Chicago

March 12, 1992

Volume 1, No. 1

WHCM fine tunes to FM frequency

WHCM music director Brian J. Shaver at the controls in the studio

Photo by Mark Mc

Jason Fennell
Megan Saxe

Harper radio's Music Director, Brian J. Shaver is fine tuning WHCM. Since he received his position on January 17, he has set many standards and goals for the station and the DJs.

The first, and most important, aspect under his was to change the format of the station. The 15 DJs now have strict programed music lists to follow which are made by Shaver according to feedback from the listeners, store sales, and Radio and Records. The songs are logged every day with a 200 song rotation. "I think we could use a little more variety, but we need to hear from the listeners to determine what else to play," said DJ Michael Gorm.

During the semester Shaver did a Valentine's promotion, recording messages from various people on campus, and started doing surveys to see what kind of music the listeners wanted.

The station is formatted as AOR (album oriented rock) and CHR (contemporary hit radio). After 4 p.m. the station plays only adult contemporary music.

One of the reasons Shaver puts so much emphasis on listener requests is because the station will be broadcast on FM next semester. Shaver has distributed weekly top 35 playlists both on and off the school at the information desk in building A, in three Sound 90.9, in the library, in Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, and Schaumburg, and in five Flip Side stores, in Arlington Heights, Hoffman Estates, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, and Schaumburg.

The station's playlists, which Shaver coordinated, are currently up on the radio's website. Service Company. Shaver is working with John Carver of TRF-R Vending to get sponsorship from 7-up as well.

One previous goal of Shaver's, which he has accomplished, is obtaining music by setting relationships with record companies, who send music to the station for airplay. This is one of the major changes at the station because the previous music director had purchased the music. The music itself is also a major change. Last year the station

"This is your station Harper College, so give me a call and tell me what you want to hear."

Brian J. Shaver

played mostly dance music, and last semester the DJ's had more leeway to play what they wanted.

"He spends a lot of time programming the music, and a lot of people that work for the radio station don't respect that," said DJ Tracy Jacobs. "I don't love all the music he programs, but you can't please everyone."

Shaver had originally intended to be a veterinarian. It was a lifelong dream that started when he was seven years old. He began radio as a hobby and never planned to turn it into a career. Aside from being the music director, he is also a DJ at Peoria Entertainment in Des Plaines, a mobile DJ company, and is currently involved in an internship with Hice 102.1 in Waukegan.

"I thought it would be a hobby at first, but then it turned into something I liked. Then I changed my major," said Shaver, who still wants to acquire a degree in science or the arts.

The most frightening moment was the first time on the air. "My biggest fear was coming in there and saying something because, oh my God, somebody might hear me," said Shaver who now "cats, sleeps, and drinks radio."

"I owe a lot, as speech teacher Todd Ballantyne for teaching me how to demographically analyze audiences, which helps in selecting songs." According to Shaver, the first songs are always listeners, to find out what the listeners want. Listener feedback is important in determining the program logs.

Shaver plans to put together a music catalogue for the station as well as helpfully continuing his position as music director next semester.

The last goal of Shaver's is to get Harper listeners involved. The station is on the air 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday thru Thursday, and 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday. The office number is ext. 2248 and the request line is ext. 2237.

"This is your station Harper College, so give me a call and tell me what you want to hear," said Shaver, who is on the air on Fridays 7 to 9 a.m.

Aids quilt at Harper to be the only showing in Illinois

HAIRY PRESS RELEASE

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt display of 480 panels runs on Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14. This is the only display of the quilt in Illinois this year.

The opening ceremony will be at 11 a.m. on Friday, March 13, in the Building A Student Center.

Adrian Zmed, currently playing the part of "Mas" in the Chicago Royal George Theatre's production of "Lead Me A Tender," will be master of ceremonies.

CONTENTS

Editorials	2
Letter to the Editor	2
Features	3
Arts & Entertainment	4&5
Comics	6
WHCM Playlist	7
Classifieds	7
Sports	8

Zmed, an active supporter of AIDS awareness and education, will introduce the quilt. The NAMES Project, the Illinois Director of Public Health John Lumpkin and Harper District resident Shari Hill, married mother of two who has the HIV virus.

The Program Board is sponsoring the display and providing the funding as well as student volunteers. Other student organizations including STOP AIDS Harper, the International Students Organization, The Sign Language Club, Brothers and Sisters in Christ (BASIC), as well as the College Health Services Department and Wellness Committee will provide support.

After the opening ceremony at 11 a.m., the Harper Signature Panel for the quilt will be carried by procession to be added to the display in Building M.

The display is open until 8 p.m. March 13. It will be open on March 14 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Admission is free. Donations are welcome and will benefit Chicago area AIDS direct care given. For more information call 708/797-3041, ext. 2242.

You can't fall off the bottom

Photo by John C. Auer

Board of Trustees member Barbara Proctor chats with Barbara Proctor.

About 300 women and a few men left Harper Monday night not knowing whether to laugh or cry over the outlook for women in the 90's. Barbara Proctor, the keynote speaker at the Woman's History Week kickoff dinner, had just given them more than an hour of we can win, but it won't be easy theme, and her audience loved every minute of it. Proctor, an entrepreneur who has her own successful advertising business, spoke first of women, specifically black women, who changed the world but rarely got the credit. She pointed out that Martin Luther King Jr. might have remained a merely a Baptist minister if he hadn't been for Rosa Parks who refused to give a white man her seat on a bus and sparked the whole civil rights movement.

Then Proctor prodded women into going after what they wanted saying, "All that we are within ourselves." She said women have nothing to lose by striving for the top. "You can't fall off the bottom,"

"All that we are is within ourselves."

Barbara Proctor

she said. The audience howled when Proctor said women should counter those dual meaning questions like "Why is the baby crying?" (translation — go change the baby's diaper) with "I have no idea, translation — Go change the baby your self." When Proctor was asked, by a man, how men could help women succeed in business, she responded, "Show them how to network." Women need to learn about how to act in the business world on the golf course like men do, she added.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor	Mari Siwak
Business Manager	Gary A. Tishler
A & E Editor	Laura Ashley
Copy Editor	Alvin Chindrud
Faculty Advisor	Susanne Hovick

EDITORIAL

Quality, conscience and responsibility

Recently The Harbinger has suffered many staff turnovers, charges of conflict of interest, and other disruptions to productivity. However, our staff has increased, we are working as a team rather than as individuals, and we're conscious of our responsibility to our readers. Many more changes will be made until we achieve a quality newspaper.

We think we're on our way to that goal. The February 13 issue of The Harbinger won a second place, Best of Show, award at the Associated Collegiate Press, Best of the Midwest competition in Minneapolis, Minnesota, last weekend. Hopefully, in the future we will produce many more award winning issues.

We believe in freedom of the press, as well as our responsibility to our readers to cover all newsworthy topics. We plan to be a watch dog, and give the Harper community the information it needs and wants. We believe in independence and trust. Most of all, we believe in truth, accuracy, impartiality, unbiasedness, and fair play. We are not here to serve ourselves, we are here to serve the school and our readers.

Our goal is to improve the quality of this paper. The Harbinger staff will work it's hardest to give Harper the best newspaper possible. Any recommendations are welcome, as well as any questions or comments.

Mari Siwak

Mari Siwak
Editor

Staff

Paul Barbour, Steve Bark, Dan Boyer, Liz Campa, Jason Fennel, John Fluke, Christopher Gorman, Debra Heller, Kaitlyn, Joseph C. Joseph, Palmer, David Pender, Brad Sanderson, Michael Sauer, Alexandra Tashchinski

COMMENTARY

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor,

Controversy stinks. And this year was full of it. If one looked most of it at Harper involves The Harbinger. Looking back to last semester, the first story that hit the readers' attention was the removal of then Editor in Chief, Marco Galecki. A new editor was chosen and then a few issues later, that person resigned. As managing editor, it was then my duty to take over until a new editor was appointed. At about the same time, the Gay and Lesbian Club issue was being fiercely fought for sensitive recognition. For the February 13 issue, I covered the student senate meeting and wrote the front page story recapitulating what was going on with the club. Almost immediately after the paper came out, I was told that writing the story was unethical because I am a member of the club. I would like to point out a few things against that. Number one, the job of a newspaper is to report the news in a fair and unbiased manner. The Code of Ethics of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi under Accuracy and Objectivity, the second statement, says, "Objectivity in reporting the news is another goal which serves as the mark of an experienced professional."

Number two, just because I am gay and a member of the group does not make the story unethical. I am not an officer of the group and I obtained quotes from people on both sides of the issue and mixed interview.

tant, I did not do any editorializing. Not only does The Harbinger have a responsibility to report the news fairly to its readers, it also has a responsibility in making sure its staff fully understands what fair and objective reporting is. Yes there are going to be times when mistakes are made but it's the learning experience that is gained. That's important so next time those mistakes won't happen again. There is bound to be more controversy in the future. When it happens, The Harbinger will be there to get the scoop.

Joseph Palmer
Student

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to some of the allegations made by Phil Mapes in his letter published in the March 5, 1992 issue of The Harbinger.

I want to clarify that neither Phil Mapes nor any other member of the staff in the fall/1991 semester was forced to resign from The Harbinger. He and several other staff members chose to leave. I asked Mapes on several occasions to reconsider, as did the editor in chief at that time.

As to Mapes' charge that it was a conflict of interest for the writer of the lead article in the February 13 issue of The Harbinger to cover the story because the writer was involved in one of the organizations covered, I must remind Mapes that the main function of journalism is one of surveillance.

Article 1 of the "Statement of Principles" published by the American Society of Newspaper Editors states that "The American press was made from not just to inform or just to serve as a forum for debate, but also to bring an independent scrutiny to bear on the forces of power in the society, including the conduct of official power at all levels of government." The article in question abided by that principle. In addition, it was newsworthy, balanced, fair and objective, appropriate criteria for a decision on whether to print it or not.

This past weekend the February 13 issue containing the article won a second place award in the 1992 Best of Show in the Midwest competition sponsored by the Associated Collegiate Press. I think this honor verifies that the editors who made the choice to print the article chose correctly.

Mapes' final allegation was that The Harbinger editors printed only letters in support of the gay/lesbian club's request for official status. The editors have assured me that all the letters they received were published.

Susanne Hovick
The Harbinger advisor

Super Tuesday, NOT!

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A307.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatories will be shielded upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved.

Freese wins essay contest for community college Next stop... state

Steve Bess
Harbinger Staff Writer

How has your community college changed your life? The Illinois Community College Trustees Association or ICCTA, has chosen this question as the topic for their statewide essay contest in recognition of April being Illinois Community College Month.

Of the nine entries received at Harper, one was chosen to be sent to the state competition.

That one winning essay was authored by Lynn Freese, a resident of Rolling Meadows. Freese was the local winner whose essay won a $100 certificate to the Harper Bookstore and entrance to the state competition.

"The first thing I did was call my Journalism professor that night when I found out," said Freese. "I was reelected."

The first runner-up for Harper was Renee Patrice Serrino from Palatine. Serrino received a $50 certificate to the Harper Bookstore.

"It was a very tough decision," said Patty Roberts, Director of Media Relations. "All of the entries were excellent." Roberts added that she hopes to see more submissions next year.

The President of Harper College, Paul Thompson, will honor the students who submitted an entry from Harper during a luncheon on Friday, March 27. The purpose of the luncheon will be to recognize every submission and to thank the students for their efforts. Prizes will be awarded at the luncheon.

From the entries received by the ICCTA, only one essay will be chosen as the state winner on April 25 at the ICCTA Board of Representatives meeting. A $500 cash stipend for educational expenses or a full tuition scholarship will be awarded to the winner for use at their community college in Fall 1992.

How My Local Community College Has Changed/Lies In Changing My Life by Lynn Freese

In the early 1970s, when I graduated from high school, local community colleges were not very popular among college prep students. Convinced by my peers that I should go to a "real" college (meaning a state university), I packed my new blue trunk from Sears and Roebuck and moved into an old college dorm, thinking I was ready to live away from home for the first time in my life.

But the freedom I suddenly enjoyed living away from home in a big university town was overwhelming. The thrill of being able to make or break my own rules was irresistible.

Almost every night of the week there was a party somewhere on campus, and I soon realized it didn't matter if I slept in instead of attending class the next morning. With 600 students in a large auditorium, university professors didn't know (or care) if I was absent.

With such an immature attitude and the lack of responsibility I showed, my time away at the big university wasn't worth its weight in the paper my student loan was printed on. So I quit school and joined the work force as a beginning, accounting clerk for a large international corporation located near Harper College.

Harper began offering college credit courses in business that were taught on my company's campus during work hours. I knew I'd be a fool to pass up that deal, literally getting paid while attending class, so I asked my supervisor to enroll me. I actually started enjoying those classes. The instructors even knew my name, because the class size was about 16 instead of 600.

With the first two college "A's" I received, my long time affair began with Harper College. Eighteen years later, I'm still glad we finally got together.

Our relationship has changed through the years, along with my life, but Harper was always there to stimulate me to learn and peak my interest in the world around me.

It was Harper that gave me self-confidence and got me back on track after leaving the university. It was Harper that graduated me with Trustee's Honors after several years of night classes together. It was Harper that taught me "How to Get Organized," and "How to Understand the Man in Your Life" (Women's Program) when I got married. It was Harper that taught me about Child Psychology and Child Development when I was pregnant. And now, once more, it is Harper that's teaching an old (thirty-something) alumna how to succeed in a new journalism career.

I never miss a chance to encourage new high school grads to choose a community college for their first college experience. But I'd like to see more "older folks" discover the wonderful experience awaiting them, too. No matter what their age.

I knew my local community college will still be challenging and stimulating me for many more years to come, helping to make my life just a little more meaningful.

That's what friends are for

COLUMBIA

COLLEGE

CHICAGO

Open House
Saturday, March 14, 1992
Everyone Welcome!

We've Made It
Comprehensive!

We've Made It
Flexible!

We've Made It
Excellent!

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

All About Alternative

CUSTOMER GUACIA
Harbinger Staff Writer

"What exactly is the alternative music you speak of?" That is a common question I get from readers. There are many types of music on the airwaves today. Most important, there's rock music, which is closely related to alternative. In fact, alternative is a form of rock music.

One of the biggest widely known alternative bands is Depeche Mode. Just about everyone has heard the songs Policy of Truth, Enjoy The Silence, Personal Jesus, and World In My Eyes from their 1990 release VIOLATOR. This was the album that brought them to the attention of the mainstream audience. Little did people know they've cranked out nine albums previously — since 1981!

What does that mean? Well, they used instruments that were unique at the time for a band — electronic ones. They had no drums — only three keyboardists and a singer. Depeche Mode hails from England, where many alternative bands are from (i.e., New Order and Wings).

Alternative music started in the punk movement back in 1977 with The Sex Pistols, Joy Division (now New Order), and The Clash. But back to the electronic alternative (hereon called EA) perspective. The band that started it all was the German Kraftwerk. There are four members in Kraftwerk — four keyboardists. Originally starting out in 1973 with their debut, AUTOMATON, they were unlike anything ever heard at the time. If it wasn't for the ingenious wizardry of Kraftwerk, there wouldn't be any rap music, breakdance music (come on, you remember), no Q1 music (made joke) or any form of electronic based music as we now know it.

Just think, New Kids On The Block, Milli Vanilli, Real Time (the obscure 2 Live Crew), C+C Music Factory, and yes, even Depeche Mode wouldn't exist if Kraftwerk didn't experiment with technology. Kraftwerk still exists today. In fact, their 1991 release titled THE MIX is a reprogrammed and remixed album of their best songs. You won't hear any guitars on that album, not out and buy the latest Guns 'N' Roses album for guitars (ughhh). B'98 wouldn't the amount of there was no Kraftwerk that's another good point.

Just as alternative music is a form of rock music, there are different forms of alternative music.

One of my favorites is industrial music. Industrial music primarily consists of a hard electronic rhythm and distorted or screaming vocals with keyboards (and or guitars) supplying the melody. Some bands that incorporate the above are Front 242, Nitzer Ebb, Skunk Puppy, Nine Inch Nails, Ministry, and most of the Wax Trax label compilation.

Another form of alternative is music that hasn't hit the mainstream or more widely known in the college radio charts (but not Harper's WHCM — they're into the popular type stuff). Lush, Ned's Atomic Dustbin, Dissonance Jr. (see, it's in print), Teenage Fanclub, and basically the whole Manchester music scene (sorry) fit into this category.

There is also another form of alternative music. Techno music is produced only with electronic instruments and is a derivative of Chicago house music brought to the U.K. with a little more thump. Examples are LFO, Moby, Lords of Acid, System 7, The Orb, Fortran 5, and Mot Nite.

Another aspect of alternative music is in the lyrics. Most of the lyrics speak of politics, animal rights, society in general, and the artist's own personal beliefs. For example, Mississippi Oh is very big on getting across its message to the audience. Listen to the words, they are truly saying something: There's more to the music than just melody or rhythm.

The reason I praise the electronic aspect of alternative music more so than the rockish side is because keyboards make infinite numbers of sounds while guitars make only the same limited ones. Don't get me wrong. I do like many bands that don't incorporate synthesized sounds but if a keyboard can emulate a guitar, bass and drums, it's an easy way to go. With the possibility of sampling instruments — such as Nitzer Ebb sampling guitars for their most recent single Godhead — why hinder the sound with a real guitar when the rest is all computerized. Of course the absence of such a crucial instrument is ridiculous as in the bands Lush or Psychic Furs where the entire melody is guitar.

I'm sure a question many of you have is why do I like EA music and not pop music? The answer is simple. First of all, pop music is just that — popular. When a band is popular everyone and their mother's cousin's best friend's uncle likes them. That deflates the purpose of being music. Why like a band because everyone else does?

Alternative music is an ongoing live from the mainstream and EA in all aspects: industrial, progressive, techno or whatever. Alternative music may be popular in its realm and even when it has commercial success, it's still considered alternative since it started out that way. In fact, according to the March 1992 issue of Spin magazine, alternative music is the second highest rated music that is listened to on college campuses next to rock. Does that tell you something? I think it's safe to say that in time, there will be more and more alternative bands in the hands of the general public. Just look at Nirvana and Jesse James after just their second album release each. Enough said.

If it wasn't for rock music, there wouldn't be alternative music and if it wasn't for alternative music, there wouldn't be pop music (as we know it today). Think about it.

Millar Brass Ensemble to perform

The Millar Brass Ensemble at the 1991 concert in Madison, Wis., Oct. 20, 1991.

HARPER COLLEGE
Press Release

The Millar Brass Ensemble, a group of 15 trumpet, trombone, alto and horn players will perform in a free noon-time concert Thursday, March 26 at Harper College in Palatine.

The group has established a national reputation and has toured extensively. They record for the Crystal Records label. Their repertoire includes Bach, Brahms, Bozza, Gubinski and many others. The group plays everything from trumpet solos to fanfares to brass octets.

Headquartered at the Alice Millar Chapel at Northwestern University, the group was founded in 1981 as a performing outlet for Chicago area brass players. The ensemble uses the chapel as rehearsal space in return for performing at the Chapel's worship services.

The Millar Brass Ensemble concert will begin at 12:15 p.m. in Building P-Room 203. The concert is free and the public is invited. For more information, call the Harper College Music Department at 708/397-3400, ext. 256.

Art Institute Events

A Distanced Land: The photographs of John Plahl

A most retrospective of John Plahl's work, A Distanced Land: The Photographs of John Plahl will be on view in the Photography Galleries of the Art Institute of Chicago from March 10 through June 9. The exhibition includes approximately 100 photographs, most of which are in color. Featured will be work from the artist's nine series that critically explores man's alteration of American landscape: Altered Landscapes, Picture Windows, Video Landscapes, Power Plants, Submerged Pennsylvania, Muscle Glyphs, Acadia Revisited, Waterfalls and Smoke.

Museum Hours: 10:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10:30 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, 10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Saturday, noon - 5:00 p.m. Sunday and holidays. Suggested admission is $6.00 for adults and $3.00 for students, seniors, and children. TUESDAY'S AGE FREE! For public information, call (312) 443-3441, TTY, (312) 443-3515.

WHERE YOU ARRESTED FOR DRUGS?
DID YOU KNOW THAT YOU COULD SPEND UP TO 364 DAYS IN JAIL FOR THE FIRST OFFENSE?

JACOBSON & JACOBSON
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 1410
CHICAGO, IL 60606
(312) 346-9733
24hrs (312) 946-0604

"CALL US TO FIND OUT MORE"
**FIRST CONSULTATION FREE**

PAYING FOR COLLEGE?? LET US HELP YOU!!

Each year millions of dollars are made available to college students based upon their individual profile without regard to personal income or grade point average.

LET US LOCATE YOUR SHARE OF THESE FUNDS!

For more information, write to:
College Planning & Research Associates
853 N. Quentin Road, Suite 307-H
Palatine, IL 60067

Grand Canyon: A slice of life

MovieReview

Grand Canyon
★★★★☆ (4.5 Rating)
Aida Cavonzo
Hawthorne Trail Series

Lawrence Kanand and his wife Meg have crafted The Big Chill of the '90s in Grand Canyon. The characters have matured to forty-something people with voices of possibilities, hopes and mistakes.

During the opening sequence, Mack (Kevin Kline), an immigration lawyer, is almost killed by black gang members when his car breaks down in the wrong neighborhood. His savior, Simon (Danny Glover), a black tow truck driver, reappears with the gang leader Mack's near-death experience transforms him. He develops a relationship with Simon, initially based on gratitude and, subsequently, friendship.

Grand Canyon tries to break down monetary and racial barriers and show that everyone makes a difference in society.

It's a story of miracles. Mack's wife, Claire (Mary McDonnell), hears a baby crying in the bushes during a routine jog. Just as Simon is Mack's savior, Claire appears to save the child. The baby is also Claire's savior. She has a weak relationship with her son and Mack is non-receptive.

It's about survival. Simon tells Mack he's worried about his sister's son, who's in a gang. Mack finds them a better neighborhood. But this neighborhood offers similar dangers: being black is enough to provoke a police attack.

It's a love story. Mack arranges a blind date for Simon and Jane (Allie Woodard), a woman in his office. They agree they're probably the only black people Mack knows.

It's about violence in movies and society. Davis (Steve Martin), a parody producer of splatter films, He complains because a shot of a bus driver getting his brains splattered on the windshield is edited out. Later a rubber shock ham in the leg because he doesn't immediately bleed in time. Davis vows to stop making violent films. But can he really change when money's involved?

The Lawnmower Man will shock you

MovieReview

The Lawnmower Man
★★★★☆ (4.5 Rating)
Joe Paume
Hawthorne Trail Series

The Lawnmower Man, a Stephen King picture holds your back in your seat as Dr. Lawrence Angelo, a virtual reality scientist, and Jobe, a born-dumb lawn mower take you through an impressive scene of computer reality. Director Angelo/Pearce Brennan from Remington Steele) creates a virtual reality simulation and a program to enhance brain intelligence. Angelo uses the simulation and the intelligence enhances on monkeys and hopes to get a human to use his creations. The actors work well with the creative and very intense virtual reality graphics. The graphics are basically the only saving grace of the movie. The plot is very weak, the graphics alone are what would make me go back for more.

The cast is mediocre, with Jobe being perhaps the strongest force of them all. Despite the weak plot, the graphics and the idea behind virtual reality make you think about the future of society and where technology is taking us. The weak plot can be attributed to Stephen King's style for shocking the heck out of you, which the graphics did and while at the same time making you think.

Blues & Rock Nightclub
20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
MARCH
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

13 MEET THE BUD GIRLS
With Your Host Mark & Celebrate His Birthday!
Music by The Ultimate Zappian Tribute Band

PREZENCE
Free Prizes From Budweiser!
$1.00 12oz. Bud Drafts!

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS
Call the club for details

COLLEGE NIGHT LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With This Coupon

BALLOON DROP WITH CASH PRIZES
Every Week During Band Night!

Check Out Our Huge Game Room
3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool

Here's How You Can Shape Up
(in more than 1 way)

This year, get your finances and yourself in good shape with a company that really shapes up... UPS!

PACKAGE HANDLER

at United Parcel Service, you'll enjoy the benefit of a good workout with lots of on the job exercise. And while you stay in shape you'll make $8 - $9 an hour!

And look at these benefits: medical, prescription, vision and dental coverage, paid vacations and holidays. UPS also offers student loans and great work experience.

This year, get yourself in great shape, with a part time opportunity at UPS.

Applications taken at the UPS Employment Office
Rand and Hicks Rd., Flossing, IL
Monday - Thursday, 1 PM - 4 PM
or
Contact your school's placement office for on-campus dates and times.

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR US
UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

COMICS

THE Crossword

by James R. Burns

ACROSS
1. Lachesis
5. Cornishman Bean
10. Pruned
14. Actor Richard
15. Relative of
16. Russian spy
17. Atlas culture
18. Repeating and
20. Decade
22. Antiques
23. Corrode
24. Deconstructivism
27. Mac's university
30. Affix to
31. Sand off
36. Mac's house
38. Mac's of ending
39. Food
41. In ambulatory
42. Stephen
43. More classic
44. Writer Huxford
47. Variety
48. Impressed
49. In "in Area"
51. F and L
52. Volume
53. Luffa of the
54. Thing type
55. Luffa and
56. Luffa and
57. Luffa and
58. Luffa and
59. Luffa and
60. Luffa and
61. Luffa and
62. Luffa and
63. Luffa and
64. Luffa and
65. Luffa and
66. Luffa and
67. Luffa and
68. Luffa and
69. Luffa and
70. Luffa and
71. Luffa and
72. Luffa and
73. Luffa and
74. Luffa and
75. Luffa and
76. Luffa and
77. Luffa and
78. Luffa and
79. Luffa and
80. Luffa and
81. Luffa and
82. Luffa and
83. Luffa and
84. Luffa and
85. Luffa and
86. Luffa and
87. Luffa and
88. Luffa and
89. Luffa and
90. Luffa and
91. Luffa and
92. Luffa and
93. Luffa and
94. Luffa and
95. Luffa and
96. Luffa and
97. Luffa and
98. Luffa and
99. Luffa and
100. Luffa and

DOWN
1. Luffa and
2. Luffa and
3. Luffa and
4. Luffa and
5. Luffa and
6. Luffa and
7. Luffa and
8. Luffa and
9. Luffa and
10. Luffa and
11. Luffa and
12. Luffa and
13. Luffa and
14. Luffa and
15. Luffa and
16. Luffa and
17. Luffa and
18. Luffa and
19. Luffa and
20. Luffa and
21. Luffa and
22. Luffa and
23. Luffa and
24. Luffa and
25. Luffa and
26. Luffa and
27. Luffa and
28. Luffa and
29. Luffa and
30. Luffa and
31. Luffa and
32. Luffa and
33. Luffa and
34. Luffa and
35. Luffa and
36. Luffa and
37. Luffa and
38. Luffa and
39. Luffa and
40. Luffa and
41. Luffa and
42. Luffa and
43. Luffa and
44. Luffa and
45. Luffa and
46. Luffa and
47. Luffa and
48. Luffa and
49. Luffa and
50. Luffa and
51. Luffa and
52. Luffa and
53. Luffa and
54. Luffa and
55. Luffa and
56. Luffa and
57. Luffa and
58. Luffa and
59. Luffa and
60. Luffa and
61. Luffa and
62. Luffa and
63. Luffa and
64. Luffa and
65. Luffa and
66. Luffa and
67. Luffa and
68. Luffa and
69. Luffa and
70. Luffa and
71. Luffa and
72. Luffa and
73. Luffa and
74. Luffa and
75. Luffa and
76. Luffa and
77. Luffa and
78. Luffa and
79. Luffa and
80. Luffa and
81. Luffa and
82. Luffa and
83. Luffa and
84. Luffa and
85. Luffa and
86. Luffa and
87. Luffa and
88. Luffa and
89. Luffa and
90. Luffa and
91. Luffa and
92. Luffa and
93. Luffa and
94. Luffa and
95. Luffa and
96. Luffa and
97. Luffa and
98. Luffa and
99. Luffa and
100. Luffa and

Last Weeks Answers

Clodsbreath's Corner

By Daniel Beyer

YOUR DEGREE COULD BE CLOSER THAN YOU THINK.

Roosevelt University's A+ ranking highlights campus highlights. 1800 hours for graduation... traveling hours, that is. Not only 1800 hours, but also up to 1800 hours, that is. You save because you can live at home. What more? You can earn your bachelor's or master's degree entirely at our Albert A. Robin Campus in a variety of subject areas including Business Administration, Education, Engineering, Public Administration, and History.

So when you consider which four-year university to attend, remember you can go a long way further in your education when you don't have to go a long way to your campus.

A Roosevelt counselor will be visiting your campus Tuesday, March 17 and Wednesday, April 8 in the A+ Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Thursday, March 26 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Roosevelt University
A Four Chicago Post - A Leader Chicago Future

Albert A. Robin Campus
7701 N. Greenfield Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60015 • (815) 831-8200
Greenfield Campus • 620 S. Michigan Avenue • Chicago, IL 60605 • (312) 929-6550

Name _____
Address _____
City _____
State _____ Zip _____
Phone _____
E-mail _____

A degree for people on the move.

Distance education is the only way to earn your degree while you're on the move. It's the only way to earn your degree while you're on the move. It's the only way to earn your degree while you're on the move.

For more information, contact DeVry.

DeVry We're serious about success.

Name _____ Age _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Phone _____
E-mail _____

Free Pregnancy Testing Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24-hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

One Pregnancy Center
708 885 1778
7703 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Michael's Professional TANNING Salons, Inc.

Crystal Court Shopping Center
1741 W. Algonquin Rd.
Mt. Prospect

BY APPOINTMENT ONLY

640-TANS!
2 FREE SESSIONS
$18<sup>99</sup> VALUE!

New Or Previous Customers Welcome
Last Visit Was Before 3/15/92
Reservations Apply Expires 3/31/92

Go to the phone now and dial
640-TANS!
"FREE" 2 TANS

IGNORE CHEST PAIN AND IT'LL GO AWAY.

If you have chest pain, get medical help immediately. Otherwise when the pain stops, your life could too. To learn more, contact your nearest American Heart Association. You can help prevent heart disease and stroke. We can tell you how.

American Heart Association

IMPROVE YOUR
LOOKS, HEALTH AND POPULARITY.

QUIT SMOKING.

American Heart Association

SPRING BREAK
DAYTONA BEACH

• High quality beachfront accommodations for 7 faculty nights
• Round trip chartered motor coach
• Free pool, tennis, parties, activities & promotions
• Free Campus Programs: I.D. Discount card
• On location suit for complete assistance
• All taxes, tips & service charges included

$119 $204

CALL: SARAH at 398-6438

Not Sponsored by Harper College

Harper College MUSIC

PLAYLIST
March 9, 1992 to
March 15, 1992

MUSIC DIRECTOR

- ARTIST
1. JOHN MELLENCAMP
  2. MICHAEL JACKSON
  3. OZZY OSBOURNE
  4. SHANICE
  5. U2
  6. MICHAEL BOLTON
  7. NIRVANA
  8. VANESSA WILLIAMS
  9. LILY ALDO JR.
  10. RUSH
  11. GENESIS
  12. VAN HALEN
  13. PAULA ABIDUL
  14. LA GUNS
  15. BOYZ II MEN
  16. RIGHT SAID FRED
  17. METALLICA
  18. PM DAWN
  19. BRYAN ADAMS
  20. MARIAH CAREY
  21. RICHARD MARX
  22. KIX
  23. STORM
  24. SIMPLY RED
  25. VAN HALEN
  26. U2
  27. CHRIS CUEVAS
  28. TOM PETTY & THE HEARTBREAKERS
  29. NIRVANA
  30. GENESIS
  31. MARIAH CAREY
  32. MARK MARK & THE FUNKY BUNCH
  33. AARON NEVILLE
  34. CECILE PENISTON
  35. ROXETTE

- TITLE
- Again Tonight
Remember The Time
Mama I'm coming Home
I Love Your Smile
Until The End Of The World
Missing You Now
Come As You Are
Save The Best For Last
Everything About You
Ohn Oh A Chance
I Can't Dance
The Dream Is Over
Vibology
B' Over New
Unlo-Able
I'm Too Sexy
Nothing Else Matters
Paper Dolls
Thoughts I Don't & Gone To Heaven A & M
Make It Happen
Hazard (The River)
Tear Down The Walls
Show Me The Way Start
Right Now
Mysterious Ways
You Are The One
King's Highway
Smells Like Teen Spirit
Jesus He Knows Me
Can't Let Go
I Need Money
Somewhere Somebody
We Got A Love Thing
Church Of Your Heart

- LABEL
- Mercury
Epic
Epic Assoc.
Motown
Island/PLG
Columbia
DGC
Wing/Mercury
Sunship/Mercury
Atlantic
Atlantic
Warner Bros.
Capitol/Virgin
Polydor/PLG
Motown
Charm
Epic
Salsoul
A & M
Columbia
Capitol
A&E/West
Interscope
A&E/West
Warner Bros.
Island/PLG
Atlantic
MCA
DGC
Atlantic
Columbia
Interscope
A & M
A & M EMERGE

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

A limited amount of FT and PT positions are available! 831-9225 $300 - $1000/wk. Call now! Mr. Van Dine

ALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT - Hehahs. Earn $5,000/month. Free transportation! Room & Board. Male or Female. For employment program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. 1645

EARN EXTRA INCOME - Earn $200 - $500 weekly mailing travel brochures. For information send a stamped, addressed envelope to: ATM Travel, P.O. Box 430780, South Miami, FL 33143

Travel

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND Condominiums for Spring Break $20 per person per night / all-in beach $25 per person per night / beachfront 1-800-422-8212

Fitness

The Search is Over... Why are so many NFL Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW! 708-638-5391

Services

Desktop Publishing Services Papers, Resumes, spell check and laser printing. Call Lynn 255-3364. Low Rates

Typing Professional Results WP 5.1 Laser Print quality. All types of reports. Call Dawn at 708-885-0098

Legal Service FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608 evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60115

Are you pregnant, single, over 40? Open Arms can help you with counseling and support. Call Jett or Rosanna at 312-784-6500, Monday - Friday, 9 to 5.

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP 5.5 Term papers, resumes, letter printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low rates

Secretarial Service Word processing, spreadsheets, graphs, graphics. Laser Quality Call Lori at 708-5531

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Finders M. Knappe-Digi HCS 5 Elm Creek Dr #305 Elmhurst, IL 60120

Typing - Done on a Macintosh. Multiple fonts possible as well as color printing. Only $2.00 per page and spelling checked. Rapid turn around. Call DONNA AT 708/468-1071 OR LEAVE MESSAGE.

Roommate

Single woman seeks same to share townhouse in N. Harbinger Park (Harper District). Must be responsible & clean $350 + 1/2 utilities 351-8313 (day). 830-1956 (even)

For Sale

Summers Comin' '90 2x-10 Black Red 3567 miles, mint cond. Warr. Exp. Nov '93, V&H exhaust, carburettor, call 392-9860 Ask for Pete

IBM PC XT 640K RAM 20M Hard Drive with keyboard Samsung monochrome monitor Star NX1001 Printer $525 obo Call 708-830-9167

If interested in buying an AM/FM cassette radio Must be used for a ford model. Selling for $80 If interested Call 202-0220

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE Bixaltrix products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight Loss without drugs, denial, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-surgical formula. 708-638-5391

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY FOCUS NO PILLS! (708) 638-5391

Tell me who you walk with and I will tell you who you are.

To where your heart leads you, your feet take you.

HARBINGER SPORTS

Call the Shots

by Bo Kase

It's the North Side against the South Side as Chicago baseball fans begin their annual debate about who the better team is, the Cubs or the White Sox. Baseball's answer to the Civil War pits the "friendly confines" of Wrigley Field, against the "good old fashioned fun" of the new Comiskey Park.

When I moved to Chicago two years ago, a co-worker asked me whom my favorite team was, the Cubs or the White Sox? I told him that I liked both teams. Obviously, this was not an acceptable response. My stunned inquirer began to emphatically explain that while it is okay to cheer for the Bulls and Blackhawks, you must choose one or the other when it comes to baseball. This persistent, facetious and, quite frankly, puzzled me.

If you live in Chicago and are a true baseball fan, why not cheer for both teams? It just seems natural that you would want the Cubs to win the National League and the Sox to finish as the American League. After all, isn't every Chicagoan vying to have these two teams compete in the World Series? I know. I know. That probably will never happen, but shouldn't it be a common goal anyway? I can imagine what it could be like to have these two teams vie for baseball's ultimate treasure, as the World Champions. Remember when it was like when the Bears won it all back in 1985? This town went bananas. How about last year?

The Bulls captured their first ever NBA Championship, and 110,000 people crammed into Grant Park to show the team their appreciation. These two events could not possibly compare to the small jubilation and mass hysteria this town would experience if the Cubs and Sox were to both win pennants in the same year. Chicagoans can only dream of this for now, with the dawn of spring comes renewed hope.

Maybe, just maybe, this could be the year that Chicago baseball fans will finally have a legitimate way to determine who the better team really is.

So good luck, Cub fans and good luck Sox fans. I'll see you in the stands opening day.

'92 Baseball

Mar	22	Sun	Kankakee Kankakee	DH	Noon
	27	Fri	Martin Methodist	Pulaski, TN	DH 4 p.m.
	28	Sat	Volunteer State	Gallatin TN	DH noon
	29	Sun	Wallace State	Hanceville AL	DH 1 p.m.
	30	Mon	Columbia State	Columbia TN	DH 3:30 p.m.
	31	Tues	Martin Methodist	Pulaski TN	DH 4 p.m.
Apr	2	Thurs	Aquinas	Nashville TN	DH 1 p.m.
	4	Sat	Triton	River Grove	DH 2 p.m.
	7	Tues	College of Dupage	HOME	DH 2 p.m.
	9	Thurs	Waubesa	Sugar Grove	DH 2 p.m.
	11	Sat	Joliet	Joliet	DH NOON
	12	Sun	McHenry	Crystal Lake	DH NOON
	14	Tues	Mt. Vernon	HOME	DH 2 p.m.
	16	Thurs	Malcolm X	HOME	DH 2 p.m.
	17	Fri	Elgin	Elgin	DH 2 p.m.
	18	Sat	Rock Valley	Rockford	DH NOON
	19	Sun	Truman	HOME	DH 1 p.m.
	21	Tues	Illinois Valley	HOME	DH 2 p.m.
	23	Thurs	Oakton	Des Plaines	DH 2 p.m.
	24	Fri	Lake County	HOME	DH 2 p.m.
	25	Sat	Moraine Valley	Palos Hills	DH NOON
	26	Sun	Malcolm X	Chicago	DH 1 p.m.
	27	Mon	Aurora Univ. V	Aurora	DH 1:30 p.m.
	28	Tues	South Suburban	HOME	DH 2 p.m.
May	8-10	Fri - Sun	Region IV	Sectional	TBA
	15-17	Fri - Sun	Region IV	Finals	TBA
			NCAA DIVISION III	Finals	Jamestown, NY

Ju-jitsu, the sport of self defense and attack

Eric Kaufman
Harbinger Staff Writer

Harper students looking to acquire self defense skills and having fun while doing it should register for classes in Ju-jitsu. Continuing Education provides the class, and John Martin and Don Kue provide the instruction.

According to Martin, who has been active in the art for 14 years, Ju-jitsu differs from other martial arts in the respect that it is "purely a combat form. It can be used for practical applications in real life, to defend yourself against an attacker, or even multiple attackers." Other arts such as Judo and Tai Kwon Do, are "governed by rules." Ju-jitsu has no sporting aspects, and the techniques are designed to "control and incapacitate an attacker." Unlike other martial arts, there are no competitions where points are awarded for hits or strikes. Ju-jitsu deals with combat techniques that are proven to work in street combat.

Ju-jitsu itself can be traced back to the Samurai of feudal Japan, and it has gathered many forms of martial arts. Judo, Karate, and Aikido have all been derived by Ju-jitsu. The modern aspects of this came about when the Samurais realized a need to put down their swords and learn a better way of combat.

People enrolling for this class can expect to receive the same benefits as most martial arts classes, namely better coordination, flexibility and shape. There are but a few of the advantages. People will learn how to "break a fall," so that you do not injure yourself, as well as gain a general overview of Ju-jitsu, and major throws." And of course, the biggest asset is that it's fun.

The beginner's class, which is divided into eight work courses, provides training in various techniques, throws, joint locking, and wrist turning.

The Ju-jitsu technique from start to finish includes a block or evasion of an incoming attack, followed by a throw or take down and ultimately completed by using a control technique while the person is on the ground. This assures that the person attacking doesn't get up and attack again.

The time to complete all this ranges from five to eight seconds. "It is assumed that all the time the student will have in terms of energy and time to deter his attackers."

Even people who state: only the beginner's course can benefit from Ju-jitsu. Martin says, "Even though students may not feel they have perfected the techniques, which they haven't, they have learned the most important things about surviving a confrontation."

This includes avoiding injury, and learning to react to a situation. Most people who continue to do so, because they enjoy the class itself. They find it fun and enjoyed the people involved."

There are no requirements to join the class other than not having any physical condition. If the person is over 40 years old, Martin recommends a check up and ap-

Eric Kaufman shows her officer personal before joining. He readily recognizes the varying physical abilities in class and states, "Sometimes these people with an athletic background, actually, work against them." This is due to the fact that most techniques are involved with body positioning and leverage, as opposed to physical strength. It is these factors that enable the smallest girl to throw the largest attacker imaginable. The students in class range from under 100 pounds to over 200, and the Harper classes have been 50 percent female. Martin feels that this is important, as "Women perhaps have the most to benefit through the mechanics of Ju-jitsu."

Martin also welcomes students with disabilities, pointing out that, "Everyone has some sort of disability, whether it's noticeable or not." There is a variety of techniques taught, and many can be modified to adjust to an individual's capabilities.

The particular school of Ju-jitsu that is taught at Harper is known as Miyama Ryu. It was started by an American soldier named Amos Penner, a man who has trained extensively in many forms of martial arts. Ju-jitsu is also taught to all police and military personnel in every country "except the United States."

John Martin and Don Kue, the instructors at Harper, both hold black belts in Ju-jitsu and have "played around" with other forms of martial arts. Their teaching style is interactive, and Martin adds, "We don't just say, 'Do this.' Everything we teach we explain fully, so that the students understand fully what they are doing and may be capable of teaching these techniques."

Higher ranked students often help teach lower ranked students, providing an assessment of assistance. Anyone seeking further information about Ju-jitsu or the class itself, can call 991-9608.

Students interested in signing up for the next available class, which starts March 16, should register through continuing education for "Personal Defense." (This is the last sign up Harper has for the Ju-jitsu class under.) The class costs $30, as opposed to private instruction that charge nearly double that for only one month of training. Classes are held Monday nights in Building M. This is a class for students wishing to further themselves defensively, or physically, or those wanting to have fun.

Eric Kaufman is a sixth Kyu (orange belt) currently participating in Miyama Ryu Ju-jitsu.

THE HARBINGER

William Ransay Harper College

March 19, 1992

Volume XXVI Number XXV

NAMES AIDS quilt displayed at Harper

ALISA CHESLUND
HARBINGER STAFF WRITER

AIDS does not discriminate. It is an equal opportunity killer. It preys on men, women and children. It takes its victims from people from any race or sexual orientation. IV drug use is a plus.

"AIDS is everyone's problem and no one's fault," Shari Hill, a Harver Park mother of two who has tested positive for HIV, said during the opening ceremony for NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt. "I don't want my children to grow up thinking that AIDS is something that had people get or something that you can't talk about."

Harper College helped relay the message by bringing almost 500 of the 15,000-panel quilt, created by friends, family and lovers to Building M last weekend.

"The NAMES Project is very special to me," Hill said. "I think it's a very touching tribute to the thousands of lives that it memorializes. It has reached far, strong hearts and minds as it goes, leaving every person who has seen it changed for ever. As happy as I am to be here, I

"I want all of you to spread the message that AIDS is a disease that can affect everyone."
Shari Hill

am very saddened by the reality of what it represents. The disease is robbing children of their parents and parents of their children, and people everywhere of their future." Thousands of people resided, students, celebrities and family and friends of people who died from AIDS viewed the quilt and signed Harper's signature panel.

PHOTO BY JAMES F. PETER

The signature panel, designed by Ron Kratz, is made up of 12 different-size Harper sweatshirts to symbolize the mothers, fathers and babies who died from AIDS. The panel will be added to the quilt.

Each panel in the quilt is 14 feet by 6 feet, the size of a human grave or the space a person occupies in the world. The panels are sewn together in 12 feet by 12 feet blocks. The quilt weighs 16 tons and spans 32 miles (more than twice its length). The quilt will be on display in Washington, D.C., October 9 through 11. Every panel is unique. It may be embellished with artwork, applique, photographs, ashes, signatures or other mementos to memorialize the person who died.

"The panels that I feel are the saddest are the panels that remain nameless," Hill said. "These people were not allowed a chance [memorial] for the reason that they died because of AIDS, a disease, not because of who they were or what they did."

Hill said people need to learn about AIDS and take precautions to keep from spreading it. "I want all of you to spread the message that AIDS is a disease that can affect everyone. No one deserves AIDS. No one deserves to die. If you teach someone about AIDS, there may be one less panel attached to this quilt. Help in the fight against AIDS. The life you save could be your own or someone you love dearly."

Harbinger wins award

STEVEN BOK
HARBINGER STAFF WRITER

The awards ceremony for the 1992 Best of the Midwest News-papers Conference provided a welcome surprise for the Harbinger staff as second place award in the Two-Year Newspapers division. "I didn't even know that the Feb. 11, 1992 edition was being submitted," said Joe Palmer, Managing Editor for the winning edition. "It made me feel good."

The ceremony capped the March 6-7 newspaper conference which was hosted by the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Beginning the evening of March 6 with two keynote speakers and continuing March 7 with a variety of seminars, the weekend was considered a valuable learning experience.

"I look in what would help me as a political cartoonist, and also what would help the paper," commented Dan Beyer, Graphic Editor for the Harbinger.

The conference was also a place to meet and exchange ideas with other newspaper staffs in the Midwest region.

"We met many other journalists, and we exchanged layout and column ideas," said Laura Ashley, A&E editor.

She added, "We found that the distance between our schools was bridged by the common thoughts of journalism we shared."

Maria Sival, current Editor-in-Chief, was also optimistic about the outcome of the conference and the future of the Harbinger.

"We've benefited quite a bit because we got ideas from so many other papers and learned so much through the seminars."

Students sign Harper's panel to be added to the quilt. PHOTO BY JAMES F. PETER

Job Fair means career opportunity

STEPHAN DEBUCA
JOHN PEAK

Harper's fifth annual Employment Fair will be held Tuesday, March 24 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the physical education center in Building M. The fair will be an opportunity for students to meet with recruiters from local companies seeking employees.

"This is a career development opportunity, not just a job fair," said Christopher Kratz, placement specialist at Harper's Career Planning and Placement Center.

"Historically the fair has grown from 60 up to 140 employers," he said. "Considering the current economic times, about 100 companies are still expected to be there."

"Most employers are coming with specific opportunities to recruit," Kratz said.

"But it wouldn't limit me as a job seeker to approach an employer and say, 'I was wondering if your company has opportunities for internships' and find out who to contact for information."

Kratz recommended for people to attend the fair regardless of their year in school, or even if they'll be transferring to a different school. "The more comfortable you get, the more contact you make, the easier it's going to be for yourself to create (employment) opportunities."

While most of the employers at the fair will be looking to fill entry-level positions, people desiring other positions can get useful contacts from talking with recruiters. "Whether you're looking for a job right now, a summer job or maybe even an internship, now's the time to start exploring some possibilities that exist," said Kratz.

Kratz strongly suggests to attend one of Harper's Pre-Fair seminars which will be held on Wednesday, March 23, at the Career Planning and Placement Center, A3M7.

The Pre-Fair seminars are mainly for physical and psychological preparation for the fair.

The Pre-Fair seminars started last year due to the requests of the attending companies for students to be more presentable. Out of the 1,500 students at the fair last year, 600 went to one of the seminars.

"The reason we're going to Pre-Fair seminars is from the request of employers who said that probably the one thing that was lacking was the presentation of the people coming to the fair," Kratz said.

The seminar will address questions such as "what to wear, how to present yourself, what to bring and what to expect."

One of the seminar's objectives is to eliminate fears about what to expect from the recruiters at the fair and what to do there. "What we do is encourage students to take the initiative (and talk to the recruiters) and not just wait past the table," Kratz said.

Besides attending one of the pre-fair seminars, Kratz recommended being physically prepared with a market-ready resume and some "smart questions" to ask the recruiter.

Smart questions may include asking the recruiter about the future trends in that industry, economic influences on staffing or the company's training program. Business questions like, "What openings do you have and how much will I make?"

A 90-second resume is a prepared summary of the job hunter's resume.

It makes a good start to the interview when an employer says, "Tell me a little about yourself."

Both the employment fair and pre-fair seminar are not to be missed regardless of a job-seeker's needs.

"I wouldn't dismiss any opportunity of having 100 employers in one room," said Kratz. "It saves a lot of legwork."

CONTENTS

Editorial	2
Features	4-5
Photo spread	6-7
Arts & Entertainment	8-9
Comics	10
Classifieds	11
Sports	12

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Mark Sewak
Business Manager	Gary A. Tisdale
Managing Editor	Laura Ashley
News Editor	John Frank
Commentary Editor	Jason B. Bernstein
Graphics Editor	Alexandra Youkhannneh
Features Editor	Jo Kiser
Sports Editor	Jens Tarnitsch
Photo Editor	Joseph Palmer
Layout Editor	Alisa Chittend
Copy Editor	Suzanne Hovick
Faculty Advisor

EDITORIAL

For the Free and the Brave

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America . . ."

"I'll give my life and all I own for freedom. As I look around at a collapsing economy, I sometimes wonder if it's all worth it."

"And to the republic for which it stands . . ."

America has always stood tall and proud. We are never afraid to fight for what we believe and always strive to succeed. But as we're becoming a nation of couch potatoes, we seem involved so much in the insignificancies that we've forgotten what it's all about.

"... one nation . . ."

Are we one nation? Or just a continent of many minorities, each one feeling it is being picked on and discriminated against by the majority? We all have the same laws and rights; is what we're fighting for to be the best minority?

"... under God . . ."

Shhh! Did I say that God word in our public school system? Shame, shame. Just hum over that part. Whatever happened to the separation of church and state?

"... indivisible . . ."

"... with liberty and justice for all."

Or almost.

Doesn't that last line just say it all?

[Signature]

Laura Ashley
Managing Editor

Staff

Steve Berk, Elizabeth Carpio, Christopher Garcia, Jo Kiser, Fyler Kaufman, Roger Mantel, Jacques St. David, Fredrick, Brad Sanderson, Michael Skurs

COMMENTARY

Should Gays Be Allowed To Serve Their Country?

Jason Feinstein
Harbinger Commentary
Editor

Well it's time to get back on track. Yes, I am back to inform the uninformed of yet another problem the world faces. Early last week, I was watching C-SPAN. Don't ask me why I was watching, I just was. (OK, it was either that or suffer through another Geraldo episode with the genius topics of men trapped in the bodies of lesbians. I just saw that episode's last week.)

Well, C-SPAN had some sort of Republican banquet, and former Marine Lieutenant Colonel Oliver North spoke. One particular surprise whether homosexual should be allowed to serve their country in the military. I felt very strongly about the military, as I do about this issue. I can say, absolutely, that in my opinion it would be a detriment to the service, the government, and their citizens.

Look, I won't lie to you and pretend I have even approval of that particular lifestyle. I can, however, accept the way some people choose to live their lives, in their lives. The point is, that in a battle situation, when things get tight, you literally trust your life to your fellow soldier. Whether the soldier is a capable warrior is irrelevant. It all comes down to trust. Arkansas governor and Democratic presidential candidate Bill Clinton tends to think homosexuals should be allowed to serve in the military. First, let me say all three Democratic candidates seem capable and would make excellent presidents, but that is an entire other column. Clinton, himself accused of draft dodging, has no business saying who should and should not be allowed to serve in the armed forces.

I believe North said something to the effect that if Governor Clinton wants gays in the military, then he should share a foxhole with Barney Frank. That was a good one. Oh, for all you non-scandal mongers, a brief explanation. Barney Frank is a congressman who was expelled in numerous homosexual acts in and around federal buildings, all over D.C. Anyway, you get the idea. Don't think that I am letting North off so free. You remember North, don't you? He was the ex-marine who went to his hearings before the Senate dressed in his marines uniform, even though he was no longer a marine. Terrible phrase a great comedian, Bobcat Goldthwait, "it's a lot like me wearing my McDonald's uniform to go on tour."

We are running away from the main point. I may accept if a person is gay, but I could not, in good conscience, serve, in a possible war conflict with someone I cannot trust 100%. It may be narrow-minded, but it's my right to have my opinion. Whether you like it, or don't like it, learn to live it.

Ever Get A Pal Smashed?

TAKE THE RISK
CALL A CAR
TAKE A STAND

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS DRIVE DRUNK

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all past issues are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved

Increase in Child Abuse

Clowns Against Drugs

Foreign Language Week Events

LEGAL PROBLEM?
WE HAVE A SOLUTION!

The best and worst of Harper

Okay. Here's the abridged version of the survey. All averaged on a scale of one through ten. (One = very satisfied and 10 = very unsatisfied). Overall, the administrators scored a five. The staff/faculty scored a four. Harper students themselves scored a five. Best of all, the overall value with Harper was rated a four.

PAYING FOR COLLEGE?? LET US HELP YOU!!

Each year millions of dollars are made available to college students based upon their individual profile without regard to personal income or grade point average.

LET US LOCATE YOUR SHARE OF THESE FUNDS!

For more information write to:
College Planning & Research Associates
853 N. Quentin Road, Suite 307-H
Palatine, IL 60067

FEATURES

Loprieno shapes students' lives

Readers respond with favorite teacher essays

Don Loprieno has influenced me a lot during my stay at Harper. When I first signed up at Harper, I had planned to take only two three-hour classes. I hadn't planned to pursue these classes seriously and might have dropped out of school quickly had I not met Loprieno. He pushed me to stay, sign up for more classes and attempt degrees. Later he encouraged me to join the wrestling team. I did both. This was quite possibly the best thing I could have done. I've reached a 3.5 grade point average and I'm on schedule to receive my A.A. this year. I could definitely never have achieved this without Loprieno's support. His advice and having as well as his friendship have changed the direction of my life in immeasurable dimensions.

In the wrestling room, I improved 150 percent. The work ethic he instilled in me there has rubbed off on every aspect of my life. Thanks to Loprieno, I have been offered opportunities to work after Harper and possibly receive a scholarship. I've seen others receive the same treatment I have received. From Loprieno, and their lives have changed also.

Chris Schultz

Don Loprieno's only official title may be assistant wrestling coach and part-time math teacher. But those who know him however, know better. Mr. Loprieno is in constant motion when he is on campus. Tutoring a student, helping someone enroll in classes or giving advise, he is true friend to all who come to him.

Whether he's in the practice room or in the classroom, he doesn't accept anything but a student's best effort. He never fails to give anything less than what he expects from himself. In his office in M Building, Loprieno is often seen with a student. And no matter if the subject they are discussing is serious or simply math, it's a good bet both parties will be seen with smiles.

All this he does between his hectic schedule of private tutoring, teaching part time at Oakton and attending classes at Northwestern Illinois University. Someone who gives so much time to themselves has got to be good.

Marlon James

Don Loprieno teaches math but is also a friend. Photo by Brad Sandona

Conscious STD transmission may prompt litigation

BARBARA JORDAN
Guest Writer

Sexually transmitted diseases are spreading throughout the nation at record levels. The epidemic is particularly prevalent on the nation's campuses.

The physical and emotional pain that accompanies many types of STD can be devastating.

Moreover, some STDs may also lead to sterility, problems with child bearing, cancer and death.

One thing you can do if you are infected with an STD is to sue the person who gave you the disease. Many states permit legal action for negligent, fraudulent or intentional transmission of STDs.

Newland & Newland is based in Northbrook, Ill., is one of the law firms in the Chicago area that currently handle these types of lawsuits. Stephen S. Newland, partner, said, "The fact of an individual's case can demonstrate that they were infected with a STD by a particular person they allege, and that person had knowledge or suspected that they had a disease. It is very likely that the victimized individual could receive a monetary award."

"It is very likely that the victimized individual could receive a monetary award," Newland added. An Illinois court recently ruled that a person may be sued for transmitting an STD.

The case involved a woman and her boyfriend.

The boyfriend had an affair with another person.

He contracted genital herpes from the third person and infected the woman.

The court held that the woman had grounds for suing the boyfriend. But how big of an award can an injured person receive? In other words, would it be worthwhile to pursue a lawsuit? It is difficult to estimate damages a person may be awarded.

Newland said a recent California case found a man liable for transmitting genital herpes to a woman.

The man claimed he was lesion-free at the time of the sexual and he believed he could not have transmitted the disease.

The court held that since the man knew that the painful lesions would appear without warning, he should have taken steps to reduce the woman's chances of acquiring the disease. The court said he should have told her he had genital herpes, or he should have worn a condom.

The court awarded the woman $150,000.

There have been numerous cases in which courts have awarded significant damages.

How do you collect an award if the person who infected you has few financial resources?

Newland explains there are several ways in which when the offender doesn't have enough money to pay the award.

If the victim is infected in someone's home, the offender's homeowner's insurance may be required to pay. In one case a man who was insured under his homeowner's policy had consensual sex with a woman in his home in Texas.

At the time the man suspected he had genital herpes, but he did not tell the woman.

The woman contracted genital herpes and filed a lawsuit against the man.

The man agreed to pay the woman $1 million.

Many people might be reluctant to bring a lawsuit to recover damages for this type of incident because they're afraid of the social stigma.

However, these types of cases can be filed anonymously. Initial or fictitious names may be used.

Others might be reluctant to seek compensation because they feel they cannot afford to hire an attorney.

Many firms will take these cases, with payment made based on a percentage of the award.

With the prevalence of STDs in our society it's vital to practice safe sex.

But it's important to know you may have legal recourse.

Bulletin board features many financial aid opportunities

ALEXANDRA YOUNGBLUND
Harbinger Features Editor

For students looking for scholarship opportunities, look no more. Harper's Financial Aid Office has a plan to make the search an education funds a little bit easier.

The office recently clarified the cluttered bulletin board, located across from A 364, replacing the motorcycle and guitar ads with scholarship information.

"The information board has been up for a week or so, and it is updated continually," Janette A. Kwitchoff, financial aid assistant, said.

The lists include scholarships for Harper and senior institutions in which students might transfer.

"The area is limited to only scholarship and it is clear and easy to read," Kwitchoff said.

The James J. McGrath Humanities Endowment Scholarship is a monetary award for a full-time student graduating with a 3.5 G.P.A. The student must transfer to a four-year university with intent to major in the humanities. This scholarship is funded by the college's Educational Foundation.

Scholarship for leadership also are available. The Greater Palatine Chamber of Commerce and Industry Inc. sponsors a leadership award to a graduating high school or junior college student of any age.

Financial need and scholarship ability are not criteria for selection. Awards are granted to older students as well.

The Orville Redwicker Second Start Scholarship Program is available to students 30 years or older.

Applicants must be enrolled in a degree program and be a full- or part-time student.

The above mentioned are only a few of those offered.

There are roughly 15 to 20 scholarships posted.

These are funded through the college, private companies and various community groups.

Kwitchoff said that people are not aware of all the opportunities.

"There are scholarships that are out there about which students need to become aware," she said.

Kwitchoff offers this advice: make the extra effort and apply for as many awards as possible.

Anyone interested in scholarship, should contact Janette A. Kwitchoff, ext. 2348.

Coming Soon... Great Smoky backpacking

If you like to explore and experience natural beauty and history, join a group from Harper College as they learn the joys of backpacking in the Great Smoky Mountains National park, March 28th - April 5, 1992.

A pre-trip meeting is scheduled for March 11 from 7-10pm in Building M on the Harper College campus in Palatine.

The course will cover equipment selection, wilderness ethics, and minimum impact camping.

The cost for this experience is $275 which includes food while in the backcountry, transportation from the college, group equipment and instruction.

For information, call the Physical Education Department, 708/397-3000, extension 2466.

For information, call the Physical Education Department, 708/397-3000, extension 2466.

They may discover neopenters, learn to travel a sky mare, or perhaps, be part of a mission to Mars.

Students may register for only one session at $4.00 each beginning April 1, sessions are being held 10:00pm-2:15pm and 2:00-3:15pm on Wednesday, June 24 and July 30.

For registration information and instructions, call 708/397-3000, extension 2363.

Starlab '92 at Harper

Harper College in Palatine and The Planetary Science Foundation is presenting Starlab '92 to youngsters 6-10 years of age as part of the PEAK summer program.

The inflatable Starlab Planetarium, which represents the nighttime sky, and the Harper Observatory will provide youngsters an exciting astronomy experience.

They may discover neopenters,

Illegal Aliens and the Law: the Human Story

Muriel Moraw
Hargreaves Guest Writer

A study by the Dallas Federal Bank reported that restaurants rank third among the top 12 employers of illegal aliens. A photo book for the northwest suburbs lists 863 restaurants in the area. Here's the story of one of them.

Jose Perez opens the door of his rented town house in Rolling Meadows and says, "Que pasa? Come on in." A three-year-old girl crawls up stairs saying, "Hola, hola." A woman looks down from the top of the stairs to see who was knocking on the door and then calls the girl upstairs. "Come up here, Amara. Don't you bother people."

"That's my roommate's wife and daughter," Perez exclaimed. "We are six people living in this apartment."

The living room is furnished with a used couch, a love-seat and a recliner Perez and his friends have bought at garage sales. None of the furniture matches. As we sit on the couch Perez pulls out a package of Marlboros and lights one.

"This is where I sleep," Perez says, referring to the couch. He remembers when he came here in the summer of 1986 he used to sleep on the floor in a one-bedroom apartment, where 10 other people and a dog lived.

"The dog belonged to an American who used to come and visit my nephew's friends. Once the American got kicked out of his house, he moved in with us and brought his dog along."

Before Perez came to the United States he was a successful salesman in Mexico. He owned a car. He was paying for his house and supporting his wife and three children.

"But everything started to get more and more expensive," he says. "I had to sell my car to make the overdue payments on my mortgage. The money I was making then was just enough to feed my family, and I had to venture to come up here without my papers."

"I traveled 43 miles from my hometown in central Mexico to the frontier in Tijuana in a hot and stinky bus, and without eating," Perez says. "I crossed the border with a group of nine other people who I didn't know. We paid $320 apiece to a team of three smugglers who guided us across the border."

Perez and the others walked through the hills of California for about two hours in the middle of the night.

"In the group there was a fat woman who complained about the walking and who wheezed like a cow the whole time," he says

by that with off groups who were also trying to get across illegally. Together, there were more than 100 people.

"It was at this point when, suddenly, a helicopter started to fly above us and lit us with powerful lamps," Perez continues as he puffs at his cigarette. "Many of us ran in different directions. Some just froze like the bunnies when they are illuminated in the darkness of the wilderness."

Perez said he turned to look at the heavy woman who was crossing with them and who they had left behind.

"She couldn't run much. I could see in her face a mixed expression of fear and frustration," Perez remembers. "I wanted to go back and help her, but I had to run after the smuggler to whom I had already paid $320 for guiding me across the border. $320 I'd borrowed from a friend."

Right after the helicopter lit up the hill, several immigration officers appeared riding on motorcycles and in trucks. "It was 100 of us against 20 of them," Perez says. "After running for about 15 minutes, two other people, two smugglers and I made it to a ranch hid under a truck and covered ourselves with plastic bags. We waited there for about two hours. After that we continued walking to San Diego."

In San Diego, one of the smugglers took them to an apartment, where they stayed for the rest of the night. The next day, they went to Los Angeles and from there Perez flew to Chicago.

"My nephew, who came a year before I did and who was established, sent me money, and I arrived to O'Hare airport on a Wednesday afternoon," he says.

Finding a job that summer of 1986 was relatively easy for Perez.

"One of my nephew's friends got me a job as a busboy in a restaurant. I started working in August, but in November when the law was signed I got fired," he says. "I had not finished paying back the money I borrowed to come here and I was being forced to come back to Mexico."

"Some of my nephew's friends were eligible for the amnesty, many were afraid they would lose their jobs sooner or later, and I was hoping that somebody would hire me without papers," Perez says.

Perez remembers that these were the hardest times of his life in the United States. He didn't really know anybody, and the days he hung around without a job he depended on the generosity of his nephew and his nephew's friends.

"When I got lucky somebody bought me a hot dog, but when I didn't, I had to force myself to sleep to forget about eating," he says.

But soon his luck changed. He learned that for $80 he could get a fake green card and a social security card, and consequently a job in the United States.

That winter he worked for an Italian restaurant. He had to walk six miles in the snow but he didn't care, his daily tips, and his weekly paycheck were worthwhile.

In the summer of 1987, and for the next 15 months, Perez held two jobs. He was able to pay his mortgage off and feed his family. In the winter of 1988 he went to Mexico for two months and came back with his brother and a friend.

From August of 1989 to November of 1991 Perez has worked for 11 different restaurants in Schaumburg, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect. He's gained experience as a cook, and he's learned enough English to survive in this country.

Perez plans to go back to Mexico permanently some time next year when he'll have enough money saved to start his own business.

"I hope I don't have to come back ever again," he says as he looks out the window and watches it snow. Today is his day off, and he won't have to walk in the snow. He hasn't bought a car because he can't get a driver's license.

The television in the living room spouts cheers and applause. It's past 4 p.m. and on the Spanish channel a beautiful girl hosts "La Buena Vida," the Hispanic version of The Life of the Rich and Famous. Perez shares at the television for awhile, and then says, "Here in the United States, it's true that there is a better quality of life, but why would I want to have comforts and luxuries if I'm so far away from the people and the things I love?"

(Miguel Morales is a journalism student and a writer at a local restaurant. His goal is to write for a Hispanic Publication.)

■ The Immigration Reform and Control Act of Nov. 7, 1986, established that people applying for a job had to present some type of documentation proving legal status.

■ November 1986 when the immigration law was passed, the border patrol apprehended 1,041,376 people as they tried to cross the border.

■ In an article that appeared in the Chicago Tribune in June 1989, Alan Nelson, Commissioner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the law has been a strong deterrent for incoming undocumented migrant workers. In an eight-month period from April to

■ The law established sanctions ranging from $100 to $25,000 against employers who knowingly hire illegal workers. The main purpose of this law is to stem the flow of illegal migrant workers from Mexico into the United States. It also offered legalization to illegal aliens who entered the country before January 1, 1982.

Alan Nelson, the commissioner of the INS said that in an eight-month period, from September 1988 to May 1989, the number of people apprehended crossing the border illegally dropped to 504,376, compared to the 1,041,376 in 1986. But a survey conducted in 1989 by the Center for U.S.-Mexican Studies in California showed that the immigration law has been unsuccessful. The drop is due to the large number of Mexicans who got amnesty under the 1986 law and who are now crossing the border legally.

In the Spirit of 25

Seventy years after Dr. William Rainey Harper divided The University of Chicago into two divisions, the birth of the community college, as it is known today was born. In preparation for Harper College's 25th Anniversary The Harbinger will feature commemorative photos denoting the change and growth the college has undergone.

Extraordinary Years

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Bogie's: Dance 'till Dawn

ERIC KAUFMAN
Hortshire Staff Writer

If you're looking for a place to dance to the night away, Bogie's Bar and Grill might be the place for you. Bogie's is an over 21 bar that is located at 555 E Duane Rd. in Palatine, near the intersection of Duane and Hicks. It features a DJ booth all night long.

Bogie's is not the type of place to sit and have a conversation. The main reason is that it is always LOUD. There is a dark room, for the electronic dance fans. It also has pool tables which are coin operated, featuring an L-shaped table that is very fun.

These activities are not exactly Bogie's forte, however. People go there to dance, period. The whole middle of the establishment is constructed of a marble dance floor, overlooked by the DJ booth. The music played is primarily top-40 and nightclub dance songs, although alternative or hard rock set. The DJ's are very proficient at their job, and do an excellent job of keeping the music flowing.

Open until 4 a.m., Tuesday through Saturday, Bogie's gets an interesting mix of people. On Thursday nights there is no cover charge. It is not usually rocking until late evening, as the live DJ plays 9 p.m. close night. The only people present in Bogie's early on is a group of males who act like Vanilla Ice wannabes. They stay all night, but are harmless, as they only dance with themselves.

Anyone planning on drinking should have a designated driver, or some safe way home. Bogie's does offer free juice and pop to designated drivers. Just let a manager know, and they will happily oblige to your non-alcoholic thirst.

Ladies looking for activity on Tuesdays can take advantage of Bogie's Tuesday Ladies Night, starting March 17th. For the non-females, Bogie's serves pizza by the slice every evening. This is available at their Oyster Bar, which sells crab legs and oysters, too.

All in all, Bogie's is a decent place to go if you like to dance, or even watch people dance. There are a few disadvantages, such as often-trashed bathrooms, a few rude staffers, and a certain "high-school clique" mentality. If you go there to talk, you will quickly evolve a headache. If you're there to dance, Bogie's does the job effectively.

ENTERTAINMENT

Lambs Art Exhibit

HARPER PRESS RELEASE

The Lambs Farm Spring Showcase Art, Craft & Country Folk Art Fair is an exciting spring shopping extravaganza and one of the largest events of its kind held in the Chicago area. Scheduled April 10-12, 1992 at O'Hare Expo Center, this showcase benefits the Lambs, an internationally renowned center for mentally retarded adults. It's a shopper's delight with approximately 250 fine artists, craftsmen, and country folk artisans from 17 states displaying and selling a wide variety of quality art and craft work in over 90 different media.

This spring boutique features

ONLY truly selected skilled artists and craftsmen. Browse and shop through a wonderful collection of original works sold by talented exhibitors from throughout the country. All work is handcrafted by the exhibiting artisans who will be happy to answer questions and discuss their work. It is a springtime shopper's paradise geared to bring a fresh look to your home.

Featured will be handcrafted pine and oak furniture, stained glass, wire sculpture, pottery, oil paintings, soft watercolors, baker's clay, durable wood toys, colorful patchwork, porcelain dolls, photography, decorative fiber, wad chimes, decors, collectibles, Victorian crafts, and much more.

Montgomery To Speak At Zoo

Brockfield Zoo and Earthwatch invite you to a lecture by Sy Montgomery, investigative scientist and work of researchers Jane Goodall, Dian Fossey, and Birute Aldikas in her book Walking with the Dinosaurs. The lecture will be held at Brockfield Zoo on Thursday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m.

In focusing on these women who pioneered primate research, their successful method of science and humanity: their interaction with the animals and their willingness and desire to form relationships with them. This unique style of research not only revealed much about their subjects—chimpanzees, mountain gorillas, and orangutans—it also paved the road toward a new way of understanding animals.

Montgomery will be available to answer questions and sign her book as a reception following the lecture.

Tickets are $10. Symposium is free for Brockfield Zoo Supporting and Sustaining members. A student discount is available. For tickets, call Brockfield Zoo at (708) 485-0263, ext. 355.

A Spring Break to Remember

You've worked hard and now it's time to relax and have fun! Keep these things in mind during your vacation:

- You don't have to be "drunk" to be impaired—even one or two drinks affect your driving skills.
- Drinking, drugs and driving don't mix.
- Take your turn—be a designated driver and get everyone where they are going safely.
- Respect other people's rights, and your own—to choose not to drink. There's plenty of fun to be had without alcohol.
- Respect state laws and campus policies.
- Don't let your friends drive impaired—it's one of the fastest ways to end a friendship.
- Wear your seat belt—it's your best protection against an impaired driver.

Play it safe. Because memories are fond only if you have them.

"SAFE SPRING BREAK"
SAMPLE MOTORIST'S REGISTER FOR FREE CAR
10-3 MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1992

BACCHUS CLUB MEETINGS
1ST AND 3RD MONDAYS OF MONTH AT 2:30PM - A-336

Cocktail

Blues & Rock Nightclub
20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
MARCH
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

20 "Solid Rock & Roll"
LIAISON

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage.
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS.
Call the club for details.

BALLOON DROP WITH CASH PRIZES
Every Week During Band Night!

21 "Classic Rock"
J.P. & THE RAMBLERS

COLLEGE NIGHT LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt
GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With This Coupon

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS
5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon. Thru Thurs.
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY: 5:30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room
3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50
Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

Solve a Mystery

ALEX CHILIND
Harbinger Staff Writer

"We've become a better team with each album we do." Music fans will get a chance to test the validity of this statement by Michael Timmons when the band, Cowboy Junkies comes to town.

They will be promoting their fourth album, Black-eyed Man. Differing from their past albums, (Whores Off Earth Now!!, The Trinity Session, and Cautious Horses), Black-eyed Man is the first to feature guest guitarists, and is hailed as having a fuller sound than previous releases.

The Cowboy Junkies describe their style of music as having a twang of country music and the heavy toughness of a garage band. Michael writes most of the songs, and Margo, his sister, sings the tunes. The drummer, Peter, is also a family member, and the bass player, Alan Amos, is a longtime friend.

Fame has come to the Cowboy Junkies via three unique aspects of their group: their cover versions of songs (covers of Lou Reed and Hank Williams are not uncommon), the fact that their album is extremely quiet, especially for a full band, and the way they record an album (playing live into one microphone at a church).

Hailing from Canada, this group has just wrapped up a European tour and will be starting their U.S. tour March 31.

They will be making one stop in Chicago, at the Chicago Theatre April 25. Much of the new album was inspired by their 1990 tour, which followed the release of their third album, The Cautious Horses.

The first single from Black-eyed Man will be "Southern Rain." This single is a musical short story that typifies Michael's perceptive lyrics and sibling Margo's haunting voice.

Cowboy Junkies On Tour

PCA Press Release

"We've become a better team with each album we do." Music fans will get a chance to test the validity of this statement by Michael Timmons when the band, Cowboy Junkies comes to town.

They will be promoting their fourth album, Black-eyed Man. Differing from their past albums, (Whores Off Earth Now!!, The Trinity Session, and Cautious Horses),

Black-eyed Man is the first to feature guest guitarists, and is hailed as having a fuller sound than previous releases.

The Cowboy Junkies describe their style of music as having a twang of country music and the heavy toughness of a garage band.

Fame has come to the Cowboy Junkies via three unique aspects of their group: their cover versions of songs (covers of Lou Reed and Hank Williams are not uncommon), the fact that their album is extremely quiet, especially for a full band, and the way they record an album (playing live into one microphone at a church).

Hailing from Canada, this group has just wrapped up a European tour and will be starting their U.S. tour March 31.

They will be making one stop in Chicago, at the Chicago Theatre April 25. Much of the new album was inspired by their 1990 tour, which followed the release of their third album, The Cautious Horses.

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

tennis

weight lifting loader

swimming aerobics

Get Yourself in Top Form

There are many ways to stay physically fit, and one offers full health benefits, student tuition paid vacations, and $8 PER HOUR.

UPS Part-time loaders/unloaders

If you are able to lift up to 70 lbs. (30 lbs. average weight of packages)—and able to maintain a very fast pace, this opportunity is available to you. Our non-union action will keep you in shape while you get valuable work experience.

Shifts available: Monday-Friday
5:30 AM - 7:30 AM
7 PM - 9 PM

No Weekends!

Applications taken at the UPS Employment Office,
Rand and Hicks Bldg., Palatine, IL.
Mondays - Thursday, 1 PM - 4 PM
OR APPLY AT
HARBINGER EMPLOYMENT 7110 132
TUESDAY, MARCH 17, 10am-2pm

WORKING FOR STUDENTS WHO WORK FOR UPS
UPS DELIVERS EDUCATION

United Parcel Service is an equal opportunity employer
M-F-V-H

Midterm Exams

Ready for a puzzle?

SEE THIS WEEK'S

CROSSWORD

COMICS

THE Crossword

By Samuel K. Fliegner

ACROSS
1 Regan
2 Needle
3 Kim
4 Marcus
13 "— Britannia"
16 Privately
17 Lena Ronger's
18 Type type: abbr.
19 Minnie's
20 Turn of 21 endowment
22 Hated Speaker
23 Conspicuity
24 Plan
25 Strauss opera
30 Egypt's male
32 Truist
33 Alliance
34 letters
36 A Ford
38 Not hush
41 Reval
42 Part of set
44 Religious 45 image
46 Passport
47 Be or under 48 Humpbacked
49 hernia
51 Example of 36D
54 Taj Mahal site
56 "The Sun"
57 Term of 58 endowment
62 — name
64 Sacrifice
65 Trumpet sound
66 Lat. abbr.
67 Sherry
68 Beam acronym
69 Unusual glass
70 Balkan prof
71 Penitence

© 1991, Thomas Y. Simon

DOWN
1 Collections
2 Book
3 Composer
4 of 16
5 Speech
6 Fire the 7 present
8 Norwegian
9 maslin
10 Frontier
11 settlement
12 Jar
13 —
14 Cross out
15 Term of 16 endowment
17 McCarthy or 18 Kinn
19 That is 20 Speaker's
21 Ireland
22 Decade
23 Ma
24 Quinine
25 Easter flower
26 The — term
27 of endowment
28 Black bread
29 Discounted
30 Discounted
31 U.S. deck
32 Let verb
33 Faithful to 34 Burns
40 kind of club
41 Farthest
42 — de gesto
43 Duetton
44 Common people
45 — Belar
46 Cartoonist
47 of aid
48 Socrates
49 Dam in Egypt
50 Berlin site

LOOK FOR THIS
WEEKS ANSWERS
IN NEXT WEEKS
"HARBINGER".

LAST WEEKS ANSWERS

YEAR 808

808 AND HELLO'S LIFE LONG WIFE OF 17 YEARS BUTTE MONTANA HAS CHOICE IN A SIMPLE PHYSIOLOGICAL CHOICE ON THEIR PLANE. TUES IS

Doily Rats

Clodsbreath's Corners

Wolfbane

Spencer Green

Wild Kingdom

By Anthony Robbins, Jr.

"I think, therefore I am." —Descartes

ASK MR. COLLEGE

Q. Dear Mr. College: How did it feel to be sent to the presidency after the death of Martin Luther King? —L. L. L.
A. Dear College: This is Ask Mr. College, not Ask Mr. College.
Q. Dear Mr. College: I recently graduated from high school. Quite happy, I'm not very bright. Does this mean college is out of the question? —C. L. L.
A. Dear College: You may not be bright, but you can still go to college. The way to education is, you have to make it work for you.
Q. Dear Mr. College: I'm confused, and I feel I have to go. What should I do? —L. L. L.
A. Dear College: I'm confused, and I feel I have to go. What should I do? —L. L. L.

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris Pregnancy Center

708-865-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

ACAPULCO TANS

427-TANS

(STUDENT DISCOUNT)
$7/30 MIN $5/30 MIN
SUPER REGULAR PACKAGES AVAILABLE
BRING A FRIEND
GET A FREE TAN

ACAPULCO TANS
ELK GROVE
830 HIGGINS
ELK GROVE, IL

TODAY'S THE DAY
Stop Smoking

American Heart Association

DAYTONA BEACH

High quality beachfront accommodations for 17 exciting nights. Around the charming water beach. Fine pool, spa, tennis, activities, & promotions.

• On location staff for complete assistance
• All luxury tips & service charges included

$119 $204

CALL: SARAH at 398-6438

Not Sponsored by Harper College

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

American Heart Association

IMPROVE YOUR LOOKS, HEALTH AND POPULARITY.

QUIT SMOKING

American Heart Association

Dregs

Have a heart be smart don't drink
and drive

CLASSIFIEDS

Help Wanted

A limited amount of FT and PT positions are available! $31-$225 $300-$1000 wk Call now! M. Von Dunn

ALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT - Fisheries
Earn $5,000/month Free transportation! Room & Board! Male or Female. For employment program call 1-208-545-4555 ext. 1545

EARN EXTRA INCOME
Earn $200-$500 weekly mailing travel brochures. For information send a stamped addressed envelope to ATW Travel, P.O. Box 433780, South Miami, FL 33143

Here's the job that will look great on your resume! Looking for team player w/ WP 5.1 or computer knowledge. Flexible hours part time ad assistant. Call: Paxline Chamber of Commerce 359-7200

SUMMER JOB!
Complete Guide to Employment in the National Parks - 10,000 jobs. Work on Cruise Ships - Livings for all cruise lines $5.95 each, $10.95 for both. Great Plains Publishing, Box 1903, Joplin, MO 64801

Help Wanted

Spring / Summer Work $10.25 to start Part Time NOW. Full Time in Summer. Will work around school schedule. Internships & Scholarships available. Call 818-3336

Recruiting NOW! #1 International nutrition company. Excellent track record & growth. Recessive proof products. Company trains you. 708-865-3044. No exp. nec.

Finders Kaupria 281-7676
CHILD CARE AGENCY
Automobiles & Drivers. References & Experience. Earn Top Salaries. Express Full/Part Time. Ready to hire.

GENERAL OFFICE
Barrington based. Company seeks a creative individual to assist w/ advertising, sales & phones. part time, $7/hr. Call for appointment SKYLER CORP. 381-2628

CHEERS TO BLACK WOMEN SHOW & TELL CARS & UNEXPECTED QUESTS FOR DINNER, ANYWHERE, WHEN, GUESS WHO

Services

Desktop Publishing Services
Papers, Resumes, spell check and proof printing. Call Lynn 253-3944. Low Rates

Typing, Professional
Results WP 5.1 Laser. Print quality. All types of reports. Call Dawn at 708-865-0098

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs: includes DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608 evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Berrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60189

Are you pregnant, elated, excited?
Open Arms can help you with counseling and support. Call Jill or Theresa at 312-794-8800, Monday - Friday 8 to 5.

Travel

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND
Condominiums for Spring Break $20 per person per night / all beach $25 per person per night. beachfront 1-800-422-8212

Here the cold weather? Spring Break is right around the corner! Panama City Beach. Florida. Transportation and hotel only $219. Call Greg 299-8006

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP 5.1
Term papers, resumes, letter, printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low rates

Secretarial Service
Word processing, spreadsheets, graphs, graphics. Laser Quality. Call Lori at 705-5531

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Finders M. Knappall-Dept. HCI 5 Elm Creek Dr. 3065 Elmhurst, IL 60126

TYPING—Done on a Macintosh. Multiple fonts possible as well as color printing. Only $2.00 per page and spelling checked. Rapid turn around. Call DONNA AT 708-468-1071 OR LEAVE MESSAGE

Fitness

The Search is Over...
Why are so many NFL Athletes, MD's, business professionals and body builders joining in record numbers? Fastest growing nutrition and fitness company will create more millionaires than any company in history. CALL NOW! 708-858-5391

Roommate

Single woman seeks same to share townhouse in N. Hanover Park, cheaper District. Must be responsible & clean. $350 - 172 utilities. 351-8313 (day), 830-1956 (even)

Looking for 2 or more students to share apartment. Call Manual before noon 577-9258

For Sale

IBM PC XT 640K RAM
20M Hard Drive with keyboard. Samsung monochrome monitor. Star NX1001 Printer. $325.00. Call 708-830-9167

If interested in buying an AM-FM cassette radio. Must be used for a long period. Selling it for $80. If interested call 202-0220

Weight Loss

LOSE FAT-GAIN MUSCLE
Breakfast products used by trainers, athletes, doctors. Weight Loss without drugs, denial, or deprivation from 5-100 lbs. Lean muscle gains with proven effective non-steroidal hormone. 708-658-5391

Nutrition

Nutrition For The Brain
Did you know that the right combination of vitamins, minerals, herbs, and amino acids can help improve performance? TRY FOCUS NO PILLS! (708) 858-5391

Information

Standard Classified Rates and Information
Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger at 387. Call: (708) 397-3050, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210.

HARBINGER SPORTS

March 19, 1992

Women's softball swings into action

BO KASER
Harbinger Sports Editor

You can forget any rumors you may have heard to the contrary. The Harper College softball team is alive and well. First-year coach Tina Reimer told Athletic Director Roger Bechhold that she has enough players and is ready to go.

Reimer apparently was having difficulty finding the minimum twelve players she needed, but luckily, she acquired the last two just in time for the March 12 deadline.

Reimer takes over a Harper team that is almost entirely new from the squad that went 8-11-2 last year.

After four weeks of practice, Reimer likes what she's seeing. She describes the team as having some "good, solid hitters and a very strong infield" which should make them "very competitive."

Two of those strong infielders are Kris Kowalcuk and Deanna Lombardi. Apparently, both women want to play shortstop and they are both more than capable. "This should be a great battle," Reimer said. While the battle for short goes on, other key positions seem to be laid up.

The pitching mound will feature the strong arm of Michelle Cohen. Cohen is an aggressive hitter and could see action at other positions.

The catching duties will be handled by Kelly O'Brien. O'Brien has a big smooth strike that should feature her as a power hitter.

"She likes to kill the ball," Reimer said.

Harper's lone returning player is Jennifer Karwowski. Karwowski will have some experience in the talented, but youthful infield.

This year's softball team should be exciting to watch. Coach Reimer's aggressive, offensive minded style promises to feature a lot of bunting and striding along with the seldom used, but effective hit and run.

Reimer comes to Harper from Dana College in Nebraska. As a 4-year player there, she was an All-American honorable mention twice as well as a scholar athlete her Junior and Senior years on a team that won 4 consecutive conference titles.

WILLIAM RAINEY HARPER COLLEGE

1992 SOFTBALL

DATE	OPPONENT	LOCATION	TIME
April 4 Saturday	Illinois Valley	Home	Noon
April 7 Tuesday	Joliet	Joliet	3 p.m.
April 10 Friday	McHenry	Crystal Lake	3:30 p.m.
April 11 Saturday	Rock Valley	Home	Noon
April 17 Friday	Morton	Cicero	11 a.m.
April 18 Saturday	College of Dupage	Home	Noon
April 21 Tuesday	Moraine Valley	Palos Hills	3 p.m.
April 23 Thursday	South Suburban	Home	3 p.m.
April 24 Friday	Lake County	Home	3 p.m.
April 28 Tuesday	Triun	River Grove	3 p.m.

Call the Shots

by Bo Kaser

It will be sweet to repeat. This is the Chicago Bulls' battle cry as they prepare for the upcoming NBA playoffs and a chance for their second consecutive world championships.

As I look ahead, it appears that the Bulls have no serious challengers and should breeze through the Eastern conference playoffs to face the New York Knicks in the Eastern finals. Here the Bulls will begin to shine. The Knicks will be a game opponent and if Patrick

Ewing has a big game they might even win one at home. Personally, I don't think this will happen, but in sports, you never know, so I'll give them the benefit of the doubt.

Bulls in 5 games.

Now before I talk about the NBA finals, I would like to tell you why the Bulls will repeat as world champions.

First of all, Michael Jordan. He leads the league in scoring, and no team with a league-leading scorer has ever won an NBA title. Jordan, who holds many records, will accomplish this feat first. By the way, he just happens to be the greatest basketball player in the world.

Next we have Scottie Pippen. All he does every year since entering the league, is improve his statistics in scoring, rebounds and assists. It used to be that whenever Jordan was on the bench defenses could relax a little. Not anymore. Pippen provides a constant threat for the Bulls that never existed before and when Pippen and Jordan are both on the court it's just down right scary.

Bill Cartwright has had some problems lately, but he always manages to save his best games for the playoffs. This year will be no exception as he will continue to display his defensive savvy and make life miserable for opposing centers.

Now combine these three talents with the clutch shooting of John Paxson, the strong rebounding of Horace Grant and an always improving bench. We're talking serious problems for opponents.

If that's not enough to convince you how about the fact that this team loves playing on the road? These guys seem to relish the challenge of winning in an opponent's arena. The hostile crowd seems to fire up the Bulls and helps them play better than at home. More bad news for opponents.

That leads us to the NBA finals. Since this season started, most experts maintained Chicago and Portland would meet in the finals. This matchup should suit Bulls fans just fine. The Trailblazers have a tendency to lose their concentration and their ability to shoot free shots in close games. This happened in a triple overtime loss to the Bulls in Portland last year, recently a double overtime defeat in Boston. Now combine those losses with a 30-point blowout loss at Chicago Stadium. Well, let's just say that if these teams compete in this year's finals I wouldn't want to see the Las Vegas odds.

In short, the rest of the NBA better beware. With only 15 games remaining, the Bulls are on a roll and there's no sign of a letdown.

It will be sweet to repeat.

Soccer anyone?

Dave Paxson
Harbinger Staff Writer

Harper has an impressive reputation in academics and sports among community colleges. So you ask "What's missing?"

Harper has a good assortment of sports from golf to swimming. Golf was dropped due to budgetary restraints as was another sport, Soccer. Soccer got the axe. Specifically, men's soccer in the morning link. Now Harper College is debating on whether to bring it back.

Roger Bechhold, athletic director, said, "Soccer has been proposed for quite a few years." He added, "It is going through the steps needed before it can reach the board for approval."

If approved, Bechhold said "this program will be treated equally with all of the other sports." The program will receive a budget and a separate field. Soccer never had its own facilities.

If it now goes to the administration to accept or deny this program, if it was up to the students, Harper would implement it now. Many skilled players are lost because of this. There are many fine players. Fremd, Buffalo Grove and Hersey are a few of the schools that could feed rich soccer talent.

If a soccer program was offered, the impact on the other already developed community college programs would be felt immediately.

COMMENTARY

Can You Live With Your Choice?

Jason Fastenham examines the highly controversial topic of abortion.

Page 2

NEWS

The Senate Results Are In!

Check out how you voted on the March 24th and 25th election.

Below

FEATURES

Once Upon A Time...

All about author Ray Bradbury and his visit to Harper.

Page 4

A&E

Building M Comedy Club

Comedian David Banner will make you laugh on May 1st.

Page 5

SPORTS

Spring Sports Are Here!

For the latest news about your Harper teams, check out the back page.

Page 6

THE HARBLINGER

Palatine, Illinois

April 9, 1992

Student Newspaper at William Rainey Harper College

Volume XXVI Number XXVI

Harper Bids For New Planetarium

Craig Pace

Staff Writer

Harper College officials are working with members of the Planetary Studies Foundation to reach an agreement which could bring a $5 million planetarium to the Palatine campus. Harper trustees offered the Foundation an attractive lease: $1 a year for 99 years with an option to renew.

However, the two groups continue to negotiate rental terms for Harper's use of the proposed planetarium's lab and classrooms. James Alex Woud, a Foundation executive director, said the cost will be comparable to what Harper pays for renting classrooms at local high schools. Woud also said the Foundation is contributing $1.5 million to the project. Harper President Paul Thompson said in the March 27 Daily Herald, "We didn't very much hope to partner with them (the Foundation) in the development. I know they are looking for a spot, and hope they choose us."

Paul Spiva, President of the Foundation and a Harper professor, said his position is, "Between a rock and a hard place." MCC eagerly accepted the Foundation's proposal and responded by outlining plans to boost support from the local and regional communities. The growth potential of McHenry intrigues Spiva, but he also realizes the importance of Harper's ability to offer immediate use. Spiva said the group will announce its decision by April 21, 1992.

The Foundation requires approximately two acres of land to build the multi-disciplinary science center. They are collaborating with the Chicago Adler Planetarium to design a 44,000 square foot center consisting of a dome lecture hall, conference rooms, classrooms, geology lab, exhibition areas, and a lunch room.

Spiva said the planetarium will have technological capabilities similar to the Adler because the Harper Observatory recently cable-stayed. This allows a hookup between the telescope at the observatory and the classrooms at the planetarium. Spiva knows the difficulties of teaching an astronomy course without a planetarium. He said, "The day class can't study the night sky and the night class fights with Chicago weather conditions." Spiva wanted a planetarium since he first approached Harper with the idea in 1984.

He established the Planetary Studies Foundation in 1988 and has watched it grow from a small group into a large organization. The advisory board's list of impressive representatives includes: NBD Illinois, United Way, Lincoln Park Zoo, University of Chicago, Australian National University, Mercer University, and an Apollo 17 Astronaut. The Foundation currently supports the Science Learning Center in Palatine which provides facilities and classes for children and adults.

James Alex Woud, a Foundation executive director, board on the radio that one half of grade school kids and one-third of high school young adults don't know what happens in the sun or moon during a solar eclipse. "That shows an alarming lack of concern for science," Woud said. "We feel there is a lot of concern from adults and parents who want to change that."

Cafeteria Crosses Campus

Students and faculty were excited when the new improvements, complete with a new kitchen, were added to the cafeteria. The idea of a cafeteria on the East side of the campus came up in a recent long walk-over to the cafeteria of Building A. John Castro, director of dining room services, hired a mobile mini-cart from the Tri-R Dining Service Company to respond to the needs of our customers. The mini-cart will offer sandwiches, yogurt, fruit and juices. It will be located on the lower level by the vending machines. Marie Zales, hostess for the new campus dining room, will be at a grand opening Monday, April 13, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the same hours Monday through Friday.

Neil Simon's Trilogy Strikes Success At Harper Theater

Mid Tassan
Horsinger Staff Writer

Who else but Neil Simon is able to take writers, real life situations and present the material in a humorous fashion. Making his claim to fame, Simon's tragically comic "Broadway Bound" in December 1986 by the New York Company was presented by the Harper College Theater studios in March. The third play of the trilogy, Simon portrays his own life experiences through one of the characters, Eugene, who once again is used as narrator as he was for the first two plays, "Brighton Beach Memoirs" and "Bilva Blue."

Set in 1949, the play takes us back in time but reveals real life situations of today. The complex relationships of the Jerome family are uncovered and we see their feeble attempts in trying to resolve their conflicts. You can guess there is no happy ending and find the theme to be about people growing up as well as growing apart and how the growing apart affects the stability of the family. As seen in the play words, Simon enjoys making fun of human weaknesses, especially in his own characters. He is able to draw out many laughs from the audience from the bitterest humor he uses in each of the characters. Todd Bullington, director, "The audience should experience a tremendous amount of feelings and respect he strived to create a comic situation." Simon also invites audience members to take a look at their own weaknesses in a comic fashion.

Jack's selfishness in wanting worldly things destroyed his marriage. He claimed his mistress told all the right books, loved to read, and loved to travel. She also brought out personalities in him he never knew existed.

Their ambitious son, Stanley, has an opportunity to write for CBS but runs into a problem. Stanley must convince his cynical brother Eugene that helping him develop an idea for a story about the next morning takes precedent over saving Eugene's dream comic interrelationship. Kate always thought Stanley was just like her selfish father. Eugene ends up helping Stanley and is convinced by his brother that a story on "wasting and conflict" will get the job at CBS.

The humor doesn't stop at the fatal marriage of the parents or the conflict of their young trying to be like their father. The play is a perfect reflection of life, which the things that happen on stage are indicative as to what we do in our life," quoted by Bullington.

Charles and Ben Epstein, grandfather, is separated from his wife and lives with the Jerome family. He despises wealth and politics, making him bitter toward his brother, Blanche. Blanche is a woman who is a Park Avenue society matron. Blanche tries convincing her father to move to Florida with his wife for health reasons. But Ben's mind is made up to stay with Kate, whose husband is planning to leave her.

Michael D. Brown, an actor, director and stage designer for "Broadway Bound" sums up the plot. "Simon explores the family conflict on several different levels. We see the juxtaposition of the enthusiasm and optimism of the brothers, which takes them to their first success as writers. We see the anguish of failing marriages and the separation of those relationships. We see the bitterness of the lost dream of the grandfather as he matures there, will not be a social revolution that he desired to have for so many years."

"The desire of the grandfather is far more rich in unrequited love, it gives the audience an understanding of humanity as well as reality. It is a perfect reflection of life, which the things that happen on stage are indicative as to what we do in our life," quoted by Bullington.

The Votes Are In!!

1. Don Sprake Jones received 43 votes and was elected to the position of student representative to the board of trustees; write in votes totaled 12.

2. Should the nine credit hour requirement for the Student Trustee be reduced to six credit hours? Yes 19 No 44

3. Should the student trustee be limited to one-year term of office? Yes 41 No 23

4. Should an alternate Student Trustee be elected at the time of electing the regular student trustee? Yes 52 No 19

5. Should Harper College support the Illinois Student Assistance

Commission's student-to-student grant program through a refundable fee of $3 a semester, collected from each student along with tuition and fees? Yes 47 No 17

6. Should the Gay/Lebian club be a club on campus? Yes 40 No 29

7. Do you want a portion of your student activity fee going to this club? Yes 26 No 24

For the student trustee election ballot (referendum), there were 32 votes cast including 17 invalid ballots. For the Gay/Lebian club referendum, there were 85 votes cast including 15 invalid ballots.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Marti Siwak
Business Manager	Laura Ashley
Managing Editor	Steven Beck
Commentary Editor	Jason Feinstein
A & F Editor	Eydie Kaufman
Features Editor	Alexandra Youkhanich
Photo Editor	Hedi Tarasuk
Sports Editor	Bo Kaver
Copy Editor	Alma Overland
Faculty Advisor	Suzanne Hovick

♦ EDITORIAL ♦

Voting: are we defying our democracy?

The Student Senate held an election on March 24 & 25. Included on the referendum were questions which could drastically change Harper College.

First, the Student Senate named Dean Sprake-Jones to the Board of Trustees. This is not surprising. Sprake-Jones was the only person on the ballot. He received 43 votes from a campus of 26,000. I am not saying that Sprake-Jones is unqualified for the position, only that out of 26,000 there must be at least one other qualified candidate.

More importantly, the point of having an election is so that the students can choose who they want to represent them. 43 votes can not possibly be an accurate representation of 26,000.

The referendums were voted on by 82 people. Included with the ballot, was another regarding the Gay/Lesbian Club. 85 people voted on it. Can such a controversial topic receive so little attention?

The Gay/Lesbian Club has created an incredible upheaval. Almost everyone has an opinion regarding the issue, and many people feel very strongly about the club's existence. Why then, didn't these people vote?

The poor voter turnout was not necessarily caused by the students alone.

The student senate had so little publicity of this election, that the Harbinger wasn't aware of the election until the day before. This poses the question, why was there so little notice given about such an important election?

Marti Siwak
Editor in Chief

Staff

La Campa, Christopher Gabeta, Ambrose Kurl, Roger Martini, Jacques Ott, David Parker, Cindy Platt, Brad Sankala, Michael Wilson, Karl Stimpfeler, Kim Swafford

COMMENTARY

Abortion: Can You Live With Your Choice?

Jason Feinstein
Commentary Editor

Let's get started right away this week. There has been a topic that has always been a mainstay of controversy. Yes, yes. We're talking about the whole abortion issue. Abortion has intrigued the public ever since the Roe v. Wade case was brought before the Supreme Court in 1973.

Almost twenty years later, we are still talking about it. Little has changed. The usual conservative position is to be anti-abortion. Whether their reasons are religious, moral, or some other convoluted reason doesn't matter.

On the other side of the donkey, we have the liberals who feel that a person's individual freedom is everything. Why, they even have prisoners? Let's have the criminals just promise to behave and stay on the right side of the law. Yeah, right. But that's on a column coming soon in a paper near you.

What is wrong with having a healthy moderation? I know that question may be a little out of character for me. I don't have a strong stance either pro or con. I don't support the conservative viewpoint, but I don't necessarily agree with the liberal perspective either.

Personally I do not like abortion, but I do not think it should be outlawed. I can understand tightening up the abortion laws and making abortion less easy to obtain. As it stands, it seems it is slightly harder for a teenage girl to buy a pack of cigarettes than it is for her to get an abortion.

I believe abortion is sometimes misused by some people as an alternative form of birth control. I feel that abortion should only be performed if there is rape, incest, if the baby (fetus, embryo, whatever you want to call it), is deformed, or most importantly, if the mother is endangered. Ever since the Supreme Court has taken a definite conservative tilt, abortion proponents are concerned.

I cannot say their concern is unwarranted. I believe it would be a grave mistake to make abortion illegal. If it is made illegal, the number of potentially dangerous back-alley abortions will be on the rise. We will perhaps see an alarming number of unnecessary deaths from these abortions. Some women may suffer irreparable physical and emotional damage.

Although I support abortion for limited purposes, I can see damage being done by both rights groups: pro-life and the pro-choice. I find it totally ridiculous to accuse women who are merely trying to enter an abortion clinic. Blocking their way is just plain stupid. I won't even mention the vulgar pictures they like to show to some people. It really gets a message across by making a pregnant woman, who may be in a fragile mental state, cry. Now you have really accomplished something impressive. Although the pro-choice people are not as vulgar as the other group, they can be just as tiresome. Someone is always trying to run another piece of propaganda down your throat. I do believe that we all have to make a decision we can live with. If the Supreme Court overturns Roe v. Wade, the most logical course of action would be to pass new laws that would make abortion legal, but would place some restrictions on it, not making abortion a snap decision. It is very difficult for men to totally grasp the whole idea, the physical and emotional turmoil that a woman must go through. The most important thing is to do what you have to do and to do what you can live with.

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

COMMENTARY

The Harbinger, April 9, 1992 3 ■

Guest Commentator: Where Did Trust, Teamwork Of Childhood Go To?

Kevin Menken

Guest Commentary

I turned out to be gay.

I know that this doesn't meet with the approval of some members of the Student Senate and the Commentary Editor of THE HARBINGER. In our most generous minds, they vaguely refer to people like me as politely "having a place."

Of course, they don't expect me to pass judgement on their lives.

It's funny that my childhood friends and I could play together as kids, or that we could imagine those innocent (and occasionally painful) games of army could teach us such virtues like trusting each other and working together as a team. If we tried to serve our country today, we would agree with the wisdom of the Harbinger commentary editor: we would not be allowed to be together.

The problem with serving this nation in the military is not a dilemma of class, sex or sexual orientation. Yet the Pentagon, along with commentators like Jason Fontenay, seems to think that knowledge of relationships and orientation destroys that person's ability to make an equally meaningful contribution to the nation.

What they really are afraid of is giving people like me equal rights.

equal opportunity and equal access to the benefits of having these rights. Of course, we already pay equal taxes. Somehow, the guarantee of these rights, though American as apple pie, is threatening to those whose potential an life seems to be directly linked to maintaining themselves as a class, self-righteous class.

The issue with letting people like me into the military is not just about the race situation, when our technological advantage could be reduced to individual or trench war fare.

Inside the final social the military and its politically right-wing supporters is standing on is the issue of morale.

Morale is the gauge of the willingness of men in the trenches to shoot bullets at people from another country because some president wants to hold on to his office or simply somewhere around the globe. If people like me are allowed to fight, alongside presumably heterosexual people like Mr. Fontenay, he would, in his own words, have to refuse to serve.

No matter if the Statue of Liberty is about to be ripped into bits and things into the ocean, or if Mr. Bushmore is about to be bombed and his family could end up starving through the degeneration of basic services in a wartime situation. America just wouldn't be worth defending if a gay man was found in the trenches.

So don't let Mr. Fontenay have to depend on my training and dedication to help him out in the trenches. Why not exclude HIM from military service because of his unwillingness to work with people who aren't like him.

It wouldn't do much good for me to explain that a situation would have to be pretty desperate for Mr. Fontenay to be called up to fight. You see, the rank and file of today's military is made up of overwhelmingly of poor people with a large (and disproportionate) share of minorities. Poor people are encouraged to join the military because it may be the only means of gaining an education. There are antiair benefits like medical and dental care, affordable housing and preferential placement in civilian jobs.

The country club crowd doesn't need these benefits, so most of them don't join.

When there is a draft, people like Bill Clinton and I can't do their best to stay out of the fray. Little things like God and country aren't supposed to interfere with their professional and personal goals.

But a poor gay person like me should be excluded. I should be a lack to the military as a means of creating a life for myself, of getting adequate medical or dental care, of gaining an education or of defending my country. Why? Because somebody else might be uncomfortable with what I am.

It's not like the argument is just about letting us into the military. There are many gay men and lesbians already serving. They just hate themselves. They hate themselves to pretend that they are not gay, because they live in fear that this disclosure would mean immediate dismissal. It used to mean torture and imprisonment.

Recently, some gay people who happened to be in the military were called up to defend their country's interests in the Persian Gulf War. When they told their commanding officers they were gay (before they were sent to the desert) they were shipped out anyway and ordered to perform their duty. When the war ended, they came home and were unceremoniously given the boot.

In a tight spot, "morale" can easily be put on hold.

The "morale" argument was used to prevent blacks from serving in regular units and the country was well into World War II. Even then, they were segregated into their own commands. After all, American white boys couldn't be expected to trust one of "those" people in the trenches.

At the war dragged on, unpounded Orientals were allowed to serve in other units in the European theater. Since most white boys weren't bright enough to distinguish nationalities, any person with slanted eyes was Japanese and couldn't be trusted. Even if their family had been

American for a century.

Alert all these lessons, the Pentagon and Mr. Fontenay still believe that their fear of someone they don't want to know about or understand is more important to the national interest than equal rights. America exists, in their minds, only for people like them, and if any other Americans are included, well, they just aren't going to play.

The rest of us are just here to foot the bill and stay in our places, cowering at the back of the bus or in the bedroom closet.

If people like Mr. Fontenay and Oliver North think that I am going to spend my life insulting them from the realities of humanity, they are sadly mistaken. I am not interested in the opinion of my personal relationships or my right to participate in the military, any more than they would allow me to deny their employment or housing or the wife of their choice.

While they may be entitled to their shallow reasoning, they should not be allowed to punish my life in order to protect those feelings.

People like me are not meaningfully aware of being told to exclude ourselves from full participation in a society based on protecting someone else's personal interests.

We shouldn't have to change the way we can work together just because we all turn out differently.

WE OFFER MORE...

WHEN YOU BECOME A DAILY HERALD FIELD SALES REPRESENTATIVE.

*GUARANTEED TRAINING AT $10.00 PER HOUR

- Bonus/Incentive Programs

- Flexible Hours - 9-18 Hours Per Week, You Decide!

- Casual Dress Code

- Transportation Provided From Our Rolling Meadows Or Schaumburg Offices.

If you enjoy making extra money in your spare time, then don't delay, CALL TODAY!

Kirk Bole
870-3471
Rolling Meadows
12 - 4 p.m.

Earl West
870-3470
Schaumburg
12 - 4 p.m.

HALL MON

Caribbean Carnival Thursdays

The Big Kahuna is going Jamaica every Thursday Night. We call it the Caribbean Carnival. And it includes an evening of live reggae music, a lavish Jamaican buffet and prize giveaways. Register to win gifts. And Thursday, April 30th, you can register to win a trip for two to Jamaica. So come out for the fun. The buffet starts at 5:00 pm and the band at 7:30 pm. We'll see you there, man.

Caribbean Network PRO

700 Algonquin Rd. at Golf
Arlington Heights, 708-428-4594

FEATURES

Dreams become reality for author Bradbury

Ray Bradbury and friend

Alex Ciminello
Hawthorne State Writers

Once upon a time, there was a young boy named Ray Bradbury who dreamt about a world full of fantasy and future possibilities.

One day, the dreamer became an author. Five years, he wrote what he told in books such as "Fahrenheit 451," "The Illustrated Man" and "The Martian Chronicles."

It was not until May 24, 1992, that the world was going to end. My brother and I could hardly wait. We got up at 4:51. "The Illustrated Man" and "The Martian Chronicles" were not sure if he would survive to dream. When I was 12, my brother and I looked at the newspaper. Bradbury said, "It said in May 24, 1992, the world is going to end. My brother and I could hardly wait. We got up early that morning and packed a picnic lunch—ham sandwiches,ologna sandwiches, Orange Crush and Coca-Cola. We went and sat on a hill outside of Waukegan, Ill., and debated on how the world should end.

"The world was going to fall into the sun. The sun was going to explode or blow about a big David. We ate our sandwiches and drank our Coke and Orange Crush. At five o'clock in the afternoon, very put out with goal, we threw up and went home. I never believed in the end of the world since."

Bradbury survived and told his tales to 875 people in Building M last month. However, his dream for the future almost ended before they started.

"I fell in love with Buck Rogers when I was nine," Bradbury said. "I started collecting Buck Rogers comic strips for seven or eight weeks. And everyone at school made fun of me. Oh, there's never going to be a future. We're never going to land on the moon. We're never going to Mars. That's stupid stuff, forget it. And like a left about eight weeks later, I love up all my Buck Rogers comic strips. It was the worst thing I ever did."

"A week later I heard into a train. I said to myself, 'Why am I crying?' Who died? And the answer was me. I killed myself by listening to these people. I just started collecting Buck Rogers madly. I was a life and began my career writing at the age of 12." Success did not come instantly for Bradbury.

It took years to cultivate his writing.

All of my fiction was discarded from the age of 12 until I was twenty. There was a wonderful gentleman, Fred Ford, who read my stuff when I was 20 years old. He was a literary agent. I sent him all my dreadful fiction and he refused to represent me. And he was right. But somewhere along the way I had to believe that I would get better. So you write 1,000 words a day for eight or nine years and finally the day comes when you're better."

Bradbury said we live in a television-oriented society. He recommends people turn off the television and follow their dreams.

"Never watch local television news again," Bradbury said. "It's all murders you didn't commit, rapes you had nothing to do with, funerals you don't want to go to and AIDS you don't want to catch. It's the weekly pain. We Americans have to put on something every week. So it's one disaster after another. And in the middle of this, my message is turn off the TV and get your work done."

One of Bradbury's dreams is to revolutionize cities. "The buses people came to me 12 years ago and said we have a $50-million building we want to give you," Bradbury said. "It's the permanent world's fair, and the central building will be called Spaceship Earth. We want you to help create it. Can you do a 2,000-year history of civilization and communication in 14 minutes (flat with a full symphony orchestra)?" I said, "Yeah I can do that, and pre-recorded to do so. And since then I've been doing all kinds of articles on cities and what's wrong with them."

Bradbury dreamt that someday men would walk on the moon. They did when he was 49 years old. He wanted to be on David Frost's show and talk about space travel. "Well I got on the show," Bradbury said. "We landed on the moon at 8:30 at night. And at 8:35 I asked for David Frost to put me on the air so I could tell you it was all about. Instead he put on that great space expert Engelbert Humperdink."

"Well, smoke started coming out of my ears. And when he finished his song, David Frost put on that great Talmadge scholar Sammy Davis Jr. Me and smoke came out and I walked off the show."

"And the next morning, in a London newspaper, there was a small headline which read 'No! Armstrong walks on a moon.' Ray Bradbury walks at midnight. And I'm so glad I walked off that show."

People in the audience said they were glad Bradbury walked on the stage. Bradbury's career began with a dream.

"I was convinced when I was 12, I was going to be the world's greatest writer," Bradbury said. "Well, not in time as I made it. The dream never ends."

Abortion activists lobby for the right to choose

Editors Note: The following is based on information received by the National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL), a pro-choice organization. These words do not necessarily reflect the ideas of The Harbinger.

If we were to close our eyes and imagine the world our mothers lived in before Roe v. Wade, the 1973 Supreme Court decision that recognized the right to choose abortion in this country, life was filled with dangerous uncertainties for women facing crisis pregnancies.

In that world, women died as a result of illegal and unsafe abortions.

Louisiana's abortion ban moving through the judicial pipeline and the passage of an "anti-abortion law" in Ohio, requires among other things, a mandatory 24-hour waiting period. They terrify women at local family planning clinics and abortion facilities.

The Campus Organizing Project of the National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL), in coalition with the United States Right Action League (USRA), is actively working to increase student and youth political participation.

The role students will play in this pivotal election year is critical.

Enactment of the Freedom of Choice Bill is even more important because it secures our right and places it beyond the reach of state legislatures, like Louisiana's David Duke. We cannot have this right legislated state-by-state like speed laws.

Only through pro-choice participation will we deliver pro-choice victories and secure our rights nationwide.

In 1992 will take steps to secure our right because restrictions such as those in the Pennsylvania case (Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pennsylvania v. Casey) are no more than "Jim Crow" abortion laws designed to create obstacles to prevent women from exercising the right to choose.

Pro-choice students around the country realize that Congress has the authority, obligation and responsibility to pass the Freedom of Choice Act.

From California to Maine, Louisiana to Wisconsin, Virginia to New Mexico, students are calling, faxing, writing and visiting their representatives to say that if they are not co-sponsors of FOCA, it is time to sign on or move on.

For more information on this subject, Harper students may contact the Women's Center at area 2548.

Fight AIDS, Not People With AIDS

RAY COLLEGE OF DESIGN
RAYVOGUE

ART DESIGN FASHION

Right courses, Right faculty, Right time to transfer!

Transfer up to 40 credits toward a Bachelor of Arts degree in a specialized major. Learn from professionals who are working in their creative fields. Start August 24. Summer classes start June 1. Phone or write for catalog. It's the right move for you.

ADVERTISING & GRAPHIC DESIGN
ILLUSTRATION ■ PHOTOGRAPHY
INTERIOR DESIGN ■ JACOBSON DESIGN
FASHION MARKETING & MANAGEMENT

Chicago Campus (312) 280-3500
401 N. Wabash Ave. Chicago, IL 60611

Woodfield Campus (708) 419-3450
1501 Newmaster Dr. Schaumburg, IL 60193

LEGAL PROBLEM? WE HAVE A SOLUTION!

CALL THE
LAW OFFICES OF

JACOBSON & JACOBSON
(312) 346-9733
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 410
CHICAGO, IL 60606

*SUBURBAN LOCATIONS*

*FREE FIRST TIME CONSULTATION*

*LICENSED TO PRACTICE THROUGHOUT ILLINOIS*

SPRING BREAK
DAYTONA BEACH

- High quality, beautiful accommodations to 7 exciting nights
- Round trip chartered motor coach
- Free golf, deck parties, activities, & entertainment
- Free Campus Programs 10% Discount card
- On-location staff for complete assistance
- All taxes, tips, & service charges included

$119 $204

CALL: SARAH at 398-6438

Not Sponsored by Harper College

Comedian Will Tickle Your Funny Bone Solve A Mystery

HARPER PRESS RELEASE

Comedian David Brenner will appear at Harper College in Palatine on Friday, May 1, at 8:00 p.m. in Building M. Tickets went on sale April 7.

Brenner, a former writer, producer, and director of documentary films, stumbled on his comic career by experimenting with stand-up comedy at a small New York night club. He was invited to appear on The Tonight Show and made Johnny Carson laugh at least 100 times in the 20 years since his first appearance.

The former Philadelphia, gang leader, and Temple University humanities student, wrote books and screenplays and is presently developing a television sitcom. His latest book, If God Wanted Us to Travel, recently came out in paperback. He continues performing in comedy clubs about six months a year.

Tickets for Brenner's show are $15. Harper students and senior citizens pay $12. To order tickets call the Harper College Box Office, (708) 397-3000, extension 2547.

Comedian David Brenner will perform May 1 in Building M.

AURA CRAWFORD

Harbinger Staff Writer

Raven Wrath's murder is a mystery. Some say Wrath deserved justice. As publisher of The National Squalor, Wrath routinely discredited celebrities, public officials, friends and family. Wrath was one person you didn't need as an enemy. She could be considered, after all, she did pay for her brother and sister's education. Wrath was no longer a friend or foe. She was dead, murdered in her penthouse suite.

Murder at the Penthouse is one of more than 350 murder mysteries created by Dawn Amundson, founder of Amundson Enterprises. The crime is unraveled at restaurants, aboard trains, on cruises or via private parties in the area.

The goal of the evening is to deduce which suspect is the murderer... and have a good time doing it. Actors and guests become suspects, witnesses and detectives.

Who is the killer? Nobody knows. The murderer is a liar but doesn't know it. Thus, the murderer is unaware of murderous tendencies. The identity of the murderer is revealed as the evening progresses.

The job of participants is to examine the clues, question suspects and witnesses, observe subsequent murders and identify the killer without getting killed.

The plot, characters, clues and murders do not change during repeat performances. To test your sleuthing abilities, call Amundson Enterprises at (312) 777-8680. These murder mysteries are exhilarating, thought-provoking and fun.

Bernice Von Kauter

Student: Teacher Goes Above, Beyond

PETER A. LAUGHLIN

Harbinger Guest Writer

In the February 27, 1992 issue of The Harbinger, you asked students to evaluate teachers at Harper. I'd like to nominate one individual for special notice.

Above and Beyond

These words are an overstatement of Renee Von Kauter. Her students in German, French, and English classes would gladly nominate her for a gold medal if it existed.

What are the qualities that endear her to her students? They are many. Uppermost is her mastery of the subjects. One must have mastered the subjects before attempting to teach them to others. Another endearing quality transfer that knowledge to her students. Her classes typically include students from a variety of age groups and ethnic backgrounds. No student can begin to feel that he or she needs have not been addressed. Help is always present. One of the first pieces of information she gives to the students, is her telephone number.

She has the most detailed language is inspired. Situated structure, local customs, etiquette, and historical information are all used to supplement the language itself.

Last, there is humor. Laughter is not discouraged when it is pertinent to the discussion.

Peter A. Laughlin

ECC To Host Plays

ECC PRESS RELEASE

Two one-act plays will be presented by the Pickleweas, a Student of Eight Community College. Curran time for "Fresh Highway Kill" and "Romano and Juliet in Hell" will be 8:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11.

The two dark comedies, written by Robert D. Kornitz of Palatine, are being directed by Matthew D. Norrick, Steamboat, an ECC student.

"Fresh Highway Kill" follows a day in the life of a squirrel who lives beside a busy highway. The nervous, confident, several of his wildlife counterparts ask them why he's risk death to cross the road. "Romano and Juliet in Hell" picks up where the classic Shakespearean tragedy left off. The dead lovers are forced to make up for their suicides by bringing together two possible lovers in the 1990s.

The plays will be performed in the auditorium of ECC's Advanced Technology Center on the main campus, 17931 Spartan Drive, Elgin. General admission is $5.52 for students and seniors. Tickets can be purchased by calling the Student Life office, 708-697-1040, ext. 7170.

MUSICIANS HANDBOOK '92

Take the First Step to Getting Signed...

CONTACT:
Major Record Labels, Publishers, Clubs, Promoters, Managers, Studios, Nationwide

Send $35.00 (check or money order) to:
A & R RECORD GUIDE
P.O. Box 8945
Los Angeles, CA 90009

PAYING FOR COLLEGE?? LET US HELP YOU!!

Each year millions of dollars are made available to college students based upon their individual profile without regard to personal income or grade point average.

LET US LOCATE YOUR SHARE OF THESE FUNDS!

For more information write to:
College Planning & Research Associates
853 N. Quentin Road, Suite 307-H
Palatine, IL 60067

DePaul...CHICAGO'S UNIVERSITY

Anticipating the future—for Chicago
DePaul University is the premier Chicago school and institution with a services of more than 100,000 students in business, education, the arts, and government. With a long tradition of excellence, DePaul offers a wide range of programs, services, and resources to its students and faculty.

MAKE THE DEPAUL CONNECTION TODAY

Transfer Planning Day

Saturday, April 23, 1992

10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Levin Park Campus

2321 N. Seminary, Chicago

PRESENTATIONS AND TRANSFER EVALUATION

■ Academic Programs ■ College of Commerce ■ College of Liberal Arts & Sciences ■ School of Education ■ School for Non-Learning ■ Admissions ■ Career Planning & Placement ■ Financial Aid

FOR RESERVATIONS, CALL 312-362-6709

For more information, contact the Student Planning Office, 2321 N. Seminary, Chicago, IL 60614

DePaul University is a member of the National Association of Colleges and Universities.

DEPAUL UNIVERSITY

C.D.P.

COMICS

THE Crossword

by H. Kermit Jackson

ACROSS

- 1 Bernstein
- 6 "Dragon"
- 10 Nether Lend
- 14 Aspen ion
- 15 Toward shifter
- 16 Office note
- 17 Jack of all trades
- 18 Malay craft
- 20 Upon
- 21 Winged
- 22 Impetuous
- 23 Anguish romp
- 25 Wild plum
- 27 Goddess of recklessness
- 30 College Vix
- 32 Christian creed
- 34 Holy district in King
- 36 Colonies
- 40 Field Lat
- 41 Saxon legislators
- 42 Not now
- 43 Fla. cape
- 44 Hollow rock
- 46 Tans
- 47 Coat stopped on
- 48 Bath
- 50 Legal abhor
- 52 Jade
- 54 Reporter query
- 57 Old language
- 58 Light giver
- 63 Shout
- 64 Some appl. snide are
- 66 Rainbow
- 67 Basin
- 68 One at —
- 69 Probe
- 70 Spreads hay
- 71 Jason's wife

DOWN

- 1 Epic tale
- 2 Help a felon
- 3 Veget. meal
- 4 Herb latter
- 5 Prentiss
- 6 Stuck up cover

Last Weeks Answers

- 7 Essayist Lamb
- 8 Delia
- 9 Palm seed
- 10 Cune
- 11 Miss Miles
- 12 Slap name
- 13 Nether Yarnoch
- 14 Rhine
- 15 Tributary
- 16 Commemorate
- 17 OPEC's probe
- 18 Radar planes
- 19 Furrow wear
- 20 Miss Verduge
- 21 Wanders
- 22 Group char actor
- 23 Baddy off
- 24 Sorts of odd
- 25 Playright
- 26 Campaigns
- 27 Most tender
- 28 Part of Eur
- 29 Collage info
- 30 Certain student
- 31 Cream of the crop
- 32 Legal paper
- 33 Speedy robot
- 34 Rara —
- 35 Care for
- 36 Amos —
- 37 "Auntie —"
- 38 Emery
- 39 Hand head

Clodsbreath's Corners

Wolfbane

Spencer Green

GET SMART. BUSINESS SMART.

Bachelor of Science degree programs in:

- Accounting
- Management Information Systems
- Business Administration

Specializations in Operations Management and Marketing Management

Near South & Chicago Loop Locations

- Small classes
- Day and evening
- Personal attention

Transfer scholarships available

Call (312) 567-3025 or return the attached coupon

Stuart School of Business Illinois Institute of Technology

To the Office of Admission, Illinois Institute of Technology,
10 West 33rd Street, Chicago, Illinois 60616

Please send me information about the Stuart School of Business and its programs in Accounting M.I.S. Business

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Phone (H) _____ (W) _____

Free Pregnancy Testing

Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24-hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Crisis
Pregnancy
Center

708/885-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

It's No Joke
Don't Drink
and Drive

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger April 9, 1992 7

Help Wanted

GENERAL OFFICE
Barrington based Company seeks creative individual to assist w/ advertising sales & phones. part time. $7/hr. Call for appointment. SKYLER CORP. 381-2628

*EARN EXTRA INCOME***
Earn $200-$500 weekly mailing travel brochures. For information send a stamped addressed envelope to ATW Travel, P.O. Box 430780, South Miami, FL 33143

ASSEMBLERS
Excellent income to assemble products from your home. Info (504) 646-1700 Department 23788

EARN $$$ HERBALIFE INT'L. needs distributors for new Cellular Nutrition Div Ground floor opportunity (708) 786-3911

Spring Summer Work $ 10-25 to start. Part Time NOW. Full Time in Summer. Well work around school schedule. Internships & Scholarships available. Call 818-1936

Help Wanted

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
experienced partners seeking One summer's experience minimum. Saving the Chicago suburban area. Apply early to secure your position! Contact: 2331-8360

SUMMER JOBS Complete Guide to Employment in the National Parks - 10,000 jobs. Work on Cruise Ships - Listings for all cruise lines. $5.95 each. $10.95 for both. Great Plains Publishing, Box 1003, Joplin, MO 64801

ALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT - Fisheries Earn. $5,000/month. Free transportation. Room & Board. Male or Female. For employment program call: 1-206-545-4155 ext. 1545

Weight Loss

HERBALIFE'S NEW CELLULAR NUTRITION PROGRAM for safe, easy weight loss. Student Discount (708) 786-3911

Services

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes: DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone: 517-2808, evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60155

THE PERFECT PAGE WP SVS
Term papers, resumes, laser printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low rates.

TYPING - Done on a Macintosh. Multiple texts possible as well as color printing. Only $2.00 per page and spelling checked. Rapid turn around. Call DONNA AT 708-468-1071 OR LEAVE MSGS. SAGE

Are you pregnant, alone, scared? Open Arms can help you with counseling and support. Call Jill or Roseann at 312-794-6500 Monday-Friday, 9 to 5

Services

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Finders M. Knueppel-Dept MCI 5 Elm Creek Dr. #205 Elmhurst, IL 60126

Desktop Publishing Services
Papers, Resumes, spell check and laser printing. Call Lynn 255-3944. Low Rates.

Secretarial Service
Wordprocessing, spreadsheets, graphics, graphics. Laser Quality. Call Len at 795-1531

Rapid and Accurate Typing help students with their term papers, etc. (708) 437-8602 anytime. Mrs. Prato

For Sale

Summit Comm
90 TX-10 Black-Red 3167 miles, mint cond. War. Exp. Nov-93. V-6 H. exhaust, carburetor. Call 357-0665. Ask for Pete

Roommates

Single woman seeks same to share room/house in N. Harbinger Park (Harper District). Must be responsible & clean. $350 - 1/2 utilities. 351-8312 (day), 830-1956 (even)

For Rent

SOUTH PADE ISLAND
Cottidiums for Spring Break. $20 per person per night. Call 870-222-6272

Personals

To Susanne
The Best Faculty Advisor ever. Thanks just in case we haven't told you lately! Guess Who

Information

Standard Classified Rates and Information
Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line. Deadline is Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger in 4367. Call (708) 397-3000, ext. 2460, or send fax with cover sheet to (708) 397-5210

Cambridge Educational Services
LSAT
GMAT
GRE
Call: (312) 201-8378

THE HARBINGER 1992
2nd Place Weekly Fiction

The Harbinger 1992
2nd Place Weekly Fiction

Blues & Rock Nightclub
20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
MARCH
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage. Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied. JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS! Call the club for details.

COLLEGE NIGHT LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With This Coupon

BALLOON DROP WITH CASH PRIZES
Every Week During Band Night!

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS
5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon. Thru Thurs. FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY. 5:30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room
3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50
Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

MARY KAY
A TOTAL SKIN CARE AND MAKE-UP CONCEPT
Invite you to try my special services. Treat yourself to a complimentary facial and make-up lesson as a special gift to you. Make your appointment now.

Beckie Zimmer
Independent Mary Kay Beauty Consultant
8701 Taylor Ave. #100
Harbinger, IL 60147
(708) 991-8008

Are you really being paid what your worth?
listen to the facts:
Mary Kay is the career for you either full-time or part-time.
Share in the employment opportunity by trying my special services. Treat yourself to a complimentary facial and make-up lesson as my gift to you. Make your appointment today and listen to the facts.

HARBINGER SPORTS

8 APRIL 1992

CALL THE SHOTS

By BO KASER

I wake up to the unfriendly buzz of my alarm clock. I grab my gym bag, my books and head for school. After a morning of classes I seek out my coach for some afternoon practice. What shot is that? I am a Harper student athlete.

I am not really an athlete at Harper. However, as a former three-sport high school athlete, I know the sacrifices these men and women make to follow their dream.

I thought it was tough in high school.

You see, it's not enough just to be successful in your sport. You also must carry a full load of classes and maintain the required grade-point average.

If that still doesn't impress you, how about those athletes who spend the little free time they have left working? Think about it. They have classes all morning, practice in the afternoon and then go to work.

I know what you're thinking. They have their weekends, right? Wrong! Those days are usually spent at games or doing homework.

If you think that sounds rough, listen to this. The NCAA, which is Harpers' conference, doesn't offer athletic scholarships. Although other junior college conferences provide these scholarships, this group chooses not to.

When I first discovered this, I wondered how double athletes stay motivated?

To me, an athletic scholarship is a reward for years of hard work and sacrifice. Not offering these scholarships punishes the students in that conference. I do realize, however, there are benefits to playing at a junior college.

For many of these athletes, junior college is a second chance to play at the college level.

Sometimes these athletes are merely late bloomers who didn't attract much attention out of high school.

After two years' experience, many go on to successful athletic careers at four-year schools.

Then there are those athletes who receive scholarships to four-year universities, but for reasons of their own choice not to play. By not playing, these athletes forfeit their eligibility. To regain eligibility they must sit out an entire year or transfer to a two-year school.

Although transferring may seem like a good idea at the time, there is a major drawback. After two years these students were to receive another scholarship to a four-year school, only two years of athletic eligibility remains. This limited major college exposure can damage an athlete's chances for a professional career.

Rather than go on about the pros and cons of junior college athletics, I'll just say this. The student athletes I have met at Harper are showing examples of dedication and hard work. Their sacrifices and accomplishments deserve our admiration and our loyalty.

This year's Harper teams are loaded with talent and should provide many exciting moments.

So why not come out to a game and show them support? I promise you I'll not be disappointed.

Home opener loss: double disappointment

Harper Hawks swing at a pitch during their home opener loss to College of DuPage.

BO KASER
SPORTS EDITOR

The Harper men's baseball team faced more disappointment Tuesday as they dropped a conference double-header to number-one-ranked College of DuPage.

The Hawks were defeated 17-2 and 4-2 in doubleheader action.

In game one, DuPage (11-4-0) took advantage of five Harper errors to record the easy five-inning victory as Jerry Kediava pitched the complete game.

Game two featured good pitching by both clubs, as the game remained scoreless through three innings.

The fourth inning began with a throwing error by Harper shortstop Mike Sowka. After a stolen base, Harper committed two more critical throwing errors that eventually cost the game.

The first was a wide time that pulled the first baseman off the bag. As the runner on second was trying for third, the first baseman promptly tripped over the third baseman's head, allowing the runner to score.

After two fly balls out, DuPage delivered a base hit swinging the runner from third and providing the winning margin.

DuPage opened the fifth with a walk. The next batter grounded to pitcher Jason Perez, but a bad throw allowed DuPage to get a runner safe with no outs. Another hit by DuPage loaded the bases and the next batter finished a simple center scoring two more runs.

Perez was then relieved by Keith Cichon. With two on and nobody out, Cichon got a double play and a ground out to end the inning.

In the bottom half of the inning, Harper scored two runs with a base, two walks and a bases-loaded single to send out the scoring for the day. After the losses, Harper coach Norm Garret remained optimistic. "You take away the errors and the walks, we're the better team," he said.

The Hawks' last game was at Sugar Grove on Thursday.

Hawks Are Right On Track

PRINCE RUSSELL

The Hawks bowed into March weather last weekend for the Wheaton Open Freshman Chip Hadzima's record seven two high lighted the afternoon. And it seems Hadzima still has room to improve.

"He still had 10 more feet in the air to use," said Harper track coach Rene Zeller. "So his throw of 168.2" could have been 178.2." That throw so early in the season is indicative of what he can throw.

The men's team also received a winning performance from Todd Welsh in his jump. His leap of 6-2" was also a good start according to Zeller.

Another winning time was turned in by the 1,200 relay team. The foursome of Ed Callerton, Ty Garmon, Rod Ohagan and Mike Madura won that event with a time of 8:55.2. The second place team was also from Harper. They were "Fast" Freddie Uribe, Roger Gomez, Steve Datura and Ted Lamborn.

Keith "Smitty" Smith turned in a 58.6 in his initial outing in the 400m hurdles. He is pursuing the school record of 54.04.

Magda (The running machine) Tamara is "right on schedule" according to Zeller for the women's team. The sophomore had a personal best in the 1,500 with a 5:59.

That was good for third place.

Freshman Lynette Noyes made her first college experience a success. Noyes' first attempt at the hammer throw earned her a first place with a time of 65.4."

Darby, Newman took second place in the 400m hurdles.

Sibling Rivalry: These Two Thrive On It

BO KASER
HARBINGER SPORTS EDITOR

Keith Cichon

Photo by Peter Tassara

Keith and Michelle Cichon share much more than the same last name. Born at the same hospital and delivered by the same doctor, the brothers and sister know their father is a great love for sports.

In fact, they play the same position on their respective teams.

Michelle, at her first year of Harper, is the starting pitcher for the women's softball team. Keith is in his second year as a hurler for the men's baseball team.

They began their athletic careers in Tyro Little League 12" softball.

As he began the coaches and parents did all the pitching, so there was no need to start somewhere other than the pitching mound.

Michelle, at age seven played in left field. As a matter of fact, she didn't begin pitching until her fourth year in high school.

"Then back then you could tell she was going to be something special," said Keith. "She's a real natural."

While Michelle was in left, Keith was right and playing in third base.

"The way my father hit and I was always pitcher of the team," said Michelle. "I wanted to be like him, only better."

Though these two share high praise for each other, when the question of which sport is better comes up, it's a different story.

Although Michelle admits she likes baseball, she feels softball is definitely the better sport. "It's more exciting to watch," she said. "I got bored at Keith's games."

Keith on the other hand says baseball is a little less exciting overall. "I'd like to go to go with base ball," he said. "Softball is a lot off from baseball."

Keith and Michelle don't agree on everything, but they agree that playing at the same school in similar sports helps them keep their competitive edge.

They also agree that the main reason of interest is their father Richard, who still attends in many games as possible with their mother. Ironically, Dad still continues to offer to swing bats throughout the course of a game, while more being between chair and sets in the background providing the game.

Keith and Michelle still practice together in the backyard and offer each other advice, but each seems to be enjoying to be just a little bit better than the other.

This type of sibling rivalry has proven to be beneficial to Keith and Michelle.

Harper athletes should benefit as well.

Michelle Cichon

Photo by Peter Tassara

News

Health And Wellness Week Returns To Harper
With all of the seminars and free information, you would have to be sick to miss this.

Page 3

Commentary

Feinstein Does It Again...
The controversial columnist gives his views on the Presidential election.

Page 2

Sports

Soccer Is Back!
For the latest info, see Bo Kaser's article.

Page 12

THE HARBINGER

Student Newspaper at William
Harper College

Palatine, Illinois

April 16, 1992

Harper Vice-President Resigns

HEIDI TARABUL
Photo 1/3/92

VP of Academic Affairs, Dennis Connors

Dennis Connors, vice president of academic affairs, has resigned from his position, effective June 1st.

Connors will be moving back to Idaho, and he will be replaced by George Voegel, Dean of Curriculum Development, until the position is permanently filled.

Need Financial Aid? Accessible To All Students

COLLEGE PRESS SERVICE

The House overwhelmingly approved a bill March 29 to increase the maximum Pell Grant award and allow as many as 1 million more middle-income students to participate in the program.

Inability to maintain the Higher Education Act, the House voted to increase the maximum grant from $2,400 to $4,500 a year for needy students.

The bill also would extend Pell eligibility to more middle-income students with family incomes above $15,000 a year. An additional 1 million students could become eligible for grants under the bill, House aides say.

But House education leaders also developed a controversial plan to convert the grant program to an entitlement with guaranteed funding. Some Democrats joined conservatives in questioning the cost of the plan, which was approved by the House education committee last year.

The most recent action effectively ends debate on the entitlement plan, at least for this year. The Senate already dropped its entitlement plan in February citing a lack of support.

Many student groups and educators expressed disappointment with inaction by Congress, saying an entitlement would have provided needed guarantees to low-income students struggling to pay for college. As an entitlement, Pell Grants would no longer be subject to the annual appropriations process that often leaves the program short of its authorized funding level.

"We agree that this bill is a step forward, but we're disappointed that the House could not bring forward a bill that is a giant step forward," said Sen. Dole, legislative director for the United States Student Association.

Dole said she expected supporters of the entitlement to introduce a separate bill on the plan sometime in the mid-1990s.

Elsewhere in its bill, the House also authorized a pilot program of direct student loans provided through the government to colleges and universities. More than 100 schools are expected to participate in the program, congressional aides say.

Under the plan, colleges would take over the duties of banks in processing and administering student loans, with the Department of Education taking over the principal oversight role. The Bush administration has expressed opposition to the plan.

The bill also would remove equity in a home as a factor in determining a family's eligibility for major student financial aid programs. In addition, it would broaden eligibility for student loan programs to include students from families earning as much as $75,000 a year.

The full House approved the bill by a vote of 365-3. The action now moves to a House-Senate conference committee that will try to resolve differences between the competing House and Senate proposals.

The Senate's bill approved Feb. 21, also would increase the maximum Pell Grant and open up grant and loan eligibility to more middle-income students. The Senate bill, however, does not contain a pilot program with direct student loans.

Both bills would boost federal funding for pre-college career programs, particularly those aimed at low-income, disadvantaged high school students.

Leaders of the two chambers will meet soon to designate conferees for the final House-Senate talks on the bill. Conferees are expected to complete their work sometime this summer.

Harper Professor Nominated For State, National Award

JIM HAVES
Harbinger Staff Writer

Last year's distinguished faculty award, Professor Lester N. Hook has been nominated by Harper College for the Illinois Community College Trustees' Association 1992 Faculty of the Year Award.

In addition to state honors, Hook is nominated for a national award. The national award ceremony is to be held in Austin, Tex., later in the year.

Hook received his graduate degree from Northern Illinois University. He has also done post graduate work at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., and at International Christian University in Moline, Japan.

For the past 38 years Hook has taught in the field of political science. The Hoffman Estates resident has taught at Harper for 24 years.

Courses taught by the 1991 Distinguished Faculty Award winner include European, Latin American, Chinese, Japanese and American history.

He currently courses teaches are American and far eastern history.

A student of Hook's history class said, "He always takes the time to answer questions and give extra help. Hook will be recognized in Springfield at the ICCA's June 12 annual banquet.

He was selected as the Distinguished Faculty Award winner by a three-step process.

First, one faculty member is selected from each department. Hook is chairman of the political science and geography department.

The next step in the process reduces the number of faculty members to three. A selection committee of 15 chooses three finalists.

The third choice Hook received the final choice. Hook received the honor at last year's graduation ceremonies.

Student Senate Reluctantly Recognizes Hispanic Club

STEVEN BERK
Managing Editor

After 15 minutes of questioning, 2 members of Latino Unidos of Harper on their purpose and goals for the club, the student senate granted them tentative recognition.

The pre-college established by the student senate for forming a club requires having 10 members and an advisor, along with a declaration of purpose. Although Latino Unidos of Harper provided the student senate with these requirements, some senators were hesitant to grant recognition.

Lita Smith, the former student trustee, feels the club will be too exclusive.

"I have a real hard problem with different groups wanting to separate themselves because I've seen it at high school where you've got all the Hispanics, all the Polish, and everyone else going off with their own groups. It's hard for people who are not Hispanic, Polish or whatever to feel apart of the group," Smith said.

Smith added, "You have got to convince me that you cannot accomplish your goals through the International club. I don't think you need your own club."

Ana Arayzo, a member of Latino Unidos, feels that working through the International club would not be in the best interest for either club.

"They (the International club) have been giving us so much support that we don't want to come into their club and say, 'Hey, we make up a big part of your club, now play by our rules.'"

Arayzo also added that Latino Unidos of Harper is working in a different direction than the International club.

"The International club is already formed; they have their own rules, and it's completely different from what we're trying to do."

Part of what Latino Unidos has already planned is a visit to Rolling Meadows high school as talk to students about what the club and Harper can offer them.

Yet even with promises of community service and increased cultural awareness at Harper, Latino Unidos of Harper has still met with criticism.

"The name of your club has overtones of a politics of action committee," said Dean Spirakis, the newly elected Student Trustee. "Listening to some of your comments, that's the impression I left with."

The club now has 3 months to meet and form a constitution so they can petition the student senate for formal recognition.

Club members from Harper and South Suburban relax before the crowning ceremony of Longhorn State University.

The Harbinger recently won a 1st place award in the weekly division from the Illinois Community College Journalism Association. Staff members attended the ICCA's spring conference and placed higher than 3 other schools competing in the same division. Steven Berk, managing editor, stated that he was pleased with the results.

"Winning 1st place makes the long hours worthwhile," Berk said.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief	Marti Siwak
Business Manager	Laura Ashley
Managing Editor	Steven Berk
Commentary Editor	Jason Feinstein
A & E Editor	Elyse Kaufman
Features Editor	Alexandra Youkhanich
Photo Editor	Hesh Taranish
Sports Editor	Bo Kauer
Copy Editor	Alisa Chantland
Faculty Advisor	Susanne Haxvic

EDITORIAL

We can make all the difference in the world

My mother can buy a five-dollar radio and make it last fifteen years simply by taking care of it. Maybe the world isn't destroyed now, but if we don't take care of it now, it will be worth less than a fifteen-year old, five-dollar radio.

Earth Day, April 25, is almost here. Unfortunately, it happens to fall in the middle of Wellness Week, so it may not receive the attention it deserves.

Recycling has become one common activity to help protect the environment, but we could do so much more.

We need to start in our homes. Saving water is very important and very easy to do by simply turning water off and on rather than letting it run when brushing teeth, shaving, washing dishes or washing cars.

Saving electricity is also easy. Turning off the television, radio or lights when leaving a room can help. As spring approaches, we can use coolers instead of opening the refrigerator, and properly insulate houses to conserve the use of air conditioning.

We can also do our part here at school. People still throw cans in the garbage when recycling containers are a few feet away. We can turn off the lights and computers when we're not using them. And, we can support groups like the Horticulture Club, which will be selling T-shirts during the wellness week activities, promoting Earth Day.

These are simple things that we can do to help save our planet. We can help in our communities by being conscious of watering lawns, properly disposing of grass and leaves, and recycling everything possible.

The most important thing we can do is write to President Bush and urge him to take part in the United Nations Conference on the Environment and Development June 1 through 12, in Rio de Janeiro.

Marti Siwak

Marti Siwak
Editor in Chief

Staff

Let Capra, Stephanie DeLeon, Christy Porter Garcia, Jeff Hays, Anthony Koch, Roger Murrell, Jacques M., Cindy Plante, Brad Sandaka, Michael Shasta, Karl Stangner, Kim Southoff, Jim Walenta

COMMENTARY

An Election-Year Showdown Can The Democrats Size Up To Bush?

Jason Feinstein
Commentary Editor

Well, the closer and closer we get to November, the more the mud is slung. It seems that the only topic that has been on all those news magazine shows is the big prize fight.

No, I'm not talking about George Foreman and Evander Holyfield. I'm talking about another set of heavyweights. Bullyboy Bill Clinton versus Jerry "Bum Bum" Brown is shaping up to be quite a contest. Every one is looking to the 1992 presidential election as a possible changing of the guard. The air just might be right for a change. I am even considering voting for a democrat for the first time.

Imagine that! I, like a lot of voters, supported the Reagan-Bush ticket in 1980, and again in 1984. I even supported George Bush when he wanted to be president, even when he made the stupid move of making a junior Senator from Indiana his running mate.

During the Persian Gulf war, many citizens supported the president. But there is just so much that the American public can take. We probably should have seen the recession coming as a side result of Reaganomics. But our president does nothing for the numerous amount of workers who have been on unemployment for an unimaginable amount of time.

Talking about how bad the president has been really doesn't accomplish much. It might make you feel a whole hell of a lot better, but other than that it is virtually meaningless.

On the other hand we have our possible democratic candidate, Jerry Brown and Bill Clinton. I sincerely believe that Clinton will be the one to get the nomination. I agree with pretty much of his platform, his dubious relationship with the military notwithstanding.

But Clinton does not seem so much like a politician. He is too clear, too polished. His ideas just might work. I can't help thinking how his wife, Hillary, would be as a first lady. It might be the whole Nancy Reagan syndrome again. She is a very smart lady, and I'm sure she just might be the edge the Clinton needs to pull off enough votes.

This brings us to Jerry Brown. I agree with everything he says, except for his stand on capital punishment. He is totally against it. Ok, so Jerry does have his faults. Personally, I'd like to see Mr. Brown get the nomination.

Well, if you've been watching "Nightline" last week, Jerry is having his problems. A cop who used to be the ex-governor's staff claimed that Brown's house was host to a party where drugs were available. It was established that Brown was not there at the time. It seems kind of minor, but when it's an election year, a scandal seems to be the sound of your door. Whether you like Bill Clinton or Jerry Brown or even an independent, above all send a message to President Bush. Are you better off than you were four years ago?

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editors. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved.

It's Time To Shape Up For Health, Wellness Week

PHOTO BY BRIAN

District residents can learn how to eliminate self-imposed barriers that prevent them from making and accepting change by attending one of the many seminars during Harper College's 8th annual Wellness Week. On April 21 at 7:30 a.m. in the dining room, Mary Jane Mapes will teach strategies on how to bring about change in your life. Breakfast included, this program requires a $5.00 fee and registration with Health Services, A342.

All other programs scheduled throughout the day and evening are free and open to the public, including Harper's 19th annual Health Fair on Wednesday, April 22. The fair will be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

At 12 noon, April 21, Jeanne Ogden leads the Cardio Funk Aerobics in A240. It's a combination of high and low impact aerobics with stress dancing set to the music of the top 40.

Therapeutic sports can seek themselves. "Am I normal?" "What is normal?" Answer 10 questions to determine "Your Q of Normalcy." A Check-Up From The Neck Up" in A315.

and Thursday, April 23 in A241

At 6 p.m. in A315, explore male and female roles in two seminars. There will be a lecture and experiential workshop, "Struggling with Relationships: Male and Female Perspectives," that will give participants an opportunity to examine their relationships and the effects of gender roles. Another seminar will then focus on male and female differences in verbal and nonverbal communication and how they relate to social roles and relationships in a presentation, "Body Language, Verbal Politics, Power and Sex" at 7:45 p.m. in A241.

Wednesday, April 22, is a special day during Wellness Week. At 8:30 a.m. in A242, Dr. Michael Greenberg will emphasize self-discovery and self-expression in "A Journey into Healing Ourselves," he will distribute free copies of his book, "Who the Federal? Transcending the Business of Medicine."

The Health Fair will be in the Student Center of A Building from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will feature exhibits, information and free testing services including: computer body fat analysis, blood pressure screening, visual acuity and glaucoma screening, spinal screening, carpal tunnel screening, pulse oximetry, lung function testing, fingerprint and glucose disbetes screening, oral cancer screening, body composition analysis, blood typing, etc.

A listening room will be available for $1 and a non-fasting fingerstick total cholesterol screening will be available for a $5 fee. Northwestern Community Hospital will also be on campus on Wednesday from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. which includes: cholesterol and complex blood count and helps screen for heart disease, diabetes, liver problems, kidney disease, anemia and rheumatoid problems. This test requires a twelve-hour fast and costs $25. Appointments can be made by calling 573-3000, ext. 2268.

April 22 and Earth Day. Earth Day tee-shirts will be sold at the Health Fair and two special programs will be presented. At 1:15 p.m. in A242, it will discuss what causes indoor air pollution, how it affects individuals and how it can be prevented. Tips will be given for preventing and minimizing environmental damage in her program, "Making a Difference in the World Around You—Environmental Stewards," at 3 p.m. in A242. It will emphasize the new three R's—reduce, reuse, recycle.

The proceeds from the tee-shirt sale will support the Environmental Conference on May 8-9 here at Harper College in J & L Building. The conference is free and will consist of 661 workshops and table displays on "Education Leading to Action Grassroots Organization." The workshops will include topics on endangered species, recycling, etc.

District community members are being encouraged by the Harbinger Club to get involved by leading their own workshops on environmental issues of their own choice. If interested contact Lisa Smith, 12244.

Many people today are choosing a vegetarian lifestyle. On Wednesday in room in A242, Moonakshi Rammechan, chief research dietitian at Northwestern Memorial Hospital, will discuss "Basic Nutrition Vegetarian Style" and how to plan a healthy vegetarian diet.

Migraines, cluster headaches and muscle contraction headaches impair one's ability to function. In "Oh, My Aching Head" at 7:45 p.m. in A315, Dr. Fred Freitag will cover the major causes of headaches including information on symptoms, treatment and where to go for help.

Do you dread the start of hayfever season? Bring your questions about allergies, asthma, prescriptions and over-the-counter medications in "Wheezing and Sneezing" at 10:15 a.m. in A242 on Thursday, April 23. Dr. Robert Hart, an allergist, will discuss myths and misconceptions of allergies.

The bookbore is connected to the funny bone! Discover new ways to make humor work for better communications, productivity and morale in "Laughing Your Life with Laughter" with Wayne Tapprock at 1:15 p.m. in A242.

"Love you?" "You're the first?" "You're the only one?" What lies do men and women tell each other about sex and to get what they want out of a date? "Sex, Love and Videotapes: Loving in the '90s" presented by the Harper College Student Development faculty, will explore the changing sexual times of the '90s at 6 p.m. in A242.

These are only a few of the 36 different programs being presented during the annual Wellness Week. Participate in and enjoy these activities and explore the physical, mental and emotional aspects of wellness. Pick up a Wellness Week brochure or flyer at the Information Booth in A Building, the Health Service (A362), division offices and in brochure racks located throughout the campus.

Harper News Brief

Early Registration For Summer, Fall Terms Happening Now

HARPER PRESS RELEASE

Early registration for current and past students enrolling in summer or fall semester courses is coming soon. For assistance with your educational planning see counselors in Student Development now. Counselors are available in 1-117 and D-142 from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 4:30 p.m. through 8 p.m. in 1-117.

Day time students will register during the day by appointment only. Appointment cards will be available in A213.

Computer terminals will be open for daytime registration by appointment only, on April 27, 28, 29 and May 6 approximately, and May 4, 5, 6 and 7 for fall only.

Registration for evening students will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on April 27 and 28 for summer only and May 4 and 5 for fall only. No appointment card is needed.

MUSICIANS HANDBOOK '92

Take the First Step to Getting Signed....

CONTACT:

Major Record Labels, Publishers, Clubs, Promoters, Managers, Studios, Distributors, Nationwide

Send $15.00 (check or money order) to:

A & R RECORD GUIDE
P.O. Box 9841
Los Angeles, CA 90009

Have a comment or concern?
Write a Letter to the Editor

The Harbinger

Palatine Illinois

April 16, 1992

Harbinger to hire new Editor in Chief

Applications for Editor and Chief are now being accepted for the Fall 1992 semester. If you are interested please contact the Student activities office.

Hail Storm pelts campus

News Editor position open

Applications are available in the Harbinger office Position is open for this semester

FEATURES

The Morningstar, April 16, 1992

Brenner talks on comedy

ALISA CHIMLINO
Humboldt State Writer

Twenty years ago, unknown comedian David Brenner auditioned for the "Tonight Show."

"I auditioned cold, absolutely cold," Brenner said. "I went up on the stage and had eight minutes to perform in front of a small group of very nervous performers, their managers and agents and a group from the 'Tonight Show' in a little theater on the west side of New York."

That fateful night led to overnight success. "I did the 'Tonight Show' and the next day I had $10,000 worth of job offers," Brenner said.

He said some people are confused about the role of comedians. "Comedians are the funny poets of society," Brenner said.

"They're supposed to have things to say with-out delivering messages. I believe you should go to Western Union if you want to send a message."

Brenner called comedy an outlet that lets people laugh and escape problems. "There are so many comedians because there are so many problems," Brenner said.

"There's always been a correlation between comedy and the tragedy of society. The worst times need the more people needed a professional to come in and make them feel better."

"I hope one day I will be unemployed and so will all the other comedians. But that's a stupid outlook."

Brenner said comedy is not always funny. "Comedy can be very boring," Brenner said.

"One of the worst discussions in the world would be four comedians sitting on a television panel discussing comedy. It's supposed to be a natural thing."

"Comedy is wonderful," Brenner said. "It's not something I really do, it's something I am. It's a genius thing. You're just funny. You're born funny."

"Nowadays, you can almost take a college course in humor. But it's not really valid because you're supposed to have it made up of you. It's something you don't learn, although you can fake it today," he said.

added. "But the real pure ones are the ones who were funny from the time they were two years old."

Brenner crossed his popularity in part to the lack of vulgarity in his material. "I know working clean helps a lot," Brenner said. "I'm not sure why I can go on 'Armenio Hall' and blow that audience apart and three weeks later go on 'Late Show' and do the same thing. And then go on 'Carson'..."

"I was once the most-used substitute host for Johnny Carson," Brenner said. "I've been on the show 150 times. (Now that Carson is retiring), I think Jay Leno is going to have to make his own show out of it. I think he can and I hope he will. I think there's a room for everybody. I'd do them all. Whoever's there, I'm sitting there. That's why I've been on television so much. I do everybody's show."

Brenner also performs at comedy clubs and colleges. "I went into a comedy club for a week and to colleges," Brenner said. "It was a brand new one. They asked me to come in and help kick it off so they could start off on a real good foot... There I am in my jeans, whaling away like a jazz musician who comes from playing a supper club and falls into a club up in Harlem where other musicians come up and just jam."

Brenner said business professionals don't believe people can transfer from one creative field to another. Brenner proved them wrong. He was an award-winning writer/producer/producer of 115 documentary films with CBS's World News Tonight, Broadway and Men and Women Broadcasting.

His 1990 exercise video "The 11 Minute To Work Out Workout" won praise from video and exercise critics. He is the author of four popular humor books: "Six Friends With Mustard," "Revenge Is the Best Excuse," "Nobody Ever Sees You Eat Tuna Fish" and "If God Wanted Us To Travel."

Brenner also received awards for "Male Comedy Star of the Year," "Best Comedian Headliner - Atlantic City" and "College Comedian of the Year."

Brenner will perform at Harper College on Friday, May 1, at 8 p.m. in Building M. Tickets are $15 for the public, and $12 for Harper students and senior citizens.

This exclusive Chicago-based engagement is sponsored by Harper College and Zanes Comedy Night Club. Call the box office at ext. 2547 for more information.

"I did the tonight show and the next day I had $10,000 worth of job offers," Brenner.

CHANGE THE COURSE OF YOUR SUMMER

ELMHURST COLLEGE

SUMMER TERM BEGINS JUNE 8

- Day, Evening and Saturday Classes
- 23 Majors, more than 160 Courses
- 4-, 6-, and 8-Week Sessions

For more information return the coupon below or call (708) 617-3400

Please send me an Elmhurst College Summer Bulletin

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
School currently attending _____

Office of Enrollment Development
190 Prospect Avenue, Elmhurst, IL 60126-3296

YOUR DEGREE COULD BE CLOSER THAN YOU THINK.

Roosevelt University's Arlington Heights Campus requires fewer hours for graduation -- traveling hours, that is. Not only do those hours add up, but so does the money you save, because you can live at home. What's more, our accommodating mix of week-day, weekend and evening classes permits you to make money, working part time or even full time. Each semester more than 2,500 students enjoy these advantages while pursuing a degree at Roosevelt. You can earn your bachelor's or master's degree entirely at our Albert A. Robin Campus in a variety of subject areas including Business Administration, Education, English, Public Administration and History. So when you consider which four-year university to attend, remember you can go a long way further in your education when you don't have to go a long way to your campus.

A Roosevelt counselor will be visiting your campus today in the A Lounge, and Monday, May 4 in the J Lounge from 1:00-4:00 p.m.

Roosevelt University

A Force in Chicago's Past - A Leader in Chicago's Future

Albert A. Robin Campus

2015 Griebert Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005 • (708) 437-6700

Downtown Campus • 425 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60605 • (312) 341-2980

Roosevelt University

Albert A. Robin Campus • 2015 Griebert Road, Arlington Heights, IL 60005
Please send me further information and a schedule of classes. I am considering attending at Roosevelt in _____ Fall _____ Spring _____ Summer _____

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____
DAYTIME PHONE _____

Teenline volunteers talk it out

Regular student Mike Zuker and volunteer Gina DeBacco

Juan Muz
Humboldt State Writer

TEEN-LINE is one of three age-appropriate help lines under Talkline Help Lines. Originally called Talkline/Kids Line, Talkline's mission is to help callers to help themselves, so the volunteers do not give advice. Volunteers use communication and reflective listening skills to encourage callers to talk over their feelings and frustrations and go on from there to problem solving. Once a person has expressed feelings out loud, it is easier for the person to take control and decide what to do next.

Talkline volunteers provide emotional support and problem solving help for the cost of a local phone call on TEEN-LINE, 228-TEEN, or TALKLINE for adults, 228-6400. If people need to talk, trained volunteers provide emotional and are available to help 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

European experiences broaden students' horizons

Honey Chapman, Dean of Liberal Arts, Janet Friend-Westney, Martin Ryan and Ina Siegen

Photo By John Callahan

When M. TAAHAR
Harbinger Staff Writer

What better way to form friendships across the continents than to study abroad?

Harper College has been an member of the Illinois Consortium for International Studies and Programs (ICISIP) for five years now.

Harper usually sends three or five students per semester to study at Chest Church College in Canterbury, England, or at Salzburg College in Salzburg, Austria and is currently getting faculty and administrators involved.

Currently, a new program of faculty and administrative exchanges with the Cheshire Consortium is

Palatine woman compiles recipes of the rich and famous

ALDENSHIA YORK-WHISHT
Harbinger Features Editor

Have you ever wanted to know what Brooke Shields or Phil Crane eat for breakfast?

Palatine resident Nancy Huggins has compiled two cookbooks.

One includes the recipes of stars and the other has politicians' recipes. Last March, Huggins wrote to more than 500 celebrities and politicians to put together two fundraising cookbooks. She donated part of the profits to local animal shelters and the homeless.

Recently Huggins and her daughter Nettie, 12, published the books.

"I did not want to get a publisher involved like my friends had. I wanted to do it all on my own," Huggins said. The celebrities' cookbook has 35 recipes and the politician version has 15 recipes.

"There have always wanted to have a cookbook with the recipes of famous stars and politicians," Huggins said. Huggins has included recipes from Robin Leach, Johnny Cash and Bob Dole.

But she has not stopped there. She has established Famous Celebrity Hotline, 1-900-776-5653, where callers can listen to Robin Leach. During this three-minute rotation, Leach tells about the publications and then informs listeners how they can get the books.

Aside from publishing the cookbooks, Huggins, 50, is always on the go. She teaches ceramics and is a public speaker.

underway, it includes Scotland, Ireland and England.

Martin Ryan, professor of English, International Studies coordinator and ICISIP board of governors and executive committee member helped create this program.

In May, Michael Brown, Professor of Art, will go to Great Britain as an exchange faculty member for two weeks.

In August, British administrators will return to Illinois Colleges during a mini-sabbatical.

In March, Ina Siegen, director and founder of Salzburg College, was Harper's special guest.

She periodically visits member institutions to discuss the Salzburg program.

Her knowledge of European art & history has inspired me and many other students tremendously since she founded the college 21 years ago.

The annual Germany field trip is considered to be an integral part of the academic program.

I got to hear lectures, attend briefings and learn German on the bus as well as experience typical "sightseeing."

The field trip also gave me a chance to introduce myself to other students and think about housing arrangements.

Required classes are Austrian civilization, German, East-West relations (Political Science), music appreciation or art history (taught by Ina Siegen) plus many other op-portional classes like Austrian culture, folk dancing, skiing, and photography.

I enjoyed my classes tremendously and did not expect to learn as much as I did.

The Austrian instructors were very knowledgeable in their subjects; they made sure the students understood the material by terminating the students to ask questions.

Learning about the 600 years of ruling under the Habsburgs' empire and Mozart's life was very interesting.

During spring break we went on a five-day field trip to Vienna where we got to see the Habsburgs' palace, Schonbrunn, and the residence of Mozart when he resided there.

On the way to Vienna, we stopped for a guided tour through beautiful Baroque mansions and visited Mauthausen, the former concentration camp.

From there we continued down the Wachau Danube Valley where the night was more relaxed.

The first day in Vienna, we walked on the cobblestoned streets to see musical artists playing their violins and flutes.

The pastry shops and smoked filled coffee shops were filled with artists.

My intent in sharing my thoughts and feelings about the program.

I want to let the students at Harper know that this opportunity awaits them.

If money is a concern (as it was mine) believe me, it's possible. Harper has available three $500 scholarships, and with a strict savings plan, you can do it!

Remember too, banks are eager to make loans.

It is not possible for students to study in Canterbury, England, at Christ Church to experience a different culture, and you don't need to learn German!

This program is less expensive than the Salzburg Program.

Martin Ryan agrees that the success of these programs will benefit the students, faculty and administrators in a positive way.

It will develop more global awareness, appreciation of other cultures, and establish better relationships between our countries.

Stop by Building 1 for a brochure containing more information. Applications for the 1992 fall term are due May 1.

Janet Friend Westney, Associate Professor student development, will discuss credited classes with interested students.

The following are requirements for the program.

1. 15 credit hours with a min. 2.75 GPA at Harper College
2. An appointment with Janet Friend Westney (ext. 2322, 1117) or Frances Brantley (ext. 2393, D142) for program information and application packet.
3. Attend study abroad information meeting for details.
4. Submit application to Bruce Bohrer, dir. of adm., C101.
5. Register for classes with a special registration session with Janet Friend Westney.

IMPROVE THE HEALTH OF YOUR FINANCES

You could earn an extra income, part time, as a nurse in the Army Reserve. Service required is usually only one weekend a month plus two weeks Annual Training.

In return, you'll enjoy excellent pay, financial aid for continuing education, benefits and the respect that comes with being an officer in the Army Reserve.

If you're in more ways than one in the need, contributing member of the Army Reserve Health Care Team, with the responsibility and respect you deserve.

Think about it. Then think about us. Then call:

(312) 243-9327

BE ALL YOU CAN BE. ARMY RESERVE

Blues & Rock Nightclub

20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
MARCH
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM

Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage. Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied. JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS. Call the club for details.

BALLOON DROP WITH CASH PRIZES

Every Week During Band Night!

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS

5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon. Thu. Thurs. FRIDAY. ONE SHOW ONLY. 5:30 TO 8PM

Check Out Our Huge Game Room

3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts

MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50

TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50

THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

COLLEGE NIGHT

LADIES SPECIAL

Any Lady In A Miniskirt GETS IN FREE

During Band Nights With This Coupon

Nothing to bark at Big Guitars give Harper free concert

CHRISTOPHER GARCIA
Harbinger Staff Writer

Here they are and they're back to haunt. Can the Canadian super-industrial power trio consisting of Devin Key, Nivek Ogre and Dwayne Rodolph Green still make a racket? Skyny Puppy has been around for over eight years and has produced nine albums to date on their label, Nettwerk.

Last Rights, Skyny Puppy's latest offering, followed 1990's Too Dark Park and 1991's video album, Nin's it dead yet?

There is something very curious on the CD version. While playing track one, track two starts with about 40 seconds left. I don't know if this was an intention of the band or what, but it's annoying as hell. Also, the CD notes there are eleven songs, but there is no track ten.

This album in my opinion, suffers from too much noise. I am a Skyny Puppy fan, but this album just isn't up to my expectations. Just about all of Too Dark Park songs stick to your mind. Last Rights has only two songs that are somewhat catchy: Inquisition and Killing Game. Again, even though it is labeled as track five, Inquisition comes in during the last 40 seconds of track four. It is also the only danceable (that's dancing, not moshing) song on this album—even though Skyny Puppy as a rule generally isn't danceable. Killing Game is their most recent song and the vocals aren't as distorted as they normally are, but they do add some good guitar riffs.

What does Skyny Puppy sound like? That's hard to describe.

The vocals by Nivek Ogre are distorted and are meant to scare. They use a large amount of samples in the music and alter it to their liking. For instance, in the beginning of Rivers End, it contains a sample of James Brown's scream, but listen carefully, otherwise you'll miss it.

The music is considered to be industrial—but watch out! They have mixes with Front 242's Nature Ebb. Skyny Puppy also has a few side projects as Ministry does. Check out the bands Cyberactif, Hill and Doubling Thomas.

If you are sincerely interested in the Puppies and never heard them before, don't go with Last Rights. Go with 1990's Rabies instead. It is much easier to digest. Rabies had the great songs, Tin Ovens and Warlock, which were unlike their previous material. Last Rights is decent but it just doesn't cut it—too much noise and little substance. Not much else can be said of this album.

RATING: **1/2 out of 5

Harper College presents Big Guitars from Memphis at free noontime concert, Wednesday, May 6, in Building A.

Big Guitars from Memphis, a Chicago band, headlines the Harper College Ice Cream Social being held on the Palatine campus, May 6 at 6 p.m.

Probably one of the only country bands with a former rocker and a former opera singer, Big Guitars from Memphis offers its audience boot stomping, rip rocking country, both classic and original. The group has opened for Dwight Yoakam, Crystal Gayle, Buck Owens, Johnny Cash and many others.

Appearing with the Big Guitars is the country duo Texas Rubies, known for their idiosyncratic brand of music with a twist—humorous on-stage banter with playful lyrics.

The free concert begins at 12 noon, outside Building A, Algonquin and Roselle Roads, Palatine. For more information on Big Guitars from Memphis, please call Student Activities, 708/597-3883, extension 2242.

HAWAIIAN MO'ILI

Caribbean Carnival Thursdays

The Big Kahuna is going Jamaican every Thursday Night. We call it the Caribbean Carnival. And it includes an evening of live reggae music, a lavish Jamaican buffet and prize giveaways. Register to win gifts. And Thursday, April 30th, you can register to win a trip for two to Jamaica. So come out for the fun. The buffet starts at 5:00 pm and the band at 7:30 pm. We'll see you there, man.

708 Algonquin Rd. or Call
Katherine Wright 708-439-4594

PRO
The Big Kahuna

WE OFFER MORE...

WHEN YOU BECOME A DAILY
HERALD FIELD SALES REPRESENTATIVE.

*GUARANTEED TRAINING AT
$10.00 PER HOUR

- Bonus/Incentive Programs
- Flexible Hours - 9-18 Hours Per Week, You Decide!
- Casual Dress Code
- Transportation Provided From Our Rolling Meadows Or Schaumburg Offices.

If you enjoy making extra money in your spare time, then don't delay, CALL TODAY!

Kirk Bole
870-3471
Rolling Meadows
12 - 4 p.m.

Earl West
870-3470
Schaumburg
12 - 4 p.m.

Backdraft burns with effects

Erik Korman
A & E Editor

All Harper students are more or less on a college budget. Thus, paired with the fact that going to see a film at the theater requires a second mortgage on payment, helps to understand the increasing popularity of renting movies. For chains such as Blockbuster and West Coast video, business is booming. Keeping this in mind, I felt students would benefit from reviews of recent video releases, as opposed to just reviewing theater releases.

Just released is the movie Backdraft, directed by Ron Howard. The movie revolves around a series of fires, and the relationship between two sibling firefighters. The aggressive, dedicated firefighter is played by Kurt Russell, and the somewhat more apprehensive younger brother is played by William Baldwin. Robert DeNiro acts as the arson inspector, and Donald Sutherland is a deranged criminal who assists in the crime-solving.

Constantly this movie does not lack a fully talented group of performers, although newcomer William Baldwin establishes himself as an actor whose ability rivals that of successful brother Alec. The acting was superb, and both Russell and Baldwin evoked sympathy and understanding for their characters. DeNiro is, as usual, spectacular in his part, yet not overbearing part.

The movie begins with the story of how the boys actually got involved into firefighting, and the storyline soon begins as an arson is suspected for a particularly nasty fire. Russell, a headstrong fire captain who loves danger and excitement, puts Baldwin under his command, attempting to conform him into a fearless fireman. Baldwin's character, however, is less than happy about actually fighting fires, and constantly questions exactly why he followed the course in life he did.

Thickening the plot is the recurring occurrence of strangely set fires, which have been set so as to cause a backdraft. This means that the fire isn't noticeable until the moment it is visible. Baldwin seeks information from Sutherland, who is a deranged ex-arson. Fascinated by fire, Sutherland paints a vivid image of fire and it's miraculous, potency. Evidence begins to gather against Russell, which alternately puts brother against brother as the unknown unravels. Is he guilty? I take it from me to reveal the gist of the movie.

Many have marveled at the incredible job Howard did with the directing of this film. Although the image is not the same as viewing on a full sized screen, Backdraft's effects were positively stunning. Everything from the camera angles to the smoke and flames gave you the impression of being right alongside these firemen. The action was continuous, and there was much insight into the actual lifestyles of these heroes. An extremely potent film, maybe it will grant firefighters the respect they deserve.

Backdraft a movie that will move and entice you. It is far more entertaining than you might at first think. Brilliantly filmed and acted, it puts you dead center in the middle of the excitement. A definite thumbs up.

Is it finals week yet?!

PAYING FOR COLLEGE?? LET US HELP YOU!!

Each year millions of dollars are made available to college students based upon their individual profile without regard to personal income or grade point average.

LET US LOCATE YOUR SHARE OF THESE FUNDS!

For more information write to:
College Planning & Research Associates
853 N. Quentin Road, Suite 307-H
Palatine, IL 60067

Spring concert in works for Harper

Harper Press Release

The Harper College Festival Chorus, a non-profit community choral group, will present its annual spring concert, Sunday, May

3 at 7pm at Harper, Building M

Anthony V. Mostardo, will direct the 150 voices as they perform Kurt Weill's, "Down in the Valley," Ludwig Van Beethoven's "Choral Fantasy," Opus 80" and "Choral Finale to the Ninth Symphony."

Advanced tickets are $10, $12 at the door, and $8 for senior citizens and students. Call the Box Office at 708/397-3000, extension 2547.

Harper cafeteria filled with rap

Members of 4 PM take time for a game of pool during a recent visit of Harper. Pictured from left to right are Carlos Rascal, Brian Shaver, WHCM Music Director, Bill Butt, Bob Bells, WHCM Program Director and Spike Dripps.

Main Street

by Erik Korman

A Chicago white rap group, 4 PM (4 Pale Males), will perform Thursday, April 30, in the cafeteria during a "celebration" to the graduates' party sponsored by John Castro of Tri-R Vending Services and hosted by Brian Shaver.

4 PM consists of childhood friends and founders Mike G. (Mike Gutierrez) and Spike (Matthew Radwanski), and dancer Ruff Raff (Jimmy Scott) and Big Game (John Newman). Carlos Rascal is the DJ for the group. 4 PM's album, "Jackin' Boots on Rhythmic Records" was produced by Richard Perry and Farrelly "Jackmaster" Funk.

The group's lyrics are written by Spike and Mike G. Song titles include "She's in There," "Gonna You What You Like," "Don't Trust A Big Butt," and "Sherril She's Gonna Do It."

tonight

The group has played in places like the Avalon and Esvallbar, and recently opened for Marky Mark at a show at the Riviera before an audience of 3500.

"We had actually, if not a good, better explanation than Marky got," said Spike. They have also performed in Dayton.

Recently they have appeared on such shows as the Jimmy Kimmel Show and Chicago Today, and they have already worked on one video. They're currently working on an other video, "Don't Trust A Big Butt," and are seeking females to appear in it.

The group comes from Calumet City, in the south part of Chicago.

The band has been compared to other white rap artists, who claim to come from harsh upbringings. "We're not like Vanilla Ice and Marky. It really is the truth," said Spike.

One of 4 PM's goals is to promote the importance of safe sex. They have been distributing condoms at their shows and will also distribute them through radio stations and their CDs.

"We got the idea when we opened for Marky. Girls were throwing condoms with their phone numbers on them at us on stage," said Ruff Raff.

The Sagami condom company will be sponsoring the condom distribution and 4 PM will be appearing in a television commercial, promoting safe sex and AIDS awareness.

The group will perform at the Argonne Ballroom April 29 at 6:30 p.m. It will be an all-ages show, also including performances by L'Arc en Ciel, Angelica, NC, Beans, the Troopers, Prince Akem and Legay.

SPEND 4 YEARS... EARN $25,000 FOR COLLEGE.

With the Montgomery GI Bill Plus the Army College Fund, you could earn $25,000 for college for your 4-year enlistment—or $17,000 after only 2 years.

And you don't have to pay that money back. The Army will also give you the self-confidence, maturity and leadership skills that will help you succeed in college and in life.

It's a good deal. Talk it over with your Army Recruiter.

(708) 893-7550

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Free Pregnancy Testing Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24-hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris
Pregnancy
Center

708/885-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

[illegible]

Dawn Reardon

Editors note: No ticket fines benefit Harper College.

Dear Editor:

When I read the commentary, on whether or not Harper should allow a Gay and Lesbian club. I repressed my desire to write a responding letter, and laughed it off as a pathetic show of ignorance. Now, in reading Jason Feinstein's latest commentary titled "Should Gays Be Allowed To Serve Their Country?" I see that he is not only painfully ignorant of information, but completely lost in stupidity.

Fernstein stated in both commentaries that he "just doesn't approve of that lifestyle." May I ask Jason exactly what he knows of that lifestyle other than people who do not repress their sexual desires and who are not intimidated by products of our narrow-minded society such as himself. Jason, please save the AIDS accusations until you've checked the latest statistics. The homosexual community get their act together. Furthermore, lesbians have always been the lowest risk group.

Don't it embarrass you, Jackson, to state your opinions without anything to back them up. This is a quote of Feinstein's from the last commentary concerning homosexual acts in the military: "I can say absolutely that, in my opinion, it would be a detriment to the service, the government and her citizens." He stated this only to be backed up by the reasoning that you cannot 100% trust homosexuals.

Einstein expressed these two completely bigoted remarks without even a meager attempt to explain why. Obviously you don't know why you think these things, Jason, you are merely a spokesperson for the social conditioning that has worked on you oh so well.

But underlying this all, in my opinion, is Feminist's intense fear of his own base sexual tendencies, and of the gross intimidation he feels at the thought of 2 women giving cash for other sexual pleasure without the presence of a dominating male. In short, you are not only afraid and intimidated, but extremely bitter that others are strong-willed enough not to be affected by people such as yourself. Why else would you care so much about homosexual issue? I am sure my opinion bothers you which in my mind, only confirms

In closing, I have to state really disturbs me that the "commentary editor" of my college newspaper writes such asinine commentaries. This level of mentality was barely acceptable in high school.

Ena Dellar

OPINION

CREATURES OF THE COMPACT TRAIL

Turn as to the LEFT and
Harper

We will rock you
RIGHT... in fall 1992

College

[illegible]

Credentials

For the rest of your life.

That's what Olive Nazarene University can do for you. If you have the desire, you can earn a Bachelor's Degree in Resource Management in Human Resource Management in less than two years. That's 42 credit hours. The Olive Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management emphasizes the blending of theory into practice. You will learn how to hone and fine tune your current management skills. Your Olive Degree could be the credentials you need to advance your current career. Classes meet one night per week throughout Chikagoaland and at the Olive Campus in Kankakee. Also, you can complete the last 6 semester credit hours required. So talk to Olive Resource Management School of Science Degree in Human Resource Management.

CALL 1-800-7-O-L-I-V-E-T

Olivet
Nazarene University

Education with A Christian Purpose

Cambridge Educational Services
LSAT
GMAT
GRE
Call: (312) 201-8378

RAY
COLLEGE OF DESIGN
RAY • VOGUE

ART
DESIGN
FASHION

Right courses,
Right faculty,
Right time to transfer!

transfer up to 60 credits toward a Bachelor of Arts degree in a specialized major earned from professionals who are working in their creative fields. Start August 24. Summer classes start June 4. Phone or write for catalog. It's the right move for you!

ADVERTISING & GRAPHIC DESIGN
ILLUSTRATION ■ PHOTOGRAPHY
INTERIOR DESIGN ■ FASHION DESIGN
FASHION MARKETING & MANAGEMENT

Chicago Campus (312) 280-3500
401 N. Wabash Ave. Chicago, IL 60611
Woodfield Campus (708) 619-3450
1051 Perimeter Dr. Schaumburg, IL 60173

By Anthony Rubino, Jr.

Stuff We Think When The Alarm Goes Off

What to tell your professor when you blow off class

1. "A distant relative died, and I had to go to the funeral." —GOOD (But, be sure you make up the relative, because if you use a real person and that person dies than you'll feel really bad)
2. I was very very ill. —GOOD
3. "While off campus visiting my sick grandmother, I got a flat tire." —GOOD

What NOT to tell your professor when you blow off class

1. I susped — SAD (Not only will this create immediate suspicion, but it's a very difficult to prove.)
2. I was very very ill because I washed down a bottle of tequila with a bottle of vodka and spent most of the night projectile vomiting. — SAD (Too much detail.)
3. Your lectures are so boring they make me want to run from your classroom screaming "FIRE!" — SAD (Honest, but bad.)

Spencer Green

Wolfbane

What's New In Music?

Stay Alive--

Don't Drink
& Drive

A degree for people on the move.

If it's time to move on with your education, DeVry is the right move, right now. Because at DeVry, you learn hands-on, using the same equipment and methods today's companies use. And you learn from instructors with real-world experience.

A DeVry education prepares you for your choice of careers. You can go anywhere for big jobs—and succeed. Robert Fuller, Hewlett-Packard, 1988 DeVry Graduate.

Managing today's sailminds spend learners' time what worked at Davy or leading the team here at TAW. Nancy Krieger TAW 1980 Davy Graduate

I've worked my way up to the leading edge of business communications. My Dairy's on my resume was my biggest asset. Gary DeCrescenzo, Center Corporate 1984 Dairy Graduate

Deltry offers Bachelor's degree programs in electronics, computer and systems and technology related business. Day and evening classes are available. A transfer move... for more information, contact Deltry

U.S. Entry Institutes are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities.

Page 102

[illegible]

City CHICAGO CAMPUS DUPAGE CAM

3300 N. Campbell • Chicago, IL 60618

(312) 929-6550 (708) 933-2

.....

LEGAL PROBLEM?
WE HAVE A SOLUTION!

CALL THE
LAW OFFICES OF

JACOBSON & JACOBSON
(312) 346-9733
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 410
CHICAGO, IL 60606

*SUBURBAN LOCATIONS***

*FREE FIRST TIME CONSULTATION*

* FREE FIRST TIME CONSULTATION *
* LICENSED TO PRACTICE THROUGHOUT ILLINOIS *

For Sale

95

(212) 643-1400, Ext. 130

Harsh weather hampers Hawks home opener

Jim WALSH
HARBINGER STAFF WRITER

The Harper softball team (0-4) opened its home season on Monday, April 13, losing both ends of a doubleheader to Rock Valley (18-4) in 40-degree temperatures.

The first game began with some controversy, with Rock Valley's coach complaining of Hawks' pitcher Michelle Cichon of "crow hopping," or lifting her back foot off the ground before releasing the ball while pitching.

A point was made of the opposing pitcher doing the same thing, and any penalties were off.

Rock Valley scored one run in the first inning and two more in the third, then exploded for five runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh for a total of 11 runs in the game.

Harper's only run in that game came during the sixth inning, when after a walk out by Christy Mahal, Kris Kowalsky walked and advanced to third on a double by the pitcher, Michelle Cichon. Kowalsky then ran home on an RBI single off the bat of Hawk slugger Kelly O'Brien who was 3 for 6 on the day.

Michelle Cichon pitched two complete games and was 3-4 of the pitch.

In the second game, Harper's defense and two finally heated up in the first inning.

weather, but to no avail. The Hawks scored first in the opening inning when Michelle Cichon scored on a double by Kelly O'Brien who had an RBI in each game.

The Hawks' defense started working together, putting down the Rock Valley batters down in order during each of the first three innings.

Jennifer Karwoda, who plays third base and is the only second year member of the team, said, "We played a lot better, more aggressive in the second game."

After faltering to give up three straight runs in the fifth inning, Harper hit the ball extremely hard but directly at the defense and never was able to score again.

In the seventh inning, the defense sparked for the Hawks, beginning with a ball deflected off the pitcher and fielded by Kowalsky, who threw out the second batter of the inning.

On the final play of the Rock Valley seventh, Michelle Cichon, who pitched two complete games and won 3-4 of the game, pitched a ball to the plate, stumbled to her left and made a great play to save it.

In the process, though, she fell on her left knee, which had been surgically repaired and seemed to be in a great deal of pain. This would be a big loss for the Hawks of the seriously hurt, because she has been the starting pitcher every game this year, and is one of the team's best batters.

When Head Coach Tom Reimer was asked how she would react if her star player was badly hurt, her reaction was, "I'd pray."

It's tough so far for the team, having to forfeit its first two games due to lack of players and playing its last four games against tough opponents with more experience in frigid temperatures. Reimer says, "It's been hard getting started, but with time and experience, the team should find its rhythm together and have a successful season."

first two games due to lack of players and playing its last four games against tough opponents with more experience in frigid temperatures. Reimer says, "It's been hard getting started, but with time and experience, the team should find its rhythm together and have a successful season."

5th ward Hawks win intramural basketball crown

Press Release

The two best teams during the regular season met for the Intramural Basketball Championship. The 5th Ward Hawks met the challenge from The Players in a tightly contested final game with the Hawks grabbing a 74-66 victory.

The Players held slight leads throughout the first half of the game and went into the second half trailing by only 2 points. Small and Davis were on top of their game during this stage of the contest.

The Hawks, still recovering from their recently completed annual match earlier in the evening, were kept in the game by Larry Dennis who scored 13 first-half points.

The Hawks opened the second-half scoring the first 8 points and sending the hopes of The Players into a spin they could not recover from the rest of the evening.

Anthony Paul and Dennis chipped in with a combined 10 second-half points to keep the game well in hand for The Hawks.

Brad Coarman and Steve Murray played solid games for The Players in the losing effort.

The Hawks finished the season with a perfect 7-0 record while The Players ended up at 5-2, their only losses to The Hawks.

Sophomore pitcher Brandon Blithe should provide needed leadership on a young and talented team dominated by pitching and team speed, says Head Coach Norm Garrett.

Men's b-ball: Down but not out

Anthony KUCH
HARBINGER STAFF WRITER

Getting off to a slow start hasn't dented the confidence of Harper Head Basketball Coach Norm Garrett as he begins his second season at the helm.

A team of mostly freshmen, and a shortage of good weather, has equaled an 0-9 start for the Hawks. Most of the team's practice time has taken place in the indoor batting cage and on a gym floor. Garrett thinks his team's luck will change for the better as it gets more outdoor experience.

"Fielding a ground ball off of a wood floor is much different than on a field," he said.

On the teams recent 0-5 spring trip, the Hawks played teams who had already played 10 to 15 games, while the Hawks had only been outside a few times.

Freshman Second Baseman Tom Beyna and shortstop Mike Sowka are two key players Garrett hopes will have strong years.

"We'll count on them in more ways than one," he said.

Freshman pitchers P.J. McQuillen, Jason Perez, Mike Soper and Dave Haskins will be counted on to adjust to the college level while sophomores Rob Caci, Keith Cichon and Brandon Riche should provide leadership on the staff.

"Our strengths are pitching and team speed. We don't have a lot of power so we'll have to manufacture some runs to be successful," Garrett said.

Friends of Harper to sponsor baseball outing

An opportunity to enjoy an evening of food and baseball is coming up on Monday, May 18. Friends of Harper is sponsoring a night of "fun at the old ballpark" at this time, at the Kane County Cougars stadium in Geneva.

The Cougars are the Class A farm team of the Baltimore Orioles. During their premier season of 1991, they averaged over capacity crowds in the 3,000 seat facility. This winter 1,200 seats were added.

Good minor league baseball, an ample picnic area and the chance of seeing some rare or unusual events between innings makes this an attractive outing.

A $10 ticket gets you a reserved seat on the third base side and a picnic basket of a hamburger, potato salad, fruit and beverage. The food is prepared to suit your specifications on an outdoor grill.

This particular night the Cougars play the Boston Braves with the picnic at 6:00 and the game at 7:00.

Tickets are available at the box office in J Building. Make out checks to the Friends of Harper. Proceeds go to the Friend's scholarship in honor of Harper's Silver Anniversary.

1992 KANE COUNTY COUGARS BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Major League Affiliation: Baltimore Orioles - Game times and events subject to change

Home Games
Away Games

APRIL	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUGUST	SEPTEMBER
APR 13 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 14 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 15 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 16 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 17 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 18 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 19 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 20 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 21 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 22 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 23 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 24 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 25 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 26 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 27 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 28 (A) vs. Rock Valley APR 29 (H) vs. Rock Valley APR 30 (A) vs. Rock Valley	MAY 1 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 2 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 3 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 4 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 5 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 6 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 7 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 8 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 9 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 10 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 11 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 12 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 13 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 14 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 15 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 16 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 17 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 18 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 19 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 20 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 21 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 22 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 23 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 24 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 25 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 26 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 27 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 28 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 29 (H) vs. Rock Valley MAY 30 (A) vs. Rock Valley MAY 31 (H) vs. Rock Valley	JUNE 1 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 2 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 3 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 4 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 5 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 6 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 7 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 8 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 9 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 10 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 11 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 12 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 13 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 14 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 15 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 16 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 17 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 18 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 19 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 20 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 21 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 22 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 23 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 24 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 25 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 26 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 27 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 28 (A) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 29 (H) vs. Rock Valley JUNE 30 (A) vs. Rock Valley	JULY 1 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 2 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 3 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 4 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 5 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 6 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 7 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 8 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 9 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 10 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 11 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 12 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 13 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 14 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 15 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 16 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 17 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 18 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 19 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 20 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 21 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 22 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 23 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 24 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 25 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 26 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 27 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 28 (A) vs. Rock Valley JULY 29 (H) vs. Rock Valley JULY 30 (A) vs. Rock Valley	AUGUST 1 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 2 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 3 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 4 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 5 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 6 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 7 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 8 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 9 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 10 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 11 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 12 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 13 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 14 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 15 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 16 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 17 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 18 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 19 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 20 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 21 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 22 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 23 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 24 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 25 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 26 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 27 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 28 (A) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 29 (H) vs. Rock Valley AUGUST 30 (A) vs. Rock Valley	SEPTEMBER 1 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 2 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 3 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 4 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 5 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 6 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 7 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 8 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 9 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 10 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 11 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 12 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 13 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 14 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 15 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 16 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 17 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 18 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 19 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 20 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 21 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 22 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 23 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 24 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 25 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 26 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 27 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 28 (A) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 29 (H) vs. Rock Valley SEPTEMBER 30 (A) vs. Rock Valley

HARBINGER SPORTS

Soccer Returns!

Bo Kasz
Harbinger Sports Editor

Harper College will once again have a soccer team.

The wheels are already in motion as Harper officials begin scrambling to prepare for the upcoming fall season.

Athletic Director Roger Bechtold announced that meetings have been set with field and facilities managers to discuss possible field locations.

For the first time, soccer will have it's own facilities including a brand new field. None of Harper's existing athletic programs will be shortchanged by adding another sport. "New money has been allocated in the upcoming budget for soccer," Bechtold said.

Bechtold also stated that the search for a new soccer coach is already under way and that one will be named shortly.

Recently, The Harbinger did a story on the possibility of reinstating the soccer program. At the time of that story it was pointed out that area high schools were rich in soccer talent and could feed Harper with many quality players.

Harper students will get a chance to see some of that talent this fall.

Call the Shots

BY BO KASZ

Soccer fans rejoice!

Soccer has returned to Harper College and I for one couldn't be happier.

Now that I'm a big soccer fan, but it's good to see this school bring back a sport that has a lot of local interest. It's good for the school's image and it's great for Harper soccer fans.

I was also glad to hear that none of Harper's other athletic programs will suffer financially due to the addition of another sport.

The budgetary restraints these programs have to deal with now are tough enough as it is.

These financial handicuffs have forced some coaches to spend some of their own money on basic equipment that they really can't do without. This seemed ridiculous to me at first, but it pointed out two important facts.

First, Harper is a community college and being so means not having the huge athletic budgets of a four-year school such as DePaul or Illinois. These monetary restraints, coupled with no athletic scholarships, are sad but true facts that I don't feel will ever change.

Second, and most importantly, it proves to me that these coaches are extremely dedicated and really care about their teams and their players.

It would be easy to blame defeats due to poor field conditions or lack of equipment, but you won't hear any of that from these devoted leaders.

In previous discussions with these coaches, I was told that these problems were not the reason for any losses and they never will be.

I admire that.

Maybe at Harper's next budget meeting they could muster up some more new money to revamp the existing sports programs and make life a little easier on the coaches and the players.

It would certainly be worth the effort.

Harper track and field results: Chicago Metro

Event	Name	Performance	Place
5000m	Mike Mishra	17:19
1500m	Ty Gorman	4:14.5
1500m	Rob Onghen	4:14.68
1500m	Roger Gomez	4:16.84
1500m	Ed Callerton	4:19
800m	Ed Callerton	2:04
800m	Rob Onghen	2:04.19
400m	Doug Taber	52.47
400m hurdles	Keith Smith	61.1	9th
200m	Marcus Moten	24.72
100m	Marcus Moten	12.3
100m	Ralph Gardner	11.8
4x100m relay	Freddie Uribe	45.45
4x100m relay	Marcus Moten	45.45
4x100m relay	Doug Taber	45.45
4x100m relay	Ralph Gardner	45.45
110m HH	Keith Smith	17.68
Javelin	Chip Hoffmann	162'10.5"	4th
Shot Put	Sal Saccomanno	87'
Discus	Chip Hoffmann	126'
4x400m relay	Keith Smith	3:34.5
4x400m relay	Steve Danza	3:34.5
4x400m relay	Doug Taber	3:34.5
4x400m relay	Ralph Gardner	3:34.5

Event	Name	Performance	Place
5000m	Lisa Smith	23:41	9th
3000m	Melinda Neuhauer	12:10.42
1500m	Denise Krause	5:46.44
1500m	Melinda Neuhauer	5:42.25
1500m	Janay Vogel	5:59
800m	Denise Krause	2:52.7
800m	Magda Tamas	2:25.56	6th
400m	Darby Newman	69.56
400m	Lynette Novy	68.94
400m hurdles	Magda Tamas	70.06	1st
200m	Erin Hanley	30.6
200m	Lisa Malenowski	30.8
100mH	Erin Hanley	18.08
Javelin	Erin Turner	99.6'	5th
Shot Put	Lynette Novy	21'10"
Hammer	Lynette Novy	80'10"	1st

Madding, Bass lead Hawks in tennis triumph over DuPage

Bo Kasz
Harbinger Sports Editor

The Harper College men's tennis team was victorious Thursday in the first home match of the 92 season.

The Hawks defeated seventh-ranked College of DuPage by winning six out of nine matches, raising their season record to 3-0.

Frank Tyti, Chris Madding, Steve Bass and Tom Friedman pointed wins in singles action, with Madding and Friedman capturing straight-set victories.

In doubles play, Madding combined with Steve Dittman and Bass teamed with Justin Eggstaff to record two more wins without losing a set. "It was a total team effort," said Head Coach Roger King, who used eight different players in the match.

According to King, DuPage, Rock Valley and Illinois Valley are the teams to beat this year.

But with the victory over DuPage, King says, "We're definitely in the driver's seat."

The Hawks' next home match will be April 18.

Check out
Sports
Extra:
Page 11

News

Fall '92 Tuition Increase

When Fall arrives, all Harper students will have to dig deeper in their pockets to pay for tuition.

Below

Opinion

Powerful Pornos

Are movie makers who sell obscene content a violent act after watching their films? One student explains why they shouldn't.

Page 3

Sports

Bo Knows Sports

What can be done to further Harper's athletic program? Sports editor Bo Kiser gives his point of view.

Page 8

THE HARPER

Palatine, Illinois

April 23, 1992

Student Newspaper at William Rainey Harper College

Students: DUI laws are weak

Recent Harper survey shows need for tougher laws, higher scrutiny of public officials

Percentage of Respondents Agreeing with the Statements

See Chicago
Rosa Martin
Hortinger Guest Writers

Penalties in Illinois for refusal to take blood alcohol tests in suspected driving under the influence situations should be more severe.

That is the opinion of 80 percent of the respondents to a survey conducted by journalism students at Harper College in Palatine, Ill. Sixty-eight percent of the respondents in the same survey think public officials, law very and judges should be held to a higher standard than the general public for refusal to take blood alcohol tests when stopped in suspected DUI situations.

The survey consisted of five questions answered by 25 respondents picked at random. It was conducted on Monday, April 20. Respondents included students, staff and faculty.

The recent arrest of the Palatine Village Attorney Thomas R. Barry prompted the survey. Reports in the Daily Herald indicated Barrington police arrested the lawyer and charged him with marijuana possession and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Barney refused to make the blood alcohol tests. Some Palatine village trustees subsequently expressed a show of support for the attorney, according to the Daily Herald reports.

The journalism students decided to ask the Harper community's opinion about the Illinois law concerning driving under the influence of alcohol and drugs.

Seventy-seven percent of the students in the survey think lawyers, judges and public officials should be held to a higher standard when involved as the accused in DUI situations.

The overall results of the survey indicated that the respondents think Illinois laws pertaining to drunk driving are not effective. And an overwhelming majority, 84 percent, think the behavior of public officials sets an example, good or bad, for the general public.

Scientific illiteracy a growing problem

Press Release

Press media contributes to scientific illiteracy in the United States. Recent studies and surveys have indicated that only 6% of Americans are scientifically literate, falling far behind a dozen other industrialized nations.

Nine out of ten citizens lack the scientific literacy to even understand and participate in the formulation of public policy or to vote on the many science-related issues.

Scholars have suggested several possibilities which may account for the dismal state of scientific literacy in the U.S. today: poor or scant science education in schools; society's historical disregard for nature and the environment; and the meager coverage of science by the media. A common perception among the public is that science is mostly irrelevant in their daily lives. Don Baumgartner, a part-time faculty member and Biology instructor at Harper College, decided to research the possibility that one reason for lack of scientific literacy could be the inadequate coverage of science in newspapers, the most frequently read medium today.

The biology students were asked to collect five consecutive issues of a particular local suburban or Chicago area newspaper and analyze it for its scientific content. For comparison the students were permitted to examine the tabloids as well.

Out of the published stories, 243 out of a possible 5268 stories were related to science. Twenty of those stories were in the tabloids, leading to concern by class members about the validity or at least the sensationalism aspect of the story.

The subject category reviewed for comparison were: Politics, Sports, Business, Entertainment, Human Interest, and Science.

Science categories included Anthropology, Astronomy, Biology, Chemistry, Engineering, Geology, Meteorology and Physics.

The outcome of the exercise confirmed the original premise of the Biology 101 class which was that science coverage made up a very small percentage of newspaper coverage.

Baumgartner, a medical embryologist who received his training at the University of Chicago, Circle Campus, is continuing this exercise with other Biology 101 students and feels that the class benefited from the exercise "increasing their own awareness of science and how it relates to the world around them."

Earth Day 1992

Campus hosts workshops, environmental conference

Harper College's Environmental Committee and Horticulture Club are co-sponsoring an environmental conference, "Education Leading to Action/Growers Organizing," on the campus in Palatine, Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9.

The conference begins at 12 noon on Friday, May 8, in Building J. Workshops on 60 topics ranging from endangered species to recycling. Display tables will help participants learn more about what is happening in the environment and how they can save it. Leonard Green, former chairman of the National Wildlife Federation, will present a keynote message at 7:30 p.m. in Building J Theatre. Additional workshops will be held on Saturday, May 9, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. The conference will close at 2 p.m. with a picnic-prose dedication.

In addition to a free Floral Design Workshop, 9 - 11 a.m. on Friday, May 8, the Horticulture Club will conduct its annual Plant Sale on Friday and Saturday in Building V. Many types of plants, flats, baskets, containers and arrangements will be available just in time for Mother's Day.

The funds raised through the plant sale provide support for student environmental projects and events.

The conference is free and open to the public. For additional information, call 708/797-3400 ext. 2857.

Dig deeper Harper!

Tuition increases $3 per credit-hour for Fall 1992

Jerry Hays
-Harper's Staff Writer

The Harper Board of trustees recently voted to raise tuition from $30 to $33 per credit hour. The higher rate will take effect fall 1992. 1988 was the last year that the tuition was raised. At that time, the tuition went from $25 to $30 per credit hour. Until now, the tuition rate has remained at a constant rate.

The local limit that tuition may increase for the 1992-1993 year is $58.04.

The board of trustees has established guidelines recommending that the student portion of the cost of education should range between 18 percent and 22 percent of the total cost. The increase planned for fall of 1992 brings the student share to only 17 percent of the per capita cost.

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
Business Manager
Managing Editor
Commentary Editor
A & E Editor
Features Editor
Photo Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Faculty Advisor
Guest Editors

Mary Swak
Laura Ashley
Steven Berk
Jason Freeman
Elyse Kautman
Alexander Vashchenko
Helen Jansak
Be Kaver
Alisa Chitland
Suzanne Kovic
Jen Krogh, Brian Shaw, Roger Souks

EDITORIAL

Governor Jim Edgar has once again proposed cuts in the Illinois state budget to get more government productivity for less money.

While cuts are needed in many agencies, Edgar is treading on one area that should be left alone — education, both primary and secondary.

State support for higher education has been declining since the early '70s, and Edgar has been doing his share of cutting.

The average college student in 1992 receives about $2000 less than the students in the early '70s, and a much higher tuition cost.

While the government tells young people to stay in school and get an education, it is contradicting itself by cutting education budgets.

The time has come for the government to put its money where its mouth is.

Kids who continue to get poor educations because of a lack of funds for quality teachers and materials will only turn to the streets. They will try to make money by selling drugs or by getting involved in some other illegal activity.

The state can not make more education budget cuts and expect to see good results.

Roger Mantel

Staff Writer

Staff

Liz Campos, Stephanie DeLuca, Christopher Garcia, Jeff Hays, Anthony Koch, Roger Mantel, Joergel M., Cindy Thier, Brad Vandana, Michael Wilson, Karl Stimpert, Kim Swisher, Jan Walenta

COMMENTARY

Are public officials above the law? No way...

Jason

Feinstein

I am not your managing editor, can break into a cheap of "I'm too sexy," another important piece of scandal has once again fallen right into my lap. It seems that even the "Stanger-La town of Palatine has its problems. Palatine's village attorney, Thomas R. Burney, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and possession of a controlled substance. Take a look.

Police found about one third of an ounce of marijuana. Of course, the pot did not belong to Burney. The happy farmer must have left it. Sure.

It's not surprising a village official was breaking the law and possibly his oath of office. It's just the fact the blame is laid everywhere except where it belongs, with the responsible party.

But you have to admire the way his colleagues stick by Burney and assume there must be some sort of hilarious "mistake" indeed.

My personal favorite excuse, as in the words of the best comedic mind of the twentieth century, Curly Howard, "I'm a victim of circumstance." Yes, you are breaking my heart. But, boys and girls, it is all in the game of politics.

Let's just say, hypothetically of course, if a regular Joe had the same arrest, and the same charges made against him, he would be on the next showboat to Joliet Correctional Center, faster than you can say "mandatory sentence." Hey, who ever said life was even remotely fair? But if you are privileged, or if you fail your G.E.D. test, perhaps a career in local politics is right for you. Politicians are not above the law, it might only seem that way. Look back on history, either a politician gets totally reelected, or they get off scot-free.

Believe it or not, our elected and appointed officials are people too. People do make mistakes. That's one of our built-in flaws. If you want to dance, you have to put a quarter in the jukebox. If one will keep an eye on Palatine's "situation" and the village attorney's "compounding legal problems," I am not saying he is guilty or not, that is for a court of law to decide. I am also not saying that he should resign either. I'll leave you with a final question to formulate your own opinion. Would these types of "problems" be tolerated in Chicago? What should be done? Write in with your opinion.

Looking for a job?
See this week's...

Classifieds

Thank you South Suburban!!

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A-167.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Copyright 1991, The Harbinger, all rights reserved.

COMMENTARY

The Harbinger, April 23, 1992 3

New pornography bill exploits filmmakers

Eric Kaufman
Guest Commentary

"Tyson is innocent!" screams the well-dressed attorney. "On what grounds? He was fed. The media and I suppose the night before he raped this young lady. Who can blame him?" Apparently not our judicial system, at least not if the Pornography Victims' Compensation Act passes its way through Congress.

Many of you are probably unfamiliar with this relatively new bill, so allow me to elaborate. This bill, sponsored by Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-Ky), is before the Senate now. The Pornography Victims' Compensation Act proposes that people who commit sex crimes and testify that they were motivated in such crimes by the content of a movie, book, record, magazine or video judged obscene by community standards, the victim can sue retailers, distributors and producers of such works, not just for damages but also for liability in the case involved.

If the bill passes through Senate, it will move on and likely become

House of Representative approval, thus making it a law.

Needless to say, many video chains, record dealers and bookellers are getting extremely nervous. But how does that affect the rest of us in middle America? How will it feel to go into a video store and only be able to rent G or PG rated movies, since all others will be pulled from sales due to possible crime-causing content? Will this mean the end of all those over popular farlequin romance novels?

You may think I'm posing a bit far-fetched, but if this bill passes, video retailers will pull such widely viewed films as Thelma and Louise and Silence of the Lambs. (The academy should know better than to give the best picture award to such a dirty, evil, cruel movie; no matter how entertaining it may be.) Beyond the scope of what a drag this would be to those of us with movie rental cards, there are too things about this travesty that undermine the validity of such a bill.

Like many other things in this world, the meaning of "obscene" varies from person to person. This bill clearly states that entertainment found to be judged obscene by community standards is in fact, but there is no clear definition of what exactly qualifies as "obscene." One man's former sin is another man's treasure.

This has frightening similarities to the Exotic Music bill that not recently passed in Washington. (The Exotic Music bill makes selling obscene music in that state a crime punishable by the law.) The definition of obscene for that bill is very generalized, so as to encompass a wide range of songs. Conversely, this specific definition makes such laws applicable to nearly every song written post 1954 (Andman be even a few written before!).

This is an other case of a politician pushing for the easily obtained, conservative votes and wielding his freedom of speech to prevent others from using their freedoms. This same policy of allowing someone outside his personal idea of right and wrong and establish it as everyone else's law is not only demanding and unfair but it seriously restricts our civil freedom of choice. This is obviously the same mentality we're thinking as was used to ban the song I Love, Love by the Kingpin in the early 70's after certain sexual groups assumed the lyrics were obscene merely because they were unadmittable.

More important to the case is the third party liability being approved through this type of thinking. Once again, the American tradition of passing the buck seems to prevail. Freedom is supposed to mean the right to do as one wishes without what you like or dislike; not the right to blame your actions on others and subsequently sue the pants off them in the process.

It's had enough that all the talk shows, not just sympathetic with criminals who turned down the wrong path due to Uncle Eric's mean pranks at dinner, or because mom's intuition with hubcap and Silly String drew them into a life of nothing 7-11's. Now, in the 90's, we can actually make a law, abdicating people of responsibility for their actions. I was raised to make my own decisions and that I had to live with the consequences of my choices. This is the mechanism that forces people to think through their options and choose their way in life. That is what makes this bill the most hideous, political thing since Dan Quayle was chosen as Bush's running mate. The producers and distributors of books, records, magazines, videos and films are not to be held accountable for the wrongful, harmful actions of another person in any way.

When we as Americans start to let our rights slip and give others the ability to blame a third party for their own misdeeds, we are giving up everything that our country was founded upon.

I urge you to write your congressman and express how you feel about such proposed censorship. Let's make the legislators deal with the repercussions of their crimes, not others, and let's keep America the land of the free.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor

I'm writing in regards to your "Best and Worst of Harper" article in the March 19th edition of the paper. I would just like to say that with finality and grace, the corner, it would really be great if we could go into the library and see some studying done, but it seems impossible. The reason for this is because there are a few rude people who continue to go into the library everyday and talk, group and discuss their personal affairs without any consideration for other students. These people know who they are, maybe in their country they were never taught the basic manners of being considerate and courteous to their fellow men.

Therefore, I would like you to add to your worst list "rude ones in the library." If you talkers have as much to discuss, I just ask you to be considerate of the students who actually go to the library, to study and give the call, where you can talk as loud and asking as you want without disturbing others. Thank you!

(signed)
Amy Harper student

IMMEDIATE
PART-TIME
OPPORTUNITIES
LINGUISTS
$20,000
Package
$2,000
Starting Bonus.

The 138th MI Bn, an Army Reserve unit near you, has a limited number of openings for Military Intelligence Voice Interpreter training. If you qualify and complete training in this specialty, you get a $2,000 bonus. You'll also earn a good part-time income for serving usually one weekend a month plus two weeks a year. Your total part-time income during a standard enlistment will be over $13,000.

If higher education is your goal, you may receive Montgomery GI Bill money for college or approved VocTech training—up to $5,040.

The Army Reserve offers you a $20,000 package you probably won't find anywhere else for a part-time job. Openings are limited, so call right now.

(708) 893-7550

BE ALL YOU CAN BE ARMY RESERVE

IMPROVE THE HEALTH OF YOUR FINANCES

You could earn an extra income, part-time, as a nurse in the Army Reserve. Service required is usually only one weekend a month plus two weeks' Annual Training.

In return, you'll enjoy excellent pay, financial aid for continuing education, benefits and the respect that comes with being an officer in the Army Reserve.

It pays in more ways than to be a guard, contributing member of the Army Reserve Health Care Team, with the responsibility and respect you deserve.

Think about it. Then think about us. Then call:

(312) 243-9327

BE ALL YOU CAN BE
ARMY RESERVE

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE SPRING, 1992

DAY CLASSES

Final Exam Period	Monday May 18	Tuesday May 19	Wednesday May 20	Thursday May 21	Friday May 22
8:00-9:45	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010
9:50-11:40	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010
12:00-2:00	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010
2:00-3:00	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010
3:00-4:00	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010	AC 100-107-8 101-1010

DEVELOPMENTAL AND WORKING CLASSES

1. Classes beginning at 8:00 pm or after will follow the evening class schedule.

2. Evening and weekend classes will use the week of May 18 for final exams, to be held during regular class periods.

"WEEKEND COLLEGE" CLASSES

Block meals for "Weekend College" classes will be given the weekend of May 15 during regular class periods.

ALL FINAL EXAMS ARE ON MAY 18-20. MONDAY, MAY 18. TUESDAY, MAY 19. WEDNESDAY, MAY 20.

NOTE TO FACULTY: If your class time does not fit into the above schedule, please contact David Dunbar, 202-100-1000.

Harper hosts dance concert

The twenty-fourth commencement ceremony of William Rainey Harper College will be Sunday, May 24, 1992.

We will be combining the performing arts including dancing, art, singing, instrumental music, and even drama improvisation," describes Victoria Summers, artistic director for the Harbor's 31-month-dance group. The program - titled "Street of Dreams" - will feature dancers from Harper, local high schools, and the Battle Academy.

Dance of Barrington, VMS Vision Dance Company of Lake Zurich and the Golden Dance Studio of Kalamazoo.

The money collected from the show will be used to buy dance shoes, tights and master dance classes featuring Chicago area dance professionals such as Gus Giordano and Randy Duncan. Members of the Harper Dance Company include Laura Dutton of Delaware, Sandra Laura Datura of Palatine, Sandra Fielding of Mundelein, Dana Gabe of Elk Grove Village, Gina Germanos of Arlington Heights, Margaret Jackson of Palatine, Jennifer Koon of Arlington Heights.

Jennifer Landgraf of Schaumburg;
 Aimee Lange of Mount Prospect;
 Julie Morrison of Schaumburg;
 Stacy Simek of Bartlett, Christina
 Voltz of Cary and Elizabeth Rogus of Mount Prospect. The group's artistic director is Terese Cassa of Lake Zurich.

Program tickets are $5 each.
For further information or tickets,

For more information about the Harner Dance Company, call

Victoria Summers at (708) 438-7281.

TODAY'S
THE DAY

LSAT
GMAT
GRE

Call: (312) 201-8378

American Heart
Association

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Crisis
Pregnancy
Center

708/885 1778
09 E Golf Road
Lombard, IL 60173

Money For Tuition
Financial Aid
Scholarships
from Private Companies
For Free Information

Write To:

Don Tech Services

P.O.Box 454
Winfield, IL 60190-0454

First Session 6 weeks beginning May 18
Second Session 6 weeks beginning June 29

- Day, evening or weekend classes
- Courses in Business, Arts and Sciences, Education, Nursing
- All courses applicable to Loyola University degrees
- Classes at Loyola's Mallinckrodt Campus in Wilmette, as well as at the Lake Shore, Water Tower and Medical Center Campuses
- Register using any Touch-Tone telephone

To receive your free copy of the 1992 Bulletin of The Summer Sessions, return coupon or call 312.915.6501.

For Summer Sessions
20 N. Michigan Avenue
Chicago, IL 60601-1710

The Summer Session
Loyola University Chicago
825 N. Michigan Avenue
Chicago, IL 60611-2190

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Loyola is an equal opportunity educational institution.

She has 37 years of experience with Lake County and private indus-

Any person interested in present or future employment in the data processing industry is encouraged to attend.

[illegible]

Oh joy! It's Ren and Stimpy

EVIE KAUFMAN
A & E Editor

Move over Bart Simpson! There's a new cartoon in town and it's kicking your butt. The cartoon for the '90s has arrived and college fans everywhere are eating it up.

If you haven't figured it out, I'm talking about Ren and Stimpy, the latest cartoon craze. Based on the adventures of a manchy Chihuahua and an infinitely stupid fat cat, Ren and Stimpy destroy the concept of refinement, and quality substance. Created by the demerol mind of John Kricfalusi, Ren and Stimpy exemplify good, crass, low-class entertainment.

Hailed by many as having no good taste whatsoever and being racist, rude and subtly nauseating, Ren and Stimpy are a sure-fire hit. Originally spotted by Nickelodeon, cable's children's network, the shows have also been shown on MTV on Saturday nights. Like Bugs Bunny, Ren and Stimpy found themselves with a large adult audience. Ratings more than doubled for Nickelodeon's Sunday morning slot.

and a new form of entertainment took hold in America.

Ren, the grouchy little Chihuahua, has the voice of an insane Peter Lore; and is reminiscent of Moe, leader of the Three Stooges. Like Moe, Ren is similarly plagued by his incompetent sidekick, in this case Stimpy the cat. Billy West, stand-up comedian, gives the faintly dumberdumb Stimpy his wicked-out goofy voice, which resembles Larry (Also of Seape fame). The humor is indeed Stogie-like and childish, but at a cost of $300,000 a show it certainly can't be considered cheap humor.

Ren and Stimpy's outrageous brand of comedy includes fresh new results, including "you fat bloated idiot" and "you stupid little monkey." Ren's All-Bandish mood never brings frenzied Stimpy down to Earth. The angles from which the characters are shown are bizarre and often silly. It's the type of dementia that grows on the watcher. The more you watch, the more you can't help but be hooked.

The story lines are weird and varying. "Manwood" features our hero trapped on an alien world fighting off starvation by eating "sucky space cabbage." In another episode, "Fire Days," Ren and Stimpy pose as dalmatians to obtain work and wind up saving an extremely fat woman (and her beagle) from a fiery death. There are informative shows, like "Unlabeled World," which explains how brands show off their amazing throat sacks "to attract nature's show-boats." As for culture, "Stimpy's Invention," in which Stimpy builds a "happy helmet" for Ren, is set to the music of the Nutcracker Suite, an old Warner Bros. line of cartoons.

New episodes that are in the press now include the daring duo playing their favorite game, "Don't Put on the Electric Fence!" Frank Zappa will be the voice of the type in an episode where the great religious leader Jesus lost in Antarctica.

Colleges across the nation are staging "viewing parties" to Ren and Stimpy feverishly. T-shirts and other tacky fan supplies are available everywhere. Monday's, in Randolph's shopping corner, has a vast supply for the die-hard fanatics.

Those of you interested in some truly tasteless entertainment can watch the series on Nickelodeon or on MTV. (The show is no longer on MTV, although highlights of the animation keep appearing on various MTV clips.) There are twenty new shows in the works, so these two "bloated sacks of protein" will be shown for months to come.

Oceans of fun, value at Whitewater Pub in Palatine

EVIE KAUFMAN
A & E Editor

You've probably passed it many times before and never even knew it was there. The Whitewater Pub and Restaurant, located at 345 W. Northwest Highway, Palatine, is a little inexpensive, hiding deep within a small strip mall. It is located near the intersection of Northwest Highway and Smith road. Like many often-missed spots, Whitewater has a certain style all its own, and many great entertainment values.

The restaurant portion of Whitewater offers sandwiches for lunch, and a wider menu for dinner, served 4 to 10 p.m. nightly. There is a soup and salad bar, as well as a pasta bar. There are all-you-can-eat and cost between $5 to $9. While the dinner ambience isn't the greatest, the food is good and well-portioned. Burgers cost about $5 and dinner entrees range from $9 to $12.

There is a wide assortment of appetizers available for those who like to snack. From a basket of fries to a huge, steaming portion of fried calamari ($5.95 for those more exotic, taste buds), the appetizers are good, plentiful and reasonably priced.

The pub's open late, until 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and midnight on Friday and Saturday nights. This is a place for those getting off work at odd hours.

As a bar, Whitewater is mellow but comfortable. They are open seven days a week, and stay open until 1 a.m. on Sunday through Thursday and 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday. They have a pool table, a few dart boards, a jukebox and even a few video games. Indeed, it is a well-represented bar as far as activities go. It's very hard to find something enjoyable at Whitewater.

Every day has its own drink special, a necessity for those on a college budget. The help is an asset, too. Bridget, the day bartender I spoke with, was quick to serve customers and was pleasant to deal with. Even the cocktail waitresses seem to be attitude-free, an uncommon occurrence in most bars.

Fridays and Saturdays are often fun at Whitewater. In addition to the over-personal drink specials, there is always a band, usually a local one, that plays around 10 p.m. Buzz Korman and his All-Bugs Blues Band also frequently entertain here. There is a $2 cover on these weekend nights. At 1:30 a.m., the staff hands out free pizza for all present. For information on scheduled appearances, call 708/705-0130.

The biggest complaint I have with Whitewater is the restaurant facilities. They are so small that if you aren't careful, you will plow someone down with the entrance door when you attempt to utilize the washroom. In addition, accommodations become frazzled as to be cramped during weekend nights.

All in all, Whitewater is a nice place to escape the ordinary yuppie bars. The crowd is usually very laid back and friendly, without being persistent. On weekends it gets loud and loud and converse, but the entertainment is usually top notch. It has a smaller town feel, but there's lots to do and good values on food and drink. These qualities make Whitewater a worthwhile place to experience.

PAYING FOR COLLEGE?? LET US HELP YOU!!

Each year millions of dollars are made available to college students based upon their individual profile without regard to personal income or grade point average.

LET US LOCATE YOUR SHARE OF THESE FUNDS!

For more information write to:
College Planning & Research Associates
853 N. Quentin Road, Suite 307-H
Palatine, IL 60067

LEGAL PROBLEM? WE HAVE A SOLUTION!

CALL THE
LAW OFFICES OF

JACOBSON & JACOBSON
(312) 346-9733
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 410
CHICAGO, IL 60606

*SUBURBAN LOCATIONS*
*FREE FIRST TIME CONSULTATION*
*LICENSED TO PRACTICE THROUGHOUT ILLINOIS*

Credentials For the rest of your life.

That's what Olivet Nazarene University can do for you. If you have the desire, you can earn a Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management in less than 2 years. That's 42 credit hours. The Olivet Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management emphasizes the blending of theory into practice. You will learn how to hone and fine-tune your current management skills. Your Olivet Degree could be the credentials you need to advance your current career. Classes meet one night per week throughout Chicago and at the Olivet Campus in Kenilworth. Associates Degree or 60 semester credit hours required. So talk to Olivet, ask about our Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management.

CALL 1-800-7-O-L-I-V-E-T

Olivet
Nazarene University

1.00 shown with a Christian Purpose

CLASSIFIED

The Harbinger April 23, 1992

7

Help Wanted

GENERAL OFFICE

Barrington based Company seeks creative individual to assist in advertising sales & phones - parttime. $7/hr. Call for appointment SKYLER CORP 381-2828.

EARN EXTRA INCOME

Earn $200 - $500 weekly mailing travel brochures. For information send a stamped addressed envelope to: ATM Travel, P.O. Box 433780, South Miami, FL 33143.

ASSEMBLERS

Excellent income to assemble products from your home. Info (504) 448-1700. Department p3798.

Spring - Summer Work & 10-25 to start. Part Time NOW. Full Time in Summer. Will work around school schedule. Internships & Scholarships available. Call 818-3336.

Models Wanted

Female models wanted for projects. All types. Flex. Frac. pay. No experience needed. End Photo. Info to SCS 2511 W. Scheunburg Rd. Suite 23 Scheunburg, IL 60193.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

experienced painters needed. One summer's experience minimum. Serving the Chicago suburban area. Apply early to secure your position! Contact: 2331-8360

Help Wanted

SUMMER JOBS

Complete Guide to Employment in the National Parks. 10,000 jobs. Work on Cruise Ships. Listings for all cruise lines. $9.95 each. $10.95 for both. Great Plains Publishing, Box 1903, Joplin, MO 64601.

Officials Time Out

2354 W. Higgins Road, Hoffman Estates, IL 60132.

Waitress needed Full and Part time, days or nights and weekends

Apply in person.

Learn Bartending

"As soon as T.V."

1, 2 or 3 weeks

Job placement assistance

Pay tuition from earnings

Professional Bartending School

(708) 882-7800 ext. 5

Services

Secretarial Service

Word processing, spreadsheet, photo, graphic, graphics.

Laser Quality. Call Lori at 708-5531.

Legal Service

FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes:

DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608, evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker, 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60195.

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP

SVS

Term papers, resumes, laser printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low rates.

Desktop Publishing Services

Papers, Resumes, spell check and laser printing. Call Lynn 255-3944. Low rates.

Typing — Done on a Macintosh. Multiple fonts possible as well as color printing. Only $2.00 per page and spelling checked. Rapid turn around. Call DONNA AT 708-468-1071 OR LEAVE MESSAGE.

Are you pregnant, alone, scared? Open Arms can help you with counseling and support. Call Jill or Roseann at 312-794-6500. Monday-Friday 9 to 5.

$6 MONEY FOR COLLEGE

Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information.

Scholarship Plus Finders M. Knuappel—Dept. HIC1, 5 Elm Creek Dr., #305, Elmhurst, IL 60120.

NANNY TRAINING

My child care agency can offer you a rewarding career as a Nanny. You can work during the week and train on the weekends. Our program is certified & State approved. Call Finders Keepers 291-7876.

For Sale

Summers Comin'

'90 24-10 Black Red 3587 miles, mint cond.

Wear Exp. Nov. 93. V & H exhaust, carburettor, call 392-5860. Ask for Paula.

For Rent

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND

Condominiums for Spring Break.

$20 per person per night, all beach.

$25 per person per night, beachfront.

1-800-422-8212.

Information

Standard Classified Rates

and Information

Commercial classifieds are $4.50 for the first four lines, $0.55 for each additional line.

Deadlines: Friday at noon for publication in the next Thursday's paper. All ads must be prepaid by cash or check. The Harbinger will not be responsible for typographical errors in ads taken by phone. Please call if your ad is misprinted. For more information, contact The Harbinger at 392-7000. Call 708-397-3000 ext. 2480, or send fax with cover sheet to 708-397-5210.

IF ONE ARM FEELS NUMB, HERE'S WHAT TO DO WITH THE OTHER ONE.

The sudden onset of numbness or weakness in one arm or leg, dizziness, loss of vision, severe headache, dizziness or loss of speech are warning signs of stroke. If you experience one or more of these symptoms, call a doctor immediately. To learn more, contact your nearest American Heart Association.

You can help prevent heart disease and stroke. We can tell you how.

American Heart Association

1001 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, IL 60610

Fashion

The Best of '92

Fashion Department

Harper College

Friday, May 8

2:00 pm and 8:00 pm

Building M

Donations $8.50

With any student ID $6.50

For ticket information, call the Harper College Box Office at 708/397-3000, extension 2547. Visa and Mastercard orders accepted.

HARBINGER SPORTS

■ APRIL 22, 1992

SPORTS FINAL

Call the Shots

by BO KASER

I feel sorry for spring sports in Chicago, especially here at Harper College.

The weather is one reason. April showers might bring May flowers, but for Harper they just bring frustration.

Spring sports are played out downwind and should be practiced outdoors.

Bad weather, mainly snow, forced track and softball indoors while baseball had to practice in the parking lots.

These unorthodox practice sessions, coupled with Harper opponents playing more early games, have shown their effects.

Harper's softball and baseball teams are winless and track has begun some what slower than expected.

The only spring team seemingly not affected is Coach Roger King's tennis team. They are 3-0 and have already knocked off seventh-ranked College of DuPage, placing the Hawks in the driver's seat for the conference championship.

I also sympathize for these spring sports because of the conditions of the fields on which they do battle.

I dislike the winter weather plays a big role, but let's face it, it's not the only reason.

I know I've said it before, but I'll say it again.

Since Harper managed to find new money to reinstate the soccer program, how about discovering some green to revamp the existing sports programs?

How about some grass for baseball's outfield?

Maybe a field tarp for softball?

I think you get my point. I'm glad Harper is expanding athletic programs. I only hope the existing spring sports can also benefit from some new found money someday.

For now, baseball, track, softball and tennis, keep watching the weather channel and hope for the best.

It'll be raining for you whether you win or lose.

April 18 Wheaton Invitational Track and Field Results

EVENT	NAME	TIME	PLACE
10 K	Chris Swierzbinski	38:20.1	4th
400 m	Ralph Gardner	52.52	6th
400 m	Freddy Uribe	53.2	7th
400 mH	Keith Smith	58.05	1st
400 mH	Steve Danza	60.0	4th
400 m	Moten, Uribe, Smith	45.72	4th
relay	Gardner
110 HH	Keith Smith	16.5	4th
Hammer	Sai Saccomanno	70.7"	3rd
Javelin	Chip Hodimair	168'8"	1st
Javelin	Rich Doron	134'4"	6th
Javelin	Sargon Youmara	129'4"	8th
high jump	Todd Weloh	5'10"	4th
high jump	Ralph Gardner	5'10"	5th
high jump	Keith Smith	5'10"	6th
pole vault	Rich Doron	14'	2nd

Chip Hodimair set a new school record in the javelin competition with a 168'8" throw

Help Wanted

Harper College has put out the "help wanted" sign for two new head coaching positions.

The official search has just begun for a women's basketball coach, while the newly revived men's soccer program has already started searching for their new coach.

"We hope to fill these positions by the end of the school year," said Athletic Director Roger Bechtold.

Persons interested in either position should send a resume to Bechtold in care of the Harper College athletic department.

Men's Tennis Team: Twin Killing Meets

Jim Waltons
Harbinger Staff Writer

The undefeated Harper men's tennis team ran its record to 7-0 last week, defeating defending conference champion, Rockford, on Rockford's home turf Thursday then picking apart a Wisconsin team at home on Saturday.

On Thursday, April 16, the men's tennis team easily won a match against the reigning conference champions by a score of 6-1.

After challenges during singles competition, the Rockford team seemed to give up during double's competition, losing all three matches in straight sets.

The men's tennis team moved an outdoor meet indoors last Saturday to defeat Milwaukee Tech (2-3) in do or die fashion, winning 4-0.

On that cold, wet Saturday morning, the Harper Hawks men's tennis team changed their scheduled outdoor meet against Rock Valley College of DuPage and Milwaukee Tech into an indoor meet against only Tech's Lake Shoshone.

As for the Milwaukee Tech coach Danny Sery, the team had come a long way to compete and had some high hopes for what they could do against Harper.

"I look forward to coming here," said Sery. His team placed third in the Wisconsin state tournament last year and hopes to do well again.

However, confidence was high for the strong Hawk's team. "We're 6-1, but we're going to be 7-0," said Dave Postup, one of the Hawk's star players.

The best individual match came from Steve Dittman, who rarely allowed Bill Borgias of Milwaukee Tech in score, sweeping the match 6-0, 6-1.

None of the other Milwaukee Tech players was even able to win a set, complaining that the ball was too hard to see on the indoor Harper courts, which is marked for a variety of sports.

The meet was then moved to the Rolling Meadows Park District outdoor courts for the double's matches, where Harper once again dominated.

The duo of Chris Maddigan and Steve Dittman was the most overwhelming, not losing a game to their opponents, winning 6-0, 6-0.

Men's Baseball Bounces Back

The Harper men's baseball team was victorious Saturday, taking both games of a double-header from Rock Valley.

Harper cruised 11-0 and 8-2 to raise the record to 5-14.

The Hawks have won three straight and four of their last six.

In game one, Harper used a 13-hit barrage to score 11 runs, while Rock Valley was held scoreless on three hits.

Game two featured more of the same for the Hawks.

Harper pounded nine more hits and held the Trojans to only five on the way to an 8-2 triumph and a sweep for the day.

The best news is the Hawks didn't commit any errors and Harper pitchers walked only two batters all day.

This could be credited to Head Coach Norm Garrett's ultimatum issued a few days earlier.

He informed his pitchers that after issuing three walks, a relief pitcher would begin warming up, and after four they would be pulled from the game.

It seems to be working.

Whatever the reason for the Hawk's recent success, for now at least, they are playing much better baseball.

"We're angling for a 7-0 record," said Garrett, "but the kids keep their heads up."

The Hawk's next game is Thursday against Oakton.

News

Test anxiety?

With final exams just a few weeks away, now is a good time to take a spell over to the learning assistance center.

Page 3

A&E

Music review

Christopher Garcia gives a thumbs up for the latest entry into the alternative music scene.

Page 5

Sports

Call the shots

No Kaser keeps you up to date in the world of sports with his weekly column.

Page 8

THE HARPER

Palatine, Illinois

April 30, 1992

Academic dishonesty

Recent studies show that cheating is on the rise

KAREN NEUBART
CIS Correspondent

Fierce competition for jobs and higher grades and peer leadership models have created a fertile climate for cheating, say college and university officials who are grappling with new ways to deal with an old problem.

Warned educators say some of today's college students, exposed to a painful incursion in getting rich-quick money and numbed by scandals such as congressional check-bouncing, are asking themselves: What's wrong with cheating?

"One of the reasons that cheating is increasing is the perception that the students' future job opportunities are closely linked to how well they perform in terms of grades," said Robert Dorff, faculty senate chairman at North Carolina State University.

"When pressure mounts, some feel that pressure and respond by cheating," he said, adding that today's faculty members are being urged to be more creative with testing procedures to make cheating "less enticing."

Not only is academic dishonesty growing, but there is more discussion about it than ever before. "Both of these forces are coming together and making it more apparent," Dorff said.

One New Jersey student doesn't see cheating as a problem. In fact, he's making a tidy profit off of the current GPA paranoia.

Michael Moore, a Rutgers University journalism student, recently mailed cybernews with his 80-page book, titled "Cheating 101: The Benefits and Fundamentals of Earning the Easy 'A,'" that details methods of cheating, including hiding notes in the holes of lawn mowers and using foot signals to convey answers on multiple choice questions.

Moore reported, in an article in "Campus Crime" (January 1992), that he has sold 1,750 copies of his book (50 each) to students at Rutgers, the University of Maryland and Ohio State University.

Some professors say Moore's blatant effort to promote deceit has brought cheating, often an unpleasant, seldom addressed problem, into the light.

Educators often refuse to admit the amount of cheating that may be going on in their classes, said one source, and thus not want to know the hard facts.

In 1987 and 1988, the American Council on Education, in conjunction with the University of California at Los Angeles asked students about their cheating habits in a comprehensive survey. "The American Freshman."

About 37 percent of the students surveyed in the fall of 1988 said they had cheated on a test at high school, and 19 percent on about 30 percent the year before. About 57 percent said they had copied another student's work, while about 52 percent admitted doing so the year before.

That was the last year any reference to cheating was included in the survey.

"We don't plan on bringing them up [the questions] again," said Ellen Ruggs, a research adviser with the Higher Education Research Center at UCLA. "The general reaction from the schools were not the most positive. Some advised students not to answer the questions."

Michael Moffatt, associate professor of anthropology at Rutgers University, said his anonymous study of cheating left him shocked and "in a funk." He said he received only a lukewarm response from his colleagues.

"I found that 33 percent [of students] had been involved in considerable cheating. That means cheating in three to 25 courses with an average of eight courses, and 22 percent had never cheated in college. The 'in between' cheated once or twice," said Moffatt.

Moffatt's investigation included 400 Rutgers students who in an anonymous "self-report" on subjects such as sexuality and cheating. The results of the cheating question spurred him to write a 22-page report.

"I received a great number of graphic papers that were in many ways more shocking than the sexual self-reports. I threw me into a funk," he said.

Students confided to Moffatt that they cheated to get material grades to survive, to get revenge on a disliked professor, or because they were angry because others performed better academically without much effort.

Moffatt said cheating often takes such an emotional and mental toll that it would be easier to study. "They are in terms of being caught," he said of cheaters. "They will fight against the accusation."

The professor said he has identified five commonly used cheating techniques: from the "look-alike," where answers are borrowed from a neighbor to "peppering cheating," which can consist of elaborate, premeditated schemes with many involved.

Cheat sheets are so common that Moffatt actually legalized them in his class. Students are allowed to bring in one 8-by-10-inch piece of paper with as much written on it as the space can contain. "It encourages next to no cheating questions," he said.

Cheating also takes other forms, such as plagiarism, paying someone to take a test or write a paper, or buying an already completed item paper.

While many campuses wrestle with the problem of cheating, students at the University of Virginia are celebrating the 150th birthday of the nation's oldest student honor system.

For one week, beginning March 27, students take part in a four-day conference on honor and integrity in the academic environment. The topics are discussed at luncheons, dinners, lectures and seminars.

Founded in 1942, Virginia's honor system is simple: no lying, cheating or stealing. There is only one punishment, students found guilty of an offense by juries of their peers are dismissed from the university. While Virginia's drastic disciplinary measures may not wash on some campuses, many are tightening up their honor codes.

In 1985, when officials at the University of Delaware surveyed the student body and discovered that 78 percent admitted to cheating, they immediately revamped their honor code.

Now students caught cheating receive a grade of "XF" on their transcripts. Cheating cases are evaluated by a student board, which is known to be tougher on fellow students because they see themselves as victims of cheating.

The University of Maryland also gives students an "XF" grade which remains on the student transcript for a full year. After completing a non-credit six-week course in academic integrity, the students can petition to have the "X" removed.

The spotlight has been on academic integrity for the past several years.

"Officials say students seem increasingly willing to do anything to get ahead," reports an article on academic integrity that appeared in the Chronicle of Higher Education (January 17, 1991).

"The students are frightened about the aftermath. They're searching for the pro-social curriculum. The value of money is more important to them than a code of honesty and a sense of responsibility," said Arthur Levine, chairman of the Institute for Education Management at Harvard University, in the same article.

Harper wins planetarium bid

Harper's location was deciding factor

CHRY PLATT
Harpington Staff Writer

Harper College officials signed an agreement with the nonprofit Planetary Science Foundation which will bring a $5 million planetarium to the campus. The Foundation will lease 2 acres of Harper land at $1 a year for 99 years with an option to renew.

The Foundation also considered McHenry County College as a possible site but chose Harper because of its location, Paul Spiera, President of the Foundation and a Harper professor, said the group favored Harper's close proximity to expressways and potential corporate sponsors.

The three-story dome structure will be the next largest dome structure of suburban star gazers. Local efficiency and high schools will benefit from the planetarium, as will the Northwestern Illinois University, McHenry County College, and Roseville University.

Site selection was an important step in the fund-raising efforts because many potential donors would not make commitments until they knew where the planetarium was going to be located. Under the Harper agreement, construction cannot begin until financing is secured.

The Foundation plans to raise $5 million for the construction and $1 million to maintain the project. The group will also attempt to secure an additional $500,000 to purchase the world's largest private meteorite collection.

Spiera told Chicago Tribune reporter, Teresa Wilcz, that, "Our planetarium will be small, but it will be of a world-class quality. The meteorites will be our crown jewel, and the planetarium will be our teaching tool. We're not playing around."

Spiera is no stranger to fund-raising. He succeeded in soliciting $50,000 for the Harper Observatory in 1985. He said it shows to him how corporate sponsors know the names of other donors before committing to a contribution. Spiera said it amazes him that they want to be followers instead of leaders.

Construction on the 44,000-square-foot center should begin in 1993 and be completed by 1996. Does that mean Harper students could also enjoy laser light shows by 1990? Spiera is not in favor of light shows but he realizes the economic potential of such ventures. Anything is possible.

Student Senate

While the student senate did not complete the agenda they had set for their April 24 meeting, here is a summary of the business that was completed.

1. First reading of changes to the student senate constitution and policy and procedures manual.
2. Those students were approved to the student activities budget review committee. They are Bruce Brock, Kim Hafford and Jo Anna Treister.
3. Latona Underwood was given formal recognition. For information pertaining to this club, call ext. 2242.

Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees met on April 23. A summary of their actions follows (from the Board Action Report).

1. Approved Life Safety Projects to include water main extension, installation of sprinkler system and power distribution system in Building M and roof removal and replacement in Building F.
2. Approved the College President to enter into an agreement with the Planetary Science Foundation.

*****

CAMPUS

P
O
L
I
T
I
C
A M
P
U
S

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Editor in Chief
Business Manager
Managing Editor
Commentary Editor
A & F Editor
Features Editor
Photo Editor
Sports Editor
Copy Editor
Faculty Adviser

Laura Ashley
Steven Berk
Jason Feinstein
Fydie Kautman
Alexandra Youkhannet
Hendi Tarasnik
Bo Kassen
Alisa Chinlund
Susanne Harvli

♦ EDITORIAL ♦

This is not an attempt to slam the administration. Nor is this an attempt to create negative press for Harper College. What I'm trying to do is urge you, the students of Harper College, to ask questions.

Without you, none of the administrators, instructors or staff would be receiving paychecks. For this reason, the students have a right to know the answers to certain questions. While I cannot give you those answers, I can only suggest that you question the actions of those whom you employ with your tax dollars and your tuition fees. I guarantee The Harbinger will do its best to report the facts.

For the most part, those in charge are more than competent at what they do. However problems do occur, and that's when people need to be accountable for their actions.

While reading the following questions, don't automatically assume that a scandal is happening. Rather, think about what you are reading and then act upon it.

Every semester, students pay a student activity fee. This generates approximately $350,000. Do you know how that money is spent?

If not, then why do you pay it without any questions asked?

Public Safety has several sworn police officers, giving them the authority of a regular police department. Harper's administration has tied the hands of public safety on numerous occasions, though. Why won't the Harper officials let Public Safety use the radar equipment that they have? If students drive slower for fear of getting a ticket, then won't that promote a safer campus with less chance of accidents? Or are they afraid of being ticketed themselves? In addition, how is it possible that any organization, besides the courts and legislature, can have control over or restrict the actions of a police department?

Are the student-run organizations here to satisfy students? Are you satisfied with the quality of Harper's newspaper and radio station? Does Program Board bring the shows and acts you want to see? When was the last time a student senator, who is supposed to represent the students at Harper, asked you personally about your opinion on any issue?

Finally, are your needs being met? Are the classes and instructors acceptable? What about the quality of services such as the library or the learning assistance center?

Administrators of this school are responsible to you, the students. Don't sit back and blindly accept all that is given to you. Write a letter to us at The Harbinger, send a note to President Thompson or stop in the Student Activities office. Find out what's happening at Harper. Ask questions.

The strongest weapon you have is your voice. I've voiced my concerns, now it's time to voice yours.

Steven Berk
Managing Editor

Staff

Dan Beever, Liz Campy, Stephanie DeLuca, Christopher Garcia, Jeff Hays, Anthony Kish, Roppe Mantel, Jacques Ott, Cindy Place, Larisa Podgorny, Brad Sanderson, Michael Sazzer, Karen Southworth, Amy Walatras

COMMENTARY

Presidential path leads to Perot

Jason Feinstein
Commentary Editor

And I have been with car shots of CNN and the other big networks. I am not so concerned as you, with who was the president of the United States, long ago. I met Contradiction in which a contradiction, George Bush that will sell some spokesman for Apple. As they say, we see a lot of things. In Georgia, it is not one of your points of light. This light is naturally illuminated. No contradictions and no more "recession deal" for this country. You may say, "this is this light who pull us out of the deep dark hole that has been fallen this great country of ours." I see some words. If Ross Perot, I am not asking. It seems that we hope less with a third party, can help us. In the past I have not heard much about Perot. But in recent weeks and numerous appearances on CNN, not to mention an informal "Larry King Live" telecast, Perot is perhaps showing us the path that might actually lead to the Emerald City. If George Bush had the audacity to abolish himself the education president, then Perot must become the president. Bush is a president. But look at Perot, you might immediately dismiss him. He does not fit the profile of any past presidential candidate: democratic, republican, or third party. Perot is not an imposing figure. He is slight and bald. But he is anything but slight of character. As previously stated, I do not know much about Perot. I can only think that Perot may greatly respect and admire himself as business and make himself a billionaire. To many that does not deserve respect or admiration, it sometimes causes irrita-delude. When in fact his employees were impressed in their respect his money on a rescue mission to retrieve them. Yet this does not mean that Perot is a choice for president of the United States. Perot is inexperienced and is a Texas businessman. I could not find a better representative place, him on our nation's highest office. I would like to think that the American people are sick of liars and cheaters in the White House. The time is right. Maybe we would start to pull ourselves out of this recession hole if we tried to run this great country of ours more and more like a business. I believe Perot is qualified to be our chief executive officer. I think the country needs to be awakened. It has been said that in the history of our nation that a third party candidate has never won the White House. Don't you think it's time?

*Looking for a job?
See this week's...*

Classifieds

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger welcomes letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all non-buses are at the discretion of the consumer.

COMMENTARY

The Harbinger, April 30, 1992 3

Media and politics ....do they mix?

Gregory Lefel

Guest Commentary Writer

It has become fashionable to bash the media about the presidential race, but I would like to say it is not all their fault; it is ours too. What we should be doing is telling the media what we want, specifically.

The media's job is to inform. What I would like to see is information on each candidate that allows me to make an informed decision. What I have been seeing are candidates being labeled. Four years ago George Bush was labeled a "wump" and yet he led us to victory over the fourth largest fighting force in the world.

Now Paul Tsongas has been given a label similar to "wump." He has been referred to as "poor soft spoken" and "not good looking enough" to be president. Neither label gives me the information I need to make a wise choice.

The information I want, if it is to be based on labels, should be the labels placed on the candidate by the candidate.

For example, George Bush labeled himself the "Education President." Give me the information on what he has done on education, and he can decide if the label is his own label.

I can make an informed decision on "Read My Lips" because I have that information.

In the case of Gov. Bill Clinton (D-AR), the candidate with the most labels, the information I need is in Arkansas, not the tabloids. The media spent an incredible amount of time in bed with the tabloids and in

New Hampshire, ignoring information about the job Clinton is doing in Arkansas.

When one does a job interview, in addition to asking what the candidate can contribute to the post, he needs one also examines closely the work he has done at his last job. If the voters were given information from Clinton's current bosses, the Arkansas newspapers, we would have the information to make an informed decision.

Another prime example concerns former Gov. Terry Brown. He has been labeled with the phrase "Right Message, Wrong Messenger." If the dots have the right message, then why isn't that message expanded on by the media?

They have also labeled Brown information in 11 years of his "wrong messenger."

The media reported that he was someone from politics and went to study in a Zen monastery. The media should do a report on Zen teachings so I can decide if that makes Brown the "wrong messenger."

Instead, they either ignore it or make a judgment about him by labeling him. It is ironic that the media clings to the First Amendment and takes lightly Brown's right to speak his own chosen beliefs.

The fact that Brown took some time off from politics may be a negative thing if it is reported to be. If the beneficial information of taking time off were listed along with the negative factors, I could make an informed choice.

And in the same case as Bill Clinton, inform me about the job Brown did as governor in California.

With California's economy alone larger than most other countries, the questions the media should be asking and the answers the voters public want to know are:

How did he handle the job?

What special thing did he bring about?

Did he accomplish the things he said he was going to when he ran for that office?

If yes, how? If no, why?

Did he exhibit the leadership skills necessary for the position he now seeks?

The presidential race is a job interview and should be treated that way by all the media. It sometimes seems that the media is so busy reporting that the media and its voters are not on anything slightly controversial, and then hives it out of proportion.

Whatever happened to reporting? The voters are crying out for information and very little is getting in as.

We don't hear about a candidate's record in his home state until another candidate has dug up some obscure fact and wound it up to manipulate the media.

The media then plays catch-up in determining the validity of the very, but by then the candidate is labeled and the voters confused.

What I'm asking for is enough basic, nonjudgmental information (just the facts, both good and not so good, so I can evaluate the candidates and make an informed choice. I urge other voters to inform the media of their specific needs. And I urge the media to please take what little time remains to get me and all voters that specific information we need.

Harper promotes student success

"If students succeed, we succeed" is the refrain heard over and over in Harper's Learning Assistance Center and specifically in the Diagnostic Services Department. Services and Hoffman Estimates resident, explains what the department can offer.

"We start with a student success profile which identifies the strengths and the weaknesses of the student's study habits and personal learning styles," comments the former elementary and reading teacher Donahue explains that during the semester there are a variety of success seminars offered to students in and out of the classroom which have proved helpful according to the feedback from faculty members and students.

Topics for success seminars include: Assessing Your Chance of Success, Can't Remember Find Out Why, Memory Techniques, How to Become Motivated, Curb Test Anxiety, Too Little Time Too Much To Do, Time Management, Strategies for Concentration, and a popular one at this time of year, Tips to Test Taking.

One of the most popular services offered by the department is the Test Performance Analysis. The learning specialists from the Diagnostic Services Department meet with the students and actually analyze their performance on individual tests. Some of the reasons for poor performance are the obvious lack of knowledge or poor reading and application skills. Other reasons for poor performance include difficulty with content vocabulary.

especially in introductory courses, and exam panic which results in decreased concentration.

Test anxiety affects 70% of students at some time during their school careers. There are more specific strategies to curb that anxiety and to use and to use the extra adrenalin to the advantage of the test taker." Donahue stresses that Diagnostic Services does not provide miracle pills, but it can provide students with methods and techniques which, if used properly, will break bad habits and implement new learned behaviors within three weeks.

The outcomes of Test Performance Analysis are very encouraging. A survey shows that 55% of students using the service improved their averages by two letter grades and 45% by one letter grade on following tests.

Terry Donahue developed a series of flyers which lists "HIN T's - Helpful Information Needed to Succeed," for both faculty and students. HIN T's topics most requested for class presentations have been "How to Become Motivated With Your Test Taking," "How Can I Make an Outline of the Semester," and "Do You Experience Test Anxiety?"

Diagnostic Services is just one part of the Learning Assistance Center and only one way in which Harper College is involved in promoting the success of its students.

For further information regarding one-on-one Diagnostic Services or to find out more about the Student Success Seminars, contact Terry Donahue at 708/987-3081, extension 2210.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE SPRING, 1992

BAT CLASSES

Final Exam Period	Monday May 18	Tuesday May 19	Wednesday May 20	Thursday May 21	Friday May 22
8:00-9:45	ALL 100, 101 & 102 Classes	ALL 100, 101 & 102 Classes	ALL 100, 101 & 102 Classes	ALL 100, 101 & 102 Classes	ALL 100, 101 & 102 Classes
9:55-11:40	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F
11:50-1:35	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F
1:45-3:30	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F
3:40-5:25	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F	R, W, T, F

PAYING FOR COLLEGE?? LET US HELP YOU!!

Each year millions of dollars are made available to college students based upon their individual profile without regard to personal income or grade point average.

LET US LOCATE YOUR SHARE OF THESE FUNDS!

For more information write to:
College Planning & Research Associates
853 N. Quentin Road, Suite 307-H
Palatine, IL 60067

LEGAL PROBLEM? WE HAVE A SOLUTION!

CALL THE
LAW OFFICES OF

JACOBSON & JACOBSON
(312) 346-9733
205 W. RANDOLPH
SUITE 410
CHICAGO, IL 60606

*SUBURBAN LOCATIONS*

* FREE FIRST TIME CONSULTATION *
*LICENSED TO PRACTICE THROUGHOUT ILLINOIS*

Free Pregnancy Testing Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Cris
Pregnancy
Center

708/685-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

FEATURES

New HIV regulations benefit both women and children

New HIV regulations benefit women and children.

The Social Security Administration recognizes that HIV—the virus that causes AIDS—can develop differently in women and children than in men.

The agency has published regulations and also issued new operating guidelines now being used to assess all HIV cases, including women and children.

The new criteria list certain manifestations of HIV unique to women such as gynecological cancers and infections, that are considered in evaluating a woman's disability claim.

In addition, the new guidelines note the course of HIV diseases in children is different from that in adults and contain a specific list of symptoms severe enough to prevent a child from functioning the way a healthy child would.

This is the first time the Social Security Administration has provided such a list for HIV-infected children.

The evaluation of claims filed by women and children with HIV is not limited to the criteria in the list. All social security disability claimants with the HIV infection are evaluated under the most up-to-date medical criteria.

Their claims can be approved faster, and payments made more quickly, once all other eligibility factors are met.

Latest statistics show approximately 10 percent of social security claimants with HIV infection are women, and this percentage is expected to rise.

More than 2,000 cases of AIDS have been reported in children under 15 years old.

Most of these children acquired the disease from their mothers before birth from their mothers.

The number of children with HIV infections, unfortunately, also expected to rise.

Social security administers two separate programs that pay benefits to people disabled as a result of HIV infection.

Disability Insurance (SSDI) program, and the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program.

Under both programs, applicants must meet the definition of disability in social security law.

For adults this means the inability to work because of medical impairments that are expected to last at least one year or result in death. For a child, have an impairment of comparable severity.

SSI makes monthly payments to people with disabilities, including children, whose income and assets are below a certain level.

Social security administration's rules also significantly expand the authority of field offices to presume a person is disabled and make immediate payments to claimants.

The payment can continue for up to six months while the formal disability determination process takes place.

If you would like more information about what social security can do to help

HIV-infected individuals and how specific changes are being made regarding women and children with HIV infection, contact the Social Security Administration.

The number is 1-800-772-1213.

Program offered for fall '92

JAY MATS
Harbinger Staff writer

An exciting program starts this fall. The coordinated studies program on the global village is not just an ordinary program.

It's designed to be one of the most unique, inspiring course loads Harper has seen.

Students involved in this program will take an active part.

The program allows the students to become comfortable and open up socially.

Students will take part in field trips, seminars, student discussions, movies and slide shows.

Materials for the program have not yet been chosen because students will have a role in choosing what they want to study.

If they want to hear a specific person speak, they have the opportunity to invite and get that person to give a speech or a seminar for them.

The teachers of the program learn along with the students. Pak-uly has a tough job to prepare over the summer.

The early pre-requisite for the students when they do this is that they keep it on a global basis.

In keeping with the global village theme, instead of discussing English literature, discuss world literature.

Everything they will do is on a global basis.

The program requires that an enrolled student take 15 hours to be chosen from the following classes: Biology 101, English 101, 102, 201, Linguistics 105, Philosophy 105, 205, Psychology 101, 220.

A student must take one course from each of the five disciplines.

The courses will be taught by five teachers, they include: Colleen Burns, Rex Burwell, John Clarke, Peggy Kaskar and Randy Scherrell.

There are no exams involved in this program.

The majority of the final grade comes from papers.

Anyone interested in enrolling in this program should hurry because there are only 100 student seats available.

The 100 students will meet five days a week, mostly in the morning. It is strongly recommended students leave Tuesday afternoons open for field trips.

The courses should run between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

The students will meet as a group twice a week.

The other days are reserved for smaller group sessions.

The same students will be together for the entire semester.

The result should be a friendly group that opens up to each other.

The program has been used in other colleges also.

Rio Hondo College in Dallas, Texas is currently using the program and has seen excellent results.

One interesting project they have requires them to make a video. They have to produce a ten minute news or documentary video to present as a group to the class.

This is one of many projects that the Harper staff is considering.

"Always Reserved" table is an asset to disabled students

ALISA CHAMRAD
Harbinger Staff writer

It's not easy for students with mobility problems to maneuver through the cafeteria to search for a vacant table.

Time after time, students with disabilities had a hard time finding accessible seating," Director of T.R. Food Services for Harper College John Castro said.

"They needed a separate table close to the cafeteria [exit]."

About one-and-a-half months ago, Castro devised a solution.

"The first table by the windows on the left side of the cafeteria is always reserved for students with disabilities," Castro said.

"Other students can use the table when it's not occupied."

But they have to move if disabled students need the table.

Castro said the table has been well utilized.

He added more easily accessible tables will be received in the future when necessary.

Credentials For the rest of your life.

That's what Olivet Nazarene University can do for you. If you have the desire, you can earn a Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management in less than 2 years. That's 42 credits. Hours. The Olivet Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management emphasizes the blending of theory into practice. You will learn how to hone and fine tune your current management skills. Your Olivet Degree could be the credentials you need to advance your current career. Classes meet one night per week throughout Chicago and at the Olivet Campus in Kankakee. Associates Degree or 60 semester credit hours required. So talk to Olivet, ask about our Bachelor of Science Degree in Human Resource Management.

CALL 1-800-7-O-L-I-V-E-T

Olivet Nazarene University

Education with a Christian Purpose

Free Pregnancy Testing Immediate Results

- Test results while you wait
- All services confidential
- Convenient appointments
- 24 hour hotline
- Convenient Woodfield location

Crisis Pregnancy Center

708/985-1778
709 E. Golf Road
Schaumburg, IL 60173

BLOOD PRESSURE PILLS ONLY WORK IF YOU TAKE THEM.

American Heart Association

1991 American Heart Association

SUMMER

Chicagoand Students...

We Have Great Summer Jobs For YOU!

We're specialists in finding summer jobs that are ideal for college students.

Jobs that use your talents and your scholarship and offer TOP PAY and VALUABLE EXPERIENCE.

Let OLSen find you summer jobs that have enough time for your summer fun.

Jobs available in Chicago and suburban areas.

Call the office nearest you!

OLSEN
TEMPORARY SERVICES
Chicago's Oldest Employment Agency

CHICAGO
NAPERVILLE
OAKBROOK TERR.
SCHAUMBURG
PARK RIDGE
WHEELING

(312) 782-1014
(708) 305-2125
(708) 575-8833
(708) 577-7313
(708) 518-0800
(708) 439-1600

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

The Horbinger, April 28, 1992 $ 1

Recoil has the faith Bulls-eye bar hits the mark

CHRISTOPHER GARCIA
Horbinger staff writer

Alan Wilder of Depeche Mode has unleashed his third album under the name Recoil. This most recent album, BLOODLINE, follows the sporty, only releases, HYDROXY and RECOIL, 1 & 2.

In comparison, BLOODLINE is much more accessible in terms of its musical style. His previous albums are much more experimental because they're not something you can exactly hear in.

Wilder has hired some serious help to do the vocals on four of the songs. Douglas McCarthy of Nitzer Ebb sings on the first single Fourth Healer. Tom Ballad of Curve uses her unique vocals on Edge To Life and the title track, and techno music. Moby does a surprisingly good rap on Curve. The only bothersome stem on this album is that throughout Curve, Wilder uses the same breathing sound as the song What You Need from Depeche Mode's 1987 album, MUSIC FOR THE MASSES.

The Depeche Mode-based played all the instruments on BLOODLINE and did an excellent job as that.

While there are only 7 songs on this album, it packs in over fifty minutes of non-stop electronic wizardry. The average length of one song is about 10 and half minutes.

New Music In A & E

The musical style shows hints of Wilder's Depeche Mode background but it isn't overpowering. On each song there is a vocalist, so song shows the influence in the music of that singer as well.

In my opinion, this album qualifies for one of the best alternative music albums of the year thus far. If you disagree, sure, it's that overdone on Fourth Healer (by the way, there's also a video for this song), happens on Edge To Life, experimental ideas on Fourth Healer (Bukka White - peacefulness on Fourth, and plenty of rhythms on Curve and The Defector. What more could one want?

While we're on the topic of Depeche Mode, remember that a new album could be out by the end of the year. Also, there have been sets in the works but I have no idea what they could possibly be there since there are already three on the market.

On an individual note, Nitzer Ebb released EBBHEAD in the fall of 1991. Curve released DOPE DANGER earlier this year and Moby's debut album is to be released in early summer.

Anyway, if you already own BLOODLINE or are planning to do so, maybe you can help me out with something. What exactly does "546" stand for?

RATING ****1/2 out of 5

EYOT KAUFMAN
A & E editor

My quest to find you, the readers, a nice place to spend your free evenings led me straight to Bulls-eye Sports Bar and Grill, 1601 North Rand Road in Palatine. This is a great place to sit and have drinks, play some pool, or enjoy the latest sports game. Bulls-eye is open seven days a week, and there is no cover. Hours are 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Sunday through Thursday, and 11 a.m. to 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday. Drink prices are average, and they have a full range of food. Service is friendly, about a bit slow.

For the designated driver, there is complimentary sodas and coffee available. As in all cases, however, the driver must let someone in authority, particularly a manager, know upon entering the establishment.

Bulls-eye is by far the cleanest bar in Palatine. It is done enough to retain the night club feel, yet you can still see. Even the bathrooms, which are notoriously neglected in almost every pub, are stocked and well kept at all times. I can't speak for typical male accommodations, but for women is suitable and clean restrooms are a rarity.

There is a big screen and many monitors to ensure full enjoyment of sports events. Any of you who haven't experienced a Bears game here must an absolute idiot.

For the non-sport person, there is plenty to do as well. They have a few electronic dart machines. The cost ranges from 25 to 50 cents a game and darts are available at the bar. There is also a few video games and a CD jukebox with a good variety of groups for the music lover.

If this isn't enough, there is a section for pool players. The pool tables have dollar slots and there are plenty of tables to choose from. Like everything else, the tables are extremely well kept and nothing like the chow-up tables you'll find at the local bowling alleys.

No one likes to party on an empty stomach and Bulls-eye has it's share of culinary delights. The grill is open late. Sunday until 11 p.m., Monday through Thursday until 12 p.m., and Friday and Saturday until 1 p.m. They also feature full carry-out service, available by calling 934-3474 or by faxing a 934-4965.

Appetizers are the usual potato skins, nachos and buffalo wings. They range in price from $3 to $5 but are good and plentiful. Bulls-eye is also home of the "true" half-pound burger, a great deal at only $3.95. There are many other reasonably priced sandwiches and salads, for the health conscious.

Besides just pizza and sandwiches, the menu offers a range of full-dinner entrees. Their daily food specials are incredible. Lasagna or Mostaccioli averages $7 and chicken dishes average $8. The best deals are at $9.95 for a full slab of BBQ ribs, ribs and shrimp or even two pounds of fresh crab legs.

The ambience is great for a sports bar. Bulls-eye Sports Bar and Grill contains the perfect mix of food, fun and atmosphere. Located on Rand and Dundas, it's still a star-shaped people but never gets really packed. A wonderful place to stop in for dinner, some entertainment or just plain relaxation, Bulls-eye has it all.

Chicago's rockin' to save the rainforests of the world

The Chicago Rainforest Action Group rocks it again at the third annual "Rock the Rainforests" benefit on Friday, May 8, Park West, 322 W. Armitage Ave., Chicago. (Hear the tropical dance party at WERT, Wende Rice and featured.

Guest is Bill Korus of WHIM-TV, chairman from 8-11 p.m., about

There will be headline. The drummers and the three live bands. Remainders along with The Creek, units and Clutch Cargo. Live Rainforest Action Group and Bat rainforest animals will attend the Conservation International. For ticket information call $350 at the door. Ticket price is: $12.95/5.75/17.

Wild Kingdom

By Anthony Rubino, Jr.

"Life is like a crowbar. It's hard. So don't beat yourself over the head with it." — Mr. College

ASK MR. COLLEGE

The courtships, casual college columns. Pungent yet particularly practical.

Q: Dear Mr. College, When I was 17, I can't control myself. For example the other night I went into a girl and threw a bottle of red wine on my girlfriend's face. I just missed my nose and spilled all over my girlfriend's new white cap. I need help. What should I do? — Desperate

A: Dear Desperate, You do have a very serious problem. You may not like this, but I want you to pay very close attention to what I'm about to tell you. The cap's history.

Q: Dear Mr. College, I constantly have the feeling that someone is following me, trying to get to me and harm me in some way. Please help. It's my imagination or my vision is that. You're the only one I can turn to. Please help. — Scared

A: Dear Scared, I think that in your situation you should

OH MY GOD LOOK OUT! BEHIND YOU! Ah, just kidding.

Q: Dear Mr. College, I'm a seventeen-year-old heterosexual male, and I live in a crowded dorm. There are two quarters (old) and two dorms (new) that I live in. I live in the old dorm. There are all hours and begging me to make love to both of them at the same time. What should I do? — Confused

A: Dear Confused, You're kidding right?

Q: Dear Mr. College, Two weeks ago you advised me to serve paint "bone head" on the Dean's new car. Not only was I caught and kicked out of school, I have to serve a prison sentence. You ruined my life you bastard! What am I supposed to do now? — Really Really Mad

A: Dear Really Really Mad, Don't be such a cry-baby. Besides, I told you to paint "Rat Bastard," not "Bone Head" (sheep's kids today). Good luck in the Big House!

ASK MR. COLLEGE ABOUT LOVE

Q: Dear Mr. College, What is love? — Sentimental

A: Dear Sentimental, Love is a deep and profound feeling shared between two people. It is a bond which is based on mutual trust, loyalty, and care. Although sometimes, when the young gets a little tough those feelings are squashed by the person you thought you loved. Sometimes that person stands you in the back with the twisted red hot power of betrayal and lies, until your soul shivers from the wound of STARKING SPURTS OF BLOOD AND PUST! Whew. That hurt good. Thanks for asking.

Q: Dear Mr. College, I'm in love with the captain of the football team. I know he loves me too although we've never spoken. Whenever he sees me, he doesn't look at me, he talks to me or acknowledges me. What should I do? — Rejected

A: Get in touch with reality! Yes, this guy loves you, and I'm the freakin' Easter Bunny.

Utilize your skills and make top $$$!

We have immediate openings

Sign up for Temp Now!

Word Processors • Macintosh • Accounting • Secretarial
Data Entry • Reception/Switchboard • General Office/Clerical
• Light Industrial • Temporary and Permanent Placements throughout Cook, Lake and DuPage counties

Our newest division — Mac Staffing!
A dedicated division specializing in Macintosh personnel

Deerfield
708-945-3800

Rolling Meadows
708-981-9140

"AND FURTHERMORE, I BELIEVE IN THE 'PARTY' SYSTEM. I AM A 'PARTY' MAN!"

"Miss Phipps, bring me a 'Gotcha' form."

"I'M NOT WANTING TO BE A SMALL BUSINESSMAN. I WANT TO BE A BIG BUSINESSMAN. I WANT TO BE A BIG BUSINESSMAN."

Spencer Green

Blues & Rock Nightclub
20473 Rand Road
Palatine
(708) 438-5600
MARCH
"THE ONLY PLACE TO ROCK IN PALATINE"

THURSDAY NIGHT JAM
Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage.
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied.
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS.
Call the club for details.

COLLEGE NIGHT LADIES SPECIAL
Any Lady In A Miniskirt
GETS IN FREE
During Band Nights With This Coupon

BALLOON DROP WITH CASH PRIZES
Every Week During Band Night!

TWO HOT LINGERIE FASHION SHOWS
5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon. Thru Thurs.
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY. 5:30 TO 8PM.

Check Out Our Huge Game Room
3 Pool Tables, Electronic Darts
MONDAY - All Well Drinks $1.50
TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
THURSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

Scholarships available.

Now that we have your attention, we'd like you to know that IIT's Rice Campus in Wheaton offers degree-completion programs in computer science, electrical engineering, and mechanical engineering. Enrolling in one of these highly regarded programs will make you even more attractive to employers and will help you reach your career goals. Classes begin August 31. And by the way, scholarships are still available, but call soon.

Daniel F. and Ada L. Rice Campus
Illinois Institute of Technology

201 East Loop Road
Wheaton, Illinois 60187
708 682 6000

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger April 30, 1992 7

Help Wanted

Models Wanted
Female models wanted for projects. All types. Flex. Brass, pay. No experience needed. Send photo info to: 2511W Schaumburg Rd. Suite 204 Schaumburg, IL 60193

O'Hare company has openings in shipping and receiving. Full and part-time evenings with one weekend day required. Flexible hours and days. Call Todd after 5 p.m. 593-2119.

Child care approximately 25 hours weekly. $5.00 hourly. Infant experience required. Call: Gloria at Janet @ 540-1443. Low 708-251-7878.

Help Wanted

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
Experienced partners needed. One summer experience minimum. Experience needed. Send photo info to: 2511W Schaumburg Rd. Suite 204 Schaumburg, IL 60193

Mature person needed to babysit two children in our Lake Zurich home. Must have own transportation. One to two evenings per week. Pay is negotiable. 726-0422.

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP
SWS
Term papers, resumes, laser printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low 708-251-7878.

Services

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information. Scholarship Plus Finders M. Knappell-Dept HCL 5 Elm Creek Dr. #305 Elmhurst, IL 60126

Legal Service
FREE consultation for all your legal needs includes: DUI, personal injury, divorce, real estate. Phone 517-2608. Evening and weekend appointments available. Law Offices of Becker & Becker 2300 Barrington Road, Suite 400, Hoffman Estates, IL 60195

Roommates

I am looking for a college student or professional male to share my 20th floor 2-bedroom condo in the Schaumburg area. Central heat and air, security building with club-house, pool and tennis courts, rear 275 includes utilities. Call Myles at 708-397-7834.

For Sale

1986 Pontiac Trans Am 5.0 liter engine. Fully loaded 30k miles. Garage kept. EXCELLENT CONDITION. $7099.00 or best offer. 537-3407. Summers Cabin 30' X 14' Black Red 3567 miles. mint cond. Warn. Exp. Nov. 93. 9.8k exhaust carbs jettied. call 508-2868. Ask for Brian.

Wild Kingdom

By Anthony Quinn, Jr.

"I think that I should never see a bathroom again in a new house. I think that I should never see a bathroom again in a new house. I think that I should never see a bathroom again in a new house."

When advertising agencies get busy...

HEY YOU

BUY THIS
IT'S GOOD.

eat, drink, and enjoy, and enjoy, and enjoy...

Help save the world. It's the only one we've got!!!!!!

RECYCLE

It can make a world of difference.

20% OFF COUPON
SOCCER USA
JIM WRIGHT TENNIS SHOP
1335 E. DAVIS (Northwest Hwy and Arthur St.) (708) 392-3377
UMBRO Athletic Sportswear
20% OFF SALE
On all UMBRO related sportswear, with coupon only!
COUPON EXPIRES MAY 24, 1992

Cambridge Educational Services
LSAT
GMAT
GRE
Call: (312) 201-8378

Attention Transfer Students
Attending ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY in fall 1992
If you're looking for a place to live, don't bother with the rest, come straight to the best—the ISU RESIDENCE HALLS
CONVENIENT to academic buildings, the University library and the student center
REASONABLE RATES with no unexpected costs.
UPPER-CLASS LIFESTYLE for students that have attended college for at least four semesters or are at least 21 years of age.
EXCELLENT FACILITIES, including computer banks, fitness centers and study areas within each residential living area

1992-93 residence hall applications are now being mailed to transfer students who have already been admitted to ISU for '92. If you've been admitted and haven't received your contract, call the office of residential life at 438-8611 or toll-free at 1-800-366-4675.

HAH MON
Caribbean Carnival Thursdays
The Big Kahuna is going Jamaican every Thursday Night. We call it the Caribbean Carnival. And it includes an evening of live reggae music, a lavish Jamaican buffet and prize giveaways. Register to win gifts. And Thursday, April 30th, you can register to win a trip for two to Jamaica. So come out for the fun. The buffet starts at 5:00 pm and the band at 7:30 pm. We'll see you there, man.

714 Algonquin Rd. at Gall
Arlington Heights 708-439-4594

PRO
The Big Kahuna

HARBINGER SPORTS

Sports Shorts

By KARE
HARBINGER Sports Editor

Here is a list of winners and their times in the Harper College Springtime Sprint 5 kilometer run Sunday.

Overall winners:
Debbie Revolta, 17:54
Lance Murphy, 15:24
Women's age groups:
Age 15 and under: Brak Domisch, 22:37
Brandi Fundberg, 22:55
Annie Livingston, 24:08
Age 21-30: Beth Carley, 19:31
Margaret Mulleiro, 19:40

Jennifer McGinn, 20:51
Age 31-40: Debbie Revolta, 17:54
Macheline Mohr, 19:50
Pam Glinoza, 20:17
Age 41-55: Kathy Friedman, 22:22
Cathy Redig, 23:30
Patricia Mueller, 24:23
Age 56 and over: Penny Dehl, 27:15
Men's age groups:
Age 15 and under: Patrick Murray, 19:42
Dove Walters, 21:22
Brandon Redd, 24:07
Age 16-20: Jason Pfeifer, 22:21
Age 21-30: Lance Murphy, 15:24
Mike Fgle, 15:56
Jack Shepherd, 16:00
Age 31-40: Marty Lechleider, 16:36
Rick Tatum, 17:03
Scott Brennam, 17:56
Age 41-55: Steve Curran, 17:22
Keith Colburn, 17:45
Mark Drake, 17:55
Age 56 and over: Otto Volkman, 19:28
Hank Caldwell, 24:04
Richard Lechleider, 25:42

Hawks split with Illinois Valley

Jim Walters
HARBINGER Staff Writer

On a day when spectators were dressed more for a play-off game at Soldier Field than a baseball game, the Harper Hawks split a double header with Illinois Valley.

In the first game of the Tuesday twin billing, Harper spotted Illinois Valley eight runs in the first three innings before finally falling 10-8. The Hawks struggled at times offensively with men on base, stranding 10 in the game.

Starting pitcher Brandon Ritchie didn't make it out of the third inning, giving up eight runs before the Hawks could dent the scoreboard.

But, in the fifth inning, designated hitter Mike Ryan (four RBI in the game) blasted a homer to get the Hawks to 8-3.

Pitchers Randy Rosenfield and Eric Scott finished the last five innings, only allowing two runs to keep their team in the game.

Harper tallied three times in the sixth inning and two more in the seventh to make the score 10-8 with two outs and Ryan coming to the plate. This time, the Illinois Valley pitcher was equal to the task, getting him to ground out with the tying run in scoring position.

The Hawks left six men in scoring position in the game.

"We weren't ready to play the first game, but we picked it up in the second game," said Head Coach Norm Garrett.

The win also picked up in the second game as Harper's biggest challenge seemed to be finishing up the game before sundown. The game was called due to darkness after four and a half innings, all that's needed for an official game.

In the second game, Harper scored early and often, totaling eight runs in the first two innings for an 8-0 lead, just like Illinois Valley had a few hours earlier.

The Hawks eventually won 9-2.

Brad Boelkens started the fireworks in the first inning, hitting a wind-blown bloop single to right field that scored Mickey Borden and Jim Schenier with two outs.

Tom Beyna followed with an infield pop that also got caught in the wind and dropped, scoring Boelkens. P.J. McQuillen then walked and stole second. Beyna scored on the catcher's throw to second making the score 4-0.

In the second inning, Mike Ryan singled in Borden and Schenier before eventually scoring on an error by the Illinois Valley shortstop.

Later in the inning, first baseman Tom Kuhn scored on a sacrifice fly by Boelkens to make it 8-0.

Jason Perez (1-3) went all the way on the hill for the Hawks (6-15, 3-7), scattering eight hits and two runs for his first victory of the season.

Former Harper QB Killed

PHIL BLIZAN

Former Harper All-American quarterback Al Snyder was killed in a fatal, baseball accident this weekend.

Snyder, who starred at Harper in 1987-88, was hit by a line drive while practicing on a game on Saturday in Bethlehem Township, Pa. He died early on Sunday. Snyder, 27, had graduated from Lehigh University in January of 1992.

"He led us to our only undefeated season," said Harper football coach John Elansk. "And we were unbalanced with a freshman quarterback. That says a lot about him."

Snyder worked this past season with Lehigh's football team. He assisted head coach Hank Small with the quarterbacks.

He had earned his B.S. degree in business and economics with a major in management.

"Al was an outstanding young man," Small said. "He was such an accomplished student of the game that I made him my assistant this past year. He was always ready to grand do whatever it took for the team."

Snyder was a backup quarterback for two years at Lehigh, but started one game against Columbia and threw for 331 yards.

"He was a real solid citizen," Elansk said. "He was somewhat of an overachiever. He made good decisions on the field. He was very coachable."

Elansk recalled that after the 1987 season he asked his players to dedicate their season to someone close to them.

"Al wrote a beautiful letter about his mom and step-dad," he said. "He was just a good person."

Snyder was a second team NCAA All-American in 1988. In his two-year career at Harper, Snyder completed 183 of 346 passes for 2,541 yards.

Call the Shots

by Bo Kaiser

This week's column probably won't make my boss very happy.

Instead of talking about Harper this week I need to discuss the Chicago Cubs. Specifically, the Gary Scott issue.

What is the matter with Larry Himes and manager Jim Leveche? The Cubs haven't had a good third baseman since he left. I was old enough to go to a game by myself and Scott could be the answer to their prayers.

Why don't the Cubs give him a chance?

I don't blame Himes or Leveche entirely.

Both are new to the team and this trend of bringing Scott up only to send him back down is started long before either men were here. Starting this trend was the only mistake former manager Don Zimmer ever made at Chicago and the Cubs shouldn't have fired him, but that's another column.

By sending Scott down, the Cubs are left with no one that can play a solid defensive third base.

True, Scott wasn't the best hitter on the team, but he was showing signs of adjusting to big-league pitchers. This was evident in the opening night game against Philadelphia.

After fighting off several tough pitches, Scott smashed a grand-slam home run and the Wrigley Field faithful erupted into a chorus of cheers for their new found hero.

This particular at-bat should have earned Scott a reprieve until at least the end of May, but one week later, he was gone.

Extended Sunday's game against the Pittsburgh Pirates and Harry Carey was trying to explain the meaning behind this bonehead move.

He explained how the Cubs could not afford to have a third baseman that couldn't hit the ball and Scott only needed some more exposure to major-league pitching to be successful.

He won't get this exposure in the new league.

With Scott gone, the Cubs have been using Luis Salazar to play third, helping his offense with overabundance has no so defense.

Well, Salazar went 1-3 with a walk Sunday, but cost the Cubs three runs on two critical errors.

One run was lost because he didn't slide while trying to score from second base on an overthrow base hit.

The other two runs came from a base hit, with two Pirates on base that bounced right over the third base bag with Salazar guarding the line. These runs scored because he gave up on the ball, thinking a wait goal.

These running and fielding plays are basic fundamentals that are taught to baseball players at a young age and should never surface at the major-league level.

Maybe Salazar's error will prove to the Cubs that a one-third baseman, like Scott, is valuable and should be given another look.

With Scott in the line-up, the Cubs beat the best infield in baseball and will win more close games that way than with a couple more base hits.

Come on guys, give him a chance.

Harper adds heavyweights to football program

PHIL BLIZAN

For the record, Harper College has not added to its athletic program. But they have added a couple of heavyweights to the football program.

Harper announced last week that they have hired former Buffalo Grove High head coach Grant Blaney and ex-Lake Forest coach Mike Doss as assistants to coach John Elansk.

"I think here on then we have, almost sixty years of coaching," Elansk said. "I think overwhelmed by them, just happy to get them. That kind of experience is a real bonus."

Like Elansk, Blaney also brought a program from it's infancy to respectability. Blaney's 1980, Jann team won a state title. He had most recently assisted at Lake Forest under Doss.

"I wanted to stay in coaching," Blaney said. "But they had a coaching change at Lake Forest and I didn't think the situation was going to get better. Coach Elansk called me and the more he talked the more it fit my needs. Harper is close to my home in Barrington and he gets good numbers there. He should have 60 kids and great quality. He built that program from scratch and I did the same at Buffalo Grove, so I know what it takes."

Blaney, whose coaching career spans three decades, will handle defensive backs.

"When you coach that long, you can coach anywhere," Elansk added.

Doss, a graduate of Lake Forest College, was the head coach there for 29 seasons. "John called me," Doss said. "He was aware I was leaving Lake Forest. I wasn't real sure I wanted to coach football again. But I sat down and talked with him and watched some film and slowly but surely I became interested. I've always loved the game."

Doss will coach the offensive backs.

"Year in and year out, they have a successful program," Doss said. "John gets the type of talent there that helps you win. Grant was the offensive coordinator with me last year and the thought that he and I could be part of the same program is attractive. It could be a lot of fun."

Elansk is the younger in the group having coached only 21 seasons at Harper.

News

The King verdict is in

Harper College students, staff and faculty tell their views on the Rodney King verdict in the photo captions below.

Page 1

Features

Fashion forecast

Guest writer Dennis Brune tells you what's hot and what's not for spring and summer.

Page 3

Sports

Harper's heroes

Look to the back page to find out who the Athletes of the Year are.

Page 8

THE HARDINGER

Palatine, Illinois

May 7, 1992

Student Newspaper at William

Rainey Harper College

Volume XXVI Number XXX

Toxic waste: what you don't know can hurt you

Environmentally conscious students are sounding alarms about the existence of on-campus health hazards even as colleges and universities are working to rid buildings and equipment of asbestos, PCBs, radioactive waste and pesticides.

While concerns about hazardous environmental chemicals are valid, some administrators and environmental experts say that the issue of student safety in regard to exposure to PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls), asbestos or other chemicals is overblown.

Still, a number of schools have experienced scares involving hazardous materials in the past year.

On Dec. 29, 1991, five transformers exploded on the State University of New York, New Paltz campus. The explosion sent 22 people to the hospital for exposure to cancer-causing PCBs, forced a two-week delay of the start of the school's spring semester and forced the indefinite closing of a few campus buildings.

"It could have been in session, it would have been deadly," said Andrew Langemann, a student treated for PCB exposure after the accident. On-campus storage of radioactive waste, pesticides and other dangerous chemicals also has become a growing concern.

For example, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission gave Oakland University in Rochester, Mich., permission to store low-level radioactive waste in the basement of an on-campus food shed. Two to three barrels of radioactive waste from restaurants' experiments are picked up each year, although none is currently being stored at the site.

Without a licensed disposal site, Michigan universities have no choice but to store radioactive waste on campus.

"Somebody has got to hold onto this stuff," David McCremon, director of Oakland University's research and academic development, told The Oakland Post. "Until a plan is developed, the generators are going to have to hold onto their own waste."

Officials at North Carolina State University in Raleigh, N.C., contend that the school's low-level radioactive waste harm and a pesticide storage shed pose no threat to nearby residents.

"We don't judge them as threats," Vice Chancellor George Wansley told The Technician.

The university's hazardous waste facilities are located near Frazer Court and an adult housing complex. A vegetable garden used by the adult housing residents is 150 feet from the pesticide and low-level radioactive waste storage area.

"Now, we know that the facility is inadequate and we have had a request at the General Assembly since 1989 for the money to replace it," said Wansley, whose department oversees the handling of all hazardous waste on the campus. "We never said that this is what we want, but we certainly don't think that it's putting anyone at risk."

PCBs are perhaps the most common universal chemicals currently in use in transformers and other electrical equipment on college campuses and other sites nationwide. In 1976, the Environmental Protection Agency strictly regulated use of PCBs as part of the Toxic Substances Control Act.

and Act.

Regulators say that PCBs in transformers are allowed at certain levels. When PCBs are found at levels of 50 parts per million or higher, they are subject to federal regulation. When PCBs are found at concentrations of 500 parts per million or higher, special disposal guidelines must be followed.

PCBs are used primarily as an insulator for electronic equipment. According to the Toxic Substances Control Act, all high-concentration, high-volume transformers had to be either removed or the PCBs replaced at lower levels by October 1991. If the PCBs were not removed or levels lowered, PCB transformers in or near public, commercial buildings had to be equipped with protection in the event of an accident that could cause contamination.

"There are still a few capacitors with high PCB concentrations in use, but for the most part, they would be prohibited in college buildings," said one EPA official, who asked not to be identified because of department regulations. "But, it's a misconception that PCBs have been banned entirely. Anything with a PCB concentration below 500 parts per million can be used, any place."

The high concentration is used in industrial equipment, but PCBs are also used in heat transfer and hydraulic equipment, in small capacitors and in paints and plastics, he added.

EPA officials concede that the 50 and 500 parts per million guidelines would most likely be significantly lower at the 1976 legislation were enacted today, primarily because of the potential hazards of improper disposal.

Still, some are concerned because they say their schools don't pay attention to local guidelines.

In addition to concerns about chemicals, several universities have been dealing with asbestos removal projects.

Asbestos, a fibrous mineral, was used for insulation in homes and other buildings from 1950 through the early 1970s, and it is as strong and fire resistant. But studies have shown that if people breathe microscopic asbestos fibers released when material containing asbestos is damaged over an extended period of time, they can develop pulmonary problems or cancer.

Although no standards are set for asbestos levels in homes, the federal Asbestos Hazard Emergency Act has set standards for asbestos removal and inspection in elementary and secondary schools.

College buildings and other structures containing asbestos materials are required to comply with the National Emissions Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants, which provides guidelines for asbestos removal and subsequent building renovation.

As more and more chemicals and substances are found to be potentially hazardous, the concern for disposal has risen significantly.

What are your feelings about the Rodney King trial and the "not guilty" verdict?

by Heidi Tarasiuk

Ann Sugg

"I feel that the King trial was unfair. Those police feel they are above the law and the jury confirmed that."

Amy Longmore

"I feel it (the trial) was very unfair because the jury didn't have a black person on it. It was a terrible decision and the black people have a right to be upset."

Mary Polniaszek

"Why did King and his lawyer permit a jury without black representation on it to adjudicate the case?"

Cliff Amundsen

"I think that the jury and judicial system failed to bring proper justice to an American citizen. I think that this trial, jury and judge were bought off."

THE HARBINGER

Editorial Board

Business Manager Laura Ashley	Editor Laura Ashley
Managing Editor Devin Eiler	Editor Devin Eiler
Copy Editor Tara Eiler	Editor Tara Eiler
Faculty Advisor Susan Havlic	Editor Susan Havlic
Editor Alexandra Young	Editor Alexandra Young

EDITORIAL

As the spring semester draws to a close, many students are saying their farewells to Harper as they reach their short-term goal of graduation. Such success could not be obtained without the endless dedication of certain individuals who often are forgotten in the excitement.

We feel that it is not only our obligation, but a privilege to honor the following people for their outstanding efforts with the publication of the paper: our Advisor, Susan Havlic, for putting up with everything and still being patient; (We probably gave her an ulcer this semester); Skip Chidister and Rhea Dawson for all the extra hours and knowledge that you have shared with us; Jeanne Panknin and The Student Publications Board for all the support and encouragement; The print shop for patiently waiting for us to get our lazy butts there; and all of our instructors who have understood and supported us through it all.

This semester was one of learning and growing. We would especially like to thank all of our editors and staff members, "to remain on a sinking ship is loyal and brave." Last but certainly not least our readers. Without them our vision would go unmet.

As you're graduating this semester don't forget to take the opportunity to thank those who helped you attain your success. A little thanks and recognition will provide energy and motivation to allow them to help others reach their dreams aspirations.

Laura Christian Ashley
Harbinger Business Manager

Staff

Dan Beyer, Lori Camp, Stephanie DeLoe, Christopher Garcia, Jeff Davis, Anthony Kuch, Roger Mauer, Jacques Ole Cindy Rhee, Laura Polgorny, Brad Sanders, Michael Shinn, Kim Southard, Jim Watson

COMMENTARY

Violence in America: A way of life?

Guest Commentary

It seems like yesterday that we still turn on the live 'n' crack news and see some poor old victim. "Wait, We still can't, but now it's on our back and it was so easy to make the reporters in the Middle East, Germany, and Africa give us daily reports on the violence tearing up the foundation for their citizen's survival. Fighting happening half way across the globe is easier to minimize because a person can sympathize without having to feel the pain or loss personally. Last week April 29, 1992 brought that violence close to home for the American people.

It all began with a case of police brutality in Los Angeles, a case that seemed to be open and shut in the eyes of most Americans to such that the case was forgotten and replaced by more recent news. Late Wednesday afternoon a blacked, enraged and disgusted voice were heard over the airwaves. The police officers were found innocent. Then came the evidence. I don't know what shocked me more, the decision or the outbreak of violence after the decision was made public. The thought of innocent people being seriously injured and killed filled me with such intense pain and disgust that I would gladly have denied being a part of the human race. Is that we have become? To hurt an innocent person through physical abuse by destroying property cannot be the only way to communicate our disgust in "the land of the free." Yet that was the immediate reaction that ran uncontrolled through the streets of Los Angeles on Wednesday night and it spread to other major cities in the United States on Thursday.

However, the violence that is destroying the unity of our nation did not stop on Thursday. It has been slowly tearing at the threads of our society. Watching the news has become so painful that I only watch for sports and the weather. Hearing of burglaries, rapes, and random killings does not hold my interest. Looting, violence, drug killings, drive by shootings, "peace" protests turning violent, drunk driving accidents, and discrimination, yep, it's all there! Obviously, all this tells, why else would the major television networks fight for the right to make movies about murder in the name of "passion"? Let's not leave out the rape trials that were sensationalized to the point where educational programs were interrupted on television to give the viewer an update on their worst piece of news.

Another example is the recent movie, "Boyz n the Hood" it clearly showed the daily struggles and obstacles young African Americans face growing up in their Los Angeles neighborhood.

The amount of violence the young adults had to cope with was overwhelming and frightening. To watch your friends being shot in their front yard, waking up to hear police helicopters keeping surveillance of your neighborhood, or wondering if you will be shot today.

Added to this was the pressure of being able to stay strong enough to fight the temptation of crime and drugs and the quick money they supposedly bring, not to mention other serious issues such as teen pregnancy and substance abuse. This is what young Americans today are forced to deal with. How can they be expected to strive for the top when they are all their strength just to stay alive?

Violence has increasingly become a norm in American life, something that sells newspapers and increases network ratings. A part of life for many, a way of life for many more to come if it isn't stopped.

The Harbinger

YOUR SOURCE FOR COLLEGE NEWS

General Information

The Harbinger is the student publication for the Harper College campus community, published weekly except during holidays and final exams. The paper is distributed free to all students, faculty and administration. The Harbinger office is located in A367.

Letters Policy

The Harbinger will accept letters to the editor and replies to our editorials. Letters must be signed and include a phone number. Signatures will be withheld upon request. All letters are subject to editing.

Advertising

Products and services advertised in The Harbinger are not necessarily endorsed by the editors of this paper, nor by the college administration or Board of Directors. Inquiries should be forwarded directly to the advertiser, and all purchases are at the discretion of the consumer.

Designs Revisited

plain tennis shoes will keep you tipping over the tulips in style this summer. What do guys need to be a radical dude this summer? Cool sunglasses by Revlon, Rayban

(These are a must!) and a pair of color Ghirbaud jeans. A solid tee shirt. An abstract print silk or rayon shirt by Guess, Perry Ellis or Tommy Hilffiger added in a pair of funky socks by Union Bay and a pair of outdoor boots or plain gym shoes. If you looking through your closet and come across an old sweat suit, be creative and wear that old gear! For the work environment, try a denim dress shirt, a knock-out tie by Anne Klein, Armani, Perry Ellis or Ralph Lauren. Make sure your socks match your tie. And try some really loud boxer shorts (or silk ones if you've got a date after work). Don't forget a great suit by Perry Ellis or Ralph Lauren.

MARCH

Every Thursday at 9pm, bands & musicians can audition on open stage
Drums, Amps, P.A. supplied
JUST BRING IN YOUR INSTRUMENTS
Call the club for details.

During Band Nights With This Coupon

5:30 to 8pm and 8:30 to 11pm Mon. Thru Thurs.
FRIDAY, ONE SHOW ONLY - 5:30 TO 8PM

TUESDAYS - Pitcher of Beer $3.50
WEDSDAYS - Long Island Ice Tea $2.50

Present I.D. on JAM NIGHT and receive a FREE game of Pool.

COLLEGE

Registration Begins The Week Of
September 14, 1992

CHICAGO

We've Made It
Comprehensive

We've Made It Flexible

We've Made It Excellent

(372) 662-1600, Ext. 130

Graduates, time is running out...

Ask about the Apple Computer Loan

Special
Harper
Academic Discount

...to get your hands on your own Macintosh computer!

For information, visit the Computer Center, Room
D-132 or contact Barry Poulson, User Services, or the Glen Ellyn Computer Center (708)-858-0000

The power to be your best.™

CLASSIFIEDS

The Harbinger May 5, 1992 $ 8

50-50 Meal Deal 50 Minutes-50% Off.

Here's everything you need to know about our big-time deal. Visit us Monday through Thursday between 5:00 and 5:50 p.m., and we'll take 50% off any entree on our entire menu. As you've probably already guessed, this offer is not valid with any other offer. But it does include a mouth-watering meal of your choice and all the fun. So come in now before we reconsider this incredible offer. And prepare to have the time of your life. Or at least, a really great evening.

Carlos
Murphy's

Help Wanted

Models Wanted
Female models wanted for projects. All types. Flex. hrs. av. pay No experience needed. Photo. info in SCS 2611W Schaumburg Rd Suite 234 Schaumburg IL 60193.

O'Hare company has openings in shipping and receiving Full and Part-time evenings with one weekend day required. Flexible hours and days. Call Todd after 3 p.m. 593-2139.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
experienced painters needed. One summer's experience minimum. Serving the Chicago suburban area. Apply early to secure your position! Contact: 237-4340.

Mature person needed to baby-sit two children in our Lake Zurich home. Must have own transportation one to two evenings per week. Pay is negotiable 726-0422.

Services

THE PERFECT PAGE WP
SWS
Term papers, resumes, letter-printing & more! Call Janet @ 540-1443. Low rates.

Services

$5 MONEY FOR COLLEGE
Every student is eligible for Financial Aid. Write today for FREE information.

Scholarship Plus Fradette M. Kauppel-Dupl HCl 5 Elm Creek Dr #305 Elmhurst, IL 60129.

Roommates

I am looking for a college student or professional male to share my 2br/2bth 2bedroom condo in the Schaumburg area. Central heat and air, security building with club house, pool and tennis courts. rent 275 includes utilities. call Myles at 708-397-7834.

caribbean carnival 'thursdays'

The Big Kahuna is going Jamaica every Thursday Night. We call it the Caribbean Carnival. And it includes an evening of live reggae music, a lavish Jamaican buffet and prize giveaways. Register to win gifts. And Thursday, April 30th, you can register to win a trip for two to Jamaica. So come on for the fun. The buffet starts at 5:00 pm and the band at 7:30 pm. We'll see you there, mon.

792 Algonquin Rd. or Call
Admission Single: 792-439-4344

COMMUNITY Network

PRO

Attention Transfer Students Attending ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY in fall 1992

If you're looking for a place to live, don't bother with the rest, come straight to the best—the ISU RESIDENCE HALLS.

CONVENIENT to academics, buildings, plus University Library and vice student center.

REASONABLE RATES with no unexpected costs

UPPERCLASS LIFESTYLE for students that have attended college for at least four semesters or are at least 21 years of age.

EXCELLENT FACILITIES, including computer banks, fitness centers and study areas within each residential living area.

1992-93 residence hall applications are now being mailed to transfer students who have already been admitted to ISU for '92. If you've been admitted and haven't received your contract, call the office of residential life at 438-8611 or toll free at 1-800-366-4675.

SPORTS EXTRA

7 ■ May 7, 1992

★ SPORTS FINAL ★

Fantastic Finishes highlight Harper track victories

Photo by Kim "Sam" Smith

PHOTO BY KIM "SAM" SMITH

The Harper men's track and field team ended the recent streak of dominance by the College of DuPage with a first-place finish and the Harper women grabbed second place at the NCAA Region IV Track and Field Championships Saturday in Palatine.

The Hawk's men amassed 220 team points, good enough to take the regional crown from perennial champion COD, which finished 196 points.

The Harper women led in team points after the 10th event, but Black Hawk East of Kewanee rallied to take the team title 237-200.

Harper's Renee Zellmer, the recipient of the men's Region IV Coach of the year award, was as thrilled with the runner-up status of the women as she was with the men's championship.

"I knew we were going to have trouble with the women because Black Hawk East has a couple of multi-event athletes that weren't just versatile, they were place winners," Zellmer said. "We tried to counter by entering people in as many events as possible. But we did everything we could possibly do, so I'm not the least bit disappointed."

"We thought we had all the events covered with the men and we did. We thought that if everybody peaks, then this is our meet. They didn't, and it was."

The meet highlight for Harper came in the final event, when the Harper women staged a comeback to capture the 1400-meter relay.

Harper trailed College of DuPage and Black Hawk East by a wide margin through the first two legs, but Doug Tabor brought Harper back to within striking distance before handing off to Ralph Gardner, who kicked to the wire for a .01 second victory.

Other Harper men's winners included Tabor in the long jump (21-4); Chip Hoflmar in the javelin (160.10) and discus (39.57); Todd Walsh in the high jump (6-9) and Rob Osduin in the 5000 meters (16:44.63).

The Hawk's Denise Knutson was a double winner for the women, capturing the 5000 meters (24:11.18) and the 10,000 meters (56:00).

Other Hawks winners included Magda Tamas in the 400 meters (62.57) and Lynette Novy in the hammer (37.9).

No Hawks qualified for the NCAA Finals May 18-21 at Odessa, Texas, but Zellmer hopes a few individuals can do so in her team's final two events.

Editorial Note: An advertisement for Kwik-Kwik-Kwik, a snack, was placed in the bottom right corner of the page.

Kim "Sam" Smith
Harper Sports Editor

First I would like to express my sympathies to those living in L.A.

It's a terrible tragedy and an awful loss, but I feel that a sports columnist should focus on sports.

It's my first year at Harper and coincidentally my first tenure as sports editor, but there are a couple of things that really bug me this semester and I want to share them with you.

Next is the lack of complete coverage of Harper sports this semester.

Limited resources (reporters) and limited time (mine) didn't allow for the type of coverage I wanted to give to all Harper sports.

I seemed to be a staff of one most of the quarter and when help miraculously did arrive it just as quickly vanished.

Most of my reporters found time for other things but not their Harbinger assignments.

Now, before you say anything, I realize it's college and I understand that school work is more important.

However, some reporters left notes on my door the day before an assignment was due stating the story wouldn't be turned in that week.

That's a little ridiculous, don't

Call the Shots

by Bob Kasper

you think?

I write sports part-time for the Daily Herald and if I used anything similar I would have my editors' feet somewhere very unpleasant.

By the way, he would also fire me.

If these former reporters expect to do this type of work for a living, they may be in for a big surprise in the real world.

Anyway, my apologies to the coaches, students and especially the athletes.

If I return to this post in the fall, I intend to greatly improve this situation.

My other concern was the athlete of the year award.

One thing puzzled me about the selection process for this award.

Usually, the choice was already made by the spring programs and was just getting underway. This meant only fall and winter sports were getting nominees on the ballot.

My question, why aren't all the sports represented in the selection process?

For a true athlete of the year competition, every athlete should have a chance to win.

Well, thanks to the journalism department's big cheese, Susanne Harter, the deadline to allow the spring programs to nominate their athletes for this honor was well.

Guess what? Not one coach from a spring sport nominated one of their athletes.

I don't get it.

Apparently, that was the reason for the early deadline in the first place.

There are many fine athletes in the spring programs and it's a shame they weren't included. If the extended selection process will continue next year and all of Harper's athletic programs will be on the ballot.

I guess we'll have to wait and see.

Now that the semester is almost over I can relax a little, play some golf, take in a few Cubs games, and, basically, have some fun.

I hope you do the same.

Talk to you next year, maybe.

Harper softball claims victory despite season ending loss

Jim Walcott
HARBINGER STAFF WRITER

After a season of disappointing losses, the Lady Hawk softball team ended its season last Saturday, in the second round of play-offs at Kankakee.

The team started their postseason against the Kishwaukee Cougars on Thursday, April 30. In the first game of a three game set, Michelle Cochran earned strong, early retiring the first three batters of the game.

Kris Kowalczyk led off the bottom of the inning by hitting a single to center. She stole two bases then came home on a sacrifice by the catcher while Chien continued to mow down the Cougar batters, the Lady Hawk bats continued to wake up. With two outs in the fourth inning.

Sue Jordan got a base hit scoring Jennifer Karwowski from third base.

The third run of the game arrived when Michelle Chien ran home on a Kelly O'Brien ground out. The Lady Hawks won the game 3-0.

The second game wasn't a victory for Harper's softball team, as they committed three errors scoring three runs, eventually costing them the game, 5-4.

Despite the loss, highlights were provided by Harper batters.

Sue Jordan was three out of four with two singles and a double, while Deanna Charkowski had two hits and drove in two runs.

The third game of the series seemed to be the most enjoyable of the Lady Hawks' experienced all season.

Once again, Chien easily retired all three batters in the first inning, and just like in the first game, the bats for Harper came to life in the bottom of the inning.

Kris Kowalczyk led off and scored the first of four runs in the winning.

Harper had it's biggest rally of the season in the fourth inning, beginning again with Kowalczyk hitting a single. Chien then hit a sacrifice fly to center, moving the runner to second. One out later, Kelly O'Brien hit the first of five straight singles by the Harper team.

There was still a double, a single, and another single to be hit before the inning, and the first play-off series came to a close.

Coach Tina Reimer said "We hit the ball with all three games and played some of our best defense (of the season)."

Reimer also pointed out that if not for one small lapse of concentration, the series could have easily been swept.

"We had three errors in the second game, which cost us the game," said Reimer.

During the three game series,

Harper collected 36 total hits, with Sue Jordan being the main source. She was seven for nine with three r.b.i.'s. Kris Kowalczyk also did well, going four for ten on the day and collecting an amazing seven total bases.

Michelle Chien collecting pitching honors in all three games, shut down the Cougars allowing just 13 total hits for the day including eight strike outs.

On Saturday, the Lady Hawks had a nearly an impossible task ahead of them as they travelled an hour-and-a-half to meet a team that would probably be going to nationals' according to Reimer.

The first game was a blowout, with Harper losing 8-0, going down in order almost every inning. In defense of her team, coach Reimer said "These pitchers was above average for this level," she continued on to say "Kishwaukee's pitcher was below average and for our girls to come out against her (Kankakee's pitcher) was really hard."

The second game, and end of the season for the Harper softball team, was lost on four Harper errors. Kankakee won the game, but only collected one earned run.

Coach Reimer stated that it is tough coaching a community college team, because the main focus is on defining skills to be used at higher college levels "What you need to do is help individuals improve and hopefully win some games."

20% OFF COUPON

SOCCER USA

JIM WRIGHT TENNIS SHOP

1335 E. DAVIS (Northwest Hwy and Arthur St.) (708) 392-3377

UMBRO Athletic Sportwear

20% OFF SALE

On all UMBRO related sportwear with coupon only!
COUPON EXPIRES MAY 24, 1992

HARBINGER SPORTS

Dynamic Duo Dazzle Da' Hawks

Brett Geijer

BO KASE
HARBINGER SPORTS EDITOR

Fantastic Freshman, Brett Geijer has been elected this year's male Athlete of the Year.

"It's an honor," said Geijer. "There's a lot of great athletes that attend this school."

Geijer, 16, not only completed his sports last year, he excelled. He was a member of the Hawk's swimming team, 19-guard class, and played cornerback for Harper's football team.

This combination is nothing new to Geijer. At Tinley Park High School, he was star in these same two sports.

He was MVP and captain of the wrestling team and finished third in the state his senior year.

Football picked Geijer with more MVP votes this junior year. He was a team captain and voted most valuable back by senior year.

Geijer's high school resume also includes All Area, All Conference, and All State awards in both sports.

Here at Harper, Geijer helped the Hawk's football team achieve a 10-2 record and a victory over Northern Iowa in the IFC Gold Bowl last year.

He selected All Conference/Honorable Mention honors for his wild play in the field.

As a wrestler, Geijer admits he had to adjust to collegiate competition.

"You're wrestling people that are just as good as you are all the time," said Geijer.

Adjusting is exactly what he did after winning the Southwest Open in his first college season and his coaches felt he was destined for All-American honors.

The only thing that slowed him down was a knee injury, suffered during a practice session. It occurred just one week prior to nationals.

"I was trying to kick out of a hold," said Geijer. "And I took a shoulder right into my knee."

This shouldn't be ligaments on his knee that had previously been surgically repaired.

Geijer isn't sure if surgery will be necessary this time. His doctors have given him until the end of May to see how his knee is doing.

If Geijer does compete next year, he has just two goals: All-American in football and placing in the nationals as in wrestling.

"I'll be back," he said. He credits much of his motivation to one of his three older brothers, Todd, who also played two sports in school.

"I always looked up to him," said Geijer. "He inspired me to play."

According to Geijer, his mom was also very supportive. "She loves to watch," said Geijer. "She's very encouraging."

Geijer is pursuing a Criminal Justice degree and currently maintains a 3.0 GPA. He wants to become a state trooper or special service agent.

ATHLETES OF THE YEAR

Amy Longmore

BO KASE
HARBINGER SPORTS EDITOR

Sophomore Amy Longmore captured Athlete of the Year honors for the second consecutive year. "It was exciting last year as a freshman," said Longmore. "Now I'm leaving feeling I've accomplished something that will be remembered."

Longmore returned as a middle hitter for the volleyball team and was starting center for Harper's basketball team.

This multi-sport phenom has risen to new heights this season, also playing softball for the Lady Hawks.

The Longmore success story actually began two years before Amy came to Harper.

Tim Longmore, her brother, played baseball for one year at Harper and was the team's MVP.

While Tim was finishing at Harper, Amy was wrapping up a great sports career at Hoffman High School.

She guided her team to a conference championship, a regional crown and was named to All Area and All-Conference teams her senior year.

This was only the tip of the iceberg, as Harper fans know.

In her first year here, Longmore was named MVP for the basketball team and was named to the All Region volleyball team.

These accomplishments are nothing compared to her performance in her final year.

The Hawks' Volleyball captain led her team to a 33-11-2 record (best ever at Harper) and a conference championship.

She even helped the basketball team out of a winless early season to finish second in the region.

While at Harper, Longmore's personal achievements include being named to All-Conference, All Region, All-Tourney and All-American teams in volleyball and basketball.

Her kill percentage of 34.6 in volleyball was ranked first in Region IV and also placed among the national figures in that category.

While these athletic achievements are nice to receive, Longmore said personal awards are not the reason she works so hard.

"I just want to help the team get a winning record," she said.

As she explains, her parents had an impact too.

"They were both encouraging," said Longmore. "My mom is the biggest fan for volleyball. Dad went mostly to my basketball games. He likes to give the refs a hard time."

On a full athletic scholarship, Longmore will attend Lewis University in Romeoville, where she hopes to make an impact on a solid, winning volleyball program.

She will receive an associate's degree from Harper in general education this year.

Longmore's plans include teaching as well as coaching volleyball when she graduates.